Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray your Honourable House that the Bill may not pass into law as it now stands, and that they may be heard by their Counsel, Agents, and Witnesses against the Preamble and Clauses thereof, and, in the event of the Preamble being proved, then in support of such Clauses and Provisions as may be necessary for their protection and benefit, and that your Honourable House may grant to your Petitioners such further and other relief in the premises as to your Honourable House may seem meet.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

GEORGE SANGER, President.
WILLIAM CLARKE, Vice-President.
THOMAS HURST, Honorary Secretary.

A petition in identical terms was also presented signed by Susan Holden, Benjamin Harrison, Thomas Holden, John Bunkall, John Sharpe, and William Shorrock.

An exciting incident occurred one day last week at the Torrey and Alexander Mission at the Albert Hall, when a man was seen pushing his way through the dense crowd, carrying on his shoulder a formidable-looking object, with three long legs attached. Having reached his goal, the man deposited his load on the floor, and, without paying the slightest attention to the terrified people around him, straightway commenced to turn a handle at the side of the thing at a quick rate. A whisper of "Anarchist" spread through the building. Dr. Torrey stopped speaking; and before many more revolutions of the handle had taken place, the man and his infernal box of tricks were outside, surrounded by policemen, with a faint echo of the "Glory Song" humming in his ear.

It transpired later that the man—a representative of Messrs. L. Gaumont and Co., the well-known cinematographers—was an expert in motion photography, but his zeal had caused such a flutter in the dove-cot that his ambition on this occasion was not reached.

KEMP'S Theatre of Moving Pictures and Empire of Varieties was the veritable centre of attraction. Right and left were the excellent shows of John Proctor and Crighton, of Norwich; Buffalo Bill's Menagerie; Enoch Farrar, with two shows, the Hall of Laughter and the Fine Art Gallery; and Relph, two ground booths, the Giant Rodents and the Distorting Mirrors—all excellent attractions and quite maintaining the reputation of Lynn Mart Pleasure Fair. With these must be included Harry Hughes's Boxing Saloon, and Mrs. Hughes's Picture Show. Amongst the colossal riding machines, Aspland's Venice in Lynn was a good first, closely followed by the fine sets of P. Collins, Limited, and Tuby and Sons. J. W. Waddington's twin ships in the air, and Holmes's miniature horses, and Thompson and Cheeseman's sets of high-fliers and pack-swings—undoubtedly forming a galaxy of moving colour and light. The minor novelties included the shooting galleries, bottle batteries, and rifle ranges of Messrs. G. Holmes, H. Westrop, Sherratt, Cheeseman, R. Holmes, Fendick, and T. Bond; coker shies, throwing games, dolly frames, and dart and ring boards by Messrs. Holmes Bros., Westrop, Fendick and Bonds; bazaars and pannum and other stalls by Messrs. Thompson, Suett, Whyatt, Cheeseman, and Bond. An interesting feature was the Temperance refreshment booth, opened and managed by a committee of local ladies.

THE sale of roundabouts, steam swings, &c., at the works of Messrs. Savage Brothers, Limited, drew a large crowd of roundabout owners and showmen from all parts of the kingdom and from the Continent. Despite the eloquence of the auctioneer, bids came slowly and very cautiously. We understand that a French firm bought the big set of steam roundabouts. The highest bid was £570, the steam twin ships in the air set were withdrawn, not reaching the reserve price. The smaller lots went very cheaply. Amongst the prominent showmen and roundabout proprietors at the sale were the Brothers Murphy, the Brothers Studt, the young Wilmots, Hurst, Whiting, Holmes, Wallis, Mitchell, Clarke, Pruett, George Green, Geoghegan, Holden, Thurston, Booker, Dennis (from France), J. B. Whitehead, Terry, of P. Collins, Limited, and many others. A very pleasing interlude of the sale was the taking of a photograph of the showmen present.

PENNY shows or concerns that appeal either to the prurient or the gambling passions of man.

Our committee has repeatedly and most strongly urged the vital importance of proper control over all exhibits on the fair grounds of the country. This is not only right, but experience has proved over and over again the wisdom of the policy from a business point of view.

TOM NORMAN, "Silver King," and the Poole Brothers, of Myriorama fame, are doing record business at the large Exhibition Rooms, Oxford-street, Reading, with their £1,000 original picture, "The Slave Market at Cairo," and will remain there one week longer.

THE historic Lynn Mart, with its old-time pleasure fair, was duly proclaimed, with municipal pomp and dignity, on Tuesday. The scene of the proclamation was the ancient one on the Tuesday Market near where the Market Cross once stood—now midway between Aspland's magnificent set of gondolas and the splendid Venetian switchback of P. Collins and Co., Limited. The Mayor (Alderman Dunn) was attended by the members of the Markets and Fairs Committee, the Mace-bearer, and the Town Crier, the Town Clerk, and other officials of the ancient Borough of King's Lynn. The whole historic setting was set forth in these columns a year ago, in a special article on the Historic Fairs of Great Britain, and it is enough to remind our readers that the present proclamation is a revival of the ancient glories of Lynn Mart. We believe it was the present Mayor of Lynn—a warm friend of showmen—who revived the picturesque ceremonies. He is, therefore, peculiarly happy in his kindness and zeal for all good work amongst show people. Now the Fair itself will continue for about a fortnight, the big days being the Saturdays. Lynn Fair is the "start" for a round of East Anglian fixtures, lasting up to Easter, and then joining another important round, under Messrs. Barker and Thurston's management, lasting right away up to Whitsuntide. Following Lynn Mart, we have Downham Winnell Fair, then Wisbech, Peterborough, Spalding, Stamford, Grantham, up to Norwich and Great Yarmouth for Easter week. From Easter week the round proceeds to Beccles, Woodbridge, Colchester, and then the great Whitsuntide fixtures at various places in and near London—such as Wanstead Flats, the Crystal Palace, and Hampstead Heath.

WE extract the following letter from the Wigan papers of Saturday last:—

THE PROPOSED ABOLITION OF WIGAN PLEASURE FAIR.
AN OPEN LETTER BY THE REV. T. HORNE, HON. CHAPLAIN THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD.
TO THE CITY FATHERS AND TO THE SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF TOIL.

It is proposed, after full thirty years disuetude, to take advantage of a clause in a Corporation Act passed for general purposes, to discontinue (that is the legal term) Wigan Old Charter Pleasure Fairs.

A great deal can be said, and will be clearly set forth at the right moment, as to the evident straining of the terms of an Act of Parliament never intended to supersede the ordinary and well-known constitutional procedure, whereby fairs that have become obsolete or objectionable may be abolished. My business to-day is not with the interpretation of ambiguous legal phrases, but with the broader principles of justice and fair play between man and man.

Is it just to the sons and daughters of toil, O ye city fathers, arbitrarily to assume the power to limit and curtail the rights and privileges of your people in their holidays and pleasure?

Who made ye the judges? Who set ye in the seats of the mighty? Why, the votes of the very democracy that ye now presume to order and to dictate their pleasures and amusements. Whence came your mandate, O ye city fathers? What is the voice of the people constitutionally expressed in open meeting? Why, it is that ye proceed at once and undo this thing that ye have done.

"O my brethren of the Serious Face," O ye owls of gravity—and would-be oracles of wisdom and shrines of piety. Why see evil in the people's pleasures?

Must the people be taught a doctrine of dour gloom and sadness? Shall the ripple of joy and gladness be no more heard on your streets?

I ask now, why should the people not have full opportunity of amusement and fellowship in harmless fun and jollity?

Fairs, like all other human things, are liable to injury and decay. The right thing is to mend them, where wrong has been shown; not to punish the good for the wisdom of the evil.

The Markets Committee have absolute control of the nature and character of the shows. The police have absolute powers to conserve the morals of Wigan, and to punish the vultures and vampires of vice. I ask, in the name of eternal justice, why do they not do their duty?

If a tithe of what has been said is true, what a sad confession of moral obliquity, of neglect of plain duty!

Let me say here and now that our Guild is more than a trade society; that wherever a member of our Guild is the lessee of a fair ground he is bound by our society to refuse standing ground to catch-penny shows, and to use his influence to prevent the existence of such.

EASTER FAIRS, 1905:—Evesham, Malvern, Halesowen, and Abberley Valley, near Stourport.

OTHER FAIRS, 1905:—

Mar. 25. Stourbridge	June 14. Broadway
Mar. 25. Henley-in-Arden	(Wake)
May 1. Tenbury	June 16. Chipping Campden
June 12. Evesham
June 22. Kidderminster	June 17. Mickleton
June 20. Shipston - on - Stour	June 17. Snowshill (Wake)
June 24. Bromsgrove	June 19. Bidford-on-Avon
June 26. Pershore

What the individual showman lessee can do, why not the great and mighty Corporation of Wigan?

"Improve the fair, if you think it needs it, but oh, please, good sirs, don't improve us off the face of the earth." Let us, the poor showmen, come and sell you our wares. We have things to sell. For all are architects of fate, working in these walls of time—some with implements and great, some with instruments and rhyme. Let us bring our tinkling cymbals, our joys of laughter, our ready wares of merrie joke and song.

I once met a clown on the hard road of life,
I rested me down by his side;
His merry fun banished my devil of strife,
I laughed, yea, I laughed till I cried:
"Sir clown, an' your mercy grant me the nonce,
Your jokes, your light-hearted fun,
Hath driven fell megrims out of my sconce;
God keep thee, good man—well done."

To the sons and daughters of toil, I say—why should you allow your old-time customs to be the subject of other men's despite? What know these men of your hard-won times of relaxation, your all too few hours of rest and joy?

Some, who may have climbed on your backs into place and power, think you can well do without times of rest. Tell them your fairs (for, after all, they are yours, and not the property of the Aldermen and Councillors) must continue until you wish it otherwise. Let them know at the next municipal election that the will of the people is that the fairs remain. Let them know that it is nothing less than an invasion of your territory. Your rights and privileges in your holidays and recreation is at stake. Make them to feel that in this matter they have out-stepped the lawful functions of good government. Let them retreat with what good grace is left to them from a position that is intrinsically wrong. Let them repent in time, and obey the people, for after all, it is a people's question.

Yours ever, for God and for good,
T. HORNE.

SHOWMEN IN COUNCIL.

(SPECIAL TO "THE ERA.")

The fifteenth annual gathering of showmen at King's Lynn was held on Thursday last in the Town Hall (kindly lent by the Mayor), at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

The Mayor (Ald. E. Dunn), who presided, was supported by the Rev. T. Horne, Hon. Chaplain to the Showmen's Guild, and T. Watson Wright, general and parliamentary solicitor. As the deputation from the Guild, the following local gentlemen were present: the Rev. Alfred Huddle, St. Nicholas Church; the Rev. G. Smallpiece, the Rev. G. S. Hand, All Saint's; the Deputy-Mayor, Mr. F. J. Carpenter, Alderman John Savage, Councillors Wm. Savage and W. S. Dexter; the Town Clerk, Mr. J. W. Woolstencroft, and many others. The prominent showmen present were John Stuart, Cardiff; Mr. Relph, Northampton; Mr. Jefferys, John Wilmot, Mrs. and Miss Wilmot, and Walter Wilmot, Glasgow; H. Hughes, London; T. Smith, Manchester; Wm. Mitchell, sen., Heywood; Wm. Holmes, Manchester; H. Hibbert, Stockport; Mr. Evans, Portobello, Edinburgh; T. Harniess, Rotherham; J. Geogeghan, Oldham; Mr. Affleck, Lynn; W. Davis and Mrs. Davis, Stoke-on-Trent; J. Taylor, London; G. H. Kemp, Leicester; T. Brannan, Doncaster; W. Murphy and John Murphy, Newcastle; H. J. Wallis, Seaforth; B. Mitchell, Heywood; J. Leo, Preston; Geo. Green, Glasgow; John Green Preston; J. Cariess, Newcastle; John Whiting and Mrs. Whiting, Manchester; B. Howden, Boston, Lincs.; A. Wentworth, Paris; T. Hurst, Clifton, Manchester; Mr. Terry, Birmingham; W. H. Marshall and G. Marshall, Bradford; J. W. Waddington, Leeds; J. Wingate, Skegness; E. Holland, Messrs. Danter, Wales; Jacob Studt, J. Dooner, Bristol.

The Mayor, in opening the meeting, met with a great ovation, his well-known sympathies with the men and women of the road being warmly acknowledged. He said, that, looking over a lifetime spent as a dweller on the old historic Fair ground, the Tuesday Market, he well remembered the condition of the show people forty or more years ago. He acknowledged that no class of people had evidenced more the important trend of modern days in the all-round betterment of the country than the travelling showmen—their shows and entertainments, their movable dwellings, the spirit of their profession or business in life, were alike remarkable. He paid this testimony willingly, and assured the showmen that so long as they kept in touch with the progressive elements in society, they would hold the goodwill of the Corporation and people of Lynn. He was glad to know from his esteemed and reverend friend, their chaplain (Mr. Horne), that effective means were taken to provide educational facilities for the children of the Fair ground.

He complimented them on the fact that their business interests were in the capable hands of so able an expert as Mr. Watson Wright, their Guild solicitor, and that their moral and spiritual well-being had enlisted the help and guidance of Mr. Horne.

He would not further stand between the meeting and these two gentlemen, but at once call upon Mr. Watson Wright, the solicitor, to address the meeting.

MR. WATSON WRIGHT, in his opening remarks, dwelt upon the early history of the Guild, and its triumphs over the mistaken faddists and narrow minded bigots who essayed to interfere not only with showmen, but also with the open amusements of the people. George Smith and his movement taught the showmen the value of combination. By their Association they had stemmed the tide of fast-rising prejudice against their business as a body, and also raised the public esteem, rapidly being taken away from them by bitter enemies of shows and fairs. Their Parliamentary work had been marked by success in every instance. Every year fifty to one hundred private Bills, promoted by public bodies, came to Parliament for powers and privileges of all kinds. They had to watch this mass of proposed legislation, and wherever and whenever mischief was designed against them, they had to meet that evil, and get it thrown out of the Bill. A proof of their great success would be found in the fact that while in the first year of their Parliamentary work, just four years ago, they had to deal with thirty Bills, they had but one Bill in the present Session. The moral warning to Corporations of last year's victory over the Acton authority had been seriously considered by the promoters of Private Bills in the present Session, and the result was that only the Corporation of Colne, in Lancashire, had refused to learn the obvious lesson that the defeat of Acton gave to all whom it might concern. He referred at length to the present state of the defence of the people's rights and liberties at Wigan.

He felt sure that the Corporation would see that (in ignorance) it had taken up a false position, and that it would with good grace retreat from that position. It was ultra vires and against the grand principles of the Magna Charta to prevent lawful traders carrying on their craft and business in life. It was an invasion of the rights of every subject of our Sovereign to move from place to place without let or hindrance to impose restraints and disabilities other than those imposed upon all citizens alike at Common Law. Repeatedly, this wrong had been done in Private Bill legislation, and by by-laws in the bad old days before they—the showmen—had banded themselves together for the defence of their business and their rights and principles as subjects of the King. He warned them that unless they supported their Guild with ample means, they would be doing themselves the greatest possible injury and injustice.

The REV. T. HORNE, the HON. CHAPLAIN, explained the educational and religious side of the Guild's many-sided enterprise. He was especially insistent upon the much ignored truth that ninety per cent. of the travellers frequenting our Fairs for business purposes, were householders as well as van-dwellers. He affirmed that the children were well within the net of National education, because they were left at the permanent home of the family until after the school age. He read out the list—a lengthy and constantly-growing one—of honorary local chaplains. His Grace of York, years ago, expressed the deepest interest in their work, and next week he trusted to see his own Diocesan, the Bishop of London, and explain the work of the Guild to him.

The showman as a worker, not ashamed of his craft, should always endeavour to give their toil-worn patrons—the workers of the Empire—full worth for their money. They did their work in union with all these good men of every phrase of human thought and energy that helped to make this sad-eyed old England merry once more. Why should not the genius and the talent they gave to the people be recognised, and its true place awarded them in the great commonwealth of enterprise and labour?

He saw no essential difference between their work for the mutual well-being and the work of the settled inhabitants of city or town. They might be itinerants, but that did not mean outlaw or vagabond. Nomads to a certain extent they must be, but not pariah and outcast. The rev. gentleman concluded by an appeal to those present to support their own society, and make it increasingly useful as a means of defence and advance. For his part he wished no higher reward than the consciousness that he was serving his brethren of the road.

The REV. A. HUDDLE, Curate of St. Nicholas, the parish in which the Fair ground is situated, moved a vote of thanks to the Mayor, for presiding over the gathering, and granting the Guild the use of that historic room for their meeting.

This was seconded by Alderman JOHN SAVAGE, of Messrs. Savage Bros., Ltd., and carried with acclamation, and the meeting terminated. Twenty members were enrolled after the meeting.

THE following message of congratulation and good cheer was sent on Thursday from showmen at their meeting at Lynn to their honoured leader and President, Lord George Sanger:—"The showmen at Lynn Mart, in meeting assembled, send their heartfelt good wishes for your speedy restoration to health and strength, and trust that you, their friend and fellow-showman, may be soon on the road again."

MR. T. H. CROWTHER, champion skater and swordsman, who is a Bradford man, thus describes his week's experiences at Wolverhampton, of which the recent fire was the culminating point. "When I arrived on Saturday, Jan. 28, I found twenty-five persons all clamouring for money. The manager by promises managed to get rid of them by 11.45 p.m.

"On Monday I made a successful début, although I was very much out of practice. When I got to my lodgings at 11.15 p.m., I heard the manager had gone to Blackpool, and would not return. All of us artistes arranged to keep the show going on equal shares. On Thursday I had a spill, but recovered sufficiently to keep my engagement. On Saturday evening we shared receipts very unequally. On Sunday morning I heard the theatre was burnt down. I went there, and found one end was gutted. A number of loafers round were trying to steal anything portable. I packed and locked up securely my goods not destroyed, and got back to my lodgings to find the sitting-room window open. The daughter of the housekeeper had eloped, and I found everybody busy, the kitchen chimney being on fire. The police and others soon put it out. I then settled my bill, and left for Bradford."

LEICESTER, which has been called "the metropolis of dissent," where at one time a music-hall was looked upon by the vast majority of the religious people of the town as an evil, has completely turned round in its opinions since the erection of the Palace Theatre there, by Mr. Oswald Stoll. The wholesome entertainment that has been submitted has completely won over all classes of society, and visits to the hall are made by some of the most prominent clerics and laymen of the town. This is a most healthy sign, which cannot but reflect the highest credit on Mr. Stoll and Mr. Leonard Vidal, the acting-manager. A short time ago, Mr. William Stanyon, a leading Nonconformist, wrote a letter to the local Press, in which he gave his impressions of a visit to the hall, which he described as a revelation, and an ornament to the town.

MR. OSWALD STOLL has generously given the use of the splendid Hackney Empire for a grand matinée on March 16 next, in aid of the funds of the Children's Hospital, Hackney-road. Mr. Walter Johnson, the Empire's accomplished musical director, has composed a march specially for the occasion, and has dedicated it to Mr. L. J. Stewart, a prominent Hackney gentleman, who is organising and arranging the benefit.

A NEW song scena which is to be produced at the Coliseum bears the title of Gollywogs, and has been written around Mr. Will Bishop by Mr. Roland Carse and Mr. Walter Slaughter. In it Mr. Bishop will introduce his famous "Golliwog Dance." Miss Sybil Arundale and Miss Bessie Butt have characters in the piece allotted to them, and the efforts of these talented ladies will be supported by a number of trained children. In another scena, entitled The Hielan' Fishwife, we are promised an agreeable medley of popular Scotch airs. The name-part will be played by Miss Decima Moore, who will be assisted by the stock company. Miss Moore, we learn, is to introduce a whistling solo.

THE verisimilitude to actual fact of Mr. Harry Bedford's satirical song, "Here comes the Foreigner," was well exemplified on Friday last, when the members of the Women's Liberal Unionist Association were informed by a prominent speaker on social and economic subjects that, in one street in the East End, the native population had been gradually ousted, until only one Englishman remained, and he was most likely Irish, for, with true Celtic irony, he exhibited a card in his window, bearing the inscription, "English spoken!" Messrs. Weston and Barnes are the joint writers of the biting, scathing, yet withal humorous song, founded on a similar subject, and published by Messrs. Francis and Day some time ago.

SEASON 1905.

Situate at the junction of the Blackpool and Lytham Tramways, on the Marine Parade, opposite the Manchester Hotel, in the heart of Blackpool.
The Building (which is 127ft. in diameter, 41ft. high to the eaves, and 83ft. to the Lantern) is Lighted by Electricity, and as a place for Animal Entertainments is unique, it being the only building in Blackpool that, in consequence of its being free from pillars and other obstructions, affords the necessary height and space for Diavolo's performance of "Looping the Loop."
The Walls are covered with the World-renowned picture "Niagara" painted by the great artist Phillipoteau.
For the last eight or ten years Blackpool has been extending around and for miles south of the Colosseum in a marvellously rapid manner. Thousands of houses have been built and are occupied, and there has not been any place of Public Entertainment provided for the Masses of the People south of the Tower.
The Colosseum provides a long-felt want in this New and Populous Neighbourhood.
The Authorities estimate that about Four Million Persons visited Blackpool last Season.
The great Popularity of the Colosseum is shown by the fact that, although only partially occupied during a part of a Blackpool Season, upwards of 100,000 paid for Admission during the remaining part of the season.
Offers for the 1905 Season on Sharing Terms should be made to the Undersigned, who will furnish any further information.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).

Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
Chapter IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.

"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law," ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as "the Bermoothes" and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," "Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman, July 31st, 1901.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette, Aug. 2nd, 1901.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
That vade mecum of "the profession," "The Era" Annual, has just made its 1905 appearance. In addition to the dramatic and musical calendar, the alphabetical list of new pieces, and other permanent features, there are some twenty-five stories by leading authors, actors, and actresses, including Sir Henry Irving, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Sydney Grundy, Mr. H. A. Jones, and Mr. Walter Passmore, all illustrated by photographs and autographs.—Sunday Times, Jan. 15, 1905.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
Conducted by Mr Edward Ledger, "The Era Annual" holds a unique place amongst dramatic and musical works of reference. Not merely does it contain the customary bright collection of stories from some of the best-known figures of the theatrical world, but its calendar is packed with interesting information, and the annual record of plays produced in London, the suburbs, the provinces, Berlin, and Paris is as complete and as valuable as ever.—Daily Telegraph, Jan. 17.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
"The Era" Annual, 1905, is with us once again, and is very welcome. The usual stock features which make this Annual so valuable for reference have been compiled with the usual care, and the "incidentals" will favourably bear comparison with those of any former issue. They range from "Dundee Reminiscences," by Sir Henry Irving, to an endeavour to lay the "Foundations of a National Drama," by Mr. Henry Arthur Jones.—Referee, Jan. 15, 1905.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, Dec. 20, 1904.—Gaiety Theatre.—Several new artistes appeared with Mr. Frank Clark's folly company for the first time on Saturday evening, and were accorded a hearty welcome by a large and attentive audience. The vocal marvels of Mr. Ern Ern, ventriloquist; the comical dancing and specialities of Mr. Joe Watts, and the songs of Miss May Lucas, Mr. Will Jones, and Miss Maie Marlow were greatly admired. A complete change of bill is announced for Christmas week.

SYDNEY, Dec. 27, 1904.—Mr. Harry Rickards gave a Christmas dinner to one thousand poor people, the basement of the Town Hall being granted by the Lord Mayor. Mr. Rickards devoted his usual Wednesday matinée at the Tivoli to the fund, and his company was added to by Mr. W. F. Hawtrey and Miss Winifred Austin, who appeared in a playlet. A sudden change in the weather lessened the attendance, and Mr. Rickards made up the required sum out of his own pocket. The scene on Christmas Day was a pleasant one, as the poor folks were assiduously looked after by Mr. J. C. Leete, general manager of Mr. Rickards' ventures.

SYDNEY, Jan. 10.—Pinafore, the second of Mr. J. C. Williamson's Gilbert and Sullivan revivals, was witnessed on the 7th inst. by a crowded audience at Her Majesty's Theatre. It was the occasion of the first Australian appearance of Miss Alexia Bassian, when the new soprano—albeit a distinctly grand opera artist—made a favourable impression. The simplicity which is necessary to the elucidation of Gilbert's satires was lacking, but voice and musical culture were there. A loud roar of welcome went up as Mr. Howard Vernon "came on board" as Sir Joseph Porter. He largely resembles the historic portraits of Nelson, and he is a prodigious favourite. All the week he has been suffering from illness, and Mr. H. H. Wallace capably represented him as Bunthorne. His defection from Pinafore was therefore expected; and his appearance was a pleasurable surprise. Miss Celia Ghiloni made a decided hit as Little Buttercup, though her personal beauty injured the illusion of the typical bumboat-woman. Mr. Charles Kenningham, one of the very few singers who can act, scored as Ralph Rackstraw; and Mr. Frank Wilson's excellent voice was well employed as Captain Corcoran. Mr. Ernest Fitts secured favour as Dick Deadeye, and Mr. John Ralston appealed to the patriotic instincts of the audience with his song, "He remains an Englishman." Miss Eileen Boyd interpolated "The Rio Grande," and sang and danced so well that three insistent encores ensued. Mr. Charles Danby could not complain of his reception after eleven years' absence, and he made droll business as the boatswain's mate. Miss Aggie Thorn was a dainty, melodious Hebe, and little Irma Caron, daughter of the conductor, M. Leon Caron, did careful work as the midshipmite. The chorus was one of the best we have ever had, and the male portion introduced "Comrades in Arms" and "When Evening's Twilight" to the intense delight of the audience. Mr. George Dixon painted a good deck-scene, with Portsmouth Harbour in the perspective.

Miss Nellie Stewart is playing Pretty Peggy to delighted audiences, is rehearsing Blind Man's Buff; or, Her Own Way, and studying Camille for her first effort in that celebrated emotional part. Miss Tittell Brune is also announced to essay the part of Camille for the first time during the present Melbourne season.

"A Desperate Game," as produced by Mr. Bland Holt, packs the Theatre Royal with lovers of a strong story, well told and acted.

The Tivoli saw the initial "thoughtographical" turn of Mdlle. Olivette on the 7th. The lady is one of the Salambos, and she gave a capital exhibition of blindfold arithmetic and object-naming. Madame Marcella, the Peschkoffs, Miss Nita Leese, Professor Davy and his marionettes, the Driscoll Boys, the Fernandez May trio, Fanny Powers in her clever imitations, and Jack Harrison (champion club-swinger) and others are in Mr. Harry Rickards' bill.

The Bio Tableau, introduced by Mr. J. C. Williamson at the Queen's Hall, is drawing well. The whole show is a good one.

Wirth's Circus and Menagerie is in its last week.

MELBOURNE, Jan. 16.—Princess's Theatre.—Rostand's romantic tragedy, L'Aiglon, continues to do remarkably good business, and on Saturday evening last there was another record attendance. Miss Tittell Brune's interpretation of the part of The Eaglet, Napoleon's ambitious, but ill-starred son, has certainly shown her capabilities to Melbourne playgoers. The other members of the company are well placed, and the scenic effects are skilfully managed.

Her Majesty's Theatre.—The revival of Florodora is proving a source of delight to lovers of this class of entertainment. The cast, with the exception of Mr. George Lauri, is new to Melbourne, and although individually a strong one, the production on a whole does not come up to expectations. The singing of Miss Florence Young is delightful, but Mr. Haigh Jackson has been seen to better advantage than as Frank Abercoeyd. On Friday evening next Mr. George Lauri is to be tendered a complimentary benefit.

Theatre Royal.—Although the temperature in the shade has averaged 108 degrees for the past week, it has not prevented parents from taking their children to see the pantomime, neither has it kept away other members of the community from enjoying an evening's amusement at our Melbourne "Drury Lane," as this popular theatre has been re-christened by the management. Miss Ravensberg, as Sinbad, has rapidly won the hearts of her audiences. Mr. Bert Bailey, in the character of the much ill-used widow, Sinbad's mother, keeps the audience in a simmer of merriment with his comical "patter," while the rest of the company all deserve a word of praise. The scenery and costuming are of a high order of merit.

Opera House.—The company now appearing at this theatre is attracting a large share of patronage. Hackenschmidt, the wrestler, is undoubtedly the star of the troupe.

The Gaiety Theatre is being filled nightly by Mr. Frank Clarke's "Folly" company, which includes the Elmores, Headon and Spilker, the Jones Brothers, Charles Naylor, and a number of other comedians and singers.

MR. A. B. IMESON AS DAVY GARRICK.

Aberdeen Free Press, Feb. 11, 1905.—Her Majesty's Theatre—"Davy Garrick."—No little disappointment was felt when it was announced that, owing to his sprained ankle becoming more troublesome, Mr. Compton would be unable to take his usual place in the title-rôle. The esteemed actor sent the following message . . . . . .

"Will you, under these circumstances, add to your many obligations and favour me so far as to accept Mr. A. B. Imeson in the part of Davy Garrick."

The chief interest in the play centres round the figure of Davy Garrick, and it is highly complimentary to Mr. Compton that such a capable substitute was found in Mr. A. B. Imeson. His was truly a remarkable performance; such talent and such power are seldom seen in so young an actor, and it is safe to predict a brilliant career for the possessor of such ability. Mr. Imeson's work throughout was masterly and convincing; never did he lose an opportunity, and in the great scene of the second act he quite excelled himself, at the end of which he was rewarded with rounds of applause. As the make-believe drunken actor he did splendidly, and in the more tragic passages the force and passion which he displayed were really grand.

THE FAIRY-TALE SOCIETY.

In aid of the funds of the Fairy-Tale Society, a musical and dramatic entertainment was given at St. George's Hall, on the afternoon of the 16th inst. The hall was kindly lent, free of charge, by Mr. Mr. J. N. Maskelyne, who has on several occasions acted in a similar generous spirit. Mr. Bransby Williams gave a particularly good account of himself in the pathetic recitation about "Devil-may-Care." Mr. Williams afterwards told the story of "The Old Man's Pipe," with appropriate gesture and speech, which won its way into the sympathies of the audience, and, by way of an encore, he gave imitations of Sir Henry Irving, Mr. Beerbohm Tree, and Mr. George Alexander, thereby causing much merriment. Miss Lilian Braithwaite appeared with three admirable recitations, with musical accompaniment, her "Song of Gladness" showing her to be possessed of a thorough grasp of the elocutionary art. Mr. Broughton Black, who came on the stage attired as a mediæval jester, was highly entertaining with his songs and jests, which delighted everybody in the house, especially the youngsters. Miss Winifred Hart Dyke looked most entrancing and bewitching in her "danse fantastique," her different movements being very neatly and gracefully executed. Mr. Corbett Smith knows how to tell a story in an attractive way, and his two Australian "yarns" were listened to with keen interest on the part of his audience. Miss Marian le Bas recited in nice style Mr. Richard le Gallienne's "Faery Gold" "L'Amour Fileux"; Miss Kate Cutler charmed the house with a song; Mr. Alec von Homrigh contributed a couple of humorous ditties; Miss Beatrice Spencer and Mr. Foxton Ferguson submitted a duet; Miss Dorothy Wallace appeared in a cleverly performed cake-walk dance; and the St. George's Hall Quintette made themselves generally useful. The concluding item on the bill was a new play, in one act, by Ford Lynton, entitled

"THE OPEN WINDOW."

Hugh Gronton, M.P.....	Mr. Dennis Eadie
A Vagabond	Mr. Wm. Mayne
Mark Phelp	Mr. Broughton Black
Saunders	Mr. Herbert Mayne

It is really a very disappointing piece of work. A few crude ideas have been jumbled together in a crude way by a crude writer. One Hugh Gronton, M.P., is greatly perturbed because of some little trouble which the ordinary man of the world would put in his pipe and smoke away. Failing to receive a satisfactory reply to a letter addressed to his sweetheart, he is about to commit suicide by taking poison, when, hearing a noise, he leaves the room for a few seconds. By the time he returns, a vagabond, who has secured an entrance through an open window, is making himself at home in Gronton's chambers. He is about to drink the poison, presuming it to be whisky and soda, when Gronton snatches the glass from him, and scatters the contents on the floor. He satisfies the tramp's hunger and thirst, provides him with a handful of cigars, and while he is smoking one of the latter, certain commonplace remarks pass between the two. As the tramp is about to quit the house, after having refused to accept money from his benefactor, he picks up a letter, and the contents, apparently, are of an agreeable character. Mr. Dennis Eadie did his best with the part of Hugh Gronton, although the sentiments which were put into his mouth were only of a kind which romantic schoolgirls, provided they were silly enough, would be inclined to accept. Mr. W. M. Mayne presented a fine study of a vagabond, both as to speech, make-up, and gesture. The two minor characters of Mark Phelp and Saunders received suitable attention at the hands of Mr. Broughton Black and Mr. Herbert Mayne respectively.

NEW YORK THEATRE FIRE.

The fire at the Casino Theatre, New York, on the 11th inst., happening as it did at an hour when there was no audience in the house, is not regarded as an unfortunate occurrence by any means; in view of the fact that it has destroyed the possibility of another appalling disaster like that of the Iroquois Theatre fire in Chicago. The Casino had always been considered one of the most dangerous theatres in New York in the event of fire. It was first on the list of a number of "upstairs" theatres submitted to the Mayor of the city shortly after the Chicago affair, with recommendations for extensive alterations and drastic measures of safety. The stairways leading up to the auditorium were tortuous and narrow, and the approaches to them were obstructed by a number of pillars, the interior of the theatre being constructed and decorated in the Moorish style. Egress from this playhouse was always very slow, and if there had ever been a panic, the loss of life would have been enormous. Some compulsory alterations were made last year, but these would have counted for little. The partial destruction of the auditorium may therefore be regarded as providential, as the entire interior of the theatre will now be reconstructed, and certain precautionary measures will be enforced by the Fire Department. It is not unlikely that the auditorium will be lowered to the street level. After the fire it was found that the supports of the balcony and upper gallery were of wood, covered with plaster. Partitions supposed to be solid and fireproof proved to be two-inch planking. If the galleries had been weighted with humanity at the time of the fire, they would have surely collapsed. The upper gallery was described by the Chief of the Fire Department as a "forest of pine," the floors, partitions, supports, and parts of the stairways being built of wood. The flames destroyed all the interior at the side of the theatre that fronted on Broadway, and spread half-way through the auditorium towards the stage. If an audience had been in the theatre at the time, most of the means of escape would have been cut off, and, as there was no way for the smoke to escape, hundreds of people would have been suffocated. When the fire was discovered the Lady Teazle company were rehearsing under the direction of Mr. Gerald Coventry, the stage-manager, who got everybody out safely, most of the members of the company not stopping to don their street clothes. The asbestos curtain was quickly lowered, and the scenery and appointments used in the production of Lady Teazle, the current attraction, were not damaged. The loss is estimated at $25,000, this being chiefly caused by water. It is supposed that the fire was caused by defective insulation of an electric light wire. Miss Lillian Russell's costumes were saved by a young lady of the chorus, who hastily gathered them up when the alarm was given, and carried them out of the building. The story runs that this was an act of gratitude, Miss Russell having been kind to the young lady thirteen years ago, when she was a page in Miss Russell's La Cigale company at the Garden Theatre. The Casino is one of the most popular theatres on Broadway, and one of the oldest. It was opened on Oct. 21, 1882, with a production of The Queen's Lace Handkerchief, and has always been devoted to musical attractions exclusively. The popularity of Miss Lillian Russell and of Mr. Francis Wilson was established there, and Miss Marie Tempest sang herself into the affections of the New York public at this theatre in the early nineties. Mr. Rudolph Aronson was its manager for a number of years. Mr. George Lederer succeeded him, and he produced The Whirl of the Town and The Belle of New York there. His annual "reviews," too, were a unique and popular feature of New York theatricals during his tenure of the Casino.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—New Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews.—A variety programme is presented here this week. Will Onda's company in Servants Wanted is cordially received. Madame Alecion is an excellent lady magician; Bendella is a first-class contortionist; and others included in the bill are Alf Davis, vocalist; the Valmores; Stretton Hill; Bob Stephen, Irish comedian; and Sabino, in a musical act. A farce, entitled A Quiet Night, by Will Onda and company, concludes.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Will Gregory.—The Four Estrellas top the bill here this week, their gymnastic display being really marvellous. Marie Joyce is a chic comedienne; Wilfrid is a very clever contortionist; Oakley and James combine dancing with vocalism; Dan Pedley is a comedian of ability; Frank Hope, trick cyclist, receives rounds of applause; Baby Lloyd is a firm favourite; the Bros. Zampah, one-legged acrobats, are applauded heartily; Nellie Vann is received with well-deserved favour; and the O'Malleys are capital comedians.

ABERDEEN.—Her Majesty's Theatre.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. C. Cavanah, C.A.—The play this week is The Orchid, which has been enthusiastically received by full houses. Miss Ethel Bryant, Miss Madge Lucas, Miss Sylvia de Lacy, Miss Chrissie Ralland, Miss Ida Chichester, and Miss Irene Desmond, make up a brilliant array of lady principals, and the chief male parts are vigorously sustained by Mr. G. Davy, Burnaby, Mr. Edmund Hollick, Mr. Ernest Darrell, Mr. Edmund Page, and Mr. Charles K. Wallenn.

Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. Ernest Sheldon.—The Vandyke troupe of pantomimists are appearing here with an irresistibly funny farce, Nicodemus, and the popularity of the Two Bees seems to increase with every successive appearance. Mr. J. H. Millburn is received with much favour; a remarkably interesting exhibition is given by Professor Duncan's Scotch Collies; and among the other successful artistes in an admirable company, are Falles and Cussick, comedians; M. D'Ora, a clever and daring gymnast; L. Palamo, an attractive vocalist and dancer; and Miss Rosina Rickards, a sprightly comedienne. A series of interesting and amusing pictures are shown by the Palace bioscope.

ACCRINGTON.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—A Chinese Honeymoon, played by Mr. George Dance's Co., is the attraction here this week.

The New Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Wilmot, Potter, Vandy, and Weisker.—The bill provided here includes the New Macs, eccentric comedians; the Sisters Dorrell, character duettists; J. P. Carrol, tambourine player; Mollie Doon, dainty comedienne; Moretta and Alice, Continental acrobats; Fritz and Carl, speciality comedians; and Lieut. Chard's Dogs.

ALDERSHOT.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. E. Williams.—With that extreme kindness which has always characterised Mr. Sounes so far as any charitable effort put forward in the town is concerned, the first three nights of the week, and Wednesday afternoon, were set aside for the production of The Mikado by the members of the Aldershot Amateur Operatic Society, and it is most gratifying to record that the confidence which Mr. Sounes, and his manager, Mr. Williams, had in the ability of the performers has not been misplaced; indeed, their most sanguine expectations have been exceeded, for the play has been produced with unqualified success. The performances were in aid of the funds of the local hospitals and the Union Jack Club.

ALTRINCHAM.—New Pavilion.—Proprietors, Messrs. Budd, Howe and Taylor; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Gilman.—Mr. Charles Carte's company in the drama, A Noble Brother, has occupied the boards here this week. The visit has been a successful one. Mr. Carte, in the title-rôle, played in a manner that deeply touched the audience. He was supported by an able company.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Fairbairn.—The New Mephisto is being staged here this week. The company, which is Mr. W. H. Kirby's, is under the direction of Mr. Albert Weston (who appears in the character of Mephisto) and Messrs. Paul Kaye and Clarence Lindon. Mr. Albert Weston is a host in himself as Mr. Mephistopheles; and other male parts fall to suitable interpreters. The Thalian Glee Singers are a special attraction.

Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. C. Revill; Director of Entertainments, Mr. F. Wilmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. Campkin.—A varied programme of uniform good "turns" is given here this week. Lady Mansel appears with her juveniles in A Concert Rehearsal, with very pleasing results, delighting the audience. The three Sisters Ernest present operatic vocal selections of great merit; other artistes are Lea and Lovell, American song illustrators; Tray and Rich, popular and refined black and white comedy team; H. O. Borie, comedy juggler; Handel, artistic musical act; and Adams and Ward, Anglo-American comedy acrobats, very funny, and very expert tumblers. The pictures are also good this week.

Empire Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech. — The chief item of a very interesting week's programme here is the dramatic sketch, Twice Round the Clock. Mr. Chas. Majilton is an old-stager, as Gabriel Godforth; and Miss Madeline Majilton, as Mdlle. Salprunelle, the attractive "belle" of the cigar shop, is full of vivacious fun. Mr. Bartle Burke, as enacted by Mr. Jim Bond, is a very broth of an Irishman. The other artistes who have their turn preceding the sketch are Florrie Cooper, in her latest songs; Edie Gray and Coons, in a unique and pleasing performance; Billy Bint, the popular comedian; Dale and Vale, in their singing and dancing speciality; Calpitt, the great comedy magician; and the Wallonells, in their great comedy bar act. The cinematograph also shows some comic pictures.

ATTERCLIFFE.—Theatre Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Claude Seaton.—The Golden Ladder is being presented here by an excellent company, under the direction of Miss Mary Austin and Mr. Vivian Edmonds. Mr. Harry Cullenford plays the part of the Rev. Frank Thornhill in a natural manner, and with such quiet, yet dignified force and bearing, that every word and movement shows careful study, and stamps him as an actor of ability. A highly dramatic performance is given by Mr. J. Milne Taylor of the villainous Michael Severn, his efforts to work out his evil plans being ably seconded by Mr. Graham Winsford, as the subtle Peranza, and Mr. Dan Mining as the volatile Jim Dixon. Mr. Edward Bikkar is an acceptable John Grant; Mr. Raymond Chester makes a breezy Noah Learoyd, and doubles the part of Captain Jackson with excellent taste and judgment. Mr. John McGillray is most amusing as Samuel Packaby, his efforts being considerably helped by Miss Nellie Graham, as Mrs. Peckaby. Miss Conyers Radcliffe is sympathetic as Lilian Grant, the light and shade of the part being fully brought out; Miss Janet Wakerling is good as Rossomazy; so also is Miss Alvina Mining, as The Tearer; Miss Fanny Morse, as Mrs. Dixon; Miss Jessie Gillette, as Victoria Alexandra Peckaby Miss Violet Milron, as the Matron; Mr. Eric Thomson, as Rao; Mr. Hartland Rowe, as Lieutenant Valnois; and Mr. W. Chambers, as Dr. Lemair. A word of praise is due to Little Vera, who is very winsome as Lily. The scenery and staging are highly satisfactory. Mr. Raymond Chester is the courteous business-manager of the company.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwards; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Gibbons.—A first-class company is here this week. Zanfretti and Napio, musical knife grinders and grotesques, are well received; Miss Marie Yorke is a pleasing burlesque artiste; Dan Noble proves himself a capable comedian, with god songs; Max Merlin gives a clever show as a contortionist; Lottie Siegenberg is highly appreciated in her quick-change act, entitled The Lazy Slavey; a very good turn is provided by The Falcons, humorous acrobats and hand balancers; an excellent series of pictures are shown by the Palace Bioscope; and the performance of James De Voye's Educated Pony is well received.

AYR.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—During the first three nights of this week, the Gaiety is occupied by Mr. Herbert J. Montague's Osmond Tearle Company, with Mr. Walter Bentley, a great favourite in Ayr, as leading man, backed by an admirable company of well-known Shakespearean actors. On Monday Hamlet was produced, and no finer interpretation of the piece has been given here. Nothing could have been finer than Mr. Bentley's conception of the melancholy Dane; Mr. John Paley played the King; and Horatio and Laertes were admirably taken by Mr. Vivian Gilbert and Mr. Fred Sargent. Mr. Wm. Lowe was an effective Polonius; and the Ghost was well presented by Mr. Chas. Kingsley. The Queen was in the able hands of Miss Fanny Chamberlain; the Player Queen was entrusted to Miss Ruth Nightingale; and Miss Phyllis French cleverly took the part of Osric. Miss Millie Ford was an artistic Ophelia. On Tuesday Othello was presented, and on Wednesday The Bells, concluding with Cramond Brig. Mr. Charles March and his company appeared on Thursday in The Priest of the Temple.

BACUP.—New Court Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Denman-Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Richard Nightingale.—Mrs. T. Morton Powell's company, in the drama A Woman's Devotion, is here this week. Mr. George Gainford plays the part of the hero, Richard Chesney, in a convincing and earnest manner; Philip Dangerfield is skilfully represented as a thorough-paced villain by Mr. Frank R. Robertson; and he is ably assisted by his partner in crime, Cora Eversleigh, enacted by Miss Ethel Tinsley. Mr. W. E. Sommerville is excellent as Paul Eversleigh; Mr. F. Hodson makes an amusing and entertaining Bob Savage, and is well supported by Miss Agnese D'Aragon as Mrs. Savage, and Mr. Bob Anderson as Reginald Montmorency. Miss Maud Hastings presents a pretty picture of Maisie Loyale; Mrs. Morton Powell gives a life-like representation of Gilberte Le Grand; and Miss Alice Buckland gets some fun out of the part of Kitty Brown.

BATLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Whitty; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. M. Hurst.—Messrs. Mathew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's company is presenting The Still Alarm here this week, and a capital house attended on Monday evening. Mr. M. H. Glenville portrayed Jack Manley capitally; and the villainous rôle of John Bird was well played by Mr. Paul Lovett; Mr. Tom Beasley made an effective Willie Manley; and Mr. Fred Osmond was to the fore as Doc Wilber. Mr. Milton C. Curtis was good as Franklyn Fordham; and Mr. Lewis Gordon did well as Joe Jones. Miss Mary Lovett gave a most sympathetic rendering of Elinore Fordham; and Miss Mable Veriton worked hard as Mrs. Manley. Miss Connie Meadows was also well received, and was always in evidence as Carrie Wilber; and the Central Brigade Quartet rendered some capital glees.

BATH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—The greatest theatrical event of the year was commenced locally on Thursday, last week, by the appearance of Sir Henry Irving and his company, whose short, but brilliant engagement, will long remain a red-letter day in the annals of Bath play-goers. The opening performance was made up of Waterloo and The Bells. The enthusiasm with which the audience received the efforts and appreciated the talents of the gifted actor-knight, and also those of his clever fellow-artistes, can only be described as spontaneous and heartfelt. The applause was so persistent at the close that he was obliged to respond in one of his graceful speeches. On Friday, Louis XI. was the attraction, and the house again presented a wonderful scene, every seat being occupied and standing room at a premium. Sir Henry was in his best form, the enthusiasm throughout the play being most pronounced. Long and sustained were the cheers which filled the auditorium as the curtain descended upon the great scene at the end of the third act, and both Sir Henry and Mr. Gerald Lawrence were obliged to appear again and again to bow their acknowledgements. On Saturday a matinée of Becket was given to a densely crowded house, and at the evening performance of The Merchant of Venice, when similar conditions prevailed. Sir Henry's acting as the Jew was watched and applauded to the echo. Miss Edith Wynne Matthison essayed Portia, a performance that had eagerly been looked forward to on account of her former triumphs in Bath some years ago, and so continuous was the applause when the curtain fell on the last act that Sir Henry Irving appeared, leading Miss Matthison by the hand. When the applause had subsided he stepped to the front, and addressing the audience, said:—Ladies and gentlemen: It is my privilege to thank you—it is impossible to thank you adequately—for your more than kind and gracious and inspiring greeting. No players could be received with more favour than you have received us, and I thank you for one and all of us, whose hearts respond most gratefully to your welcome. All good things must end, and I am sorry that our engagement ends to-night, but I cannot leave you without expressing my deep sense of gratitude to many friends for the most gracious courtesies which I have received from them. I would like to thank the gentlemen of your Press for their very generous record of our work, and I would like to thank Mr. Lewis and all his staff. I would like to thank them for what they have done to help us all through our work within the last three days. I have some very cherished memories of kindnesses which I have received in your historic, your beautiful city, and I carry away a further sheaf of these memories which I have gathered of late. It is impossible for me to express my thanks to you, but I hope that I may leave behind me, or that we may leave behind us, something that you will remember gladly and with some pleasure. In thanking you again and again and counting myself in nothing else so happy as in my soul remembering my good friends, I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, as your very grateful and respectful and affectionate servant. On Sunday afternoon numbers of Sir Henry Irving's admirers assembled upon the Great Western Railway company's platform to bid him adieu. On Monday a return engagement was fulfilled of that bright and amusing comedy, A Country Mouse, performed by Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's well-equipped company. Mr. Percy Hutchison himself is now seen in the character of Archie Vyse, which he enacts in an easy and polished manner. That finished actor, Mr. Charles Harley, gives evidence of his ability as John Bowlby. Mr. F. G. Thurstans has a congenial part as the giddy Duke of St. Kitts; Lord Robert Wykeham is hit off to a nicety by Mr. Edward Bonfield; Mr. John E. Watson is once again seen as the family butler, Jephcot, in addition to which he undertakes the stage and business management of the tour. Miss Violet M. Harley, as Angela, is decidedly clever in all she does. The society ladies have good and elegant representatives in Miss Violet Ley (Lady Sylvia Bowlby) and Miss Dorothy Cacey (Violet Aynsley). Miss Charlotte Mead is also capital as Mrs. Cropper. The curtain-raiser is Mr. George Mudie's amusing farce, His Landlady, the quartette of characters being well sustained by Mr. Charles Harley, Mr. Edward Bonfield, Miss Dorothy Cacey, and Miss Charlotte Mead.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Trussell.—The programme submitted this week includes the popular Glenroy Troupe of Dancers, whose efforts are always well received. One of the smartest comedians and dancers we have had here for some time is Will Driscoll. Johnson and Bert present an acrobatic knockabout turn that wins them great applause; Miss Ella Shields, the southern star, gains plenty of admirers; Leslie Bell and Co., in their comedy sketch, A Bit of String, meet with success; Lydden and Hayward, duologue artistes, work hard to please; and Gilbert Rogers, comedian, also appears. Pallister's Animated Pictures are once again displayed.

Assembly Rooms.—The North American Animated Photo Co., under the direction of Mr. Ralph Pringe, are paying a welcome return visit. The newest films of "Urbanora" series are unfolded, and the large audiences that assemble are delighted. Particularly interesting are the local views, the unveiling of the Quin tablet by Sir Henry Irving being watched with enthusiasm. The concert party, who appear at intervals, includes Ellen and Maynie, in a musical interlude; Lester King, the popular baritone vocalist; and Miss Pansie Dulforde, violinist.

BEDFORD.—Royal County Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham-Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—This week the boards are occupied by Mr. Frank Wilson's company in the comedy, The Marriage of Kitty. Miss Vera Fordyce, as Kitty, leaves nothing to be desired. Sir Reginald Belsize is well performed by Mr. Leslie Tyler; Miss Kate Harwood, as Madame de Semiano, attacks her difficult rôle with great success; John Travers, the solicitor, is capitally portrayed by Mr. Frank Wilson; Miss Elsie Saville makes a pert and saucy maid; and Mr. J. F. Leighton and Mr. Walter Craig satisfactorily undertake the rôles of Norbury and Hampton respectively. The piece is produced under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Hare. On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Langtry paid a flying visit to Bedford with her company direct from Terry's Theatre, in the light comedy, Mrs. Dering's Divorce. The theatre was crowded, every available seat being occupied.

BELFAST.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James McCann.—Miss Olga Nethersole's company opened here on Monday with Sapho. In the title-rôle Miss Cecil Cromwell was decidedly successful. The honours were also shared by Mr. Arthur Royston, who submitted a powerful and highly satisfactory impersonation of Jean Gaussin; Mr. A. T. Hendon invested the part of Uncle Cesaire with much humour; and the rôle of Divonne was charmingly portrayed by Miss Isabel Derrie. As Mme. Hettema, Miss Winifred Pearson was thoroughly efficient; and the part of Dechelette was in the excellent hands of Mr. Nix Webber. Mr. Frank Melrose made the most of his opportunities as Hettema; and other parts were ably sustained by Miss Beatrice Fairfax, Miss Minnie Summers, Miss Clara Halkin, Miss Rosa Sullivan, and Messrs. Slaine Mills, Knox Monk, John Barnum, John Crome, G. Laurence, E. C. Ashley, Edward Smith, Albert Mack, &c.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. John J. Beardmore.—Marlo and Dunham Trio head the bill and have been most successful with their gymnastic act, which is decidedly clever. The cycle balancing performance by the Bellong Bros., is quite extraordinary, their feats being loudly cheered; Rice, Rose, Davis and the Half appear to great advantage in an amusing act; the Maples are excellent duettists, and their dancing has been much admired. A fine performance has been submitted by Sibb and Sibb (Will and Gertrude), their feats on the trapeze being hailed with enthusiasm. Mr. Walter Emerson is a capital comedian, with funny songs; and Mr. A. P. Boswell is a smart chair balancer. Miss Belle Sydney, a fascinating comedienne, completes the bill.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Brock.—Miss Daisy Mayer is the star here, and this accomplished comedienne has been accorded a good reception. Seeley and West, the popular musical comedians, have been very successful; and Mr. Arthur Melrose is a wonderful siffleur, his solos being capitally rendered. Devere and Kenwick are an exceedingly smart duo; and the daring horizontal bar act by Messrs. McPhee and Hill has been deservedly applauded. The sweet tenor vocalism of Mr. H. F. Wilson, has been universally admired; and others appearings are Miss Katie Butler, comedienne, and Mr. Fred E. Terry, a funny comedian.

NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—General Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—This old-established hall—so ably managed by Mr. H. T. Downs—always commands a large share of patronage. This week the chief position on the bill is occupied by the Pichel Troupe of acrobats, whose remarkable and daring feats have caused quite a sensation. The Brewsters are clever vocalists and smart dancers; and Miss Mabel Kessler's selections on the cornet have been received with much pleasure. The trick cycling by Mr. W. Salmon is of an interesting nature; and a smart wire act is supplied by Melaine. Weisker Bros.' bioscope introduces some new and attractive sets of pictures this week. Also appearing are Mr. Will Ellerslie, comedian; Mr. Jack Lane, the "Yorkshire Rustic"; Deller and Oxford, the comical duo; and Miss Florrie Bray, comedienne.

BILSTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Battersby.—Yet another pantomime is supplied in Miss Lena Stanton's Dick Whittington. Miss Stanton figures well in the title-rôle, and a chic Alice Fitzwarren is found in Miss Marie Gerrard, both ladies playing well together. Little Keeno revels in the part of Captain Spanker; and eulogy is deserved by Mr. George James as Alderman Fitzwarren, Mr. Alfred Brooks as Idle Jack, and Mr. Bruce Green as Margina. The specialities comprise the Cecil Troupe of lady acrobatic dancers; Rynfeld's chair performance; Jay and Ginger, singing ventriloquist; Joe Pauletti, cycling clown, and Le Voll, gymnast.

BIRKENHEAD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Messrs. H. J. Callan and Wentworth Croke's company are here with Florodora, a comedy with an excellent reputation in this town. A capital representation is much enhanced by the really spirited and charming performance of Dolores by Miss Violet Leslie. Mr. Arthur Lenville appears to great advantage as Tweedlepunch, and makes every point tell; Gilfain is well impersonated by Mr. C. Young Fixitt; Mr. William Everard is a highly effective Frank Abercoed; Lady Holyrood is suitably embodied by Miss Cissie Seohton; and the cast is most efficient throughout. The piece is admirably staged, and large and enthusiastic audiences have ruled throughout the engagement.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—A comprehensive company here includes the Coloured Meisters, whose artistic vocalism is much admired. Booker and Narbis, in their well-sustained and amusing sketch, are heartily enjoyed, and the Musical Howards (Ralph and Nellie) are a decided acquisition. Mr. Fred Dunstone is a character comedian of resource; Miss Madge Grey, comedienne, scores a success; Miss Gladys Mavius, the Canadian coon, is a general favourite; and Mr. L. B. Athol, comedian and descriptive vocalist, and Miss Lily Lever, balladist, also contribute materially to the success of the programme. An admirable display by the Bioscope is an interesting feature.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—The Babes in the Wood attracts full houses nightly, and the efforts of Messrs. Bert Gilbert, J. F. McArdle, Henry Wright, Daley Cooper, Fred Walton, Fred Farren, and Mesdames Lily Iris, Gladys Ward, Maidie Andrews, Phyllis Dare, Mabel Lait, Monic Sayer, the Eight of Hearts, &c., are well rewarded.

PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—The Forty Thieves is still running to full houses. On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Langtry took possession of the stage for a flying matinée performance of Mrs. Dering's Divorce. Mrs. Langtry was well received in her thoroughly charming study of Mrs. Dering, and Mr. Leonard Boyne was heartily applauded as the Captain.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Victor Turner.—Hearts Adrift, in which Mr. Arthur Bertram's company is scoring here this week, possesses many recommendations to favour. The airship sensation never fails its object, and the scenery is new and effective. Mr. Arthur Estcourt, who is producing the play, acts convincingly as Captain Teddy, "the man with a past"; Mr. Percy Rhodes suggests the sinister character of the inventor, Edmund Gerne, in a masterly manner; Mr. Cecil C. Klein shows admirable qualities as Robert Darney, the clerk; Mr. J. P. Dryden scores as Pidgeon; and Mr. John Gerant leavens the play with his excellent comedy powers as Simon Green. Miss Dora Barton acts charmingly as the Flower Girl, Miss Maud Tremayne is successful as Julia Lane, and Miss Ella Dixon is diverting as Peggy.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood.—Dick Whittington has now completed the eighth week of its enormously successful run, and is likely to fill the theatre for weeks to come.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Walter Melville; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—Mr. Edward Morris's company in As Midnight Chimes, is winning unqualified praise. Mr. Melville Bickford, is a fine study of the heavy character part, Luke Dezzard; Mr. Frank E. Petley as the gallant young fisherman hero, Dave Stannard; Mr. Herbert Belmore as Ezra Gamble; Miss Gertrude Price as a most sympathetic heroine; and Miss Minnie Ethel as Little Davy, the child's part, have been warmly eulogised. Mr. James Salter leads with excellent effect in the comic element as Nat Spavin, and is well assisted by Miss Nita Imeson as Suzette, the French maid.

CARLTON THEATRE, SALTLEY.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben Sydney.—The Babes in the Wood is being played here by Mr. Gus Levaine's company, under the direction of Mr. Harry Levaine, and is attended by crowded houses nightly. Mr. Harry Levaine appears as Dame Durden in the most diverting style; Messrs. Dave Anderson and Gus Granville as the two ruffians, create continuous hilarity. Mr. Harry Taylor is popular as Friar Tuck, Mr. Will Cutler adds to the fun as the Baron, Miss Lily Ennis shines as Robin Hood, Miss Beatrice Smith acts gracefully as Maid Marion, and the Misses Ivy Rochefort and Daisy Rochefort win much favour as the Babes. The Two Zemblas, Leon and Leoni, the Sylvan Quartette, Vulo, the Rizonis, and the Rhondda Glee Party are among the specialities.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; Manager, Mr. Dan Barnard.—Dick Whittington has returned again, this time under the auspices of Mr. James Kiddie, who presents the pantomime in excellent style. The scenery, dresses, and specialities are well arrayed, and the company is good all round. Miss Bessie Willows and Miss Leah Lawrie as Dick and Alice, give pleasure to all in their respective rôles, and the Misses Isabel Taylor, Florence Hilton, Vera Ashton, Maude Hinton, Flossie Crompton, and Meta Anderson are equally delightful. The comedians are in strong force. Mr. Allan Carruthers as Idle Jack, Mr. Harry Alberry as the Cook, Messrs. Clifton and Gibson as Silly Peter and Lazy Larry, Mr. Cyril Dundas as Fitzwarren, and Mr. V. M. Vido as the Cat, exciting the utmost glee.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Resident Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—Tom Costello heads the bill here this week, his song scena, The Old Clown, being loudly applauded, while the excellent singing of Harriett Vernon meets with an enthusiastic reception. Cline and Clarke, in their black and white comedy business are most entertaining, as also are Mueller and Coyne, and George Newburn; the Two Butterflies are exceedingly clever juvenile gymnasts; Diamond and Beatrice have a refined musical entertainment; the Three Donalds are expert athletes; and the Arthur Lloyd Trio are amusing in their sketch, Little Charley.

GAIETY THEATRE. — General Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—The Seven Savonas, the brightest and most talented musical entertainment we have seen, is the big attraction here; while the Elliott troupe of cyclists appear with their accustomed success. The Harvey Boys, Terry and Lambert, the Leotard Brothers, and Jack Lorimer are very amusing; Lieutenant Travis is a fine ventriloquist. Senorita Eloina, gymnast; Jenny Reeve, comedienne; Chas. Ulrick, barrel act; and the Three Sherrys, eccentric acrobats, complete the bill. On Tuesday evening Mr. Bushell had his annual benefit, when the house was packed.

HIPPODROME.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The diversified and well-arranged programme this week includes Colonel G. Bordeverry, in his display of rifle-shooting, which is marked by accuracy and sensationalism; the Barra Troupe of musicians present an entertainment of a high order, while the Vaudeville Trio are clever and versatile entertainers. An amusing turn is that of the Arleys, eccentric cyclists, and Mdlle. Aladina's troupe of performing cockatoos are marvellously trained. V. J. De Henau, with his paintings; Miss Du Barry, soprano; Al. Lawrence, mimetic comedian; Bob Hamilton, Larry Lewis, Harry Drew, and Burton Joyce add to the success of the long programme.

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Resident Manager, Mr. George Foster.—The principal item this week is the clever wrestling entertainment presented by Leon Morris's Ponies. Florence Smithers, Owen Dacroy and Company, have an excellent sketch, Hard Lines, which is well played. The Sisters Llewllyn, and Helen Martin are loudly applauded for their operatic selections, while Lily Langtry is brighter than ever; Collins and Hart, and the Resuas Trio are entertaining and clever acrobats, and other excellent turns are Jimmy Shields and Harry Martell, comedians.

CURZON HALL.—Hamilton's Excursions are thoroughly up to date; Will Souls is loudly applauded for his comic songs; the Watson Trio have a bright sketch, The Tramp in Trouble; and Foo Choo, Chinese conjuror; Andrews and Thompson; the Kessanly troupe of Terriers, and Hoppitt, Tony, and Terry complete the programme.

BLACKBURN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Yorke; Business-Manager, Mr. Reginald Yorke.—The School Girl, under the direction of Mr. Charles Macdona, opened here on Monday. Miss Kate Forster as Mother Superior and Mrs. Marchmont greatly distinguished herself. Miss Nellie Hodson, as Lilian Leigh, and Miss Jennie Bonney, as Cicely Marchmont, rendered ample justice to their respective parts. Mr. Alec Chentrens, as Edgar Verney, gave a pleasing performance. Mr. Charles Adeson, as General Marchmont, and Mr. Herbert Darnley, as Ormsby St. Leger, provided much amusement; and Mr. Alfred Leslie, as Tubby Bedford, was very humorous. The Peter Overend of Mr. Charles W. Anson was also very good.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page.—The Mockery of Marriage, presented by Miss Olga Audre, is here this week. Miss Olga Audre gives a powerful rendering of Alva Kenyon, and is well supported by Miss Florence Zilwood, as Rosa Vernham. Mrs. Sidney Halling is also good as Mary Ann Barnicoate. Mr. Chas. Boult gives a manly performance of Jack Stanley, and the acrobatic entertainment by the Four Aces is an attractive feature.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Drury.—A local amateur company is giving Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, The Yeomen of the Guard. The profits are to be devoted to local charities.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—The Moody-Manners Opera Co. has obtained a cordial reception here this week. Faust was played on Monday with fine effect. Mr. Edward Arthur appeared in the title-rôle, and sang and acted with consummate ability. Mr. T. H. Wood won great commendation as Mephistopheles, and Mr. David Fuller made a good impression as Valentine. Miss Grace Nicoll's Marguerite was a charming performance, and she secured several recalls for her tuneful singing. Miss Tiefy Davies, as Siebel, and Miss N. Moore, as Martha, were also good. Lohengrin was played on Tuesday, when Miss Enriquetta Crichton, as Elsa, scored a veritable triumph, whilst Mr. Walter Carter was very successful as Lohengrin. The Bohemian Girl, Tannhauser, Carmen, The Daughter of the Regiment, and Maritana are also in the bill. The chorus is strong and well balanced.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Madame Willougby's Babes in the Wood Co. is here this week.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Another excellent programme is provided here this week. Syd May, the mimic, has established himself a huge favourite; the Royal Tokio Troupe of Japanese Jugglers contribute a capital turn; Hercat and Fairfax appear in a sketch; and Ernest Montefiore and Co. supply a musical triologue. Ted Cowan is a good comedian; Kathleen Gray, vocalist, and Vernando, ventriloquist, are both well received; Vosper is a clever facial mimic; and G. W. Foster is a comedian with a quaint style. Vernon's Imperial Bioscope is as popular as ever.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. George E. Good.—Miss Ada Wallis and her excellent company are here with the musical absurdity entitled The Major, from the pen of Mr. T. C. McQuire, who gives an exceedingly clever performance of the title-rôle, whilst to Mr. Frank Hartley every praise is due for an enjoyable rendering of the part of George Goodman. Mr. A. Godfrey is prominent as Jeremiah Stoney; Mr. George Chatterton is good as the waiter, Thomas Twickham. Miss J. Hughes as Emma Gampney, Miss Ethel Poole as Grace Gampney, Miss Minnie McQuire as Hilda Marston, all have a hearty reception, whilst the honours of the evening are bestowed on Miss Ada Wallis, who, as Angelina Touchemup, keeps the audience in roars of laughter.

TUDOR'S CIRCUS reopened its doors on Monday for a short season with Cooper and Edison Electric Living Pictures, which are of a high class, and well deserve the patronage bestowed. A good variety company also appears and renders popular turns.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—Mr. George Dance's company opened here on Monday with the musical play, The Duchess of Dantzic. The part of Catherine Upscher ("Sans Gene") was charmingly played by Miss Rita Presano; Mr. Frederick Moyes, as Naponeon, and Mr. Mackesay Cullin, as Sergeant Lefebvre, interpreted their respective parts with great ability. Mr. T. C. Maxwell acted gracefully as the Viscomte De Bathune; and Mr. Colin Mackay was very amusing as Papillon. The chorus was good and the play splendidly staged.

GRAND THEATRE, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—Variety again reigns here, and the following make up a good programme: Miss Maud Ross, comedienne and expert dancer; Miss Leola, lady juggler; Fred Horsfall, mimic; Davis and Davis, comedians and sketch artistes; Will Mitcham, vocal and musical comedy artistes; Bob Hanlon Troupe of Acrobats; Chris. Masters, character vocalist and comedian; the Original Selbinis, in their acrobatic bicycle and musical pot-pourri act; Tom Lloyd, comedian; George Steely and Jenny Dowton, in their funny comedy act; and the Imperial Bioscope.

BOOTLE.—ROYAL MUNCASTER.—Proprietors, Messrs. Pennington; Manager, Mr. Albert H. Wilson.—Mr. Chas. Frohman's company in Sherlock Holmes is the attraction here this week. Mr. Kenneth Rivington, in the title-rôle, is the prominent feature of the play, and gives a fine study of the famous detective, and Mr. Arthur B. Murray is a powerful Professor Moriarty. Miss Florence Radcliffe is a sweet and sympathetic Alice Faulkner; an attractive impersonation of the adventuress, Madge Larrabee, comes from Miss Carrie Lacey; Mr. Fred Inwood does all that is possible with the rather thankless part of Dr. Watson; and Mr. Ernest Gray (James Larrabee) and Mr. H. C. Wright (Sydney Prince) are extremely good. The remaining parts are well sustained, and the mounting leaves nothing to be desired.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Rowland Stewart.—The theatre is this week in the hands of the Bournemouth Lyric Club, who are proving an attraction in the comic opera, La Fille de Madame Angot. Mr. Herbert Jennings is responsible for the production, which does him great credit.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Pemberton.—The successful run of the charming pantomime Cinders is to terminate this week.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—The old favourite drama The Lights o' London was revived here last Monday evening by Mr. Herbert Hollister's company, and its reception at the hands of a large audience was very cordial. The acting was good all round, and the piece was staged in a very complete manner. The part of the persecuted Harold Armytage has an able exponent in Mr. Harry Lonsdale, and Miss Jeannie Burgoyne plays Bess with much pathos and tenderness. The scheming scoundrel Clifford Armytage is forcibly taken by Mr. Riddell Robinson, and the bluff Seth Preene has a very able representative in Mr. Herbert Hollister. As his ambitious daughter an excellent effort by Miss K. Wallace is particularly noticeable, and the capital comedy in the play is well brought out by that capable comedian Mr. Percy Compton, and by Miss Emilie Dawson, and Mr. E. K. Nelson.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessees, Moss' Empires, Limited; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. J. Kelly.—The interesting and smart Kossow Midgets are here again, fresh and diverting as ever in their acrobatic and gymnastic display. Will Haines, comedian, contributes acceptably; and Edie Veno submits a good comedy turn. James Fawn pays a welcome return visit, and is as popular as ever. Coon dancing by winsome Amber Austa is gracefully accomplished. There is a sensational feast in the performance by Richard List's wonderfully trained Bears. Mortor and Elliott, with instrumentalism, vocalism, and clever paper manipulating, give a capital entertainment. The five charming Julian Girls sing and dance effectively. The Korries, with instrumentalism and vocalism, provide an excellent turn, and much interest is centred in Mendel, the blind pianist, and his marvellous feats.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. W. Berry.—A very fine orchestral entertainment and clever solo work by The Imperial Boys' Orchestra meet with applause, and The Zampas display smartness and agility in their Transatlantic duets. Charles Gardiner is a humorous comedian. Cliff and Kean are good as patter comedians and dancers, and well chosen duets by The Sisters Desmond meet with approval. Flo Deighton renders ballads in winsome style; an acceptable turn is submitted by Louis Murray, character vocalist; and Wm. Holles and Co. in their sketch, The Little Charwoman, are smart and diverting.

BRIGHTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Entering upon the second and closing week of their engagement here, the D'Oyly Carte company, on Monday, gave an excellent performance of The Yeomen of the Guard. Mr. Reginald White achieved complete success by his admirable portrayal of Jack Point; Miss Norah Maguire made a charming Elsie Maynard, and Miss Jessie Rose a bright and winsome Phœbe Meryll; while Miss Theresa Rassam was well suited as Dame Carruthers. Mr. Fred Billington was grimly humorous as Wilfred Shadbolt; Mr. Pacie Ripple acquitted himself very effectively as Colonel Fairfax; and able assistance was rendered by Mr. Albert Kavanagh as Sergeant Meryll, Mr. H. Blake Johnston as Leonard Meryll, Miss Alice Lisle as Kate, and Mr. Leicester Tunks as Sir Richard Cholmondeley. The choruses were well sung, and the duties of conductor were in the experienced hands of Mr. T. Silver. The programme for the week also included The Gondoliers, Princess Ida, The Mikado, The Pirates of Penzance, Trial by Jury, and Patience.

GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—The pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, entered upon the last week of its successful career on Monday. On Tuesday evening Mr. Dave O'Toole (Dame Trott) had a benefit, and yesterday (Friday) a benefit was accorded to Miss Blanche Vincent (Prince Peerless).

ALHAMBRA.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—A capital programme is offered here this week. Orpheus is warmly applauded for his selections on various musical instruments; the Ritchie Duo are eccentric and clever cyclists; Burke, Andrus, and Frisco are very amusing in the absurdity, Trafalgar Square at 4 a.m., the performance of Frisco, the Californian bucking broncho mule, being entertaining; the Picquays present a unique acrobatic display; Vasey and Ramsey are humorous comedy artistes and smart dancers; the Wille Brothers are marvellous equilibrists; Frank Bertram and company appear in a screaming comedy sketch, The Chaperon; Alice Carney is a pleasing comedienne; and Tom Parker a capital comic. The Alhambra pictures add to the pleasure of the audience.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The Barrasford Operatic Quartet win enthusiastic applause for their rendering of selections from Rigoletto; the accomplished vocalists (from the French Opera House) are Mdlle. Bertrin, Mdlle. Lozini, M. Cauveren, and M. Auguste Delcoin. The Earles are clever banjoists; Jules Keller, the human enigma, is well received; Russell Wallett, society entertainer, gives a delightful turn; the Harmony Four (T. C. Bergeron, Edward Hughes, F. M. Barrett, and A. W. Ferguson) are artistic and amusing in their original musical comedy act; Walton and Miss Ella submit a marvellous dog show; Harry Allister is an excellent character impersonator; Fred Curran, peculiar comedian, gives his songs with dry humour; Brinn presents an interesting turn, Pastimes on a Battleship, and balances heavy weighs very skilfully; and the animated pictures conclude an excellent programme.

WEST PIER.—Secretary and Entertainment Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Mr. Edward Neville's company is here this week with The Sorrows of Satan. Mr. Edward Neville gives a fine portrayal of Prince Lucio Rimanez; Miss Lole Esmond is very effective as Diana Chesney; and Miss Violet Hammersley makes a pleasing Mavis Clare. Mr. C. T. E. O'Connor's Geoffrey Tempest, Mr. J. Le Fleming's Earl of Elton, and Mr. Gus Bowerman's Lord Lynton are well played; and able support is given by Mr. J. Nelson-Turner, Miss Cecile Byrne, Miss Annie Brunette, and Miss Rosie Neville.

NEW PALACE PIER.—Manager, Mr. C. Thompson Ford.—Mr. Charles Hartley and company opened here on Monday with Ruth's Romance and In Honour Bound. In the former, Mr. Charles Hartley gave an admirable representation of Captain Wilton; while Miss Florence Creagh as Ruth Carey and Wm. Wallace Court as Jack Dudley submitted pleasing impersonations. In the latter piece Mr. Charles Hartley was distinctly effective as Sir George Carlyon; Miss Florence Creagh was well suited as Lady Carlyon, and Miss Violet Sims as Rose Dalrymple and Mr. Edgar Stevenson as Philip Grahame showed able acting. The programme for the week also included The Sorrows of Satan in two episodes.

COLISEUM.—Manager, Mr. C. Smith-Wilkes.—Bransby Williams evokes enthusiastic applause by his masterly impersonations of characters from Charles Dickens' works; and conspicuous success is also achieved by the Mayvilles (Harry and Elsie), Lilliputian novelty artistes. Marcelle Eirl is a pleasing burlesque actress; Arthur Thomas, a versatile entertainer, is effective in vocal and banjo selections; Warris, Lindon, and company are amusing in their comedy sketch, A Pleasant Evening; Charles Bu Val, the tramp actor, submits a turn including concertina solos; Florence Preis, ballad vocalist, sings with much taste; Fred Solo, burlesque comedian and speciality dancer, is very entertaining; and the Coliseum pictures prove interesting.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—The Sleeping Beauty is now in its ninth week and seems to increase in popularity, good houses being the rule. Miss Lil Hawthorne is a handsome and energetic Prince Florizel; she works most conscientiously, and her various songs are well received. Miss Zena Dare is charming and graceful as Princess Beauty; she plays in a pretty style, and sings and dances well. Miss Maud Darling invests the character of Trixie, maid to the Princess, with many engaging qualities. She is prepossessing in appearance, sings well, dances cleverly, and delivers her lines with distinctness. The comedians, one and all, work hard. Mr. Lionel Victor and Mr. W. H. Rawlins are humorous as the King and Queen, working capitally together; Mr. George Miller's Nurse is a quaint character study, and is deservedly popular; Mr. Albert Le Fre is an expert dancer, and he makes an excellent part of Adolphus, the Page; and Messrs. Drew and Alders, as Ping and Pong, introduce many amusing specialities of song, dance and patter, keeping things lively while they are on the stage. The ballets are exceptionally good this year, the Tiller "Superba" Quartette also introducing several pleasing dances. The staging, both in the way of scenery and costumes, is admirable, being, in all respects, equal to former years.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter. Robinson Crusoe is decidedly the best pantomime produced here for many years, and is attended by large audiences at each performance. Miss Ethel Campbell acts remarkably well as Robinson; she has plenty of "go," and her songs are popular with all parts of the house. Miss Margery Moore acts well as Polly Perkins, also pleasing with her singing and dancing. Miss Minnie Love is eminently qualified in style and appearance for the Princess Carina, her specialities of song and dance obtaining much appreciation. The Sisters Warner are sufficiently gay and sportive as Billee Taylor and Nancy Lee, their specialities of song and acrobatic dancing being very acceptable items in the pantomime. Mr. Walter Kooney and Mr. Harry Carr are energetic and amusing as Will Atkins and Dick Deadeye; Mr. Bob King is a capital Mrs. Crusoe; Mr. Edgar Budden is a lively Friday, and an expert dancer; and the Risto Brothers obtain much prominence in their clever acrobatic and contortionist specialities, and for their good acting as Tom Bowling, Ben Bolt, the monkey, and the dog; Mr. Ernest Laws acts in effective style as the Sultan, his baritone songs being a feature of the pantomime; and Miss Florence Melville makes a really good part of Captain Mayne-Brace. The scenery, dresses, and mounting generally are on a scale of considerable liberality.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Jack Haggerty, the Channel swimmer, is here with his troupe of English wrestlers, the various bouts being watched with interest; the Jees provide an excellent turn with their "Musical Smithy"; W. F. Frame, Scottish comedian, obtains much applause for his amusing turn; Frank Coyne, comedian, has some new and amusing songs; the Baldwin Bros. present a good acrobatic and tumbling turn; Browning and Walley have also a smart acrobatic act; Maud Caswell is a pleasing dancer and barrel jumper; Gus Harris amuses with his Hebrew impersonations; and Carrie Joy, comedienne, is appreciated. The performance concludes with some well-produced animated pictures.

PALACE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Livermore Bros.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Secretary, Mr. F. I. V. Welchman.—A capital leading turn is provided here by the Szarvasi-Ferencz troupe of Hungarian singers, dancers and acrobats. Lotto, Lilo and Otto are exceptionally smart as trick and comedy cyclists; Mabelle May pleases with her songs and dances; Prince Fee Lung is an expert conjurer and water spinner; the Smythsons have a capital sketch, The Lie-Alarm; Charles Goodman, a well-known local comedian, has some good songs; George Formby, comedian, has a quaint style, which amuses; Charles E. Ernest scores as a double-voiced vocalist, &c.; Mystery Gauze, female impersonator, obtains appreciation; and the Sisters Lonnons are clever and attractive duettists and dancers. The performance concludes with Vernon's animated pictures.

BROUGHTON.—VICTORIA, LTD.—Managing Director and Licensee, Mr. James W. Haworth; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. B. Astin.—A large and appreciative audience on Monday evening welcomed The New Barmaid, under the direction of Mr. Alexander Loftus. Mr. Joseph P. Montague, as Bertie White, keeps the house in roars; Miss Nance O'Neil is a pleasing Ethel Joy; and the old barmaid, Brenda, is well sustained by Miss Hilda Blanche. Dora Heather, the lady journalist, has an excellent representative in Miss Violet Osmund, whose graceful dancing gives much pleasure; Mr. Leslie Austin, as Captain Lovebury, sings well; Mr. Alexander Loftus is successful as William White; Mr. Frank Melroyd makes a comical Mons. Bonsor; and Mr. Norman Bowyer, as Braddy, is a good swell. Lady Moulton is fittingly presented by Miss Jean Gilmour. The staging is excellent.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett; Acting Manager, Mr. John Waller.—The Sins of a City is presented here this week by Miss Winifred Maude and Co. Mr. Horace E. Herbert as Sandy McDonald gives a natural and pleasing study. Donald McIvor is pathetically played by Mr. Ivan Gore. Mr. Victor du Cane, in the dual rôle of Joe Woodleigh and Jasper Woodleigh, scores heavily, the latter character, that of an old miser, being a masterly conception. Mr. Leslie Beaufort shows ability as Ralph Blackwater, K.C. The Isaac Levi of Mr. Victor Moors is amusing and clever, and Mr. W. E. Simpson, Mr. Yale, and Mr. Manton all do well. Miss Winifred Maude, an actress of undoubted ability, plays with much pathos as Seaweed. Lesbia is also a piece of finished acting in the hands of Miss Marie Lyons. Miss Ellen Gray is a typical Scotch Fisherwoman, and Jenny Hacket (Midge), Miss Lily Seymour (Mrs. Miggs), are both responsible for some good fun. The piece is excellently mounted, and the dressing good.

BURY (LANCS.).—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE, LIMITED.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—A treat is provided here this week, Mr. William Greet's company appearing in The Earl and the Girl. Large audiences are showing their appreciation nightly. Mr. Reginald Switz is exceedingly funny as Jim Cheese; he is well assisted by Miss Cynthia Carey as Liza Shoddham. Mr. Frank W. Cane is smart as the American solicitor, Downham; and Mr. H. B. Brandreth is sufficiently loud as Bunker Bliss. Mr. Alec Fraser plays Dick Wargrave in good style; and Miss Mary Fraser is a charming Elphine Haye. The scenery and dresses are effective.

OLYMPIA CIRCUS OF VARIETIES.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—The programme here includes the Herald Comedy Four; the Tribune Trio; Haverley and Somer, eccentric comedians; Ernie Mayne, comedian; Ethel Loftus, mimic; Charles Woodward, vocalist; Major Moss and Son, vocal scenic artists; and the Herslet Brothers, comedy artistes.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. Broadhead.—The well-balanced company here includes Edwin Boyde, comedian; David Poole, ventriloquist; the Donatos, single-legged acrobats; the Lavelles, acrobats; Walker and Lake, patterers; Ray Ford, comedienne; Harland and Rollison, musicians; and Clerk's Nippers.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Kendal made a welcome reappearance here, after an absence of several years, and met with a hearty reception from a large audience. The programme on Monday night consisted of Still Waters Run Deep, in which Mrs. Kendal gave a stirring performance of Mrs. Sternhold. Mr. Kendal's quiet style as John Mildmay also evidenced the work of a clever actor. As Captain Hawksley, Mr. Bassett Roe showed a thorough grasp of a somewhat difficult part; Mr. Ernest Hendrie's Mr. Potter was an exceedingly clever little character study, and one full of expression; Miss Elise Clarens played Mrs. Mildmay in a pleasing style. The Elder Miss Blossom was staged on Tuesday, and The Housekeeper on Wednesday. The performances at the end of the week were by the Elizabethan Stage Society, who presented the old morality, Everyman.

CARDIFF.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Mr. Wm. Greet's Co. presented here on Monday Wilson Barrett's last play, Lucky Durham. The part of John Durham was portrayed by Mr. Wm. F. Grant in a manner that stamped him as an actor of merit. Mr. Paul Belmore, as the Hon. Reginald Steighton, deserves congratulations for his successful character sketch. A charming actress is Miss Molly Pearson, her rendering of Helen Vallerton being particularly pleasing. Equally as captivating is Miss Jessie Winter in her impersonation of the Hon. Margaret Steighton. Miss Luisa Gourlay gives a sympathetic portrayal of Mrs. Durham, and Miss Emily Levititez displays ability as Lady Mountfallon. Mr. Henry de Sella as Lord Mountfallon, Mr. Daniel McCarthy as Richard Vallerton, and Mr. Stanley Harrison as Arthur Walcombe, are all responsible for capital representations; while marked ability is shown by Miss Gertrude Robins as the Duchess of Hovecourt.

KING'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Bateman; Business Manager, Mr. Robert Sawin.—Mr. Horace Stanley and Company are paying a welcome return visit in the melodrama The 10.30 Down Express. Mr. Horace Stanley, in his laughable representation of Sam Wagstaffe, fully sustains his reputation. As Jack O'Malley Mr. Harry T. Wood gives an excellent rendering of the part. Mr. Scott Leighton depicts the villainous character of James Inderwick with marked ability, and Mr. Fred. C. Roper capitally acts the broken-down gamekeeper, Seth Coombes. Miss Effie Bartlett is seen to great advantage as Bessie Leigh, and Miss Kate Kilpack is extremely lively as Peggy Pots.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—Variety is the characteristic feature of the programme this week, the artistes appearing including the popular Mr. Chirgwin; Cruikshank, musical comedian; Alf. Arnesen, gym

Fitzherbert is good as Admiral Goldsworthy; Miss Grace Baring, as Nan Christie, is highly successful; Violet Christie is well performed by Miss Cicely Desmond; and Miss Mabel Ronald is good as the blind child. The comic element is well looked after by the following:—Miss Violet Annesley, as Kathleen Kerry; Mr. Edwin Millins, as Donald Macpherson, a Scotch part exceptionally well acted; Mr. Fred B. Carlton, as Tim Wilkins; and Mr. Dick Sneddon, as Willie Wilkins.

COATBRIDGE.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietress, Mrs. Mary Watson; Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—The Ben Greet No. 1 company is here this week with The Belle of New York. Mr. Harry A. Meymott capably enacts Ichabod Bronson; Mr. Harold Wardroper shows ability as Harry Bronson; Mr. Morrise Holmes successfully portrays Blinky Bill; Mr. C. A. James does well as Mr. Twiddles; and Mr. Lionel Yeoman and Mr. R. L. Cody humorously delineate the Twin Portuguese. Miss Norah Hersee gives an excellent rendering of Violet Gray; Miss Ada Elliston submits a clever impersonation of Fifi Fricot; Miss Louie Codman is well cast as Cora Angelique; and Masny Clancy has an able representative in Miss Florence Hersee.

COLCHESTER.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Chas. Macdona; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. Frederick E. Philpott's company presented The Girl from Japan at the above-named house on Monday. The scenic effects were charming, and the company included a powerful chorus. Miss Jean Van Dalle was repeatedly encored for her brilliant dancing; a similar compliment being paid to the Sisters English. Mr. Geo. Hudson filled the rôle of Lord Allenbury in an acceptable manner, as did Mr. Frank Sherlock, in the part of Bingie, with his multiplicity of characters. The part of the fire-eating General Baugh was capably taken by Mr. Percy Baverstock; and Mr. Charles Lupton impersonated the henpecked Sir Mulberry Flippington in a worthy manner.

COLNE (LANCS.).—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Gerald Harding.—Mr. C. W. Somerset's company is here in The Sorrows of Satan. Prominent members of the company are Miss Leah Marlborough as Delia, Miss Agnes Russel as Margaret, Miss Laura Clement as Countess Dragnett, Miss Jane Burnside as Mother Wurrell, Miss Geraldine Somerset as Jack, and Miss Daisy O'Neil as the child Mary; and Messrs. Talbot Homewood (Paul Carruthers), Richard Norton (Crafton Lyle), Keith Fraser (Lord John), and Mr. C. W. Somerset as Prince Lucio.

CORK.—Opera House.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Mr. Edmund Tearle's company opened a week's engagement here on Monday, when Othello was played. Mr. Edmund Tearle, as the Moor, suited the character admirably. He was particularly good in the closing scene, and acted with passion. Miss Esther Tearle, as Desdemona, acted with considerable charm. Miss Mary Campbell was effective as Emilia. As Iago, Mr. Wm. J. Miller was most successful in his portrayal of the part, and Mr. J. V. Fairley made an excellent Cassio. Mr. Vernon O. Crabtree scored as Roderigo, and Mr. Thomas W. Benson, as Brabantio, gave a careful representation of the character. Mr. Dennis W. Cleugh and Mr. A. W. Wynne respectively filled the parts of Lodovico and Gratiano capably; Mr. Montague Lane made a capital Montano; and Mr. Frederick Kelsie impersonated the Duke of Venice, and was satisfactory.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Henry Kemble.—The programme here is very good. The International Quartet provide an excellent turn, in their vocal and glee singing; the Brothers Dixon score as musical eccentrics; T. B. Fame, comedian, sings well; Mdlle. de Vena is a smart lady juggler; the Andreassen Brothers give a wonderful acrobatic exhibition; Flo Atkins is a clever concertinist; Alec. Aubrey, gymnast, gives a difficult and graceful performance on the rings; and Edith Courtney possesses a pleasing soprano, and sings well.

COVENTRY.—Opera House.—Proprietor, Mr. W. Bennett.—A capital attraction is provided this week by a visit from Mr. Lawrence Brough and a specially selected company, in The Lady of Ostend. Mr. Lawrence Brough, as Le Baron de Longueville, deserves praise for the finished manner in which he renders his part; Mr. Harry Hampson is fully alive to the humours of his part of Dick Whortles, and is very successful; Mr. Percy Marshall is seen to advantage as the staid and respected, at the same time giddy, father-in-law, Joseph Cadbury; Mr. L. Cory Thomas is amusing as Toby Krockett; Miss Kate Milford plays Dorothy Whortles in a simple and dignified manner; and Miss Doris Payne is a great success as Millie Grace. Miss Eleanor Gilbart scores as Matilda Canterbury. On Friday evening The Cruise of the Saucy Sally was given.

CREWE.—Lyceum Theatre.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor.—The last pantomime of the season has held sway here this week, and Messrs. Haddon and Loader have presented Jack and the Beanstalk. Miss Bessie Shelley plays Jack in a sprightly manner; as Dora, Miss Pattie Bella plays her part very satisfactorily, and sings her songs with much chic; Mr. Jay Laurier is extremely whimsical as Silly Billy; and Mr. H. Harrop makes much out of the character of Dame Trotter; Mr. Reg. Bolton, with his comic songs and funny patter, is amusing in the part of Squire Musty; the Cameron Glee Singers prove themselves most praiseworthy; Messrs. Wragg and Wragg, military athletes, are undoubtedly one of the chief items in the programme. The Continental Trio give some clever dancing; and Miss Cissie Trent, transformation dancer, is worthy of great commendation; Messrs. Kydd and Kydd as Dip and Dap provide some excellent fooling. The Aerial Flights of Miss Minnie Walsh and her Fairy attendants, are greatly admired; and Miss Evelyn Robson makes a hit as Discordio.

CROOK.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Wallace Davidson, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Wallace Davidson.—On Monday Messrs. J. Stillwell and Paul E. Tenton's company opened here with Queen of the Night. The title-rôle is in the hands of Miss Vera Mosley, who submits a powerful rendering. As Dr. Cavendish, Mr. James Stillwell portrays the wronged husband in an able manner; and Mr. Paul E. Tenton has made a careful study of the character of the miser Pentreath. Mr. F. Thorpe-Tracey's Briskett is remarkably good; and he is ably assisted by Miss Marie Moore as Mrs. Briskett. Miss K. Barnett is a pathetic Maud, and Mr. C. V. Sandford a villainous Jasper Wilton.

CROYDON.—Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Lawrence.—Mr. George Dance's company, under the direction of Mr. Michael W. Ring, is on a first visit to Croydon with the tuneful comic opera Veronique, which has been a genuine success. The chorus ladies are handsome, and have pleasing voices, the dresses are rich and tasteful, and the scenery calls for special mention. Miss Ruth Lincoln, in the title-rôle, sings very sweetly, and quickly gains the admiration of the audience. Mr. Leslie Holland is funny as Mons. Coquenard, his droll sayings and agility being greatly relished. Miss Lena Maitland has a clear enunciation and a well-trained voice, and her Countess de Champ Azur is very finely acted. Miss Maud Boyd deserves a warm tribute of praise for her acting and vocal efforts as Madame Coquenard; Miss Bretton Barton is excellent as Aunt Benoit; Miss Gracie Sinclaire is an entrancing Denise; and Misses Nell Hope, Kathleen Royayne, and Maud Desmond are pretty as Sophie, Elisa, and Zoe. Mr. Scott Russell enacts the rôle of Florestan de Vallancourt in an artistic manner; Mr. Ivan Berlyn plays the part of Mons. Loustot with unctuous humour; Mr. Tom Shelford, as Seraphin, keeps the ball of merriment rolling; and Messrs. Ernest Cresfan and Tom Robertson make the most of their opportunities as Octave and Felicien. The augmented orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Victor Champion.

Palace Theatre of Varieties, Limited.—Resident General-Manager, Mr. Eustace H. Jay.—Burton and Franklin, in musical performance; Walter Munroe, comedian; the Three Laurels, in acrobatic act on the ping-pong table; Lee and Bentley, in A Member for Middlesex; Smith and Johnson, comedians; One Billy Farrell, comedian and dancer; Maggie Rennie, serio; Mab Fowler, comedienne; Woodhouse and Wells, comedians and dancers; Royal Best, mimic; Ben Hur, athlete; Dudman, Bromwich, and Company in sketch, Detective; and Mr. Fred. S. Partridge's band are all winning approval.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Newman Maurice.—Miss Nettie Ware's company, in the drama When Woman Hates, is here this week. Miss Elaine Verner submits a realistic and meritorious rendering of Cora Daintry; Miss Ada Ryder gives a sound performance as Marie Rokeby; and little Vera shows intelligence as Nelly Rokeby. Mr. William Yates is an admirable General Sir Henry Rokeby; Mr. Albert Guyon is at his best as Godfrey Lawton; Mr. Eric Campbell is responsible for unlimited mirth in the part of Bill; Mr. Will Percy is invaluable as P.C. Pat O'Brien; Mr. Murray Yorke is first-rate as Alphonse Picolot; the rôle of Sally Potts is safe in the care of Mrs. Edgar Colona; and the remaining characters are creditably looked after. Mr. Newman Maurice looks well after the comfort of Royal visitors.

DARLINGTON.—Theatre Royal.—Manageress, Mrs. T. W. S. Jennings.—Mr. C. P. Levilly's company is here this week in Amorelle. Miss Empsie Bowman is seen to great advantage in the title-rôle; Miss Adah Grey, as Lesbia, is heartily applauded for her fine singing; Miss Carlotta Blondin, as Marina, is good; Doctor Crow is most amusingly played by Mr. Leon Simkin, a first-class comedian; Jules is capitally rendered by Mr. Arthur Cozens; as Father Dotard, Mr. Fred Carrington scores a success; and Mr. Edward Granby is successful as Francois.

Central Hall.—The New Era Animated Photo. Co. opened here for a week on Monday with a first-class exhibition, including many new and novel subjects. Mr. Bob White, who has been specially engaged, is a clever lecturer and humorist.

DARWEN.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. E. L. Ormsby.—The New Sapho Syndicate, Ltd., is presenting that popular play, Sapho, here this week. Miss Annie Bell is a decided success as Fanny le Grand, giving a very powerful rendition. Mr. Frederick Ross supports her by an able and natural impersonation of Jean Gaussin. Miss Laura Ray is clever as Machaume, and Mr. George Antley is distinctly humorous as Cesaire. Mr. Archie Helsby is an eloquent Eugene Flamant; Mr. H. W. Carnock does well as Dechelette; and Mr. H. Langford, as Caoudal, is effective. Mr. J. A. Storey is funny as Le Grand; and Little Miss Ray, as Joseph, deserves mention.

DERBY.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Sole Proprietor and General Manager, Mr. J. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley.—Mr. Fredk. Mouillot's Company is paying a welcome return visit here this week with My Lady Molly. Miss Beatrice Edwards, though suffering from a cold, is again highly successful, both vocally and histrionically, in the name part; and the difficult rôle of Alice Coverdale is admirably rendered by Miss Zoe Gilfillan, who also possesses a tuneful voice. Mr. Geo. McCloskie's Mickey O'Dowd is a clever and humorous assumption, and his songs are received most heartily. As Captain Harry Romney Mr. Albert Chapman, who is in excellent voice, deserves high commendation, as does also the Sir Miles Coverdale of Mr. H. Godwin Hunt, Mr. Ernest Mozar doing very well as Lionel Bland. As Madeline Mirabeau, Mdlle. Eva Darcier plays charmingly; and a similar compliment may be paid Miss Mabel Carr for her portrayal of Hester. Minor parts are thoroughly well sustained by Mr. Fred Silverston, Mr. J. Walton, Mr. Stevens, Miss Vivian, Miss Hilda Marks, Miss Kate Holmes, and Mr. V. Gally. An excellent chorus and an augmented orchestra contribute to the success of the play.

Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Allan Edwardes.—Carl Mysto, aptly described as "the man who defies imprisonment," is the star turn here this week, and is creating a sensation; Van Gelder, a clever juggler, supplies another excellent turn, and succeeds in thoroughly mystifying his audience; Jimson introduces small performing dogs and high-leaping hounds with success; Mr. Slade Murray contributes some excellent songs and patter; the Seebolds, Swiss instrumentalists, in addition to other selections, give a spirited rendering of one of Sousa's marches; Lillie Hustler, comedienne and dancer, merits praise; Geo. Edney, character comedian, should also be mentioned; and the Revell Troupe appear to advantage in a pantomime act, entitled Mischief.

DONCASTER.—New Grand Theatre and Opera House, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—The variety combination here this week includes Henri Cazman, who is well received; Harry Talbot, comedian; Marita Chapelle, character comedienne; and Les Ombromanes, shadowists. The other items, no less attractive, are the Magic Kettle, quite new here; the Bioscope, with the latest entertaining pictures; and the Three Sylvanas, in their trapeze act. Mention must also be made of the Bros. Aban, comedians; Collins & Craft, with their illustrated songs; Arthur Ambron, coon songster and dancer; and Florence Yeyman, coon impersonator, the latter being an especially acceptable turn.

DOUGLAS.—New Empire Theatre.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Alfred Sugden; General Manager, Mr. Roberts Lena.—The popularity of this successful place of amusement increases weekly. The playgoing public of Douglas have learnt that their tastes are studied and their dramatic requirements considered. This week the management rely on a dramatic version of Gaboriau's story, The Stranglers of Paris. The audiences have been large and enthusiastic. Miss Lena Lewis, a young and intelligent actress, plays with emphasis and conviction as Sophie Blanchard. Miss Marie Lisle is interesting and effective as Cora Simonet, and Miss Gertrude Lovell makes the most of the part of Marie Guerin. The dual rôle of Jagon and Simonet of Mr. Roberts Lena is dramatically powerful. Mr. W. Priestley is useful as Lorenzo de Ribas; and Mr. Ernest Percival is manly and picturesque as Paul Blanchard. The two detectives are conscientiously enacted by Messrs. Ogden and Walsh.

DUBLIN.—Gaiety Theatre.—Lessees, Michael Gunn, Limited; General Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. Geo. Edwardes's company paid a return visit here on Monday night, when The Cingalee was produced before a large and enthusiastic audience. Mr. E. Statham Staples gives a most amusing impersonation of Chambhuddy Ram, and Miss Kathleen Severn is charming as Nanoya. Mr. F. Pope Stamper excellently portrays the part of Harry Vereker, and Miss Eva Sandford is seen to advantage as Peggy Sabine. Mr. W. J. Manning appears with success as Sir Peter Loftus, and Miss Mabel Allen is effective as Signorina Tasso. The rôle of Boobhamba is played in an able manner by Mr. Colin Coop, and Miss Lilly Elsie is pleasing as Lady Patricia Vereker.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot.—The pantomime Puss in Boots, entered on the last week of a successful run on Monday, when the house was set apart for the benefit of Mr. Fred Lyne. The programme, which was an attractive one, was heartily enjoyed throughout by the large audience present, the principal artists being deservedly encored. Other artists who benefited during the week were Miss Minnie Jeffs and Miss Florence Esdaile.

Queen's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Whitbread; General Manager, Mr. Kennedy Miller.—Messrs. John A. Atkin and Walter Howe's company, with the domestic drama, A Victim of Villainy, is drawing good houses. The rôle of Frank Manton, as played by Mr. Walter Howe, is a capital performance, and Miss Rosa Lehman is creditable as his wife, Mary. The part of Stephen Cavanagh is ably sustained by Mr. C. E. Wilton, and Miss Muriel Dean is excellent as Alice Cavanagh. As Tommy Leckie Mr. Chris. Mason is satisfactory, and the part of Norah Maloney is well played by Miss Adela Harvey. Mr. J. Prescott makes an acceptable Dick Carson, and Miss Grace Mignon is good as Eric Manton.

Empire Theatre.—General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. S. Figgis.—The company engaged here this week is a strong one, the foremost position being allotted to the Jackson Family, whose musical entertainment is well received, and Arthur Lennard, vocal comedian, is as popular as ever. Florrie Gallimore, comedienne, receives a flattering reception, and Barney Vox, ventriloquist, meets with success. Geoffreys and Benson in their sketch, Spoofed, are most amusing, and the songs rendered in harmony by the Sisters Jonghmanns meet with approval. Daisy Ray, coon comedienne and dancer, is an acceptable turn, as are also Walter Stanley, comedian, Lizzie Fletcher, comedienne, and the Empire pictures.

Tivoli.—General Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—Prominent turns here this week are those of Sam Mayo, "the Immobile Comedian," whose drollery is irresistible; The Three Daemers, equilibrists and acrobats; Alexander and Co. in their sketch, The Troubles of a Tourist, which causes much laughter, and Effie White, kaleidoscopic dancer. Other entertaining turns are Sam Thompson, Scotch comedian; Katie Corrie, a pleasing comedienne and dancer; Edith Sylvester in her speciality act; George Foyle, a smart character vocalist; Annie Laurie, a good comedienne; and Henriette, instrumentalist.

World's Fair and Music Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The company engaged here includes Hyna, clairvoyant; Abe Laxey, comedian; Sivane and Fieldon, comedy duettists; Prof. Anderson, ventriloquist; Oreste, musical clown; Eugenie, palmist; and Lucy Moore.

Samuels' Exhibition Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Samuels.—The following artists are appearing here:—Miss Mary Ashton, comedienne; Prof. De Novo, conjurer; Zaro, Despardo's, and "The Magic Kettle."

DUDLEY.—Opera House.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Mr. George Testo Sante and company are making their first appearance here this week in The Life of a Showman. The play is both exciting and amusing. Mr. George Testo Sante, in his representation of a circus acrobat, gives a capital exhibition of strength; Mr. Sam Arthur, as Hendrick Marais, is a polished villain; Mr. Edward Warden, as the Rev. Cyril Arliss, is perfectly at ease in a difficult character; and Mr. Allen Charles and Mr. Johnny Clegg, as Tommy Allithere and Ben Tictac, are amusing. Miss Amy McNeill acts well as Agatha Winter, as does also Miss Enid Edoni as Lena Hartland. Sir Noel Hartland, by Mr. J. K. Walton, is a well-rendered character.

Empire.—Managing Director, Mr. Tom Prichard.—Mr. Tom Foy and Co., in The Yorkshire Lad in London, heads the bill here this week, and from start to finish keeps the house convulsed with laughter. De Gracia's Baby Elephants are paying a welcome return visit. The Three Sisters Adrienne, burlesque artistes, sand dancers, and whistlers, are great favourites; and Stave, electric comedy artiste, gives a clever musical turn. Nellie Sheffield, laughing comedienne, is well received. Other good turns are given by Kool and Kennedy, knockabouts; Syd Godfrey, vocalist and mimic; Harry Dale, comedian; and Leah Arden, ballad vocalist.

DUMFRIES.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—For the first three nights of this week, Mr. Leslie Vyner's company was here in the musical melodrama, The Lightning's Flash. Mr. Leonard Robson, as Stephen Merrick and Colonel Mark Merrick, played his double part with great success; Mr. Will Haradane, as Gordon Garville, was very good; Miss F. Russel-Spiers, as Kate Merrick, displayed ability; and Miss Blanche Vernon, as Selina Slack, and Miss Eva Reed, as Zuzu, sustained their parts very cleverly.

DUNDEE.—Her Majesty's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; General-Manager, Mr. Sandon Perkins.—The Dundee Amateur Operatic Society hold the boards here for a week, Jakobowski's comic opera, entitled Erminie, being given on Monday.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Will Parker; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Alf. Ross.—Miss Fanny Wentworth pays a return visit and adds to her list of admirers. Her mimicry is good and her piano manipulation clever. The Romaine Trio give a smart musical sketch; the Fordyces submit a song and dance entertainment which meets with hearty approval; Maxwell and Frances, in a comedy act, and Capt. Slingsby, ventriloquist, are in their respective lines excellent; Lilian Rigby is a fine musician and dancer; and Harry Zetter, comedian, creates hearty laughter; Nelson and Thomas produce a funny sketch; and Jessie Evans gains applause.

Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Percival.—Mr. R. A. P. Williams's pantomime, entitled Robinson Crusoe, is here this week. Miss Lillie Mowbray, in the title-rôle, acts and sings with much spirit; Miss Maggie Mowbray and Miss Rosie Morris imbue their parts with great animation; Mr. A. L. Todd, as the captain, creates much mirth; and Mr. Lee Nobel, Mr. Frank Le Sewell, and Mr. Bert Rowe ably second his efforts; Mr. Claude Morton is a host in himself as Mrs. Crusoe; and Mr. Anthony Gordon and Miss Maude Hepworth sing pleasantly. Vick Verney whistles cleverly.

DUNFERMLINE.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—The Bells of Haslemere company, under the direction of Mr. Charles A. Chandler, is appearing here this week. Mr. Leonard Yorke gives a good interpretation of Frank Beresford; Mr. Montague Turner is a capable John Silkstone; Mr. Charles A. Chandler is successful as Captain Vere; Mr. Douglas Hamilton ably acts the part of Matthew Brookfield; Mr. Charles Cecil makes an excellent Reuben Armstrong; Joseph Thorndyke is well played by Mr. Alfred Martin; Miss Harrietta Polini gives a meritorious rendering of Evelyn Brookfield; Dorothy Tremble is ably embodied by Miss Stafford Smith; Mary Northcote has a capable exponent in Miss Mary Hadacre.

EASTBOURNE.—Pier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. J. F. Bucklev's company, under the direction of Mr. W. T. Elworthy, is appearing here this week in The New Clown. Mr. Frank Stanmore ably fills the part of Lord Cyril Garston, and he acts with great effect throughout. Mr. G. H. Snazelle is a capital Mr. Dixon: he revels in the part and makes it conspicuous by means of his rich and characteristic humour; Mr. Charles Pierpoint is an animated and capable Captain Trent; Mr. W. T. Elworthy plays the small part of Thomas Baker in a most finished style; and Mr. Cecil Underwood is perfectly successful as Pennyquick; Mr. Douglas Payne is an appropriate Billy; Mr. Archie Selwyn is an excellent Mr. Lamb; and skilful help is given by Mr. Ernest Cox and Master L. Levenham; Miss Beth Elliott is a quiet but very effective Rosie Platt; and Miss Kathleen Maitland and Miss Mona Wynne are the pretty and charming representatives of Winnie and Maud Chesterton. Love at Home is the curtain raiser, and is well played by Miss N. Wynne and Messrs. A. Selwyn and C. Underwood.

The Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—The Eugene Family of aerial acrobats display great ability and skill in their performance, and the Dugros Trio give a taking and funny turn as aerial gymnasts. The Siberian Educated Bears prove quite a popular item. Mr. Fred and Miss Maud Vypond are able entertainers, and the lady is a charming singer; Miss Lillie Lassah is a smart and pretty comedienne and dancer; Mr. Charles Rose is a capable comedian and clever dancer; Mr. Leslie Murray is a good conjurer and card manipulator; Cribb and Cribb are comedians and dancers of recognised type; Miss Blanche Holt is a successful singer and dancer; and Miss Kitty Neville and the Hippodrome pictures complete the programme.

EBBW VALE.—King's Theatre.—Sole Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; Manager, Mr. Arthur Knight.—The Osmond Tearle company opened the first three nights of the week with Hamlet, Merchant of Venice, and Othello. Mr. Alexander Marsh was down to play Hamlet; but unfortunately he was too unwell to appear, and Mr. Greary's services were requisitioned. Miss Carrie Bailie as Ophelia, Portia, and Desdemona in the respective pieces were performances of the highest order. Mr. Arthur Gibbons's pantomime, Beauty and the Beast, is billed for the remainder of the week.

EDINBURGH.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Limited; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Hollister.—Jack and the Beanstalk entered on its last six nights on Monday, when a goodly audience assembled. Once more the name of Wyndham has spelt success—once more a real Royal triumph has to be recorded. To this run of luck many hands have contributed, from Mr. Wyndham himself, assisted by the energetic and resourceful Mr. John J. Lloyd, down to the humblest member of the cast. The comedians have proved a happy family, and have worked with a will in the manufacture of a continuous supply of mirth. On Monday the performance went with a merry tripping rhythm from start to finish, and the applause and delight of the audience were fresh and spontaneous. Mr. Malcolm Scott acted in his best Scott-ish style, and kept the audience in the best of humours, his Dame being certainly one of the best old women seen in pantomime here. Mr. J. T. MacMillan and Mr. Ambrose Manning were both well up to the mark, and gave admirable assistance in many a humorous scene. Friday night was a "Scott-night." Mr. Malcolm Scott taking a well-deserved benefit on that evening.

Lyceum Theatre.—Proprietor, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Limited; General-Manager, Mr. G. F. Minshall.—Mr. Hubert Henry Davis' delightful comedy of character, Cousin Kate, was presented here for the first time on Monday by Miss Emma Hutchison's company, and met with a cordial reception. Mr. Davies' pleasant play charmed the audience at once by reason of its simple human story, sunshine scenes of comedy, and delicious love episodes, while the author's brilliant dialogue never failed to meet with due response. Heath Desmond, the impulsive Irish lover, is played to the life by Mr. Walter Ringham, who acted in the most natural and easy fashion, and obtained a complete hold over the sympathies of the house by his buoyant spirits and lover-like ardour. The Rev. James Barlet had a sleek and smooth-spoken representative in Mr. Donald MacLean, who droned his lines with the requisite severity. As Bobby Spencer Master Vyvian Thomas gave quite a clever character study of the self-sufficient schoolboy. Cousin Kate was safe in the hands of Miss Edith Walker, who acted with much tact and skill, and was especially good in the second act—one long love scene—where her emotionalism had full scope. Miss Hilda Honiss played Amy Spencer with quiet earnestness, while Miss Betty Castle's Jane was a capital performance, all smiles and laughter. One of the features of the cast was enchanting old Mrs. Spencer, acted with rare artistic effect by Miss Vina Cressy, who won her way into the hearts of the audience by her humorous realisation of a lovable old lady. A Case for Eviction preceded.

Empire Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—Staley's novelty transformation company opened here on Monday, and gave their wonderfully clever entertainment of music, dancing, and quick changes with the greatest possible success. The veteran comedian Mr. Charles Coborn was warmly welcomed on reappearing, and judging from the applause with which his various songs were received he seems as great a favourite as ever. The novelty act of The Lumars, which combines acrobatics and electricity, was a brilliantly successful affair, and the Four Royal Welshmen received the heartiest applause for their admirable part singing. Mr. George Adams, baritone, sang with acceptance; and the excellent musical turn of Rackett and Hazard was very favourably received. Martin and Quigg, eccentric comedians, were good, and the charmingly rendered coon songs and dances of Miss Ella Retford won the warm appreciation of the audience. Carl and Mary Ohm, with their trained animals; and the Trappeli Family of acrobats, three young ladies and two youths, complete the company.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Eade Montefiore.—Uncle Tom's Cabin entered upon its second week here on Monday, when there was a large house. All the characters are sustained with effect, none being more genial and hearty than the Mr. St. Clair of Mr. Charles Harrington, who distinguishes himself from first to last. Miss Hettie Johnston's Eliza Harris is another capital performance, and the Mrs. St. Clair of Miss Hero Hathaway merits commendation. Very picturesque and impressive is the Casey of Miss Zerlina Zerbini, who imbues the character with thrilling power and passion, and whose acting throughout was admirable.

Pavilion Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Tom Ellis.—Sinful Men was presented at this house on Monday by last week's company, and attracted a good audience. The principal characters were well performed, Mr. Addison Thomas making a strong feature of Ralph Wybert, and Mr. Jack Armitage proving himself an excellent actor as Capt. Jack Trevelyan. Miss Kate Somerville was an eminently satisfactory Marie Wybert, while the lively style and entertaining specialities of Miss Olive Holloway as Polly Popkins were thoroughly enjoyed.

Cooke's Royal Circus.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke.—For the last week of the season first rate programmes have been issued, the patronage of the public being enormous. On Monday a bicycle race was one of the novelties, a silver cup being awarded to the winner. On Tuesday Talbert and Douglas made their appeal, and had a bumper house. Dick Turpin's Ride to York was revived for the occasion, and many competitions, poetical and otherwise, took place. On Thursday Mr. Cooke's annual benefit came off, under distinguished patronage, the feature, amid a host of attractions, being a cob and pony show, when many handsome prizes were awarded to the fortunate winners. To-night, when the last performance takes place, Mr. Cooke will give away an excellent pony to one of the audience as a souvenir. In noting the performers in the arena we must not forget the valuable services of Mr. Lewis, Mr. Cooke's trusted acting-manager, who, prized by his proprietor, also holds a high place in the esteem of the amusement-seeking public here.

EXETER.—Theatre Royal.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Fred Pollard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Mr. and Mrs. William Maclaren's company is here this week. On Monday Proof was presented to a fairly large audience in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. As Pierre Lorance Mr. William Maclaren was very successful, as was also Mr. Richard Fulton as Lazare. Great praise is due to Miss Lily C. Bandmann for her portrayal of Madeline and Valentine, and the rôle of Adrienne was excellently taken by Miss Gertrude Evans. The Lady of Lyons and David Garrick are also in the week's programme.

FALKIRK.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident Manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—This week Mr. F. R. Benson's North Shakespearean company has occupied the theatre. The repertoire has been an attractive one, including Romeo and Juliet, As You Like it, The Merry Wives of Windsor, Twelfth Night, and The Taming of the Shrew. To-day, a matinée performance of The Merchant of Venice is to be given, and Hamlet is down for the evening. The cast includes Miss Katherine Boyce, Miss Christie Laws, Miss Gladys Vanderzee, Miss Geoghegan, and Miss Maud Garth, and Messrs. C. H. Croker King, Henry Herbert, F. Owen Chambers, C. Duncan, A. Phillips, Arthur Fayne, Allan Wade, and Alex. Begbie. The pieces all received capital treatment from the company, the members of which are accomplished to the fullest degree. The audiences were fairly good and highly appreciative, and the management of the theatre are to be congratulated on securing such a talented company.

FARNWORTH.—Queen's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. Morton Powell.—Pantomime again holds sway this week, the story of Dick Whittington and his cat being presented in a capable manner by Messrs. Griffin and Drake's company. Miss Lily Jackson, in the title-rôle, is a pronounced success, her songs and dances helping greatly towards the success of the performance. A charming exponent of the part of Alice, Dick's sweetheart, is Miss Emmie Hands, who acts throughout in capital style. Amongst the fun makers, Mr Will Dennis, as Idle Jack, is the life and soul of the piece, and whenever he is on the stage there is not a dull moment. He is ably assisted by Mr Ben Ford, as Alderman Fitzwarren, and Mr. Bert Allen, as Captain Seabreeze, who are also very successful, as is Mr. E. Jazon as the Emperor of Morocco. Mr. Jack Simpson, as the Cat, gives a very good performance. The specialities introduced include Mdlle. Luba de Sarema, with her sensational act entitled Transkaukasia, Sports from the Far East and the Estos. The Sisters Brenton are good as skipping-rope and sand dancers. The scenery and mounting are all that could be desired.

FOLKESTONE.—Pleasure Gardens Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company, in Her Forbidden Marriage, is drawing good houses here this week. Mr. Horace Hunter is thoroughly successful as George Madison; Mr. Clarence Hague gives a good rendering of the villain, Charles Devereux; Mr. Bernard Lieli is good as Geoffrey Broughton; Mr. Gilbert Heron is an efficient Rev. Mr. Dean; Mr. Edgar L. Hocking makes the most of his opportunities as Joe Lampkin; Mr. Alfred Wellesley is amusing as Timothy Tuttutt; Miss Marie Kildare makes a capital Pattie; Miss Isla Garnet Vayne is in every way suited to the character of Lucy; Miss Georgette Thierry gives a splendid portrayal of the trying rôle of Lady Lucretia Lancaster; Mr. Fred L. Allen merits praise as Sir George Lancaster; and Miss Barbara Gott, as the Mother Superior, plays well.

Town Hall.—Lessee, Mr. E. J. Chadwick.—Dyson's Gipsy Choir and Diorama opened here on Monday. The bright and varied programme includes items which are heartily received and appreciated. The musical part is interspersed with dioramic views and animated photographs which prove most interesting.

GATESHEAD.—Metropole Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Straughan.—Variety turns again occupy the boards here this week. The list is headed by Herr Grais Baboon Prodigies, who provide a novel act. The Three Juggling Geraldos also give an entertaining show; and Ben Harris and company, the boxing midgets, create much amusement. Marion Hood, comedienne, and Freddy French, comedian, provide exceptionally good turns; and the rest of the bill is filled up by Marion Edwards, operatic vocalist; the Four Bostons, American speciality artistes; and Mabel La Blanche, comedienne.

GLASGOW.—Theatre Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—Miss Lilian Dundas and a well-selected company opened here on Monday in an excellent representation of Wilkie Collins' play The New Magdalen. Miss Dundas made a considerable impression as Mercy Merrick, and the Grace Roseberry of Miss Ethel Carrylon was equally impressive in the prologue. Special mention should be made of the fine impersonation by Mrs. Walter Bentley of Lady Janet Roy. Mr. A. W. Tyrer was notable for a refined and dignified display as Horace, and the Thompson of Mr. Arthur Lewis was worthy of the flattering reception it met with. Mr. Henry Dundas as Julian Gray again scored a distinct success as the peace-making parson, and his fine acting in scenes with Mercy and Grace was invaluable.

Royalty, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—Mr. M. Russell Rosse's company is here this week with A Pair of Spectacles. Mr. David James as Benjamin Goldfinch is particularly good, and the part of Gregory is as ably handled by Mr. Norman Clark. Miss Florence Tyrrell acts the young wife wedded to an old man with much quiet humour, and Miss Ida Phillips as Lucy gives a pleasant representation of an artless girl involved in her first love affair. Miss Rose Carew, as Joyce the housekeeper, moves agreeably through the comedy. The two impecunious young gentlemen are in good hands, those of Mr. Ernest Cossart as Percy and Mr. Cecil Newton as Dick. Mr. George Percy as Lorimer and Mr. George N. Wallace as the bootmaker are well-filled parts. Jerome K. Jerome's sketch, Barbara, precedes the comedy.

Royal Princess's.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. R. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—Goosy Gander continues to draw big houses, but the last two weeks are announced. On Monday Messrs. Regan and Ryan had their benefit, and a huge audience turned out to do them honour. They have again been great favourites this year, and have helped greatly in the success of the Princess's twenty-fifth pantomime. Friday was set apart for the benefit of that popular comedian, Mr. John E. Coyle. On the benefit evenings all the principals, Miss Lily Morris and Miss Daisy Dormer, Sisters Cora, Mr. Arthur Poole, Mr. Dawson Dewick, and the Brothers Preston have contributed extra items, and Miss Patty Yole has also appeared in song and dance.

King's, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. H. Macfarlane.—That popular combination the Compton Comedy Company is again with us, and Mr. Edward Compton received a hearty welcome on Monday when he appeared as Charles Surface in The School for Scandal. His embodiment of the gay young roysterer is still one of his best performances artistic portrayal of the Two Orphans; Miss E. Lonsdale gives a charming representation of Marion Thornton, and the rôle of Barbara Scarth is capably rendered by Miss D. Royal. Miss E. Shaw as Biddy Mullins and Miss L. Coleman as Sister Randall are both very good.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—ROYAL AQUARIUM.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—On the 17th and 18th inst. the "Kilties" Band gave four performances, and delighted audiences showed their appreciation by loud applause. The Clan Johnstone troupe danced lightly and gracefully, and Mr. J. Coates Lockhart contributed well-sung solos. This week a return visit is being paid by Prof. E. K. Crocker and his educated horses, and much admiration is expressed at the wonderful perfection of the training of the docile animals.

GREENOCK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, The Executors of the late Mr. Alex. Wright; Managers, Messrs. A. B. Wright and J. J. Wright.—Mr. Norman V. Norman's company is playing at the above theatre this week. On Monday night Under the Red Robe was presented to a good audience. Mr. Norman V. Norman took the part of Gil de Berault, and gave a mastery interpretation of that difficult rôle; Mr. Robert Hilton appeared as Cardinal Richelieu, and made the part most life-like and interesting; Mr. Herbert Morgan acted acceptably in the double rôle of Henri de Cocheforêt and Marquis de Pombal; Mr. Lionel Gadsdon made an excellent Clon; Mr. Percy H. Vernon did very well as the bombastic Captain Laroile; and Mr. Norman Leslie ably filled the part of Lieutenant Manet. Mr. Wiseman Leslie was good as De Fargis; and a capable representative of De Pimpenal was found in Mr. C. J. Curtis. Miss Beatrice Wilson, an accomplished actress, played with rare power and feeling in the trying rôle of Renée de Cocheforet; Miss Margaret Frame was all that could be desired as Madame de Cocheforêt; and Miss Lillian Kevill Davies did well as Madame Zaton; Miss F. Glossop Harris made an attractive Suzette. Nell Gwynn and A Scrap of Paper are also in the bill for the week.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—This week's company includes Ray and Calden, comedy artistes, whose turn is both clever and amusing; the Allisons are smart comedians and dancers; the Great Vincent, acrobatic table expert, performs some wonderful feats; Louis Hardt, the Boy Sansom, gives a good turn; Hanaway Brothers, comedians and dancers, are applauded; Andy Fagan is an excellent comedian; Flo Majilton is a charming comedienne and dancer; and Harrison Brothers, comedians and dancers, provide an acceptable turn.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES' THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. Tolfree.—The second pantomime of the season has proved a decided success. Beauty and the Beast, as presented by the Milton Rays combination, is a most entertaining production. Not only is there a wealth of comedy business, but there are plenty of good songs, dances, and beautiful spectacular effects. Mr. Rolando Martin is the life of the pantomime. As the page, Sammy, his eccentricities cause much merriment. As the dame, Mr. Edwin Garth is also very amusing; whilst Mr. George Rydon as Sir Macintosh Mizzle, and Messrs. Fyne and Hurley as the bailiffs, are also responsible for good comedy business. Miss Maidie Scott, as Silverbutton, is a pleasing principal, and Miss Nellie Merton gives satisfaction as Beauty. Others who may be mentioned are Miss Doris Drelincourt as Prince Greatheart, Mr. Sidney Milton as the Witch, and Mr. James Sherwin as the Beast. Among a number of interesting specialities introduced are Wallan, a smart juggler with billiard balls and cues; the Hayes, a couple of clever young sand dancers; the El Dorados, a quartette of charming dancers; and the Four Trees, a troupe of lady vocalists and dancers who are great favourites locally.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; General Manager, Mr. H. C. Arnold, jun.—Hypnotic séances by Professor Inman Hockinge have been the principal feature of the Hippodrome programme this week, together with demonstrations of, and manipulations with, the powers of electricity. Clever gymnastics have been performed by the Four Uniques; whilst other good turns are submitted by Fred Lloyd and company, in an amusing absurdity, The Blind Spinster; Jubal and Joice, comedians and patterers; Frank Boyce, a descriptive vocalist; the Two Rubies, who accomplish pretty dancing; and Minnie D'Aubyn, burlesque artist. Animated pictures were also presented by means of the Hippodrome Bioscope.

NEW PALACE THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten, General-Manager, Mr. Steuart Cecil. — Something entirely out of the ordinary in the way of canine performances has been seen here this week. Rosina Caselli's troupe of Chihauhau dogs have shown remarkable intelligence. The diminutive animals are accomplished acrobats, and are apparently as much at home on a trapeze as on the ground. The vocal duets of Belrose and Develin have been much admired. Others contributing to the programme were Hall and Earle, contortionists and jumpers; Vanola, equilibrist; Silly Billy Elliott, comedian; Barton and Ashley, in a sketch; D. W. Watson, one-armed cornet and post-horn soloist; Walter Lester, comedian; and Janet H. Reynolds, vocalist.

HALIFAX.—GRAND THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Acting-Manager, Mr. Norman Robinson.—Miss Vesta Tilley is on a return visit, and the utmost enthusiasm is displayed by the crowded audiences. The company supplementing Miss Tilley includes the Brothers Attila, strong men and poseurs; Sisters Chester, banjoists and dancers; the Mezettis, comedy bar performers; Fred Land, comedian; Guy Ryder, whistler; Sydney Lee, conjuror and card manipulator; Jack and Evelyn, versatile comedy artistes and dancers; and a sketch by Mr. H. Gratton and company, entitled, Packing Up.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr Frank Macnaghten.—The educated monkey, Coco, is making his first appearance in the provinces, and behaving like a gentleman. A good array of varied talent includes Martinetti and Grossi, musical eccentrics, who do a very clever and amusing turn; Ameer Abau Hamed and his troupe of Arab acrobats; Johnny Holland and Co. in a laughable sketch; Susie and Prossi, expert dancers; Grace Merton, a vocalist with a good voice and style; the Sisters Petram, with an up-to-date marionette show; and the Bandurrias, mandolinists.

HANLEY.—ROYAL, LIMITED. — Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone.—Mr. Harry Foxwell and Co. occupied the stage this week for the first three nights in that popular drama Shadows of a Great City. Mr. Foxwell's company is one of excellent quality, and the acting throughout is first class. The mounting is worthy of special mention. On Thursday and Friday Sir Henry Irving appeared in Becket and Louis XI.

GRAND.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. James Wynes.—A capital bill is submitted this week. At the head is George Lashwood, who scores another huge success, his songs being admirably rendered; Austin Rudd is a great favourite here; the Wavelly-Harley Quartette are a really clever acrobatic turn; Kyoto is seen in his clever comedy act, The Mysterious Japanese Box; May Geraldine is a smart comedienne and dancer; Annie Fielding and Bert Hull sing nicely in their refined entertainment; Grey and Welford contribute a comedy boxing act which is amusing. The Grand Pictures are as usual excellent.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cyril Fielden Smith.—The stirring racing drama, Rogues of the Turf, was produced here on Monday and the two following evenings, the exciting incidents of the play being received with enthusiasm by fairly large audiences. The numerous characters were very capably filled, Mr. T. F. Preston being prominent as Joe Flaxman, the trainer. The Naval Detective, a musical comedy, was billed for Thursday and the rest of the week.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Proprietors, Messrs. Councillor Everton and J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns.—Chas. Morritt is mystifying all in his smart illusions and conjuring, and the memory of the blind man also excites admiration and wonder; Staig's motor sensation creates a profound impression, looping the aerial circle being watched with breathless interest. The comedy sketch, by Stanley and Vandyke, entitled The Interview, is being well received; and Master George, the boy soprano, is a great favourite. Ada Cobden comedienne; Harry Maynard, actor vocalist; and the animated pictures, please immensely.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Geo. H. Gaze.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifford's company opened a week's engagement here on Monday with the military drama, On Circumstantial Evidence. Jack Ogilvy was played spiritedly by Mr. Leonard Williams, and Miss Maud Camfield won sympathy for her delineation of his faithful wife, Violet Ogilvy. Mr. Charles Clifford was forceful as her persecutor, Captain Hamilton; Mr. J. Sturton made a picturesque General Garibaldi; Miss Gladys Clifford was effective as the homeless waif Tim; Mr. Harry Cooke caused laughter by his antics as Jeremiah Tobin; and Miss M. Tremeer displayed suitable asperity as his sweetheart Polly. The rôle of the twin-sisters was strongly presented by Miss F. French, and the remaining characters were adequately played.

PIER PAVILION. — Pier-Master, Mr. R. Turner; Entertainment Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The interesting drama entitled Proof is being presented here under the direction of Mr. Arthur St. John, who takes in a capable manner the character of Pierre Lorance; Miss Constance St. John charmingly enacts the juvenile Little Adienne; Mr. Walter Foster's Count is a fine manly performance; Mr. E. Ferguson gives a clearly drawn sketch of Lazare. Chamboran is safe in the hands of Mr. James Dunlop; the Exile is well represented by Mr. Marmaduke Langdale; Miss Patey Trounsell realises the two parts of Madeline and Adrienne very naturally; Miss Lilian Burns is an acceptable exponent of Valentine; Miss Ida St. John is well suited as Madame Deprets; Miss Annie Lynn makes a charming Duchess D'Aubeterre.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — General Manager, Mr. Harold Penny.—A smart comedian, Mr. Harry Luck, opens the programme here. A successful turn is given by the clever pianiste, Miss Florence Gwynne; an attractive dancer is found in Miss Bijou Russell; Messrs. Welda and Wynne, comic jugglers, are highly amusing; Mdlle. Violi, the lady instrumentalist, achieves a great success; the Camerons, a comedy duo, are accorded a hearty reception; an astonishing performance is given by Astarte under hypnotic influence. The efforts of Atroy, the society juggler, are watched with keen interest. The new Bioscope films afford much delight.

HORWICH.—NEW PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Sandiford.—Miss Winifred Chalmer's company appeared here on Monday in The God of Night, and the many exciting episodes of the play thoroughly suited the taste of the audience. Mr. Henry L. Osmond as Harry Royce, detective, and Miss Chalmers as Mona Brayton, play their parts admirably. Mr. Dunlop Stewart's impersonation of Ritza, High Priest of Kharma, is very fine. Mr. W. Carriden as Armand, is ably assisted by Miss Nellie De Lacy as Natalie Latour; Mr. Rubean Mansell as Pionette is decidedly good, and Mr. Streete as Fillon, the gendarme, scores, his song and whistling refrain being very smart. Little Mabel Hall plays Gervais, a child's part with remarkable force, and her singing is very effective. The comedy element is safe in the hands of Mr. Herbert Woodin, and Miss Madge Palmer, as Sammy Dobbs from Clapham, and Estelle, respectively, their songs and dancing being highly appreciated. A Woman's Revenge was billed for Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

HUDDERSFIELD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy G. Arthur.—The annual performance by the Huddersfield Amateur Operatic Society, for the benefit of local charities, is taking place in the theatre this week. By kind permission of Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, Princess Ida is being played, and is receiving a most meritorious representation. The work has been very carefully rehearsed, under the clever direction of Mr. Lindsay Harman, late of the D'Oyly Carte companies.

HULL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Ever welcome is the Moody Manners company, and its visits are always looked forward to with pleasure by the Hull musical public. The programme this week is well selected, and embraces such favourites as The Lily of Killarney, Lucia, Maritana, and The Puritan Daughter. On Monday The Lily of Killarney was produced with an excellent cast, Madame Moody was in fine voice, and was enthusiastically received; Mr. Joseph O'Mara's splendid tenor voice was heard to advantage. The chorus, a strong point in the Manners organisation was most effective, and the forces were kept well in hand. Il Trovatore was performed on Tuesday night. Mme. de Vere Sapio was a noteworthy Leonora, sustaining her part with much artistic taste. Mr. Tony Seiter was an admirable Azucena; whilst the Maurice of Mr. Joseph O'Mara was a fine piece of work. Mr. G. Renshaw's Ferrando was a distinguished performance.

GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Resident, Mr. Wynn Miller.—Admirable and amusing is the story that Mr. J. M. Barrie has to tell in Little Mary. Messrs. Addison Bright and Walter Maxwell have gathered together a clever company. Miss Ethel Dane, as Moira Loney, was delightful, her quaint humour appealing strongly to the audience. As the Earl of Carlton, Mr. Geo. Mudie has a rôle that he fills with conspicuous distinction. The Sir Jennings Pyke of Mr. Geo. A. Brandram was effective. A clever, if tragic, little curtain raiser is The Monkey's Paw, by Louis Parker and W. W. Jacobs.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, MORTON'S, LIMITED.—General Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—The Ladder of Life is a play with a strong sensational interest. The scene with the Nasmyth hammer is one that works up the excitement to a very high pitch. The rescue by the Feros, a clever gymnastic troupe, is one of the features of the play. The patronage accorded has been in keeping with the merits of the play.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers; Musical-Director, Mr. C. Keith Smith.—Under the management of Mr. W. W. Kelly, a highly capable company are here with A Royal Divorce. Miss Edith Cole gives an expressive rendering of Empress Josephine, and every praise is due to the conspicuous ability of Mr. Frank Lister, as Napoleon. Miss Ethyle Murray is successful as Marie Louise; and Miss Maggie Cardiff makes a winning little King of Rome. As Talleyrand, Mr. H. Gray Dolby wins admiration; Miss Helen Richmond plays with vivacity as Stephanie; and Mr. Alfred Grenville makes an excellent General Augereau. Mr. Trevor Lowe is seen to advantage as Marquis de Beaumont. The costumes and uniforms are elaborate.

INVERNESS. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing Director, Mr. Cameron Burgess.—My Lady Molly was admirably presented here by Mr. Arthur Hart's company, on Monday night. As Lady Molly, Miss R. Dallas scored an emphatic and deserved success. Alice Coverdale was cleverly represented by Miss Enid Alexander; Miss Annie West was smart and bright as Lady Molly's maid, Hester; Miss Belle Gray was in every way satisfactory as the French governess, Mdlle. Moribeau; Captain Harry Romney was played by Mr. R. Cooper in a manly and convincing way; Lionel Bland was pleasantly played by Mr. Herbert Ranson; and Sir Miles Coverdale (Mr. Gordon Begg) had the vigour and heartiness of the fine old English gentleman. The rôle of Micky O'Dowd was most amusingly acted by Mr. H. Walsh.

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. G. Fisk.—Mr. Walter Melville's melodrama company is here in A Disgrace to her Sex. Mr. Clinton Baddeley admirably sustains the part of Jules Delamet, the villain of the piece; Mr. Arthur Byron is Barnaby Mugg; Mr. Edward E. Ashby Jack Dawes; Mr. David G. Noble, Arnold Travers; and Mr. Eugene Santley, David Carrington. The principal lady part is taken by Miss Polly Marsh, as Bella Mugg; Miss Laura Hansen, Miss Elaine Vanburgh, and Miss Nellie Lucas filling the subordinate parts.

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Fred. Barrett.—The new turns here this week included Herr Fritz, illusionist and conjuror; Forest and King, variety artistes; Eva Hope and company, impersonators; Miss Lily Martell, comedienne and acrobat; Miss Florrie Moore, comedienne; Miss Elsie Leyton, serio and dancer; and Tom Brantford, humorist.

PUBLIC HALL.—Manager, Mr. Geo. Watson.—The Kilties gave two performances at this hall on Tuesday before appreciative audiences.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones and company is paying a visit here this week with the drama, entitled Life's Sweetest Sins. Mr. T. A. Jones gives a capital rendering of the part of Captain Harold Marston; Mr. Oswald Douglas furnishes a powerful portrayal of Dr. Colbrooke; Mr. George R. J. Austin is well placed as Kimberley Coutts; and Mr. C. Vernon Proctor is quite at home as the Rev. Edward Grey. Miss Madge Morley gives a charming embodiment of Doreen Reeves; Miss Sara Dudley scores as Bess Grayson; Miss Amy Rudd does well as Fay Colbrooke; and Mr. Fred Russell is successful as Bob Tanner.

KEIGHLEY. — QUEEN'S THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs Carson and Granville; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Barnes.—Mr. George Dance's company in A Country Girl is here on a return visit, crowded audiences enjoying the charm of the music and the acting and vocalisation of the clever company. Mr. Johnny Osborne, as Barney, enters thoroughly into the rollicking fun of the character; Mr. Cyril Thompson is the new Geoffrey Challoner, and acquits himself well in the part; Mr. H. C. Morton scores a distinct success as Sir Joseph Verity; the Rajah of Bhong has a remarkably accomplished exponent in Mr. St. John Hammond. The rôle of Douglas Verity is ably undertaken by Mr. Willie Hartill. Miss May Glen's Nan is a sterling performance; Miss Maud Harvey's Marjory is highly commendable; Miss Addie Lennard does full justice to the part of Sophie.

KENDAL.—ST. GEORGE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. R. F. Chorley; Manager, Mr. J. W. Butler.—Mr. W. H. Kirby's company in The New Mephisto, opened on the 16th inst. for three nights. Mr. W. H. Vernon gives an amusing impersonation of Dick Pilgrim; Mr. Albert Weston is the chief laughter-maker as Mr. Mephistophelos, assuming various disguises with great success; Miss Nellie Burdette meets with approval as Dolly; and the Becky Pilgrim of Miss Marion Armitage is a capable and clever performance. Other parts deserving special mention are the Lord Hummingtop of Mr. H. St. John; the Captain Meredith of Mr. H. P. Carr; and the Mrs. Gertie Gentle of Miss Dorothy Cecil. The choruses are effectively rendered, and the Thalian Glee Singers are well received. Mr. W. H. Powell's company in There and Back is billed for two nights this week end.

KETTERING.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Payne.—A variety company is the attraction here. Heading the bill is Chas. Prinz, with his troupe of forest-bred lions. This is a very clever performance, and a great attraction. Mr. Charles Bradford is a smart comedian, and Miss Nellie Dunbar meets with a good reception. The Wys Troupe contribute an amusing sketch. Other pleasing turns are the Parez Trio, and a number of living pictures, entitled "Les Picturesque Poses."

KIDDERMINSTER. — NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. Jas. P. Moore; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. C. Gudgeon, jun.—We have here this week Mr. Peter Thompson's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood. Miss Maude Beaumont is an ideal Robin Hood, and Miss Molly Hackett is equally good as Maid Marian, both dancing and singing admirably. The Baron is boldly played by Mr. J. Templar Ellis. Tim Tired and Willie Wearied are in the hands of the Danbys, who cause no end of fun; and Mr. Fred Danvers, as a nurse of uncertain years, creates plenty of amusement. The pantomime is well mounted, and the special turns all good.

KILMARNOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hales.—On Monday Mr. Charles March opened with a play from his own pen, entitled The Priest of the Temple. Mr. March gave a powerful and natural rendering of the part of Valerius, and Messrs. Percy Ballard and Henry Moxon did good work as Decus Fronto and Appius Herdonius. Miss Marie North was a capital Præstantia, and Miss Violet Craufurd was good as Palita. Mr. Osmond Tearle's company appeared on Thursday and Friday. In the title-rôles of Hamlet and the Merchant of Venice, Mr. Walter Bentley made a powerful impression, and he had the able support of the members of the company.

KING'S LYNN.—NEW ROYAL THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Bannister Howard; Business Manager, Mr. Herbert Leonard.—Mr. A. B. Cross's company in The Manxman appeared here on Monday. Mr. Cross gives a masterful portrayal of Pete; Mr. Wm. Burchill is well-placed as Philip Christian; Mr. Henry Heller submits a fine character study of Cæsar Cregan; Tom, the postman, and Ross Christian are capably sustained by Mr. J. Allen and Mr. Edward McLean; Miss Nancy Mitchell is excellent as Nancy the Maid; Miss Leslie Adair is good as Miss Christian; Miss Minnie Watersford as Kate Cregan deserves great praise. On Thursday and following nights The Marriage of Kitty was played.

KIRKCALDY. — KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan, Resident Manager, Mr. Rex Sugden.—Mr. E. R. Abbot and company opened here on Monday in A Wife's Triumph. Mr. E. R. Abbot was excellent as Robert Dewhurst, and also scored a success by the admirable way he personated the American Bookmaker, the contrast between the two characters being very marked. Mr. S. C. Doughty gave a good rendering of the part of Frank Wilton, and Messrs. W. H. Garbois and Edward Onslow scored as Ellis Jordan and Julius Hartman. Mr. Edwin Keene as Ben Bradford, the jockey, played with considerable humour. Miss Jessie Mason was admirable as Alice Wilton, and Miss Ada Abbott played Bessie Dewhurst in a powerful and realistic manner. Little Frank was represented by little Miss Elsie Jones in a very natural manner. Miss Phyllis Atherleigh as Margery Crib was characteristic and vivacious. Trilby was played on Wednesday and two following evenings.

LANCASTER. — ATHENÆUM. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Hy. Wilkinson.—Mr. Fred Moule and Mr. E. D. Nicholls' company is this week paying a return visit with The Grip of the Law and Called Back. The former piece was presented before a good house on Monday. Mr. Edwin Maydew was successful as Dave Arkwright, Mr. Wm. Matthews appeared to advantage as Sergeant Paul, and Mr. E. D. Nicholls, who has played Zeph Sorrell a thousand times, was excellent: whilst Mr. Sam Roberts, as Andy Blunt, introduced much comic business. He was ably assisted by Miss Ada Frank, as Beaulah Bliss; and Miss May Grayse gave an excellent portrayal as Rose Hockaday.

PALACE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. W. J. Fergusson and John Porter.—The programme arranged here is well up to the average. At the head is Henry Carlton, comedian, who has made many friends during his fortnight's engagement. Clown Shalton, musical contortionist, is well received, as also are Denby and Dent, in a comedy act. Others include Harry Wright, comedian; Miss Nellie Gannon, vocalist; Miss Peggy Fame, comedy artiste; San Remo Girls, acrobatic dancers; and Walter Payne's animated pictures.

LEEDS. — GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—Mr. John Hart's pantomime, The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, this week finishes a most successful season. Several benefit nights have been celebrated, good houses being obtained for the benefit of Miss Georgina Delmar, the bright and vivacious Robinson, on Monday, and for that of Mr. Lionel Rignold and Mr. J. Robert Hale, two of the most successful pantomime comedians ever seen here.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—After a long run of pantomime this theatre is this week occupied by The Shaughraun. Mr. E. C. Matthews is a characteristic Conn, his able portrayal winning unstinted applause. Capable assistance is rendered by Mr. Geo. Thorne, jun., as Robert Ffolliott, and Mr. A. Bradley as Captain Molyneux. A dainty Moya is supplied by Miss Isabel Cairns, and Miss Alice Russell is to be complimented on her work as Claire Ffolliott. Other rôles are excellently presented by Mr. Valentine Cooke and Miss Lizzie Cooke; and the company all round is one of remarkable strength.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs Dottridge and Longden; General-Manager, Mr. C. P. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—This week closes the run of the pantomime Dick Whittington after a successful four weeks' visit, crowded houses being the rule. Miss Carlotta Levey, Miss Maud Noel, Miss Nora Moore, Messrs. Foreman and Fannon, Mr. Ernest Rees, Mr. Harry Kilburn, Mr. Harry Rogerson and Mr. Johnny Fuller are the principal artistes, and the clever speciality by Kelly and Gillette, and some smart dancing by the Tiller "Champion" Troupe, contribute to the success achieved.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss Empires, Limited; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. G. Mooney.—The popular pantomimists, the Boissets, are filling a second week's engagement here, the farcical sketch, Wild West, giving them scope for the creation of boisterous mirth. Tom Edwards is again delighting all with his humorous ventriloquism. Very entertaining, too, is the clever conjuring act submitted by Hermann Melot; vocal contributions by Sinclair and Parr are well received; Virto and Irene again present their smart musical show; and James's Strolling Players distinguish themselves by a varied turn; Carlo and Maie are applauded for a comedy wire act; and Peppo's performing monkeys show considerable training in an interesting performance

TIVOLI.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General-Managers, Messrs. Edgar O. Waller and Chas. Weldon.—A scene of unbounded enthusiasm is nightly aroused by the wonder-worker, Dr. Walford Bodie, whose hypnotic feats and marvellous cures are causing great wonderment. Josephine Casaboni does well as a premier danseuse, and Norman Mills is very popular with fine vocal work. Helen Henri sings in accomplished style, and the De Roys are seen in an expert conjuring turn. The Garden Troupe of dancers do their work in clever style, and other capital turns are subscribed by the Sisters Lyle, vocalists, and La Petite Bella.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—There is an attractive programme of good things here, notably the Bros. Kroney, in character speciality act. Lavers and Lake, with a screaming comedy act; the Violas, the White Mahatmas, in their clever speciality; Geo Bendon, the coon comedian; the Toile D'Araignee, gymnasts, who go through an expert performance; Tee and Tee, very entertaining in an eccentric musical act; Frank Hartley, juvenile juggler; and Fred McArthur, mimic.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Winstanley; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. D. Leigh.—A large audience gave an enthusiastic welcome on Monday to Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's pantomime, Goody Two Shoes. Messrs. Dottridge and Longden deservedly hold a high reputation for the completeness of their various productions, which they have well maintained in the present instance. A special feature is Hagedorn's Wonderful Fairy Grotto, in which a large number of remarkably pretty tableaux are shown. In the title-rôle, Miss Minnie Cunningham makes a conspicuous success by her winsomeness, popular songs, and smart dancing; Miss Georgina Leonard is seen to considerable advantage as the principal boy, Roland, her songs being rendered with a "go" that is distinctly pleasing and clever; Miss Molly Wolstenholme is in every way excellent as Benevolentia; both Miss Rose Tilley, as Peter Piper, and Miss Rita Rhylle, as Dolly Dimple, are very good; Miss Amy French, as the demon, Mephisto, is deserving of high commendation; and Miss Hilda Stewart, as Pansy Blossom, and Miss Sheila Redgrave, as Frisky, are pleasing. Messrs. Downes and Langford, who were very popular here in pantomime some years ago, are a pronounced success as Truthful Tommy and Phil the Philosopher; Mr. Fred Lincoln, another Leicester favourite, makes a big hit as the dame, Fanny; Mr. Harry F. McClelland does well as Baron Grabbe; Mr. George French, as Simon, gives a mirth-provoking performance; Mr. Harry Rousby is also very entertaining as Sandy. The augmented orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Ainsley Fox, and the general and stage-manager for the company is Mr. Herbert W. Harwood. Mr. C. D. Leigh, since he has assumed his duties in front of the house, has made many friends by his courteousness and never-tiring attentions to the comfort of the patrons of the Opera House.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Lieut.-Col. J. A. Winstanley; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. C. Candler.—The attraction here this week is Messrs. Carson and Granville's No. 1 company, in the drama, A Modern Adventuress, which is excellently staged and played. Mr. Leonard Aardale, in his original part of Pietro Donelli, displays histrionic ability of a high order; Miss Beatrice M. Anderson, as the notorious Violet Meredith, plays a difficult rôle with conspicuous success; Mr. Royce Carleton submits a clever impersonation as Harry Delby. Mr. Edward M. Hamilton does well as Wallace Danton; Mr. Evan Roland gives a good character-sketch as the Yorkshireman, John Crompton; Mr. Geo. P. Lester is capital as the detective, Walter Beal; Mr. Leonard Montgomery is well-suited to the rôle of Steve Meredith; Miss Alice Defoe is seen to advantage as Vivette Delby.

PALACE THEATRE, LIMITED. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leonard Vidal.—At the head of a diversified and clever list of artistes this week is Happy Fanny Fields, "the Jolly Dutch Girl," who is scoring her usual big success on a return visit. A remarkably fine cycle display is submitted by the Klein Family, which arouses the heartiest applause; the Brothers Horne cause the greatest merriment with their cleverly-constructed boxing sketch, The Dude and the Bully; O'Gust, the artistic Parisian mimic, gives his clever "show" to the accompaniment of laughter and applause; Carrie Laurie's Kindergarten is the means of displaying the smartness of a number of juveniles, whose turn is most entertaining; the Alfonso Trio are responsible for a pretty, electrical, humorous, and skilful juggling act; Ethel Ra-Leslie sings delightfully; the Bohemians are excellent musicians; and Charles Deane is well received.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—The principal attraction here this week is Ben Jordan, the featherweight boxer, who gives a scientific boxing and ball-punching display, in conjunction with Jack Goldswain, the 10st. champion. The programme also comprises a capital variety entertainment, by the following artistes: Kisbey, the singing call-boy; Geo. Penn, musician and raconteur; Evelyn Taylor, male impersonator; Charles Ridgewell, comedian; Ella and Rose, duologue artistes; Tom Dunmore, comedian; and Millie Howell, serio, who are all well received.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Dewhurst; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Dewhurst.—The attraction here this week is Mr. Frank M. Thorne's company, under the direction of Messrs. Carson and Granville, with Napoleon the Great. Mr. Hugh Montgomery is thoroughly at home in the title-rôle; Paul Laczinska is well sustained by Mr. J. G. Maine; Mr. Henry Earlesmere is an excellent Colonel Lavarennes; Mr. Phil Harper, as Colonel Jules Meuron, submits a fine study; Mr. Frank M. Thorne is highly amusing as Pierre Pomponnet; Marie Waleswka is admirably portrayed by Miss Chrissie Dunbar; Miss Maud Russell is a sympathetic Mademoiselle Leonie Marboeuf; Miss Florence Thorne, as Mère Dumont, makes the most of her part; and Miss Marie Harcourt is smart and amusing as Marcelle Choupin.

LIMERICK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Robert Fogerty.—The Buffalo Bill Wild West company, under the management of Messrs. F. McCrea and R. A. Neville, is here this week. In addition to the biograph, there is an attractive variety entertainment, supported by the clever comedian, Mr. Tom Carrick, who sings well. Gilroy is amusing as a ventriloquist, and Miss Lily Carrick sings several songs and dances well.

LIVERPOOL.—ROTUNDA THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery, jun.—The frequenters of this popular North-end house have been well catered for this week. Between Two Women is a play possessing much merit, and it has been witnessed by large audiences. Produced by Mr. Fred Melville's company, the many strong situations it contains have been presented with great effect, and the applause resulting must have proved gratifying to the artistes engaged. Principal in the cast is Miss East-Robertson, who, as Carmen de Savereux, plays with much dramatic power. She is well supported by the other "woman," Violet Thornton, presented with discretion and reserve, by Miss Vashti Wynne; Mr. Frank Ayrton and Miss Madge Seymour as Jack Pringle and Polly Pop respectively, create all the fun; Mr. Hugh Metcalfe gives a capital rendering of the young parson; Mr. J. W. Walters makes a villainous Jacques Spado, and other artistes worthy of mention are Messrs. Harry Marlow, Fred Morgan, and George Winter.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—Morcaschani tops the bill here, and is accorded a gratifying reception; the Waldrons, old favourites of Liverpool, keep the house in roars of laughter; Tom McInerney's wrestling exhibition is a great draw; Tennyson and Wallis have excellent songs and patter; the Ashers (Agnes and Mike) are capital dancers; Robbins and Collier are very amusing in an original act; the Gladenbecks are clever acrobats; the Villion Troupe give a fine exhibition of trick cycling; the Marconis' electric manipulation mystifies many. Herbert Maden, comedian, is good, and Willie Walker's ball punching is applauded.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. H. Fineberg; Acting-Manager, Mr. M. Simmons.—Although The Face at the Window has paid frequent visits to Liverpool, several of them to the Star, its attractive power seems as great as ever. Messrs. Armadale and Warren's first-class company presented the drama, and included in the cast were Mr. Augustine Knight, whose delineation of Le Loup was powerfully dramatic, and Mr. T. W. Dunscombe, who filled the part of Paul Gouffet, the detective. Miss Marie Barrett was a pleasing Marie de Brisson; as Babette, Miss Gwynne Warren acted with grace; and Miss Jeanie Dempster was an excellent La Pinau. As usual, the scenery was strikingly appropriate.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. O'Toole.—Heading the bill here this week are the Forrest combination with their comedy, 25s. Wirson is an equilibrist of much ability; Professor Bennett gives an excellent ventriloquial entertainment; some neat tableaux vivants are presented by the Rameses; Master John Anten is a clever boy comedian; Carl Verdi gives a good all-round turn on musical instruments; and others in the bill are Eric Graham, comedian; Millie Harris, vocalists; Amy Donna, vocalist and dancer; and Ada Izon, vocalist.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Granville; Manager, Mr. Fred Granville; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—A well-presented pantomime is being staged here for a fortnight, and during the week has been cordially received by good audiences. Aladdin is the title, and the large and capable company is under the control of Messrs. Dottridge and Longden. The whole of the work teems with humour, and there is not a dull moment. Mr. Fred Cary, as Abanazar, is the mainstay of the evening, and shows high powers as a comedian; Miss Mimi Fisher is a smart and dainty Aladdin; Miss Harriett Fawn a pretty Princess; a laughable Widow Twankey is presented by Mr. Fred W. Graham; and Mr. John Donald is an imposing Emperor. As the Slave of the Lamp, Miss Lillian Maude acts with discretion. Specialities are introduced by Mr. Fred Cary, the Bros. Brooks, Miss Cassie Walmer, Keith and Merson, and Les Belles Americaines.

GRAND PRIX
ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION, 1904.

Empire, Limited. — District Manager, Mr. T. A. Cook; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Stratton.—At the head of the bill here this week is Max Gruber, with his performing horse and elephant. The turn is one which affords an audience much satisfaction. Brown and Robinson are a couple of excellent vocalists. The Aurora Troupe of cyclists are one of the best turns of the evening; the sand dancing by "My Fancy" is certainly unique; Robertus and Wilfredo give a capital exhibition of ball punching; Albert Whelan proves himself to be an able entertainer; Morris and Morris are smart acrobatic comedians; and others in the bill are Lily Tiso, comedienne and dancer; Billy Hobbs, coon singer and dancer; Driscoll and Beattie, who give a funny sketch entitled Two Old Rogues; the MacGoverns, acrobatic dancers; and Frazer and Mac, comedians.

Royal Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—A good all-round programme is provided here this week, at the head of it being Smaun Sing Hpoo, who is described as being the smallest coloured midget living. He is very interesting, and creates much amusement. Mirzah gives a capital exhibition of banjo playing; the O'Learys are a couple of quaint comedians; Bertha Pertina's dancing is much admired; Pollo Jerome is a lady artist who executes some smart work on the trapeze; as a trick cyclist, Mdlle. Lillian gives a neat turn; Meier and Mora are a pair of able ball punchers; Sid Bandon has several humorous songs; and others in the list are Edith St. Clare, burlesque actress; Marquis Iton, who shows scenes outside Port Arthur; and the Laares troupe of acrobats and pirouette artistes.

New Parthenon. — Proprietor, Mr. Edwin W Smith.—An excellent bill of fare is being presented here this week. At the top is Eno, a clever mimic; the Countees are a couple of accomplished duettists; Bock Pylades provides some interesting portrayals of past and present celebrities; Harry Tomlinson is the possessor of a good voice, and knows how to use it in his character songs; Edie Endon, as a coon vocalist and acrobatic dancer, gives satisfaction, the Dainton girls are neat character duettists; and the Freans are a couple of capital Irish comedians.

Paddington Palace, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. J. Kiernan.—The important engagement here this week is the Geraldine Montrose Dramatic Sketch Co., in The Trials of a Hospital Nurse; Kennedy Allen sings catchy songs; Agnes and Arthur Lynch give several pretty picture songs; the two Dawsons create much fun with their sketch, As Deaf as a Post; Steb, the modeller in clay, is an interesting turn; and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wye have an amusing farce, What Happened to Watt.

Westminster.—Proprietor, Mr. M. Montgomery.—A well-diversified bill of fare is given here this week, the principal item being Mr. Hesslegrave and company with the sketch, Grelley's Money. Ted Heaton and Sacha go through their clever swimming and tank act; Mr. E. is an extempore artiste of merit; Raymond and Raymond are able coon comedians; and others are Harry Jennings, comedian and dancer; and the Sisters Bartholomew, duettists and dancers.

Park Palace.—Director, Mr. James Kiernan.—The Shadows of our City is the principal item on the bill here. The sketch is given by Percy Boucher's company, and is received with applause. The variety artistes who fill the remainder of the programme, include Jack Stewart, comedian; Edith Elliott, burlesque actress; Dalton J. Bosher, comedian; Florrie Hall, soubrette; Harry Tresham, actor vocalist; and Rosa Lenmann, vocalist.

Haymarket. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Kempson and Mason, very humorous comedians, head the bill here; the three Bros. Huxter are smart tumblers and vaulters; Farrell and Hilton are accomplished comedians and dancers; and others who appear are Loudoun Cameron, a clever conjurer; Walter Adams, comedian; and the Avoca quartette of vocalists.

LONDONDERRY.—Opera House.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. W. Payne Seddon. The Duke of Killiecrankie is being played here by Mr. Leigh Lovel's company. As the Duke, Mr. Herbert J. Bentley is very good; and Mr. Lovel scores as Pitt-Welby. Miss Naomi Wilson plays Miss Mulholland with great spirit; and as Lady Henrietta, Miss Octavia Kenmore is admirable. The minor parts are all well filled.

LONG EATON.—Lyceum Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Thomas Meakin.—Miss Cissie Moxon and her company are appearing this week in the musical comedy A Trip to Rum Fum, and a variety entertainment is provided, keeping the audience in merriment from start to finish. Miss Moxon is a great favourite, and she is ably supported by Mr. W. S. Hutchinson. There is some fairly good singing, and the Saxon Troupe of international dancers give clever performances.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—New Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Payne Seddon and George Robertson; Secretary, Mr. Charles E. Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Louis Beaufort.—This new and commodious theatre continues its successful career, and crowded houses are nightly witnessing that ever-welcome play, A Message from Mars, which is presented by Mr. Gordon Starkey's excellent company. Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee makes an impressive Horace Parker. The rôle of the Messenger is in the hands of Mr. William Lockhart, and is well played. Mr. Percy Tyler's portrayal of the Tramp is a finished performance. Miss Edith Cuthbert makes a praiseworthy Minnie Templars, and as Miss Parker Miss Violet Auberies proves herself to be an actress of ability. Mention must also be made of Mr. A. Collins-Rolfe, as Arthur Dicey; Mr. G. R. Peach as Dr. Chapman, and the Bella of Miss Maud Shortland.

LOWESTOFT.—Marina Theatre.—Proprietor and manager, Mr. E. A. Smith.—The Kilties made their first appearance locally on Monday, and gave two successful performances to large audiences. For the rest of the week we have the drama, The Best Must Win, and East Lynne, performed by Messrs. Charles Draycott and H. B. Peppin's company.

MAIDENHEAD. — Grand Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. Edgar Dereve and F. L. Schmitz.—Mr. George Kirk and Miss Mary Neil's company opened on Monday with Judy, or the Fatal Hand. The central character is played in an exceptionally clever manner by Miss Florrie Groves, whose energetic, vivacious delineation of the part has a great deal to do with the success of the piece. Much praise is due to Miss Mary Neil for her rendering of the widely-contrasted characters in the dual rôle of Alice and Polly, and Grip, the detective, is played in a grimly quiet but forceful style by Mr. George Kirk. Mr. Richard Ferris and Miss Violet Langley work well together as the villainous pair, Duburg and Blake, and Mr. Sterling has a gentlemanly exponent in Mr. William Vane. As Jim, the coster, Mr. Will Casey is well placed; Mr. W. H. Horford is good as the drunken showman; and Miss Annie Mitchell is a smart maid-servant.

MANCHESTER. — Prince's Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oscar Barrett; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—The glories of pantomime at this threatre gave way on Monday to the attractions of musical comedy in the shape of Winnie Brooke, Widow, with Miss Ada Reeve in the title-rôle. The play is not remarkable for originality, though it is well equipped with lively episodes and a pleasing musical score, and the story is made pleasing by a vein of sentiment which lifts it above the ordinary run of musical comedy; but in Miss Ada Reeve's hands the central part radiates a charm which makes the whole seem one of the brightest and most enjoyable pieces that have been seen in Manchester for many a day. A big house on Monday gave unstinted evidence of appreciation, which extended also to various other members of the cast who have more or less important characters to sustain. Chief among these are Mr. Charles Weir as Dudley Mayne; Mr. L. Ashton-Jarry as Julian Croft; Mr. Harry Halley as Montague Brent; Mr. Edgar Stevens as Reginald Frampton; and, in more eccentric parts, Messrs. Ulick Burke, Donald Price-Evans, Frederick Tyrrell, Miss Drusilla Wills and Miss Alice Lawrence.

Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Oscar Barrett; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. M. Thorburn.—This week sees the withdrawal of The Sleeping Beauty from the Gaiety stage, though it has attracted large houses during its brief stay, and doubtless would continue to do so for weeks to come, did circumstances allow. The pantomime contains features of exceptional interest and merit, and is especially noteworthy in respect of the vocalism of Miss Louie Collier, the good fairy, and Miss Dorothy L. Clarke, principal boy. Miss Lucie Caine gives distinction to the part of Beauty, and the Two Anartos provide real fun as a pair of eccentric—and musical—woodcutters. Mr. Fred Russell has dropped out from a group of comedians which include Mr. Arthur Rigby, Mr. Horace Wheatley, Mr. Harry Maxam, and Mr. Picton Roseborough.

Royal Osborne Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. W. H. Broadhead; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Mr. Walter Melville's The Female Swindler pays a return visit here this week, and is a remarkably good draw. Like all Mr. Melville's dramas, it is exceedingly well arranged and effective, and teems with parts that afford ample scope for dramatic and character acting. Mr. Jerrold Heather and Miss Violet Ellicott have the most distinguished opportunities, and do extremely well in them; while other essential parts are capitally played by Mr. Bernard Mervyn, Mr. A. Kenyon Gray, and Miss Florrie Kelsey. The humorous element is kept going by Mr. Luke Forster, Mr. George Elsworthy and Miss Evelyn Marrable.

Metropole Theatre.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A change from variety to drama is to be recorded here this week. Miss Olga Andre and Messrs. Travis Green and Arthur Hinton's company being seen in the sensational drama, When a Man Hates. The cast includes Mr. Arthur Hinton in the impressive rôle of Pietro Danelli, and Miss Leila Zillwood as Olga Gwynne, the woman with a past, both of whom discharge their responsibilities with admirable effect. They are assisted by quite a number of capable players, among whom Mr. E. Sampson and Miss Marie E. Robertson are notable in humorous parts. Eleven scenes illustrate the movement of the plot.

Grand Junction Theatre.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's company is here this week from the Osborne Theatre, in The Silver King.

St. James's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. M. Potasch.—An Irish musical costume play, The Wearin' o' the Green, is the attraction here this week, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey's company. Love and tragedy give interest and body to the story, which progresses through a number of strenuous and realistic scenes. Mr. Charles Homer shares with Mrs. Chalmers Mackey the honours of the heroic parts, while Mr. John S. Chamberlain is sufficiently malevolent as the villainous Michael Kenny. Ample humour is interpolated by Mr. Chalmers Mackey, Mr. John Neville, and Miss Lalla Stanhope. During the course of the play various typical Irish songs are sung by Mr. Chalmers Mackey, Mr. Charles Homer, and Miss Lalla Stanhope, of whom the latter figures also as a dancer solus, and in conjunction with Mr. Mackey. The scenery and dresses are picturesque.

Hippodrome (Hulme). — Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—J. W. Rickaby heads an excellent bill here this week, his quaint songs and whimsical style causing much merriment. The performing dogs, ponies, &c., introduced by Yvette, do some remarkably clever things; and the singing of Carr and Rose is above the average, and greatly appreciated. Ford and Hanson are successful in a musical item; Harry Grey, a capital comedian, comes in for plenty of applause; and Cyrus Dare, a clever mimic, tells some amusing stories. The Muirs appear in a highly diverting sketch, The Lady and the Lunatic; Will Johnson, comedian, has some good songs; Kit Keen is entertaining as an Ethiopian artiste; and Daisy Martell dances very smartly. The usual pictures complete.

Queen's Park Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Dr. Carl Herman is here this week, after successful weeks at the Salford and Hulme Hippodromes. His demonstrations with electricity are watched with interest, and the antics of his hypnotised subjects evoke screams of laughter. The Sisters Marion, two pretty and clever young vocalists, are well received, as is, also, Sutherland, who swings and spins the bâton with remarkable ability. Two young boys, called Larchie Thompson's Top-Weights, give a good exhibition of club-swinging, boxing, and wrestling; Post Mason sings "A Son of the Desert am I" with good effect; Moto, eccentric musician, plays the concertina well, and is very amusing; and Ada Seale sings, acceptably, a couple of ballads.

Tivoli.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Lottie Collins, a big Manchester favourite, is the bright, particular star here this week, and scores a distinct success with her latest songs. Another excellent turn is Fred Earle, an eccentric comedian, who causes roars of laughter, and makes a big hit with his "Seaweed" song. J. H. Kavanagh, too, succeeds in creating plenty of amusement; and Harry Mountford and Maud Walsh are delightful entertainers, with smart patter. The singing of Helen Charles is much appreciated; Ernest manipulates cards in an amazing manner; Tell and Tell are clever tumblers, and comedians of the eccentric order; and the Toro Trio present a novel turn in balancing and rifle-shooting. Other enjoyable items are those of Nellie Lewis, a pleasing artiste; and Alice Ormonde, comedienne, who each contribute a song.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will Collins.—The big turn here this week is that of Bella and Bijou, vocal comedy sketch artistes, who have a really excellent repertoire, and who render their various sketches with admirable verve and effect, much to the pleasure of the house. Another remarkable turn is supplied by Clown Zertho's Dogs of many breeds, who display almost human intelligence in their intricate and amusing manœuvres under their master's wonderful influence. The Five Delevines, in their Flirtation sketch, are also well received; and a fine vocal turn is that of Madame Alice Simmons, operatic soprano; while sufficiently varied entertainment is provided by Ike Scott and Son, comedians; the Ongars, in a series of well-executed dances; Ernest Sefton, character comedian; Simms and Simms, musical comedians; Cabby and Shirker, in an amusing bar act; and a Bioscopic view of last Saturday's football match between Manchester City and Bolton Wanderers.

Palace.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. P. Watson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. H. Stringer.—The principal item in this week's programme here is furnished by Fred Karno's comedians, who are seen in Mumming Birds, an exceedingly funny travesty of the peculiarities of the modern music-hall show. The Boccaccio Minstrels contribute a very good vocal and instrumental act; and Horace White, ventriloquist and pianist, presents some new and novel ideas in excellent style. Will Poluski, jun., comedian, gives a popular turn; the Permane Brothers are very well received in an eccentric acrobatic performance; Ronald Bayne and Evelyn Hope figure dramatically as Napoleon I. and Josephine in the Emperor Divorce episode; the Three Clarus give a capital performance on the rolling globes; the Three Sisters Hayden, vocal character comediennes, are vivacious and pleasing; and Lily Lenora submits some effective comedy and speciality dancing. The programme is further elaborated by a series of Palace pictures and a well-rendered orchestral interlude.

Manchester Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—The popular Marie Loftus heads the bill here this week, and, in addition to her well-known pantomime burlesque, renders two songs in excellent style, especially the country-maid's song, "He kissed I once," which creates ripples of laughter, and is greatly enjoyed. Harry Weldon is a most entertaining comedian, his eccentric methods being productive of hearty applause. Otto Schumann introduces, in a clever equestrian act, a highly-trained dancing horse, which cakewalks in fine style. A decidedly novel musical musical item is that of Carl and Carmanelli, who are full of surprises, and are deservedly well received. The charming Sisters Klos, a trio of athletes, present a most artistic and graceful performance on the hanging ropes; and the Two Brothers Reiff bring down the house with their remarkable dancing. Pit and Cute, who make their entry in an air-ship, drop to "earth," and go through a clever and laughable acrobatic act; and, by the aid of her chatty boy, Dan, Lady Fauntleroy succeeds in amusing the audience. The Choristers render "Missouri" (illustrated song) pleasingly; and, from last week, remains the sensational aerial act by the famous Cee Mee Troupe.

MARGATE.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. E. Macknight; Business-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Hardy.—At War with the World has been played here this week by Mr. George Lyttleton's company. Mr. George Lyttleton, jun., plays the old Squire Redfern very well, and the trying part of his son, Tom Redfern, is admirably sustained by Mr. George Lyttleton, senr. Mr. F. C. Koper is good as Hugh Redfern; Mr. A. E. Johnstone makes an excellent Thornton Westmeare, the adventurer's plausible rascality being capably brought out; Mr. F. J. Lewis, as Gregory Blotts, enacts the toper satisfactorily; and Mr. Frank Holyoake does the little he has to do as Draycott the detective, commendably. Miss Lillian Beaumont is pleasing in the rôle of Edna Maddox, Miss Nora Kingsley is all that could be desired as Mrs. Leslie, and Miss Daisy Humphreys plays the part of Mabel Leslie well.

Grand Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. F. Mouillot; Resident Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—Poole's Myriorama has been here again with capital pictures, illustrating the war in the Far East, and some amusing cinematograph films. There is a capital variety combination, the programme including Miss May Fince, whose Irish and other songs go well; the Veronas, duettists, are also dainty dancers, and their turn is a popular one; Felix Summers cleverly delineates the facial expressions of well-known people; and Mdlle. Orbasany's trained cockatoos give an interesting performance.

MELTON MOWBRAY.—Mr. Gordon Starkey's company, in A Message from Mars, paid a further visit to this town on Monday, when the large audience fully appreciated this highly diverting comedy. As Horace Parker Mr. Cecil Austin-Lee was admirable, and Mr. Percy Tyler made an ingenuous tramp. Arthur Dicey, the American, was capitally portrayed by Mr. Collins Rolfe, Sir E. Vivian by Mr. Douglas Stewart, and the Messenger from Mars by Mr. Wm. Lockhart. The ladies' caste was an exceedingly good one, notably Miss Violet Aubries as Miss Parker, Miss Florence Heather as Mrs. Clarence, and Miss Edith Cuthbert as Minnie Tompkins.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Will Smithson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Albert J. Lewis.—Messrs. George Edwardes and Chas. Frohman's company opened here on Monday in the farcical comedy, Are You a Mason? As Amos Bloodgood, Mr. Harry Ashford was responsible for a great deal of laughter; Mr. Anthony Fawcett was highly amusing as George Fisher, and his impersonation of the French dressmaker was smart and clever; Mr. Arthur Claremont was energetic as Frank Perry; and Mr. Tom Mowbray's John Halton is the embodiment of droll humour; Miss Harriet Trench made a capital Mrs. Bloodgood; and Miss Violet Graham gave a delightful impersonation of Mrs. Perry. Charming portrayals of Annie, Lulu, and Mrs. Halton were given by the Misses Lillie Beagle, Isla Glynn, and Mabel Young; and Lottie had an efficient representative in Miss Edith Ife. Mr. Frank Ridley, as Hamilton Travers, Mr. Valentine O'Connor, as Ernest Morrison, and Mr. John O'Ryan, as the Police Constable, rendered valuable assistance. Hashed Up serves as the curtain-raiser.

MEXBOROUGH.—Prince of Wales' Theatre.—Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Mr. A. E. Smith's pantomime, Aladdin, is the attraction here this week. Miss Elsie Douglas sings and acts capitally in the title-rôle; as Princess Badroulbadour Miss Kathleen O'Neil is graceful and pleasing; Mr. J. H. Maxwell is full of energy as Abanazar; Mr. Fred Ramsdale makes a capital Widow Twankey; the Brothers Taylor also add considerably to the fun. The specialities are exceptionally good, and include Miss Maud Bellison, vocalist; Arnold, a clever illusionist; the Brothers Taylor, knockabouts; the Four Snowdrops, dancers; J. H. Maxwell, one-armed hat-spinner; Madame Helen Godfrey, instrumentalist, whose violin playing is very skilful; and Miss Elsie Douglas, rag-time dancer, and her four coons.

MIDDLESBROUGH. — Theatre Royal. — Proprietors, The Middlesbrough Theatres, Limited; Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson.—Mr. Charles Frohman's Co. in the popular play, Sherlock Holmes, is fulfilling a week's engagement here, and attracts good audiences to the popular parts of the house. Mr. H. A. Saintsbury gives a masterly portrayal of the part of Sherlock Holmes, and Miss Vera Longden's Alice Faulkner is a refined piece of acting. As Dr. Watson, Mr. Lawrence Leyton does well, and the same may be said of Mr. W. F. Stirling's Professor Moriarty. Mr. Leslie Carter gives a capital interpretation of James Larrabee, and every praise is due to Mr. Walter Hicks for his able impersonation of Billy. The other rôles are ably sustained, the company all round being an excellent one. The scenery and other effects are all that can be desired.

Opera House.—Proprietors, The Middlesbrough Grand Opera House Company, Limited; Licensee and Manager, Mr. T. Hopcutt.—There was a large audience present at the Grand to witness Mr. Louis M. Parker's characteristic play, The Cardinal, by Mrs. Russ Whytal's talented company. Mr. Philip Cunningham and Mrs. Russ Whytal appeared in the principal rôles, giving refined and sympathetic renderings, which won enthusiastic applause. Mr. Oscar Adye rendered the part of Bartolommeo Chigi with considerable ability; and Mr. Douglas Gordon gave a skilful impersonation of Andrea Strozzi; Mr. Gerald Kay-Souper is deserving of the highest praise for his Giuliano de Medici; and Guido is ably sustained by Mr. George Ingleton. Miss Catherine Maude's impersonation of Claucia was sympathetic and graceful; and Miss Freda Bramleigh was a charming Honoria. The scenery is in keeping with the general excellency of the play.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. Brill; Manager, Mr. J. W. Thornborrow.—An excellent array of talent is programmed here. Hadji Abdullah's troupe of Arabs head the bill, and present some astounding feats, which meet with an enthusiastic reception. Another excellent turn is provided by Newhouse and Ward, cyclists, who do smart work, combined with amusing antics. Mr. Albert Wyndham's talented company, in Prince Arthur, score a great hit; and Herbert La Martine, vocalist and dancer, meets with a capital reception; Will Godwin, in a scena, She's not my Wife, is a favourite; and Lil O'Gorman is a pretty comedienne and dancer. The Three Martaffs do some clever acrobatic feats; and a pleasing turn is provided by the McKays. Some amusing films are flashed on the bioscope.

Oxford.—Lessee, Mr. William Peacock; Manager, Mr. Wm. Ainsworth.—Kino, Welch and Montrose top the bill here in an acrobatic sketch, and provide an amusing turn; Mike Gray, juggler, and his acrobatic dog, Dooley, are great favourites; the Sisters Judge's cockatoos and macaws submit an interesting turn; and Harry Barker, comedian; the Two St. Johns, in a comedy act; McAskell, conjurer; Bros. Vance, instrumentalists; Syd Herman, vocalist; Florrie Vongar, vocalist; and the bioscope complete a good programme.

MIDDLETON.—Pardoe's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. William Pardoe.—This week's attraction is the melodrama, Because I Love You. Mr. Frank Stephens, as the Vulture, gives a weird, and on the whole sound performance, and he is supported by Miss Madge North, a charming actress, who infuses life and animation into the rôle of Norina Chandos. Mr. Matthew Boulton, Mr. Horace Buckley, and Miss Trissie Humphreys are also in the cast.

MOTHERWELL.—New Century Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy.—Mr. Harry Starr is appearing here this week in his own comedy-drama, Otto the Outcast. Mr. Starr takes the part of Otto, and his delineation gains due applause. Mr. Richard Harris plays well the rôle of Roderique D'Estalier, and gains appreciation by his personation of Prince Ranjani and Dr. Coquedil; Mr. J W. Turner is clever as Augustine Carrotte, and the Daddy Bruneau of Mr. William Miller is very well done; Mr. Max Coutts is smart as the Marquis Marcella de Laporte; Lara, the flower girl, is excellently portrayed by Miss Q. Frazer-Brunner; and Miss Rita Rosslyn is quite suited to the part of Corinne Jarbeau.

NEATH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert W. James.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is appearing here this week in The Christian. Mr. Hilliard plays the Hon. John Storm with remarkable success; Mr. Chas. Hill does well as Parson Quayle; Mr. Stanley Radcliffe scores as Father Lamplugh; as also does Mr. Chas. E. Dering, in the rôle of Archdeacon Wealthy. As Lord Robert Ure, Mr. Chas. E. Bedells is capital; Mr. Jackson Wilcox plays the part of Horatio Drake in good style; Mr. Oswald Marshall is good as Mr. Lorimer; Miss Clara Nicholls is distinctly good as Mrs. Callander; Miss Gertrude Homewood gives a pathetic rendering of the much-wronged Polly Love; and Miss Bella Moody, Miss Dorothy Clifton, and Miss Molly Hayden, as Betty, Letty, and Netty, are very charming. Miss Grace Chalmers renders Glory Quayle excellently, and scores a great success.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—Grand Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—Cinderella, which proved so immensely successful during a four weeks' run at Olympia, in this city, has now been transferred to the Grand, where Heatonians are flocking in force to witness this bright and enjoyable production.

Tyne Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—The phenomenal measure of popularity achieved by the pantomime Cinderella is fully maintained.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—The curtain finally falls to-night on Mr. Arthur's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood.

Palace Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe.—Messrs. Arthur Carlton and H. Armitage's company is here in In the Ranks, and the opportunity thus afforded of renewing acquaintance with the famous military drama has been freely taken advantage of by local playgoers. Miss Edith Blair Staples acts with power and effect as Ruth Herrick, and the Ned Drayton of Mr. Edward Lloyd calls for praise. They are well supported by an excellent all-round company.

Pavilion.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—George M. Schilling, an American, who is engaged in the task of walking round the world for a wager, is relating some of his adventures and experiences to interested audiences. A smart exhibition of gun-drill and wall-scaling is given by Capt. Davies' Zouaves. Jumping extraordinary is the speciality of the Hartley Wonders; while the eccentricities of Rosaire and Doreto are warmly appreciated. Maggie Walsh, the Lancashire mill girl, is vigorously encored for her enjoyable vocal efforts; a pleasing burlesque artiste is Olive Marston; and the flying trapeze act by the Three Rainats is skilfully worked. Wal Croft makes a successful appearance as a Scottish comedian; and Iben Obed, Arabian equilibrist, completes the programme.

New Empire Palace. — Resident-Director, Mr. R. Thornton; Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Assisting-Director and Chief of Staff, Mr. Frank Allen; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident Manager, Mr. E. Leslie Conroy.—Tilly Bebe, with her troupe of twelve lions, provide an animal turn of much excellence, and one is compelled to admire the courage exhibited by the fair trainer in her handling of the brutes. A dramatic episode, V.C., is an interesting item as given by a company under the direction of Harry Howard. The acrobatic performance of the Burnellys, who are mounted on stilts, is distinctly clever, and a novelty into the bargain; while the Fitzroys, society gymnasts, submit a smart display. The Wolpert Trio fairly establish their claim to favourable mention as Continental acrobats, and some clever dancing is contributed by the Three Victorias. Ian Colquhoun is the possessor of a fine baritone voice; the vocal comedy efforts of Harry Clifford afford much enjoyment; and T. C. Callaghan, comic singer, is also to the fore.

Olympia. — Lessee, Mr. Richard Thornton. — A repertoire company, under the direction of Miss Adria Hill and Mr. Robert Ayrton, has been engaged here for a season with the object of presenting a series of well-known and popular plays. East Lynne was staged on Monday, and received adequate treatment from the capable company engaged, among whom Miss Adria Hill as Lady Isabel, Mr. Robert Ayrton as Archibald Carlyle, and Mr. Annesley Hely as Sir Francis Levison were specially prominent by reason of their well-judged impersonations.

NEWPORT. — Lyceum. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—If I were King is being produced this week by Mr. Frank Fenton's company. Mr. Frank Fenton is an ideal François Villon, acting the romantic rôle with earnestness and grace; Miss Elsie Roberts makes a charming Katherine de Vauchellés; Miss Louise Vaussitar's Huggethen de Hamel is picturesque and clever; and Mr. E. Bellenden Clarke presents a masterly study of Louis XI. The fine play, which is acted splendidly, and elaborately dressed, is preceded by a new sketch, The Patriot, by Mr. H. R. Trowbridge.

Empire.—Moss's Empires, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. O. Stoll.—The Kellinos top the bill here, and the house are not slow to show its appreciation of their wonderful feats. Arthur Gill, the Yokel specialist, presents a unique turn; the modern billiard experts, Les Bunin, give a performance that takes well; and Baker and Balfe play some lively selections on the xylophone. Lily Burnand (a charming comedienne) sings some catchy songs; James Bond is given warm applause for his slack wire trick, and piano playing extraordinary is accomplished by George Ross and Ella Grayson; Cora Casselli gives a pretty Spanish sketch; Ambrose Thorne, a light comedian, is acceptable; and Burg, Hand, and Wise produce a humorous acrobatic sketch, Ye Browne Cow Inn.

NORTHAMPTON.—Opera House.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—The third pantomime this season, the "Babes 'n the Wood," as represented by Mr. H. A. Jordison's company, has gained a verdict of unanimous approval. Miss Madge Daley is a gallant representative of Robin Hood; Miss Ada Martini is a charming Maid Marian; Miss Bella Brookland a dainty Phyllis; Miss Kittie Caffrey a bewitching Marjorie; Miss Nancy Thornton a pretty Typewriter, yclept Dorcas; the Misses Edie Duncker, N. Thornton, D. Day, L. Malvers, R. Eaton, make an attractive bevy of fairies. The Babes find excellent representatives in Miss Dolly Cullen and Miss Elsie Jordison, and their dancing, which is very good for such young artistes, is loudly applauded. Little Cluley is one of the big hits of the pantomime, as Bantam, the Baron's factotum, and also as Capt. Bird, Chief Constable; Mr. Edward Avon displays clever fun as the Bad Baron; Messrs. Cullen and Carthy as the two Robbers are good; Mr. Rowland Hill is a clever dame; Mr. W. Francis Greene scores as Herne the Hunter, and his duties as stage-manager are well carried out. George Chanti gives a speciality full of pleasing surprises; and the dancing of the Misses Minnie Royac, Blanche Nicholson, Lottie Bowman, and Primrose Vernon nightly gains enthusiastic applause.

Palace of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Robert Barton.—The company here includes Pat Rafferty, comedian; Curtis Lee is a clever artist; the Four Arizonas, high-class acrobats; Violet Beatrice, a charming vocalist; Blanche Gerard, a versatile comedienne; Wallace Whitney, a popular comedian; Will Percival, clog-dancer; and Harry Craven, eccentric comedian. The Seddons furnish a comic juggling turn; and Matt Wilkinson and Company appear in an amusing sketch.

NORTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Pantomime is again the attraction here this week, the Marvellous Pardoes' company, in Cinderella, being received with favour by appreciative audiences. As Prince Charming, Miss Lottie Holland plays the part with dash and spirit; and Miss Cissy Kedward is a pleasing Cinderella. Mr. George Hyam is amusing as Scoot; and Mr. Tom Hulme successful as the Baron. Messrs. Harry Hanley and Mike Hastings do well as Blobbs and Blabbs respectively; and Mr. Tom Griffith scores as Father Time. Specialities are successfully introduced by The Marvellous Pardoes, Capita and his living marionette, the Sultan Brothers (equilibrists), the Dome Trio of Dancers, the Sisters Tyrell, sand and buck (dancers), and Zenith (animal impersonator).

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. William Mould.—Mr. Arthur Albert, comedian, is again the principal attraction here, and has lost none of his popularity; Mr. Harry Nelson, Tyneside comedian, also comes in for a flattering reception; Wisper, comedy juggler, is clever; and the Henriques, comedy acrobats, meet with success. Miss Beattie Bloom (comedienne) the Franko Midgets (illusionists and conjurors), Elvo and Evelyn (comedy artistes), and the Bio-photoscope are also favourably received.

NOTTINGHAM. — Theatre Royal. — Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Beauty and the Barge made its first appearance here on Monday, when a large audience passed an unqualified approval of this intensely humorous comedy. It is splendidly staged, and the acting of Mr. Cyril Maude's company is excellent all-round. Mr. Blake Adams gets so thoroughly inside the character of the "affable" and amorous Barley, that one cannot imagine it played better. Voice, "business," and make-up are alike capital, and he keeps the fun going at a merry pace. The peppery Major Smedley is well portrayed by Mr. Walter Pemberton. Mr. Horace Lane gives evidence of his versatility in the part of Lieut. Boyne; and Mr. Percival Knight acts with care as Herbert Manners. Miss May Fairclough is delightfully fresh and vivacious as Ethel; and Miss Mary Deverell submits a bright and pleasing interpretation of Lucy. Mr. Fred Knight conveys the right touch as the phlegmatic Dibbs; and Mr. Charles Goold adds to the general hilarity by his comicality as Tom. Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite's rendering of the coquettish Mrs. Porter is keenly relished; and Miss Mary Griffiths creates a diversion as the sentimental Mrs. Baldwin.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Charles P. Cooke.—The Forty Thieves continues for another week, and the crowded and appreciative audiences have bestowed unstinted praise on the efforts of the clever company.

King's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. A. W. Bull.—Pantomime holds sway here this week, and Mr. Macnaghten's presentation of Robinson Crusoe is fully equipped both in dressing and scenery. Miss Louie Hurman acts and sings with spirit in the name-part; and Miss Rose Bartlett plays Polly Perkins in a bright and attractive manner. Miss Dora Langham and Miss Delia Cherry are energetic representatives of Nancy Lee and Midshipman Merry, respectively; and Miss Flora Leonard plays the Fairy capitally. The fun is fast and furious. Mr. Jack Foley makes an amusing Dame Crusoe; and Mr. Will Lytton contributes largely to the hilarity as Will Atkins. The burlesque absurdities of Harris and Worth are rewarded with responsive merriment, and Mr. Harry Morgan is a resourceful interpreter of Friday. The dancing of Miss Ivy Lane's Vaudeville Troupe forms a pleasing feature.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—Drummed Out forms the principal item of this week's programme, and Mr. A. C. Lilly and company again prove their efficiency in a fine representation of this popular military sketch. Interest is also centred in the appearance of Miss Ethel Arden and Mr. George Abel in their mirth-providing entertainment, entitled, Three of a Kind. Starr and Leslie are equally clever in singing, juggling, and "patter"; Kahn and Kahn mystify and delight in a smart exhibition of necromancy; and the juggling of Walter Bellonini compels admiration by its dexterity and neatness. Professor Dunning submits his amusing ventriloquial performance; and Harry Bedford's exuberant humour causes plenty of laughter. Kitty Wager, comedienne; and Fred. Poplar, a quaint comedian, provide acceptable contributions.

NORWICH. — Theatre Royal. — Sole Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company, in Saturday to Monday, occupies the boards this week, and are winning much appreciation from capital audiences. Mr. Stuart Champion, as L

Karl H. Edwards distinguishes himself by an excellent embodiment of Solomon Moses; and Mr. Robert Perris acts with significance as Willie Neverwork. Miss Eva Purcell gives a sympathetic rendering of Pearl Rivers; Miss Emma C. Turner successfully embodies Helen Dudley; Mrs. Hudson Rivers receives full justice at the hands of Miss Florence Lovell; Miss Lottie Pearce doubles the parts of Betty and Nag Brady, and plays with vigour; and Miss Dora Lyons is to be complimented for an entertaining enactment of Little Madge.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. H. Savile; Manager, Mr. Delno Fritz.—A lengthy and varied bill of fare here includes George Dardini and his black assistant, in their refined comedy juggling act; Frank Sauterous, marvellous jumper; Chant and Chant, comedy duettists; Gravetta and Parr, in their original pot-pourri act; Robb Gilmore, eccentric comedian and grotesque dancer; Hanlon and Curtis, comedians, dancers, and conversationalists, in their comedy act, Odd Bits; and the Empire animated pictures.

PENTRE. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Sole Owners, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Eugene Hardie.—Mr. C. Finch Hatton's company is here in When London Sleeps. Mr. Walter H. Wilson gives a capital impersonation of Captain Rodney, assisted in a vigorous manner by Miss Hilda Clyde as Hilda Carrode. Mr. Albert Wray and Miss Mabel Cluer are recipients of high praise for their clever acting of David Engleheart and Queenie Carruthers respectively. Bright, humorous parts are Sammy Blyth, played by Mr. D'Arcy Kelway; Carrie Jones, by Miss Nelly Hook; Bob Jones, by Mr. Paul Graydon; and Signorina Robertus Jones, by Miss Nellie Birchenough. Mr. Charles Digby is exceedingly clever as the Hon. Bertie Broomhead.

PLYMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Laughter loud and long is the order here nightly this week, the cause being the production of the musical pantomime sketch, His Majesty's Guests. Mounted with care, and brought thoroughly up to date, the piece is admirably acted by Mr. Fred Karno's company, which includes Mr. Harry Roxbury, a clever and hard-working comedian, who, in the part of Sergeant Lightning, scores a triumph. Mr. Frank Morton, as Lord Easem, acts and sings well, especially the latter. An intelligent study of Miffin is forthcoming from Mr. Charles Usher; whilst Mr. Harry Stuart acts the parson, Minks, in capital style. The cast also comprises Miss Leonora Castelle, who, as Lady Maud, does not miss any of the opportunities provided either for emotional or humorous displays. As the "new woman," Miss Amy Rogerson has had plenty of dash and go; and Miss Edith Ager is pretty and winsome, and sings well. The whole of the other characters are in the hands of capable artistes, and the burglars' chorus and dance and the fun provided by the policemen deserve warm commendation.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Williams.—A play which is naturally attracting much attention at present is The Red Café, dealing as it does with life in Russia and Siberia. This week it is being played here to full houses. A good all-round company is appearing in it, and one of the principal rôles is sustained by Miss Edith Grenfell, who acts the part of Zitka Marsoff with consummate skill Mr. Philip T. Knox, as Count Petrosky, achieves considerable success, and Mr. William Ravenscroft fills in masterly manner the difficult study of the Czar. An actor of conspicuous ability is Mr. J. Hamilton, who as Dr. Marsoff, is most realistic. Others who help to ensure a popular verdict are Messrs. Edgar Stevenson, Robert S. Entwistle, Ernest Noble, Arthur Sims, and Martin Henry, and Miss Lester Stephens.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton.—A Woman Adrift is being played here this week by Mr. Sanderson Moffat's company. It is very ably presented, chief honours falling to Miss Phyllis Hamilton, Miss P. Graham, Mr. Sanderson Moffat, who fulfils a double rôle in powerful fashion. The humorous element is provided by Miss Bruce, Messrs. W. Mackersey, C. Wilson, and W. Hume.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Livermore Bros.; Manager, Mr. J. Field.—Excellent vocalism and dancing mark the turn of Burke, Moller, and Teller, who are appearing here this week in the musical sketch. The Professor and his Pupils. "Strolling down the lane with Charlie" and "The faces we miss from the stage" are sung with telling effect by Miss Maggie Duggan, who is nightly receiving undeniable encores. K and K get delightful effects out of peculiar looking instruments; and Carl and Carr provide smart patter. The Rozaire Bolleros Troupe give a clever acrobatic performance; and Clorinda Thurtell sings sweetly. Lee and Arden contribute a humorous sketch, entitled The Lady and the Watchman; and Mr. Fred Balham's descriptive ballads are much appreciated. Animated pictures are also included in the programme.

PONTYPRIDD.—ROYAL CLARENCE THEATRE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Milton Bode; Business-Manager, Mr. Rex Dorley.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is here in the sporting drama, Bound to Win. Leading parts are admirably represented by Messrs. F. G. Kimberley and Sidney Rennef, and they are ably supported by Messrs. F. Strickland, as Philip Ayca; James Hont, as Ned Oakley; Edgar Morgan, as Horatio Buffet; Horace Custine, as Willie Wilkins; Fred Tenaur, as Joe Blake, and L. Hont, as George Moore. Miss Lottie Addison and Miss Kathleen Lokhart are successful in their respective parts. Miss Edie Macklin scores as Winnie Oakley; Miss Nancy Davis ably portrays Winnie Winsome; Mrs. James Hont is to be congratulated on her acting as Harriet Forbes.

PORTH.—POOLE'S OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr W. Bynorth.—This week we are favoured with a visit by Mr. T. Edward Ward's company in Her Fatal Past. Mr. Percy Brown as Mark Desmond does remarkably well. Mr. Bernard Dunstan capably portrays Leonard Fernside; Jonathan Buckstone Nobbs is ably represented by Mr. T. Edward Ward; Little Holly Haslewood deserves mention for her careful rendering of Little Leonard; Miss Helen Inglelow gives a powerful rendering of Ruth Fernside and Belle de Lara; and Miss Ward deserves credit for her excellent rendition of Honor Symes.

PORTSMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr Armstrong Bell.—Mr. Charles Frohman's able company is here this week in the excellent comedy, Merely Mary Ann. Miss Grace Armytage Noble's rendering of the part of Mary Ann is delightful. Lancelot is ably acted by Mr. Alexander Calvert; Mr. Reginald, as Peter, is capitally placed; Mr. Fred Grove is a humorous Rev. Samuel Smedge; Mrs. Leadbatter is in the excellent hands of Miss Alice Esden; and Miss Mabel Garden plays nicely as Rosie.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. Julian Malvern's company is appearing here in the powerful drama, entitled I Defy the World. Mr. Roy Fortescue plays the part of Leon Darville in a creditable manner; Mr. Richard Vane enacts Count de Beaulieu very powerfully; Larcho is efficiently performed by Mr. Chas. Conway; Blanche Darville is well represented by Miss Maud Malvern; and Miss Flo Bevan, as Fanchette, does well.

EMPIRE.—Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—Lottie Lennox, the favourite comedienne, is the chief attraction, her songs being given with all her usual vivacity and point; the Five Whiteley's, with their acrobatic wire walking musical pot pourri, gain cordial applause; Esmond, Verona, and Esmond, novelty, legmania, and burlesque artistes, are amusing; Charles Bayman, eccentric Ethiopian entertainer, is much liked; Edie King, soubrette and danseuse, gives satisfaction; Calile and Walker, speciality artistes, and the Lorrisons, comedy artistes, contribute capital turns; Sisters Mayo, duettists and dancers, and George Prince, the crazy comic, complete the company.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Mr. James Kiddie's company, in Aladdin, is a popular attraction here this week. With talented artistes, wholesome fun, the latest songs, beautiful scenery and dresses, and capital stage-management, the pantomime is one of the best that has been seen in Preston. Mr. Will Saunders, who impersonates the Baron Shiphtalotte, is a versatile comedian, acting, singing, and dancing cleverly and humorously; Ethel and Maud are funnily depicted by Mr. H. C. Lovell and Mr. Fred Denman respectively; Mr. Charles Harvey is highly diverting as Pimples; Miss Florence Watson makes a graceful and winsome Cinderella, rendering her songs sweetly. In the rôle of Dandini, Miss Susie Beavan, by her pleasing manner and artistic singing, gains much favour; Mdlle. de Rose gives a spirited embodiment of Prince Charming, and her vocalism is well appreciated. Messrs. Houpla and Heckla appear with success in a special acrobatic turn. From start to finish the performance progresses smoothly and merrily, and Mr. Kiddie may undoubtedly be complimented upon the all-round excellence of the production.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Sawyer and Woodruff.—On Monday, the Drama, Two Little Sailor Boys, was presented here by Mr. W. H. Hallatt's company. Mr. William H. Sams, in the rôle of Commander Noel Tregarthen, sustains his part in a praiseworthy manner; Lieut. Richard Redstone is well embodied by Mr. Leonard Booker; Mr. W. H. Hallatt gives a good impersonation of Captain Tom Yorke; Mr. Geo. Cecil Murray as Admiral Grey is very good; Mr. Ambrose Horton makes a clever Jim Royston; Mr. Oscar Power (Jack Jolly) and Mr. Tom E. Sinclair (Ben Baxter) cause hearty laughter. Miss Blanche Steele plays Lola Grey in convincing style; Miss May Day and Miss E. Frances Greene give an admirable performance of the title-rôles. Miss Mabel Scudamore as Mildred Grey; and Miss Lizzie Chambers as Mary Primrose, ably assist.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident-Manager, Mr. Clement Freeman.—An enjoyable programme here this week includes the Mysterious Lilith; Fred Harcourt, magician; the Gregson Comedy Trio; Hall, mimic; the Rolands, in their strong act; Oswald, hand-balancing specialist; Rivington and Gordyn, in comedy duologues; Duncan, artistic club manipulator; Lilian Warren, picture vocalist; and Billy Williams, Australian comedian.

RADCLIFFE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—Mr. J. Morton Powell's company in The Greed of Gold is here this week. The fine mechanical effect, including the working beam engine, appeals to the popular parts of the house. Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh acquits himself well as Harry Hood; and Mr. Wm. Heilbrunn gives a fine portrayal of Arthur Errol. Mr. Walter M. Cameron submits a capital embodiment of Cull Snig; and Mr. T. G. Warry is effective as Mr. Brighton. Mr. Joe Magrath, as Con Creamer, assisted by Miss Winnie Donovan as Patty Mayfield, give humorous representations; Mr. B. Fox is good as the dumb Tom Welstead; Miss Agnes Verity scores as Dora; and Miss Grace St. John is a dignified Mrs. May Maxwell.

RAMSGATE.—AMPHITHEATRE.—Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Henry Bowman.—Mr. Harry Firth's company is here with the pantomime, Cinderella. Mr. Fred Parks is genuinely funny as Pimple, the Baron's Page, and as Ping and Pong respectively Mr. W. Marsh and Mr. W. Morris add greatly to the humour of the production. Miss Madge Osmond does well as Cinderella, and Miss Dora Denmark effectively sustains the rôle of Prince Perfect. Mr. J. Binns and Mr. H. Haines are responsible for much amusement as the Ugly Sisters, yclept Butterina and Margarina, and Mr. E. Wilson is a capital Baron. A smart quartette of dancers are the Sisters Godfrey. Specialities are contributed by Miss Ethel Moir, vocalist; Mr. Fred Earle, illusionist and card manipulator; Lieut. Chas. Valvo, ventriloquist; Miss Clarisso Mignon, banjoist; Miss Madge Osmond, male impersonator; and Messrs. March and Morris.

RAWTENSTALL.—GRAND THEATRE. — Co-proprietors and Lessees, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Ellis Miller.—This week sees the first visit here of the marvellous Craggs, who opened on Monday with Laughterland, which was received with uproarious applause. In the second act this fine troupe introduce their world-famous acrobatic performance, which is both exceedingly clever and highly amusing, the comicalities of Mr. Cremorne Cragg bringing down the house. Charming songs, duets, &c, are introduced, Mr. Arthur Behan especially meeting with warm approval.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. E. Barnett; Secretary, Mr. Reginald Taylor.—The Ben Greet company, under Mr. J. Bannister Howard's direction, is here this week in The Eternal City. The company is exceptionally strong, and includes Mr. D. L. Mannering, who gives a fine impersonation of Baron Bonelli. Mr. Frederick Victor, who acts powerfully as David Rossi; and Miss Helen Haye, who appears to great advantage as Donna Roma. The serenade in the fourth act is artistically sung by Miss Ainsworth. The choir is under Madame Rubardt's able direction. A matinée performance was given on Wednesday, and was well attended.

ROCHDALE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Clucas.—Mr. Tom B. Dove's company in Florodora is the attraction here this week. Mr. T. Ellis Buxton submits a capital portrayal of Cyrus W. Gilfain; Mr. Cyril Dane possesses a pleasing voice and admirably sustains the part of Frank Abercoed; Mr. Derick Knowles displays much spirit in the rôle of Captain Arthur Donegal; the fierce Leandro is in the safe hands of Mr. Lionel Williams; Mr. Albert Bruno is irresistibly funny as Anthony Tweedlepunch. Miss May Desmond charmingly acts the rôle of Dolores, her vocalism being greatly enjoyed; Miss Daisy Byford is pleasing as Angela Gilfain, and scores heavily in the "whistling" song; and Miss Rene Steadman fills the part of Lady Holyrood with distinct success, her dancing and singing being especially graceful.

CIRCUS AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Smith and Lee; Business-Manager, Mr. S. L. Lee.—Charley Dixon, comedian, is well received; the Wartenburg Bros., double-foot jugglers, astonish the audience with their clever feats; the Lannons submit a capital exhibition of high pedestal dancing; Bert Williams is a ventriloquist with many novelties. Other turns are submitted with success by Kate Lynd, comedienne; Miss Frederica, with her terriers and pony, which are very interesting and amusing; Mozzetto, juggler; and Vera Mayne, characteristic comedienne.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thomas Hargreaves; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—This popular place of amusement was packed to excess on Monday, one of the chief attractions being Miss Nellie Wallace, comedy artiste, who delighted the audience with her quaint humour and patter; the Sisters Warwick, smartly costumed, performed some astonishing tricks on bicycles; Jack Pleasants, comedian, sustained his popularity here with his quaint singing; Clara Victor, descriptive vocalist; Tom Vaughan, comedian; James Shingleton, singing collier; Wynford Bros., jumpers; and the Empire bioscope complete the programme.

ROTHERHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident Manager, Mr. W. Manning.—Mr. Charles Chard and company are here with the comic pantomime of Goody Two Shoes. Miss Annie Casey is pleasing in the title-rôle, and Miss Ida Gladstone is smart as Roland. Mr. Charles Chard is amusing as Simple Simon, and Mr. Sidney Dean scores as Dame Freckles. Mr. James Kurry is funny as Sammy Sopps, and Messrs. Bliss and Bliss, as Phil and Tom, the dame's sons, create a good deal of fun. Miss Lily St. Julian is chic as Dolly Dimple, and Miss Gladys St. Julian is a sprightly Peter Piper. Miss F. Spencer and Miss Bessie Dears, as Frank Frisky and Pansy Blossom, are deserving of mention. Messrs. Pete and Juno as Smirk and Smile, are a capital pair of dusky knockabouts. Miss Issa Stell is a graceful Fairy Benevolenta, and Miss A. Marsden is well placed as Mephisto. Special turns are introduced by the Mikado troupe of dancers. Messrs. Bliss and Bliss, Pete and Juno, and the Sisters St. Julian.

RUGBY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Parker Royston.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company was here on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, with A Country Girl. Mr. Herbert Standing, jun., is effective as Geoffrey Challoner; and as the Rajah of Bhong Mr. Bernard Vaughan is excellent in every way. Mr. W. O. Billington gives a most amusing rendering of Sir Joseph Verity; and as Barry, Mr. Richard Telford proves himself an actor and comedian of high order. Miss Daisy Davis as Marjorie Joy is tuneful and vivacious; and Miss Lucie Lever as the Princess of Bhong is very successful. Miss Sadie Neville, as Madame Sophie, is very good; and Miss Kate Graham Beck, as Mrs. St. Quentin, is charming, Miss Anna Robertson as Nan being successful. The choruses are effectively sung.

RUNCORN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. H. W. Caddick.—Messrs. Marston and Buckstone's pantomime, Little Goody Two Shoes, on Monday commenced an engagement here to a packed house. Miss Maud Western as Roland made an ideal principal boy, being encored in her songs. Miss Connie Irwin made a dainty Fairy Queen, whilst Miss Marie Santley, in the title-rôle sang sweetly and looked charming. A host of comedians, headed by Syd. Bayley, Fisher, and Oncale, kept the audience thoroughly amused. The scenery and dresses were all that could be desired. Specialities were introduced by York, Mac, and York, Roseno and Ugo, and others. Good business has been the rule.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden. — Messrs. Garside and Knowles' company, in the drama, The London Fireman, was well received on Monday by a large audience. The first act is a kind of prologue, as the events of the other acts are dated twenty years later, which accounts for several of the members representing dual parts. Henry Curtis, a drunken reprobate in the first act, turns up subsequently as a returned convict and confirmed drunkard, and Mr. Edward L. Garside's performance is a most meritorious one. Mr. Wm. Burgess, as the heartless Viscount Fleming, is excellent. The hero, Hal Curtis, is in every way a manly fellow, in the hands of Mr. J. Forbes Knowles. Miss Adeline Raby is well placed in the part of Grace Curtis, and Miss Mona Grey is a good Ida Curtis. Miss Violet Temple makes a charming Countess Fleming. Mr. Charles Preece as Bill Stinger, and afterwards as his son Nixey Stinger, with Miss Nellie Garside as Polly Bramble, contribute much amusement. Mr. Frank Hertie as Dr. Gerrard, and also as Professor Gurglewach; Mr. Chauncy Morris as Joe Bluener; and Mr. J. Bradley as Abel Fortnum, also work well.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—Licensee, Mr. Wilberforce Turner; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Frederick Yates.—Prince Ishmael, a clever magician, heads the bill this week. Alf. Berg gives a novel strong man act; Geo. A. Fox, baritone, contributes some pleasing songs; the comic songs and patter of Julian Mack are much enjoyed. Other excellent turns include Ivy Graham, dainty comedienne and coon artiste; Cora Gray, operatic vocalist; the Bensons, American dialogue and sketch artistes; St. Louis Girls, vocalists and dancers; Ryde and Beeman, eccentric comedy acrobats; and the animated pictures.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. J. B. Taylor.—The mimicry and musical funniosities of Leo Tell are clever. Ernesto, the juggler and equilibrist, does some marvellous work. Walter Curtis, society entertainer; Harry Hayton, humorous comedian; the Russells (two ladies), in their pleasing duets; Charles Serra, novel equilibrist act; Saxo, the midnight musician; Emma Don and Co., and her black and white quartette of vocalists; Farrimond, a singing collier; the Ralston Boys, in their sketch, The Blind leading the Blind; and the animated pictures, also fill an unusually good programme.

L. AND N. W. PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. A. Higham; Manager, Mr. Sam Higham.—The patrons of this hall appear well satisfied with the efforts of the company engaged this week, including Mr. Will Sullivan, comic vocalist; Mr Frank Dennett, descriptive vocalist; and Mr. Arthur Sheridan, comic vocalist.

BRIDGE HOTEL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr Tom Bradbury.—Mr. Joe Hunt, comedian, an old favourite, has had a good reception this week, and among those appearing are Mr. Teddy Gresty, tenor vocalist; and Mr. John Chesney, concertinist.

SCARBOROUGH.—LONDESBOROUGH THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Waddington and Sons; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. T. Carpenter.—A series of pictures of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show are reproduced here on the Biograph. A good variety entertainment is also given, in which appear Miss Connie Flower, R.A.M., violinist; Madame Maria del Vecchio, vocalist; and Signors Ciociano and Gerbi, violinists and mandolinists.

PEOPLE'S PALACE AND AQUARIUM.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Morgan; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman. — Mr. J. Morgan Forbes's company occupies the stage here, and is appearing with success in The Gipsy's Oath and For the Woman He Loves. Included in the company are Messrs. Clifton Hill, Charles Daly, Leonard Clarke, Mesdames Eva Warren, Hilda Merilees, and Dora Hillstrom.

SEACOMBE.—IRVING THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. J. F. Elliston's company is appearing here this week with In Old Kentucky. Frank Harley is powerfully personated by Mr. J. George Steel; the villain Jasper Grafton is another strong character in the hands of Mr. Eric Hudson; Joe Lorey receives adequate treatment from Mr. Gerald Kennedy, his wrestling prowess evoking warm applause. The difficult rôle of Barbara Grafton is carefully handled by Miss Beatrice Shirley; as is also that of Neb by Mr. Harry Leander. The comic scenes are well handled by Mr. Alfred S. Banks as Colonel Pebley Beauchamp; and Miss Edith Halford as Alethea Harley. Miss Amy F. Herman wins golden opinions for her artistic and natural representation of Madge Brierley. Jimmie James gives an excellent display as a banjoist and bone soloist; Will Whittaker, bird imitator, proves himself a siffleur of ability; and Charles Gibbs and George Perkins are successful in their comic patter and dances.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. C. Harrison.—The Sin of Her Childhood is again being staged at Seaham by Mr. J. A. Campbell's company. Mr. Campbell imparts a military bearing to the part of Captain John Thornton; Stephen Haysel is indeed a villain as depicted by Mr. Austen Milroy; the Rev. Alan Grey is skilfully sketched by Mr. W. Henry Hargreaves; Barney O'Reilly is humorously given by Mr. Fred Elvin; Miss Marv Fulton portrays Mary Haysel in an artistic manner; Little Dot Moss, as Hannah, sings and dances charmingly whilst playing the banjo.

SHEERNESS.—THE COLISEUM.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Darling; Manager, Mr. Chas. Melvin.—Mahatma, the mystifying lady, occupies the premier position on this week's programme, and met with a cordial reception on making her re-appearance on Monday. The Three Sisters Transfield are established favourites here, their excellent musical turn being much appreciated. The Denmarks, comedy sketch artistes, are also highly amusing. Amongst the remaining prominent items are Mr. Fred Allsopp, comedian; Carl Moneta, comedian and dancer; Miss Florrie Beckwith, comedienne; Miss Mackay, skipping rope dancer; and Mr. John Bertho, comedian. A variety of interesting films are shown on the Bioscope.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. P. Reymond.—A capital bill is presented here, and includes Hawley and Crescent, in the dramatic sketch. 'Neath Britain's Flag, for which they are heartily applauded. Other interesting turns comprise Mr. Phil Reymond, character vocalist; Miss Edie Charnley, comedienne and dancer; Mr. Will Dawson, negro comedian and acrobatic dancer; and Mr. Harry Dandy, eccentric comedian. The programme concludes with the comedy sketch, Second Thoughts.

SHEFFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. F. W. Purcell; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. S. Carter.—Mr. Fred Karno's successful pantomime, Cinderella, comes to a finish in Sheffield this week, to the great regret of all lovers of merry music, pretty ballets, healthy fun, and artistic scenery. Miss Winifred Hare, Miss Godwynne Earle, Miss Lilian Lowe, Little Miss Francis, Mr. William Gourlay, Messrs. Fletch and Palmer, and the "canny Scot, ye ken," Mr. Neil Kenyon, have all become great favourites.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Mr. George Edwardes's company commenced a return visit on Monday in the spectacular light opera The Duchess of Dantzic. Miss Amy Augarde now appears as Mme. Sans Gené, and on Monday she scored a deserved success. Another artist always welcome here is Mr. Matthew Brodie, who acted the part of Napoleon with the care and artistic finish which have ever marked his work. Mr. Herbert Clayton and Mr. Reginald Kenneth both played and sang with distinction. Mr. T. W. Volt caused plenty of amusement as Papillon; Miss Lillian Digges was a pretty and bewitching Renée; and Miss Luna Love delighted everyone as Lizette. The chorus was large and up to the usual high standard set and maintained by Mr. George Edwardes.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—That lucidly sensational but effective drama, The Grip of Iron, was played to a crowded house on Monday by Messrs. E. H. Knight and George Denham's company. Some good scenery was provided, and the acting was good all-round. Mr. Fred Powell repeated hi powerful and thrilling impersonation of the "strangler" Simmonet, and he was repeatedly applauded. Mr. Blundell Lenton was good as Paul Blanchard, and the villainy of Lorentz de Ribas was depicted in bold colours by Mr. A. G. Poulson-Turner. Mr. John Coghlan did well as De Belfort, and the two detectives were excellently represented by Mr. John Brittain and Mr. Harry A. Lyons. Mr. George Denham kept the audience in roars every time he occupied the stage as the Smiler. The rôle of Marie was gracefully interpreted by Miss Hilda Baynton. Miss Georgie De Lara was a handsome Cora, and Miss Helena Walbran made a pretty and pathetic Sophie.

EMPIRE PALACE.—General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—The big item in this week's programme is Mr. Rousbey's electric review of the principal "Sights of Paris." Good turns are done by Conway and Leland, "The Merry Monopodes;" the Sakers, duettists; The Sarnthalers, Tyrolean vocalists and dancers; the Astleys, in a musical comedy act; George Bohee, banjoist; Little Uno, comic vocalist; Messano, card expert; Tom Stuart, mimic; and Charles Adams, comedian.

GRAND PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Beagle.—Prof. Hulbert, an amusing ventriloquist; Bishop and Vale, two old Royal pantomime favourites; Mons. De Lill, a smart conjurer; and other talented performers are appearing here nightly.

SMETHWICK. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Defending His Honour is being well received on its return visit. Mr. John Davidson gains hearty applause for his telling study of the hero, Douglas Bryce; Mr. Clifton Boyne shows up the evil life of Stephen Graid with marked effect; Miss F. Melrose Millet appears as the heroine, Ethel Bryce, with the utmost charm and distinction; and Mr. Henry Gilpin as George Duncan, Mr. T. Carruthers as David Peller, Mrs. Edmond Lyons as Mrs. Verison, and Miss Gwendoline Talbot as Nurse Sugden, distinguish themselves. The humorous rôles are rendered in a smart manner by Mr. Terry Davies, Mr. Kenneth Black, Jun., and Miss Jessie Glenn.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred. Mouillot; Resident Manager, Mr. Sydney Paxton.—Messrs Lawrence Grant and Malcolm Barrington's capital company are appearing here this week, in Joseph Entangled. Mrs. Mouillot gives an artistic performance in the part of Lady Verona Mayne, and is well seconded by Mr. Lawrence Grant as Sir Joseph Lacy, his setting being natural throughout. Mr. Chas. Leveson Lane is admirable as Jermyn Pyecroft. The play is followed by the new Russo-Japanese trifle, Heart of Gold, in which Mrs. Mouillot and Mr. Lawrence Grant appear with conspicuous success.

PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. J. W. Gordon.—Mr. Walter Melville's company, in A Girl's Cross Roads, is attracting record houses here, the drama being remarkably well played. The important part of Barbara Wade is well sustained by Miss Hilda Beverley, who plays cleverly throughout; Mr. Chas. Franmore portrays John Meadows in characteristic style; and Mr. Cecil A. Melton is a forcible Jack Livingstone. Miss Nell Oliver acts decidedly well as Nellie Meadows; and Mr. P. Barry-Lewers gives a powerful rendering of Cuthbert Lumley. Mr. Fred Ingram is a droll Toby Turvey, and is well seconded by Miss Lilla Norden as Tilly Vane.

PALACE.—Manager, Mr. Chas. Marte.—The Tom Davies trio of cyclists create a great sensation in their wonderful act, "Whirling the Whirl in Mid-Air." Carl Hertz excites wonderment in his mysterious Noah's Ark illusion and other tricks; Harry Leybourne sings well, and gives some capital impersonations; and Jack Camp scores with his comicalities. Francis and Melli, Mdlle. Viviani, Semi and Demi, and Margaret Ashton contribute successfully to the capital bill.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Marlow, sen.; Manager, Mr. W. Marlow, jun.—Mr. Godfrey Lamplugh commenced a week's engagement on Monday, when he presented the musical comedy in two acts entitled Miss Mischief. Private Harris, V.C., is entrusted to Mr. T. E. Conover, who is mirth-provoking, and sings well. Mr. Arthur Jenner is well suited as Admiral Sir H. Bethune, Mr. Cecil Curtis as Captain Jack Bethune, D.S.O., is capable; Mr. Beresford Lovatt in the rôle of Hiram O. Pegg is very good. Messrs. F. Mantell and H. Ellesmore, as Lord Fitz-Sherry and Count von Himmelblau respectively, take their parts well. Misses Zara Kriesberg, Nellie Renton, and Royston, and Mdlle. Thelma, the Admiral's pet parlourmaids, are four exceptionally clever dancers; Miss Eileen Guilbert is well suited as Lady Orrery; Mary Ann Smith finds a clever and able exponent in Miss Crissie Francess; and Miss Evelyn Hughes creditably portrays the character of Kitty Malone.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE—WINTER GARDENS.—General Manager, Mr. Alfred Hemming.—Messrs. Addison Bright and Walter Maxwell's company is this week presenting the amusing comedy, Merely Mary Ann. Miss Nita Faydon displays ability in the title-rôle, which is depicted in a charming and artistic manner; and Mr. Douglas Gerrard submits a capital impersonation of Lancelot, whilst the minor parts are all in capable hands.

PALACE OF VARIETIES—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray, King, and Clark.—Another attractive programme is submitted here this week, the principal item being the Dandies, refined comedy quintette; other good turns are supplied by the Boris Fridkin troupe of operatic singers and athletic dancers; Jean Seul, in his Indian mystery act; Maitland Dicker, comedian; Glazabon, the new violinist; Hector and Paulus, athletic novelty act; Elsie Claire, soprano vocalist; and Charles Pond, in his glimpses of London life.

CAMBRIDGE HALL.—Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke's mysteries provide a fascinating and attractive entertainment here, the various marvellous feats performed by Mr. Devant and his assistants, which are as clever as they are inexplicable, being greatly appreciated. During the evening musical selections are given by the Chamonix Ladies' Orchestra.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. J. and F. Coulson.—Many familiar faces figure in the cast of The Blanchard Diamonds, which is visiting here after its production last week at the Grand Theatre, Hull. Miss Maud Hildyard is intensely strong and picturesque as Ruth Trelgellis; whose dissipated father, Joe, is neatly and characteristically embodied by Mr. Edward Rochelle, who appears later, equally successfully, as Knox Hammer; Mr. Albert Ward, who is extremely popular here, is safely entrusted with the part of the good-natured Nat Stearn; Mr. Walter Russell, a gentlemanly Sir John Blanchard; and Miss Julie Kennard, a becomingly dignified and lady-like Lady Blanchard, are conspicuously effective. Messrs. Joe Rowland (Farmer Gammidge), Joseph Hudson (Jerry Bickerdyke), and Mrs. Richard Edgar (Mrs. Gossett) all merit notice for earnest work. Miss May Congdon submits a pleasing sketch of May Sherringham; Mr. Benson North is all that can be desired in the unthankful part of Richard Craoll, Mr. Edmund F. Kennedy advantageously delineates Eric Blanchard.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Fred Karno's company, including Mr. Fred Kitchen, in Saturday to Monday, is drawing crowded houses this week. Mr. Kitchen repeats his droll performance of John Willie Jaggs; Miss Aggie Morris (Colinda Blake) and Miss Ada Maskell lend adequate support. The Borellis are amusing musical entertainers; Collins and Rice, with some bright dialogue and a song, are much in evidence; graceful dancing is contributed by Clarke and Argyle. Fresh films on the American Bioscope are appreciated, and a coon song and dance is cleverly executed by Mark Leslie. Harry Lawson, eccentric comedian, also has admirers.

TIVOLI.—Proprietors and Managers, Councillor J. K. Hall and Mr. Jas. Sweeney.—The Moxons, foot equilibrists, are versatile, and thoroughly deserved the welcome which was awarded them on Monday Craig, Roze, and Craig, speciality artistes and dental athletes, are good in their particular line of business. The Royal Victorian Trio are charming and smart dancers; Shiela MacNeil, Scotch comedienne, is applauded; and the Tivoli Bioscope, Joe Hennessy, Sadie Simpson, and Massons come in for a fair share of the applause.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—Mr. Gus C. Livesey's company is providing the amusement here this week, by presenting Messrs. Holl and James's drama, The Crimson Club, in which Mr. Livesey enacts the villain, Sir Philip Garside, in an able and accomplished manner. As Julia Marsden Miss Frances Waring proves capable; and a pathetic rendering of Muriel Lockwood is submitted by Miss May Wyniard. To Richard Fenton full justice is done by Mr. H. Gordon Ingram; and Mr. E. Calham Burke is eminently successful as the Hon. Herbert Selby. Mr. Percy Shaw, as Reginald Adolphus Garside, provides the bulk of the comedy, and contributes a couple of whistling solos which are roundly applauded. Miss Connie Arden appears as Sophonisba, and sings "Killarney" with marked effect.

STAFFORD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Jas. Elphinstone.—Mr. John F. Preston's company, in The Rich and Poor of London, is here this week. Miss Dora Dench submits a refined rendering of May Braithwaite; Miss Dora Pass gives a vivacious delineation of the flower girl, Polly Philpot; Miss Mary Rainer is good as Ruby Redgrave; and Miss A. McFarlane has a charming child-part, as Seadrift. Mr. Sidney Dench displays considerable versat

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE TERRISS.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Theo Kremer, entitled

"THE FATAL WEDDING."

A round of varied attractions is being presented with happy results at the Terriss, the patrons of which have during the last few weeks been given the opportunity of enjoying farce, comic opera, and melodrama in pleasing succession. An excellent specimen of the last-named commodity figures in the current programme, and the audience has become thoroughly engrossed in the heart-searching pathos of its story, the thrilling nature of its incidents, and the revels of the "slum" children, which occupy nearly the whole of the third act. Mr. Bert Coote, whose company is travelling with the piece, has been careful to secure some clever children, whose various achievements elicit admiring plaudits, and are invariably encored, "The Cake Walk in the Sky," in which Miss A. Shirwell and all the youngsters join, securing enthusiastic cheers. No less favour is bestowed upon the coon song and dance of the sisters Dora and Winnie Crisp, whose movements are varied and graceful, and ballads by Misses Hetty Ball, Nellie King, and Mabel Barber, and a clog dance by Miss Edie Bracewell, are all encored. The juvenile element bears a responsible part in the piece, and Miss Gladys Rose Jones, who acts the rôle of Jessie, the "little mother," quite sustains its importance. She animates every scene with her charming prattle and mischievous pranks, though she can be equally sedate and practical. She, too, contributes to the scene of the children's concert, reciting with excellent emphasis and humorous perception "In the Usual Way" and "When father carves the duck." Mr. Ernest Owttrim gives a well-studied and effective rendering of Howard Wilson, his fine voice and elocutionary methods greatly aiding a part that teems with possibilities. Miss Theresa Osborne is amply gifted to portray the emotional characteristics of the rôle of the sorely-tried heroine, Mabel Wilson. Her pathetic moments are deeply marked, and she surrounds her rendering of the rôle with the sweetness which sorrow is said to induce, gaining sympathy thereby. That quality is effectually forfeited by Cora Williams, whose tigrish disposition is completely suggested by Miss Beatrice Whitney, who gives a well-marked and finely-sustained impersonation of the vicious adventuress. An effective coadjutor in crime is found in Mr. Cecil A. Collins, whose Robert Curtis is a finished piece of dramatic work, and even when called upon to simulate intoxication he never loses his hold upon the significant points of the part, of which he makes powerful use. Liberal opportunities for fun are provided in the business of Toto, the French butler, of which Mr. J. Carl Lyle avails himself to the utmost, securing constant merriment by his quaint errors of speech and his amusing antics, and the part of P.C. O'Reilly, who is credited with the possession of the finest attributes of the Force, is played with unfailing spirit by Mr. Jack Waring. The janitor, Peter Schwartz, is admirably enacted by Mr. Cyril Melton, and Bridget, the "lady cook," is played with all the necessary drollery by Miss Carrie Fenton. Mr. Arthur Law Raynor invests the Rev. Dr. Lanceford with the customary clerical dignity, and the character of Frank, Jessie's little brother, is suitably played by Master Gilbert Royce. Of the scenery nothing but praise can be written, the different sets being elaborately staged.

CORONET THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 20,

"MACBETH."

With sleet and rain falling without, Mr. F. R. Benson and company gave, on Monday, their initial performance of the month's season of répertoire plays of Shakespeare, Sheridan, Goldsmith, and Æschylus. Appropriately to the murky skies and wet without, Macbeth, Shakespeare's grim and gloomy tragedy, was chosen to usher in the month's artistic revival, with the darkened opening scene of the weird sisters' haunt on Forres Heath. On Tuesday The School for Scandal was given; on Wednesday Macbeth was repeated, with a matinée of Richard II.; King Lear on Thursday; and As You Like It, Friday. Every credit is due to Mr. Benson for thoroughness and attention to the minutest detail in his production of Macbeth, and the artistic and powerful performance presented by Mr. F. R. Benson and his well-selected company. As the miserable murderer, Macbeth, Mr. Benson acts with great power and feeling, and he aptly conjures up to the affrighted vision the ambitious miscreant alternately a prey to horrible imaginings and racked with fear, and anon a relentless and bloody tyrant, steeped in gore, and yet with his thirst for blood unslaked. His sudden outbursts of blind rage and fury, and then his lapse into craven fear and inert speculation, are quite typical of the character, and all admirably portrayed, whilst his elocution is a treat to listen to. Mrs. Benson essays an even harder task in the presentment of the terribly tragic figure of Lady Macbeth. She comes out of the ordeal with flying colours, her dramatic force and fervour in the scene of the murder in Act II., and the ghastliness of her sleep-walking scene, evoking loud and sustained applause. Of the long list of characters of more or less importance, we would specially select for hearty commendation Mr. Arthur Whitby as Banquo, a thoroughly sound, sterling performance, and Mr. Cyril Keightley as Macduff, an embodiment replete with sympathetic vigour and emotion. Mr. G. F. Hannam-Clarke is good as Lennox, and Mr. George Buchanan as Ross. Mr. Clarence Derwent is a gracious Duncan, King of Scotland, and Mr. B. A. Pittar as his son Malcolm, Messrs. Philip Sanders and Reginald Davis as the two murderers, and Messrs. George R. Weir, H. O. Nicholson, and Miss Gertrude Scott as the three witches, all do good work. The frequent changes of scenery work smoothly, and the stage crowds are well managed. Mr. Alfred Smyth-Pigott is general manager for Mr. Benson, Mr. Halford Forster acting-manager, and Mr. W. H. Quinton stage-manager, with Mr. Edward Broadley as assistant. Mr. George W. Collins and Mr. H. A. Harrison direct the augmented orchestra.

THE CAMDEN.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Musical Comedy, entitled

"KITTY GREY."

The attraction here this week is Kitty Grey, who is paying a farewell visit, though it is evident that she has by no means exhausted her powers of fascination. This bright and merry piece is well played by a capable company under the direction of Mr. C. St. John Denton. Miss Hilda Guiver appears in the title rôle, and charms everyone by her admirable rendering of the character. Miss Guiver suits the part admirably, and her songs are delightfully rendered. As Lady Binfield, Miss Eily Helene is most successful, and she acts the part with much skill. The change from the prim Puritan manner to the lighter mood is well emphasised, and in addition Miss Eily Helene sings prettily and dances gracefully. As Mrs. Bright, Miss Emily Stevens appears to great advantage, and she fits the part capitally. Miss Hilda Scarisbrick makes full use of her opportunities as the American heiress, Sadie. To Mr. Leslie Harris fall the chief honours of the evening, however, for he is such an excellent comedian that the audience are always entertained by his funny sayings and doings, and as Lord Plantagenet he scores accordingly, playing the part quite on his own lines, and extremely droll they are too. Mr. Wensley Russell makes a good Sir John Binfield; special mention must be made of his exceedingly clever imitation of a 'cello solo, which was encored. The King of Illyria is capitally portrayed by Mr. Robert Whyte, jun., who handles the part with great tact, and is most amusing. Mr. Edmund Russell and Mr. Lauri Lisle are capital as Trenitz and Pontbichet, respectively. Reference should also be made to the clever impersonation in the third act of a waiter, a clever piece of work which does the actor, whoever he may be, much credit. Miss Madeline Rossiter appears in a speciality dance in one scene, and she proves to be a neat and dainty dancer, and executes her steps in a very nimble manner, which earn a well-deserved encore for the lady. The chorus is very bright and attractive, and does its work well. The play is carefully staged and smartly dressed. Mr. J. Richardson is the general manager for the company.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, N.

On Monday Feb. 20, the Musical Comedy, in Two Acts, by Seymour Hicks, composed by Ivan Caryll, entitled

"THE EARL AND THE GIRL."

For the third week in succession, musical comedy forms the attraction at the Alexandra, where, on Monday last, the favourable verdict passed upon The Earl and the Girl in the West End was fully endorsed by playgoers of the North. The company presenting the piece is sent out under the direction of Mr. William Greet, who provides, as nearly as possible, an exact replica of the original production. The piece is magnificently dressed and mounted, and is played by a company of all-round excellence. The selection of Mr. William Stephens for the part of Jim Cheese is a very happy one, for he is a comedian with a natural, unforced style, and plays the part for all it is worth. A very breezy and bright Dick Wargrave is found in Mr. Percy Carr, who scores heavily with his songs, notably "The Cosy Corner Girl." Mr. Fred Hill is a satisfactory Crewe Brook; and Mr. Will Hindson is smart and alert as the American solicitor, Downham. The Eliza Shoddham of Miss Dot Carey is a genuine character-study, and a very clever and diverting one. MissAnna Grey, as Elphin Haye, and Miss Florence Imeson, as Daisy Fallowfield, contribute largely to the general success; and other noteworthy performances are those of Messrs. William Walshe, J. C. Graves, Ian Redmond, and Misses Gladys Fontaine and Helen Langton. The chorus lacks neither quantity nor quality, and the augmented orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Evelyn Baker.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, Feb. 20,

"A TRIP TO CHINATOWN."

This company opened here on Monday, before a highly appreciative audience. A Trip to Chinatown is a musical comedy which is continuously amusing, and Mr. Norman's company presents to great advantage this pleasing work, with its numerous tuneful songs and pretty dances. The drollery of Mr. Charles Sequin's method lends itself readily to the part of Welland Strong. His by-play and facial expressions are alike very amusing, and without any apparent effort he has no difficulty in keeping his audience in constant laughter. His song, "Little Persuasion," and a clever step-dance are well received. Mr. Jerrold Manville, as Ben Say, keeps the fun going in the heartiest manner, and in the Café Riche scene, where he has his great opportunity—the hot brick episode—shows how much can be made of the part by refined and careful treatment. Mr. Leslie Norman successfully portrays Rashleigh Gay, and Mr. Oswald Grey is a careful and effective exponent of Saxon Blood. Mr. Will Smith, as Noah Heap, a waiter, is a constant source of amusement, with his excellent and telling impersonation. Mr. S. Champion, as Slavin Payne, and Mr. Ewart Drake, as Jones, of Chinatown, "hired for the occasion," give capital portrayals; the latter proves himself an expert dancer in the Chinese dance with Miss Daisy Revett, in the Bal Masque scene. The last-named artist, Miss Revett, as Flirt, gives a piquant, agile, and vivacious representation, singing and dancing with spirit. There is plenty of verve and dash in the portrayal of Mrs. Guyer, by Miss Kitty Marion, and with genuine fun added to her singing, she is decidedly successful. The Misses Florrie McInnes and Edith Maynard are all that can be desired as Tiny Gay and Isabel Dame; and Miss Errol undertakes the part of Willie Grow. Miss Vera Lake Grange (Tailie Warner), Miss Daisy Cotton (George Walker), Miss Maisy Stanley (Sue Long), and Miss Jeanne Luminieres (barmaid) complete a cast where every part is so well played, it seems almost invidious to single out one name more than another. In the last act Miss Kitty Marion and Mr. Chas. Sequin appear successfully in a scena, entitled Tramps in Trampland, and the Three Canadian Belles, a trio of lady dancers, disport themselves gracefully, and add to the evening's enjoyment. The staging and dressing are of high order, and the Marlborough orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Eric Landor, render an excellent performance of the musical score.

BRIXTON THEATRE.

On Monday, the Play, entitled

"ZAZA."

Brixton playgoers have a rare dramatic treat this week, with a visit of Mrs. Lewis Waller and her company in a répertoire of her successful productions, including that much-discussed play, Zaza, Mrs. Lewis Waller plays the name-part with all her old vivacity and power, and holds the audience spellbound with her rendering of the gay but loving concert singer. Mr. Eric Mayne gives her excellent support, as Bernard Dufresne and his powerful impersonation receives its just reward at the hands of a crowded audience. Mr. Edgar Coyne gives a clever study of the Duc de Brisac; Mr. Edmund Waller does well as Cascart, Zaza's partner; and Mr. Fred Jacques is good as Joley, a stage-manager. Of the ladies, Miss Kate Kearney stands out for special mention as Rosa Bonne, Zaza's aunt; Miss Ethel Warwick commands attention in the character of Madame Dufresne, Bernard's wife; and Miss Maudie Ray is a winsome and intelligent Toto. All the minor parts are in good hands, and add to the success of the piece.

On Tuesday evening was produced the play of Russian life, entitled Vilma. Mrs. Lewis Waller was a complete success, and she was called three times after every act. In the character of Count Alexis Souvaroff, Mr. Eric Mayne again acquits himself with distinction, by the capable rendering of a difficult part. Mr. E. J. Coyne and Mr. E. Waller are well to the fore as Lieutenant Olitsky and Nicholas Boroff, brother officers of Alexis. Mr. Frederick Jacques is excellent as Souvaroff's faithful servant; and Peter Varansky has a good representative in Mr. H. Gomer May. A word of praise must be given to Miss Rosemary Rees for her capable rendering of the stately and dignified Countess Souvaroff; and Miss Ethel Warwick gives a good impersonation of the light-hearted Baroness Olga Boroff. Mr. H. Strickland is well placed as the Grand Duke Ivan; and Mr. J. Henessey is an excellent Colonel Mazoff. The remainder of the company all act well, and the scenery, dresses, and uniforms leave nothing to be desired.

GRAND, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Musical Comedy,

"SERGEANT BRUE."

Mr. Frank Curzon's company has been paying a visit here this week with the above-named musical comedy and the people of Woolwich have eagerly availed themselves of the opportunity of making the acquaintance of the gallant sergeant. Mr. Victor Widdicombe plays the title-rôle and there is not a dull moment while he is on the stage, the vagaries and adventures of the fortunate, but not too intelligent, police officer being followed with the keenest interest and amusement. Mr. T. A. Shale was excellently suited as Crookie Scrubbs, revealing the possession of a fund of dry humour, and a power of facial expression which made his imperosantion a most entertaining one. Mr. E. Percy Rogers gave a clever and clearly-defined rendering of Michael Brue, his song in the last act being one of the features of the performance; and an excellent and consistent character study of Mr. Crank, the magistrate, was submitted by Mr. Cecil Burt. Miss Constance Lait acted with point and vivacity as Aurora Brue, and made a hit with her song, "Under a Panama," in which valuable aid was rendered by several of the male members of the chorus. Miss Violet Dene played Lady Bickenhall with charming ease and naturalness, and made this aristocratic, but level-headed personage, as great a favourite with her audience as she was with the impressionable sergeant.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the play, by John Rutherford, entitled

"THE BREED OF THE TRESHAMS."

Western London appreciated to the full the first production at the King's on Monday evening of Mr. Rutherford's play, as performed by Mr. Martin Harvey and his talented company. The theatre has been packed with audiences thoroughly interested, and following with avidity the intensely dramatic situations so ingeniously contrived by the author, and so skilfully delineated by the various performers. The character of Lieutenant Raresby (the "Rat") is admirably played by Mr. Martin Harvey, the curtain having to be raised several times after each act. A powerful impersonation of Colonel the Hon. Clement Hungerford is given by Mr. Charles Glenney, the baseness of the character being well brought out. Mr. Charles J. Cameron sustains the part of Viscount Dorsington with much dignity and fervour, and as Colonel Sir Henry Curwen Mr. Albert E. Raynor makes an exceedingly favourable impression. Mr. Fred Wright, sen., enacts Colonel Bagshaw with much spirit, and Captain Stanhope fins a capable representative in Mr. Reeve Denbigh. Captain Rashleigh and Lieutenant Willoughby are well handled by Mr. A. Mansfield and Mr. Eugene Wellesley. Mr. Percy Anstey impersonates Cornet the Hon. Francis Tresham with considerable ability, earning just praise, and Cornet Kit Peyton is pleasantly acted by Mr. Arthur Maude. Much deserved applause is obtained by Mr. George Cooke for a vigorous rendering of Corporal Lumsford, while Mr. P. Hewland, as Corporal Saxton, and Mr. P. Alexander, as Will Lumsford, are successful. The part of the boy Batty, though small, is sympathetically undertaken by Miss N. de Silva, her acting raising the character into prominence. Miss Coleridge is a pleasing and graceful Hon. Margaret Hungerford. Mrs. Bagshaw is ably enacted by Miss Edith Coleman, and as Helena Pierrepoint Miss Bessie Eldee is vivacious. The scenery and costumes are exceedingly good. During the last half of the week The Only Way was performed, with Mr. Harvey repeating his wonderfully successful rôle of Sidney Carton.

WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Walter Melville, entitled

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."

Any play of Mr. Walter Melville's is always sure of a hearty welcome at Mr. William Bailey's popular playhouse, and Mr. Douglas Bruce had good reason to be proud of the hearty reception that his company received on the night of our visit. A masterly portrayal of Captain Geoffrey Caversham was given by Mr. Frank Adair, his every gesture and movement being a faithful replica of the military man about town. As the Rev. Robert Everton, Mr. Edwin J. Collins played with much sympathy and subdued force; whilst Mr. Wingold Lawrence, in the dual rôle of Jack England and Private Johnson, acted earnestly. Mr. Fraser Brunner acquitted himself well as Jas. Sutton, alias Fletcher, the forger, and Mr. G. Hammond Asquin, as Dick Punch, was versatile and amusing. In the title-rôle Miss Ada Marius rose to the character nobly, the frequent bursts of applause testifying to her success. Miss Ethel Bracewell was a most lovable Rose Seymour; Miss Daisy Maynard was completely successful as the bright and cheery dressmaker, Isabella Jones; and Miss Marie McAulay sustained the important part of Marian Franklyn with plenty of dash and go.

GRAND, FULHAM.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Farcical Comedy, in Three Acts, by Brandon Thomas, entitled

"CHARLEY'S AUNT."

The company this week at the Fulham is Mr. Brandon Thomas's principal one, in Charley's Aunt, with Mr. Brandon Thomas in the rôle of Sir Francis Chesney. The play is evidently as popular as ever, and produced on Monday roars of laughter from beginning to end. The undergraduate is a peculiar being, and his manners and customs require studying from nature. It is therefore much to the credit of Mr. Arthur Soames and Mr. R. B. Mason, who played the parts of Jack Chesney and Charley Wykeham, that they contrived to display the lounging manner and the studied "casualness" of the undergraduate. Mr. Soames is particularly entertaining when he assumes the air of the man of the world and bestows on his father some excellent advice on the art of dressing to advantage. Mr. Sydney Compton acted well as Brassett, the scout—another type peculiar to the 'Varsity—who never allows himself to be put out by the remarkable doings of his masters, and is equal to all emergencies. The part of Lord Fancourt Babberley, who is forced to assume at such painfully short notice the rôle of Charley's Aunt, is a difficult one, and on the rendering of it the success of the whole piece must largely turn. Mr. Stanley Cooke played it admirably, and his feminine airs and graces kept the house in fits of laughter: he was, indeed, "no ordinary woman." Mr. Simon Ord made the most of the part of the amorous Spettigue, whilst Mr. Brandon Thomas was, of course, delightful as Sir Francis. Of the ladies, Miss Lena MacNaughten was a stately and gracious Donna Lucia. The two young ladies, Spettigue's niece and ward, for whose benefit Charley's Aunt is produced as chaperon, were charmingly and naturally played by Miss Violet Cooper and Miss Geraldine Greville, and Miss Dorrie Roberts took the part of Ela Delahay, the protégée of Donna Lucia. Charley's Aunt was preceded by Fourchette and Company, by Brandon Thomas. In this, Mr. Henry Adnes evoked both laughter and sympathy as Prince Del Crillo, the luckless restaurateur. Miss Ruth Suffield and Mr. C. B. Keston complete the cast.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Drama, in Four Acts, by F. A. Scudamore, entitled

"THE BIGGEST SCAMP ON EARTH."

Miss Frances Delaval's company in The Biggest Scamp on Earth, is this week paying a return visit to the Stratford Theatre Royal. Its sensational incidents and thrilling situations appealed very forcibly to those present on the opening night of the week, and applause was lavished with no unstinted hand. Mr. Percy Carne Waram as Derrick Knight, the villain, whose misdeeds give the title to the piece, plays with a cool candour and callousness, and with a subdued restraint, which suits the part admirably. Miss Francis Delaval continues to make Naomi Belvedere an exceedingly clever characterisation. Mr. Evan Roberts is an outspoken and manly Vivian Wakefield, and Mr. Hamilton Urquhart fulfils all requirements as Sir Aubrey Knight. Mr. William H. Burton plays appropriately as Napoleon Hawke, and Mr. L. W. Halfpenny and Mr. P. Stewart provide a fund of amusement in the comedy rôles of Rufus Liggins and Joe Piper respectively. Miss Louise Brandon plays with sympathy and charm as Irene May, and Miss Sybil Hammersley is a bright and engaging Molly Sterling. Miss Patty Groves does well as Mother Hawke, and Miss Doris Denman speaks her lines commendably as Little Bobby. Minor parts are in capable hands, and the piece is well mounted and dressed.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

"SERGEANT BRUE."

This irrepressible "representative of the law" has "held up" Stratford this week, and the experience has been entirely agreeable. General submission has been the order nightly, and the piece will leave the Borough Theatre with pleasant recollections of its easy capture. And yet its success is well merited, for the subject is much more interesting than the flimsy story which usually does duty for a plot in musical comedy, and expense has apparently been a secondary consideration in the mounting and dressing. Mr. Frank Curzon's company is a well-balanced one, and the concerted numbers, as rendered by the well-trained chorus, are a prominent feature in the attractions of the production. Mr. George Barrett is exceedingly droll and amusing as Crookie Scrubbs. His make-up, voice, and gesture suit the part exactly, and he works unflaggingly, and though unable to do himself complete justice on Monday night, in his vocal contributions through the effects of a cold, he gained vociferous applause. Mr. Edward Kipling plays in just the right vein as Sergeant Brue, and his efforts met with great success. Mr. Charles Hanbury makes a buoyant and manly Michael Brue, and he sings in pleasing style. Mr. Campbell Bishop cleverly hits off the idiosyncrasies of the magistrate, Mr. Crank; Mr. Archie Croft is admirable as Matthew Habisham; and Mr. Paddy Duprez, besides undertaking the onerous duties of stage management, is a most effective Inspector Gorringe. Miss Hilda Antony looks sweetly pretty as Aurora Brue, and her rendering of "Under a Panama" and "In Lotus Land," affords keen enjoyment. Miss L. Zambray displays much vivacity as Daisy, and Mr. Thomas Holding, as Gerald Treherne, sings a love ditty quite capably. The important rôle of Lady Bickenhall is entrusted to Miss Scott Lestelle.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Musical Play,

"THE GIRL FROM KAY'S."

Dalstonians who patronise Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton's theatre near Dalston Junction are in ecstasies this week over the admirable entertainment provided in the musical play, The Girl from Kay's, as presented by the members of Mr. George Dance's chief company. The admirable singing and acting certainly comprise an entertainment which, as an antidote for the "blues," may be accepted as a safe specific. Miss Nancy Hervyn, in the title-rôle, delights everyone with her wonderful vivacity. As the forewoman of the girls from Kay's she is a sprightly leader, and the manner in which she engineers Hoggenheimer, the millionaire, is a lesson in tact. Miss Hervyn is encored again and again for the descriptive song, "The Customers at Kay's." Max Hoggenheimer, as represented by Mr. H. C. Barry, is a personage of intense drollery. Expert as he is at finance and company promoting, he is unable to accomplish anything that actually amuses the critical young lady from Kay's, who, however, is at last somewhat gratified by his proposal of marriage and the prospect of a big house in Park-lane. Miss Rita Leonhardt's representation of Norah Chalmers is a study in languishing gentility; and Mr. Cameron Carr, as Mr. Chalmers, and Miss Mabel Champion, as Mrs. Chalmers, are quite typical of a certain set of society people. Miss Grace Arundale, as Ellen, Miss Chalmers's maid, is an alert attendant, and her song, "Come along with me," takes as well as ever. Harry Gordon, whose earliest days of married life are rendered so unsettled by an accidental discovery that the girl from Kay's is one of his old flames, is admirably played by Mr. Garnet Wilson, whose contemplative song, "I don't care," is still a success. Mr. Leslie Roy Cathie causes a good deal of amusement by his eccentricities as the Hon. Percy Fitzthistle, and Mr. Samuel Lysons is quaint as Theodore Quench, K.C. Mr. Fred Rolph's interpretation of the part of Joseph, hall-porter at the Flacton Hotel, is still a study in its way, and it is a study of a kind of which people do not tire, for it is vastly amusing. Mr. Louis Du Cane, as page at the hotel, Mr. R. Corry, as waiter at the Savoy Restaurant, and Mr. Francis Rayne, as Archie Pembridge, are evidently well at home. In fact, the entire cast is admirably adapted for the characters represented.

THE BRITANNIA.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Drama, in Four Acts, by E. Hill Mitchelson, entitled

"THE TRAITOR."

Probably the revival of this sensational Russian play has been suggested by recent startling events in the dominions of the Czar. The plot is largely concerned with the doings of a secret society, who at their gatherings sentence to death certain members of the aristocracy, and then proceed to draw lots to determine which of the conspirators is to execute the mandates of the Council. In the first act we learn that an old man, a general in the army, has been condemned to be shot on a charge of anarchism. This has been brought about by the Chief of Police, in revenge for the slight inflicted upon him by Zula, the General's daughter, who, to escape his unwelcome attentions, has become a nun. She has a brother named Nicholas, a youthful lieutenant in the army, who resolves to take summary vengeance for his father's death, which he attributes to the Crown Prince Rudolph. The latter has only just arrived at Zanda, and Nicholas hears that he will attend the execution riding a white horse. Prince Rudolph, under the assumed name of Colonel Nervi, makes the acquaintance of Zula and her brother, and gains a knowledge of the plot aimed against his life. He of course decides to absent himself when the execution of the general takes place, and Nicholas, who throws from the window of an hotel a bomb at the officer seated on a white horse, kills an innocent man. In the meantime, Rudolph falls in love with Zula, who has sworn to take the life of the Crown Prince at the first opportunity, and little thinks that the so-called Colonel Nervi is the man she is seeking. She persuades him to become a member of the Secret Society to which she and her brother belong, and he accompanies her to a meeting of the Council. He is made a member, and is branded with the society's sign—a dagger on the right arm. Then follows the drawing of lots, which we have already referred to, and the Prince finds himself sworn to compass his own death. There are other equally thrilling scenes, the interest of the story being well maintained until the end. The play is done justice to by the stock company. Mr. Maurice Hoffman is a manly and convincing representative of Prince Rudolph, otherwise known as Colonel Nervi. Mr. Charles A. East bears himself boldly as the treacherous Chief of the Police who gives the title to the piece, and plays with his usual success. Mr. Harold West makes good use of his opportunities in the part of Nicholas, and Mr. A. Holles is duly impressive as the Speaker of the Council. In the person of Miss Judith Kyrle, a former very popular member of the old stock company, returns to the Britannia; and on Monday night, when she made her first entrance in the character of the mysterious Countess Zicka, she received an extremely cordial welcome, the applause being as prolonged as it was hearty. Evidently Britanniaites do not quickly forget old favourites. Miss Kyrle, who must have been pleased with her reception, played the rôle of the passionate, unscrupulous woman extremely well. Miss Rose Ralph also scored as Zula, the heroine of the play. Mr. Willie Scott was well placed as Jack Boult, a sailor, whose sweetheart, Cen Cen, a little Japanese maiden, had a brisk exponent in Miss Marie Wright. Prominent also in the comedy scenes were Mr. Tom Wallace, as a fierce-looking general; Mr. Brian Daly, as Zox, Jack Boult's rival; Mr. Chas. Groves, as Captain Ross; and Miss Noel Neville, a pleasing Elise Duprez.

EALING THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Play, in Three Acts, by Robert N. Stevens and E. L. Swete, entitled

"MISS ELIZABETH'S PRISONER."

This successful play was presented at this theatre by Mr. Lewis Waller's excellent company, and was accorded an enthusiastic reception by crowded houses. The scenery and dresses could not have been improved upon, and the music, under the able directorship of Mr. A. E. Blythe, was fully up to the general excellence of the production. Mr. Norman Partriege has remarkable histrionic ability, portraying the devil-may-care Captain Harry Peyton in dashing style; Mr. Elliott Ball depicted the bullying Major John Colden in a capable manner; and Mr. J. Harold Carson, as Mr. Valentine, who had buried two wives, and was looking out for "No. 3," was very funny. Miss Leonora Braham was well suited in the character of Mistress Sarah Williams, and her natural charm and brightness were thoroughly admired by the audience. The Miss Elizabeth Philipse of Miss Essex Dane was a clever portrayal, being dignified, sweet, and fascinating, while the winsome Miss Marguerite Cellier, as Mollie Edwards, was all that could be desired. A word of praise is due to Mr. F. Cellier, jun., as Sergeant Carrington, which was business-like. Mr. F. Perry and Mr. Tom Taylor, as Cuff and Black Sam, deserve mention for capitally-played minor parts. The comedietta, The Borrowed Uncle, preceded, in which Mr. Arthur Somers, Mr. F. Cellier, Mr. J. H. Carson, and Miss M. Cellier took part.

THE CROWN, PECKHAM.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Musical Play, entitled

"PEGGY MACHREE."

Mr. Charles B. Hamilton's talented company met with a cordial reception here on Monday, and the piece went with great smoothness throughout. In the title-rôle, Miss Marie Dainton won golden opinions by her really clever embodiment of the character, her acting, singing, and dancing being of a very high standard. This clever young lady contributed a great deal to the success of the production, her intelligent "grasp" of the requirements of the part being in evidence whenever she occupied the stage. Mr. Denis O'Sullivan, as Barry Trevor, soon established himself a great favourite with the audience, his acting and vocalisation being most praiseworthy. Miss Dorothy Garden did well as the Honourable Emily Prior. In the presentment of Madame de la Cour, Miss Jenny Dawson's stately presence and dignified manner stood out conspicuously. The foster-mother to Lady Margaret, Moira, as depicted by Miss Annie Brophy, was all that could be desired, and this experienced actress scored another triumph. as Molly MacMahon, Miss Dorothy merited eulogy. Miss Ida Lawrence appeared as Nell the Dancer, and secured high appreciation. As Sir Lawrence Borthwick, Mr. Erskine Lang displayed ability. Mr. Marc MacDermott was quite equal to the demands of the part of Captain de la Cour. Alexander McDougall (Major Domo at Castle O'Driscoll) afforded Mr. J. Græme Campbell many opportunities, and he did not miss any of them. The remainder of a lengthy cast appeared to advantage in their respective parts. The play was capitally mounted, and handsomely costumed. The music was admirably performed by an augmented orchestra, under the capable direction of Mr. Edward Jones, who is responsible for the general management of the company, assisted by Mr. Thomas Courtice (business manager) and Mr. Morris Harper (acting-manager).

GREENWICH THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 20, the Drama, entitled

"A WRECKER OF MEN."

Mr. C. Watson Mill and company are appearing here in this successful melodrama, of which Mr. C. Watson Mill is the author. The play is well written and admirably acted, the author himself playing in vigorous and telling fashion the prominent part of the burglar, Jim Murley. Mr. J. W. Ryder, who appears as Zarnaphus and Ezekiel Isaacs, acts with power and artistic skill; his clever impersonation is of the greatest possible value to the general performance. Mr. Charles York is very good as Pharosaphus; Mr. George Harvey is impressive as Railton, the silent servant; Mr. Percy Horton does exceedingly well as Guise Strange; Mr. Frank Oliver is exactly suited to the character of the Hon. Reggie Verincourt, and makes the most of his opportunities; Mr. Gilson Brook, as Eric Melville, plays in a manly and earnest style that is very effective; Mr. Henry Elton is a capital Detective Bransmere; Messrs. J. H. Lear (Ishma), Jack Walker (Bob Birchell), Arthur Martin (Morton), and Harold B. Meeres (Loman), are good in their respective parts. Miss Rosalind Yates scores heavily as Risca Mallison; Miss Victoria May is an interesting Doris Melville; and Miss Grace Garside must be congratulated on a clever and consistent rendering of Vavasole Slopper. The drama is well staged, and has met with general approbation.

THE STANDARD.

On Monday, Feb. 20,

"THE MAY QUEEN" & "THE WATERMAN."

The second week of the opera season at the Standard was opened on Monday with a performance of the above two operas. Evidently something great in the way of fine singing was expected, for, in spite of the heavy rain, the house was crowded with a large and enthusiastic audience, which showed its appreciation of the good work done in a manner which was not to be mistaken. The May Queen received careful treatment in the hands of Mr. Turner's company, and met with a good reception. As the lover, Mr. F. J. Hargrave was artistic and real, and sang his music with every sign of ability. Mr. Tom Griffiths supplied a fine rendering as the captain of the foresters, singing his various numbers with taste and skill. Miss Beatrice Hill was all that could be desired as the Queen of England, and Miss Ethel Locker looked pretty and sang with good effect as the Queen of the May. The Waterman was the concluding item on the programme, and the interpretation it received is worthy of warm praise. Mr. J. W. Turner undertook the rôle of Tom Tug, and accomplished his task with great credit. The excellence of his singing is so well known that it need hardly be said that he thoroughly deserved the applause he received for the fine renderings he gave of "The Jolly Young Waterman," "Tom Bowling," and "The Death of Nelson." Admirable work was done by Mr. John Ridding, as Bundle, and his singing of "Drinking" and "Simon the Cellarer" earned for him the hearty appreciation of the audience. Mr. Chas. Le Sueur was a droll and accomplished Robin. As Mrs. Bundle Miss Maud Esdale supplied a fine picture of the fiery old lady, and raised many a hearty laugh by her tyrannical conduct towards her husband. Miss Jessie Dennis charmingly portrayed Wilhelmina, and used her fine voice with taste in "Cherry Ripe" and "Wapping Old Stairs." The chorus played a conspicuous part in both of these operas, and with the augmented orchestra rendered admirable service, under the bâton of Mr. J. Lawton.

THE ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The fourteenth annual general meeting of the Actors' Association was held on Thursday afternoon at the Garrick Theatre. Mr. Arthur Bourchier presided, and there was a good attendance of prominent theatrical folk, including the following:—Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Lionel Brough, Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. C. Hayden Coffin, Mr. Brandon Thomas, Mr. Acton Bond, Mr. Sydney Brough, Mr. Alfred Brydone, Mr. E. Story-Gofton, Mr. A. E. Drinkwater, Mr. Frederic Topham, Mr. Douglas Vigors, Mr. Holmes Gore, Mr. Wm. Devereux, Mr. M. R. Morand, Mr. Horton Cooper, Mr. Henry Doughty, Mr. W. A. Staveley, Mr. Harry A. Gribben, Mr. Caleb Porter, Mr. Burton Cooke, Mr. Henry Warburton, Mr. John H. Mote, Mr. H. A. Cole, Mr. Ernest A. B. Woodrow, and Mr. Charles Cruikshanks, the secretary to the Association, Mrs. Cecil Raleigh, Miss Carlotta Addison, Miss Beatrice Lamb, Miss Elisabeth Kirby, Miss Marianne Caldwell, Miss Blanche de Lorme, Miss Florence Lynn, and Miss Minnie Turner. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Violet Vanbrugh, Mr. Charles Warner, Mr. Henry Neville, Mr. Martin Harvey, Mr. F. R. Benson, Mr. Frederick Harrison, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. H. V. Esmond, Mr. A. W. Pinero, Mr. Frederick Mouillot and Mr. W. Lestocq.

The Report and Balance-sheet for the year ending December 31, 1904, were submitted as follows:—

In presenting the Fourteenth Annual Report of the Actors' Association, the Council draw particular attention to the satisfactory financial position as shown in the annexed Accounts. It will be seen that the amount received in entrance fees and subscriptions was: In 1902, £835 5s.; in 1903, £879 10s.; in 1904, £1,162 12s. 6d. During the past year a "Finance and General Purposes Committee" has been formed, which is the outcome of the "Committee of Inquiry."

The Council report with satisfaction that, in accordance with the plainly expressed wish of the Members at the last General Meeting, the salaries of the Staff have been revised and very considerable economies in the office expenses effected. In this connection they desire to congratulate the Members on retaining the services of Mr. Charles Cruikshanks as Secretary, whose loyalty to the interests of the Association has prompted him to devote all his energies to the Association's affairs, at the same time agreeing to a substantial reduction in the remuneration he receives.

It is satisfactory to note that the fees of the Agency Department have considerably increased during the year. They were: In 1902, £70 11s. 8d.; in 1903, £78 12s. 6d.; in 1904, £116 16s. 6d. These figures show an annual increase in the receipts, at the same time demonstrating that the Association is constantly obtaining an increasing number of engagements for its Members.

During the year the list of Honorary Medical Officers has again been considerably increased, and the thanks of all the Members are due to these gentlemen who so kindly and generously placed their services at the disposal of the Association, the value of those services being incalculable.

The attention of Members is drawn to the continued success of the "Year Book," and they are advised to provide themselves with a copy for 1905, as it contains the new appointments of the Medical Staff, and also a list of Theatrical Lodgings up to date, many of which, for the first time, are recommended by Members themselves; also many recent legal decisions of vital interest to the Actor.

During the year 1904 the Honorary Solicitors have rendered valuable services to the Members of the Association by advising them on points submitted and in prosecuting claims on their behalf, and the best thanks are due to them and the Honorary Standing Counsel for their unremitting attention.

The Council are glad to inform the Members that the Joint Arbitration Board between the Touring Managers' Association and the Actors' Association decided several cases this year, thus saving a needless expense at law.

An improvement of £85 17s. 8d. between this year's and last year's Balance-sheets has been achieved without a Matinée, or Legacies, or Life Members' subscriptions, and is the absolute result of the working of the Association. The Excess of Liabilities over Assets in 1902 amounted to £834 10s. 8d.; The Excess of Assets over Liabilities in 1903 amounted to £265 10s. 3d. The Excess of Assets over Liabilities in 1904 amounted to £352 7s. 11d. The Association has thus improved the state of its Accounts to the extent of £1,195 18s. 7d. during the last two years. Several cases of insanitation in Provincial Theatres were successfully dealt with during the year. It is with sincere regret the Council record the loss by death of Mr. Wilson Barrett, one of the Vice-Presidents, a good friend to the Association.

After the SECRETARY had read the notice convening the meeting,

The CHAIRMAN, rising to move the adoption of the report and accounts, said:—

Ladies and Gentlemen,—When the Council gave me the pleasure of welcoming you here, and honoured me with the post of Chairman at this meeting, it struck me as a splendid opportunity to steal a march on my brother managers, and give the general public a chance of booking their places in the pit and gallery. My schemes, however, were swiftly nipped in the bud by the fact that, in deference to the wish generally expressed at recent meetings, it had been decided in future only to admit members of our profession and their auxiliary forces. My pit and gallery are therefore closed for this occasion only, and we thus meet together in true Masonic fashion, as brothers and sisters of an Association whose aims are ever to further the interests of the British drama, and, incidentally, their own. In moving that the annual report and accounts be taken as read, adopted, and entered on the minutes, my lines have fallen in very pleasant places. A better proof of the satisfactory state of the British stage in general could not be furnished than by the prosperous condition of its Actors' Association in particular. I believe I am not betraying State secrets when I say that only three years ago the Council were loth to dun members whose subscriptions were often two years in arrear for fear of a revolution; and that there would be no Association left. If things go on prospering like this, our Association will become one of the most difficult clubs to get into, and the vexation of being black-balled for it will be as great as at "The Travellers" or "The Turf." Let us then go on as we are going, and we shall be right. This year, without the aid of a pubic matinée or legacies or life members' subscriptions, the absolute result of the working of the Association shows a marked improvement between this and last year's balance-sheet, and many a member has had occasion to bless the powerful auxiliary aid of our lawyers and doctors, without whose gratuitous assistance some of them would have been seriously retarded in, if not compelled to abandon, their profession. Indeed, the array of honorary medical officers that confront us on this report is a far larger one than even Kings and Emperors are wont to have retained at their various Courts. But as there is always a little cloud to be found in the brightest sky, so one paragraph of this year's highly satisfactory report causes a feeling of sadness and regret, as it announces that one of our staunchest friends and supporters has passed away. We can ill-afford to lose such a man as Wilson Barrett. He lived in his work, by his work, and for his work, and his life's work leaves a memory and an example which is an honour to his country. He was ever ready to help the members of our profession in their hour of need, from the highest to the lowliest. Only recently, when this Association was in temporary difficulties, he offered them a generous donation, provided that no matinée was organised on its behalf; but, despite the fact of the splendid result of a matinée of The Merchant of Venice, at Drury Lane, with a picked cast, headed by our beloved President, Sir Henry Irving, Wilson Barrett still gave his donation to swell the receipts. We hear much nowadays from people who know a little—and we hear more from people who know nothing of the stage—as to the degraded state of the drama, and I may perhaps venture to express a hope that ere long the Actors' Association will be able to open a common-sense bureau for the correction of all busy-bodies, ignoramuses, pessimists, and disappointed authors, who employ their spare time (and they seem to have a lot of it) in throwing mud at our calling. I am sure Mr. Cruikshanks will be more than equal to the task! It is a remarkable thing how the stage seems nowadays to have the privilege of sharing with the War Office the position of being a colossal Aunt Sally, at whom any kind of missile may be thrown regardless of truth, or even commonsense. Of course we have it in our power to retaliate by holding the mirror up to Nature, and when we do hit back, we do so very severely. A clergyman of the Church of England wrote to me recently, pointing out that if I preached a sermon it was more likely to be effective and far-reaching than if he did so, as my houses would be larger, but he added, "Take care lest you empty your houses by being too severe, as I once emptied mine, and I have had great difficulty in getting my audience to come back!" There is, however, comfort in the reflection that the stage has the advantage of instructing as well as entertaining. The very proper restriction of the Censor of Plays occasionally makes one feel keenly the helplessness of our position in not being able to retaliate. As, for example, when two mountebanks, anxious to draw large houses to a building generally accustomed to sweeter sounds, are allowed to fulminate against and hurl mud at our profession by way of advertising their own. In this connection, however, their sense of humour, or the lack of it, has gone a little too far, and I have been handed a letter from one of their advance agents, which runs:—"Dear Sir,—May I ask whether you would be so kind as to put up this notice of the mission which is about to be held in London. In this case, all your ladies and gentlemen of the stage will be able to see when it is to take place. I venture to enclose also a few notices, which I think some may be glad to have.—Yours, &c." This looks as though their device had not proved as successful as they wished, and that they hoped to convert us—into paper! If the British stage can reckon on a host of friends and allies, we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that it is beset by one very formidable enemy—I allude to the middleman. As in many another profession and art, he is little less than a Juggernaut in the dangers he creates. He treats the theatre as a bucket-shop; he cares nothing for the welfare of the drama—in many cases he despises it. He raises the rents of the theatres which he leases, only to let them at more than their real value, and so cripples, or at any rate handicaps, their success as a steady-going all-the-year-round concern. How can managers pay their leading actors and actresses over £100 a week, or give authors more than half the gross receipts, if the middleman puts up the rents of theatres to £12,000 a year, plus half the profits of the plays produced? But, seriously, ladies and gentlemen, the middleman is a peril. I have the honour of moving that the annual report and accounts be taken as read, adopted, and entered on the minutes.

After a couple of questions had been asked,

Miss MINNIE TURNER seconded the proposition, and the annual report and accounts were unanimously adopted by the meeting.

The SECRETARY then read the names of those nominated for the fourteen vacant seats on the Council, and there being a greater number of candidates than there were vacancies to be filled, voting papers were issued. These were filled in and signed by those present who were eligible to vote, and after four scrutineers had examined the papers, the CHAIRMAN announced the results as follows:—

C. Aubrey Smith (98 votes), W. Graham Browne (81 votes), Holbrook Blinn (76 votes), Frederick Volpé (73 votes), Norman McKinnel (72 votes), Kate Bishop (70 votes), A. Holmes-Gore (67 votes), Clarence Blakiston (66 votes), A. E. Drinkwater (65 votes), Maud Milton (64 votes), Alfred Kendrick (59 votes), Thalberg Corbett (52 votes), J. Cooke Beresford (49 votes), Elisabeth Kirby (43 votes). The following were the unsuccessful candidates:—Frederick Annerley (39 votes), Will Dennis (32 votes), Chris. Walker (27 votes), Arthur E. Maskell (23 votes), B. Soane-Roby (23 votes).

THE CHAIRMAN—

Ladies and gentlemen,—I have been requested to move that the Council recommend to the annual general meeting that a committee be appointed to report to the Council on the scheme suggested for the establishment of a repertory theatre; whether such a theatre is desirable, and, if so, what are the best steps to take to achieve this object. Before calling upon Mr. Hayden Coffin to speak on this subject, I will ask your forbearance, while I make a few comments of my own. So important a question, coming from so representative a body as the Council of the Actors' Association, clearly points to the fact that by the words repertory theatre a national theatre on the lines of the Theatre Français is aimed at. A national theatre where the petty cares of the box office find no echo in the anxious breast of the management; a theatre where the best plays, both ancient and modern, can find an abiding home—in short, a theatre on a par with, if not superior to, those of other nations. The State supports music and painting. Why should acting be left out in the cold? As in the fiscal problem, the parrot will probably shriek to the ratepayer, "Take care; your plays will cost you more!" It is clear, therefore, that the obstacles towards enlisting the pecuniary support of the State are many and difficult. In my humble opinion, it would be necessary that such a theatre should be started from within, so as to convince those from without that it was worthy of being supported by the State. To arrive at this goal, I feel convinced that there are three vital landmarks to be borne in mind:—(1) The most solid financial basis; (2) that the initial construction, management, and opening series of performances should be thoroughly representative; (3) that the scheme should embrace the leading provincial centres. During the last few weeks, in a newspaper correspondence on this subject, it has been justly argued that the London stage is in itself a repertory theatre! Unless, therefore, a theatre is started on the lines which I have suggested, it seems difficult to improve on the many theatres whose varied performances go to make up the London repertory theatre. That the old stock company days can never be improved upon as a training-ground for members of our profession, I for one, am thoroughly convinced, and that is why I urge that the provinces should not be left out of any scheme for a national theatre. A propos of the present long runs and touring company system, the following little story was told me last week. Scene: A manager's room, while the manager is interviewing an actor. Manager: "How long have you been on the stage?" Actor: "Fifteen years." Manager: "Had any experience?" As this subject admits of interminable discussion, I know you will forgive me for intimating that, as I am in duty bound to Mr. Sutro not to interrupt the run of The Walls of Jericho, when it is time to set the scene for the first act, I shall be compelled to move the closure. I now call upon Mr. Hayden Coffin.

MR. C. HAYDEN COFFIN—Ladies and gentlemen.—The wind has been taken completely out of my sails by Mr. Bourchier speaking before I was called upon to do so. There is only one point which I think Mr. Bourchier has left. He says that the repertory theatre ought to come from within. A great deal has recently been talked about the repertory theatre in the papers, but it did not seem to come from any special theatrical head. For the moment we would ask you to do no more than appoint a committee, as the Council recommend. That recommendation reads thus:—"That the Council recommend to the annual general meeting that a committee be appointed to report to the Council on the scheme suggested for the establishment of a repertory theatre; whether such a theatre is desirable; and, if so, what are the best steps to take to achieve this object."

I would like, before going further, to change the words "repertory theatre" to "English theatre." For the present, however, I will ask you not to discuss the theatre, but simply the election of the committee.

MR. BRANDON THOMAS—It has been suggested that we should be the first to start a repertory theatre. Do not let the slur be cast upon this Association that it opposed the scheme in the first instance. However futile our efforts may be, anything that tends to raise the status of the profession is worthy of our support. We ought to be the first to propose it.

MR. HOLMES GORE said he strongly opposed the Association taking such a step as to arrogate to itself the initiative of acting in such a matter. He questioned whether there was an audience for a repertory theatre, and he also questioned whether it would pay. He moved that the motion, as it stood, be adjourned sine die.

MR. DEVEREUX seconded the amendment.

After further discussion,

THE CHAIRMAN put the amendment to the meeting, but it was lost on a show of hands.

MR. HOLMES GORE proposed a further amendment that the matter be referred to the Council, which was seconded by MR. FREDERIC TOPHAM. The amendment, on being put to the meeting, was declared lost.

MR. BRANDON THOMAS then submitted the original proposition, with one or two slight alterations, as follows:—"That a committee of five, with power to add to their number, be appointed by the Council of the Actors' Association to report to that Council on the scheme suggested for the establishment of a National Theatre, whether such a theatre is desirable, and, if so, what are the best steps to take to achieve this object."

MR. HAYDEN COFFIN seconded, and the proposition was carried.

THE CHAIRMAN announced that Miss Vera Leslie, who had arranged to lay before the meeting a general scheme in connection with the Actors' Association and various theatrical funds, was unfortunately ill, and Mr. Henry Doughty would place her ideas before them.

MR. HENRY DOUGHTY then read Miss Leslie's scheme to the meeting.

MR. HORTON COOPER proposed, and Mr. DOUGLAS VIGORS seconded, a vote of thanks to the members of the Council for their services during the past year.

MR. H. B. IRVING, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, said: I thank you on behalf of the Council very sincerely for your vote of thanks, and recognising their labours in the past. I am sure we are all very grateful for what you are always giving us to do—in the shape of work—and we look forward to a busy and a prosperous year.

THE CHAIRMAN moved, and the meeting confirmed, the re-election of the president and vice-presidents, their names being called out as follow:—President, Sir Henry Irving; vice-presidents, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. F. R. Benson, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. Lionel Brough, Mr. John Hare, Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. A. W. Pinero, Mr. Edward Terry, Miss Ellen Terry, Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree, and Sir Charles Wyndham.

Continuing, the Chairman said: Although my duty was so pleasant, there is, as we all know, just a slight tinge of regret when Sir Henry Irving's name is mentioned in this connection. We all regret the fact that he has decided, within a brief space—far too brief for the sake of the public—to retire from acting. I am sure we all trust that he will never retire while he has breath in his body from being our president. We are also deeply grieved to hear of his present indisposition. A telegram has just been received, stating that Sir Henry Irving has been obliged to cancel his date at Hanley this week, but hopes to be able to appear at Sheffield on Monday. With your sanction, I beg to move that the Actors' Association ask Mr. Cruikshanks to send off a telegram to our beloved president, as follows:—"The members of the Actors' Association assembled at the Garrick Theatre, at the fourteenth annual general meeting, send hearty greetings to their president, and fervent wishes for his speedy restoration to health."

Mr. Henry Warburton was re-elected as the standing counsel of the Association, and Messrs. John H. Mote and Son as the honorary solicitors, and votes of thanks were tendered to them, on the proposition of Mr. AUBREY SMITH, for services rendered during the past year.

MR. WARBURTON, in acknowledging the compliment, congratulated the Association on the small amount of litigation during 1904, and referred to the growing desire on the part of actors and managers to settle their disputes by arbitration.

MR. HENRY W. MOTE also suitably responded.

MR. FREDERIC TOPHAM proposed, and Miss CARLOTTA ADDISON seconded, the re-election of the honorary staff of physicians, surgeons, and doctors; the re-election of Dr. A. E. Harris as the hon. medical officer of health; of Messrs. Westcott, Maskall and Co. as the hon. auditors, and of Mr. Ernest A. E. Woodrow as the hon. consulting architect, to all of whom votes of thanks were tendered. MR. H. A. COLE responded for the honorary auditors.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Arthur Bourchier for the use of the theatre, and for his kindness in presiding at the meeting.

MR. LIONEL BROUGH, in seconding, complimented Mr. Bourchier on the clever and genial way in which he had fulfilled the office of chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN, in reply, paid a high compliment to Mr. Charles Cruikshanks for the able manner in which he performed the duties of secretary, and without whose valuable assistance his position as chairman would have been rendered extremely difficult.

PERCY ELLIS FUND.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—I trust the appeal you are so kindly making on behalf of Mr. Percy Ellis will meet with a generous response, for his case is a very sad one. In existing circumstances, his recovery seems helpless, but it is the opinion of Dr. Wildman E. Baker, who has attended Mr. Ellis during his illness, that a voyage to, and a stay of a few months, in South Africa, may be the means of restoring him to health. Mr. A. F. Henderson and I have endeavoured to assist him as far as possible; but, in order to carry out Dr. Baker's advice, it has been necessary to appeal to the generous sympathies of the profession at large. Were Mr. Ellis better known, I am sure that the question of "ways and means" would soon be solved. Unfortunately, his theatrical career has been a comparatively short one; but during the two or three years he occupied the position of my business manager, he won the regard and esteem of all with whom he came in contact, and Mr. Henderson can speak with as much assurance as I can of his sterling worth and strict integrity. It is pitiful to think that unless the necessary money can be found, his one chance of recovery should be lost, and knowing how large-hearted and helpful your readers are, I feel sure that the emergency of his case need only be realised to ensure the sum necessary to cover the expenses of his proposed trip. Yours faithfully,

FREDERIC ARTHUR STANLEY.

A SAD CASE.

MR. PERCY ELLIS.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—I have to thank you most sincerely for the paragraphs you were good enough to insert in your last week's issue anent Mr. Percy Ellis. May I still further encroach on your kindness, and ask you to make an appeal on his behalf?

Mr. Ellis's connection with the profession fully entitles him to assistance from its members, who are ever ready to help in a case of absolute necessity such as this is. I would remind you that Mr. Ellis is suffering from rapid consumption, very little hopes are held out that he will ever recover, and his condition is aggravated by great pecuniary embarrassment. Bad as his condition is, it is the wish of some of his personal friends that further medical opinions should be obtained, in order to ascertain whether a voyage to South Africa would, at any rate, prolong his life. In any event, subscribers to this fund may be sure that every shilling is urgently needed, and that Mr. Ellis will be most grateful for the assistance.

Yours faithfully,
A. F. HENDERSON,
General Manager for Sir Charles Wyndham.
New Theatre, Feb. 14.

In a letter which we have received from Mr. A. F. Henderson, general-manager for Sir Charles Wyndham, Mr. Henderson requests us to open our columns to an appeal on behalf of Mr. Percy Ellis, the late assistant-manager of the New Theatre, St. Martin's-lane, and, after having enquired into Mr. Ellis's circumstances, and having assured ourselves that his is a genuine case of distress, we have much pleasure in acceding to Mr. Henderson's charitable wishes.

Mr. Ellis is in an advanced stage of consumption, and, having been unable to follow any employment for nearly twelve months, his finances are completely exhausted, and he is, as Mr. Henderson points out, in actual want. Mr. Ellis's career is rather interesting. His first connection with the dramatic profession was in 1900, when he was offered the position of acting-manager at Wyndham's Theatre for Mr. Frederic A. Stanley's season of Little Lord Fauntleroy. Mr. Ellis's business capabilities and his honesty of character and purpose were quickly recognised, and he became the acting-manager during Mr. Martin Harvey's season at the Avenue, as well as for the run of The Little French Milliner at the same playhouse. Later he was seen in a similar capacity at the Shaftesbury and Terry's Theatres. His association with the Strand house was co-incidental with the production of Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett's play, A Little Un-Fairy Princess. When this piece was withdrawn from Terry's Mr. Ellis was secured by Mr. A. F. Henderson as acting-manager at Sir Charles Wyndham's New Theatre in St. Martin's-lane, then about to be opened, and he remained there during Mr. Forbes Robertson's season of The Light That Failed, and Mrs. Patrick Campbell's seasons with The Joy of Living and The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, as well as during a run of Mr. John Donald's Christmas fairy play, Alice in Wonderland.

Least of all men does Mr. Ellis deserve to be so sorely stricken by the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune." For seven years he was the sole support of a widowed mother and a young sister. In the direction of charity and self-sacrifice Mr. Ellis has a fine record for so young a man. One of the saddest features of a sad case is that his marriage, which had been arranged to take place towards the end of 1903, was postponed owing to his having, in the October of that year, contracted double pneumonia, which was followed by pleurisy, from the effects of which he has never fully recovered. He was well enough to return to the New Theatre for Mr. Donald's season with Alice in Wonderland, shortly after the conclusion of which he was compelled to keep to his house. For a time he was an out-patient at the Brompton Consumption Hospital; but the medical officers of that institution expressed themselves unable to find him accommodation as an in-patient on account of the fact that he was in too advanced a stage of the terrible malady to permit of any improvement being effected in the hospital itself. Latterly Mr. Ellis has been under medical treatment at his own home, for he is too weak to walk more than a few yards. His doctor does not believe his case absolutely hopeless. We appeal to the generous hearts of members of the profession for funds to enable Mr. Henderson and Mr. Frederic A. Stanley, who is also interesting himself in the matter, to carry out their kindly intentions of sending Mr. Ellis to South Africa, or to some other country where the atmospheric conditions are less exacting than those of this country. In consequence of Mr. Ellis's sad condition, whatever is done must be done with the least possible delay.

All subscriptions for the above deserving appeal will be duly acknowledged in these columns. They may be forwarded to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, Hon. Treasurer to the Fund, care of The Era office, or direct to Mr. A. F. Henderson, New Theatre, St. Martin's-lane.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Sir Henry Irving's farewell visit to the Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton, created great enthusiasm, and arrangements were made for the presentation to him of a scroll engrossed on vellum, illuminated with the borough arms, and enclosed in a silver casket. This was to have been handed to him on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in the Council Chamber at the Town Hall. There was a large assembly; but, after some delay, the Mayor announced that Sir Henry Irving was unable to attend owing to illness, and that a date in April would be fixed to suit his convenience, when he could revisit the town for the purpose of receiving the gift which had been subscribed for by the members of the town Council and citizens.

Sir Henry's indisposition was the result of a chill contracted on Sunday in the course of the railway journey from Bath to Wolverhampton; and when the celebrated actor reached his hotel on Monday night after his performance at the theatre he was seized with a sudden indisposition, which affected him so much that he nearly fell in the vestibule, and had to be assisted to his suite of apartments. On the following morning he was still unwell; but he took part in Tuesday's performance of Becket at the Grand Theatre. The play was received with marked enthusiasm; and Sir Henry came in for an ovation. Although evidently suffering from the effects of his cold, he gave a fine performance of the leading part, and made a telling speech at the close, doing the same at the conclusion of the production of The Merchant of Venice on Wednesday night.

At the conclusion the applause was loud and long; and Sir Henry returned to the stage, and said: Ladies and Gentlemen,—It is my privilege to thank you. It is impossible for me to thank you adequately for your very kind, more than kind, gracious, inspiring, and generous greeting. It is a delight to me—to us—to be with you once again, and to receive from you so hearty a welcome. (Applause.) It is very kind of you—and I speak for one and all of us—to have given us such a reception as you have done to-day. It is a very great pleasure to me also to find that you have received this play of Tennyson's with such enthusiasm. You agree with me, I am sure, in what I have always thought—that it is a very noble play—(loud applause)—a play which has added lustre to a great poet's renown. (Applause.) I thank you for my company most gratefully for your kindness, and I thank you for myself. I remain, ever your respectful, grateful, and obedient servant.

The following notice was posted up at the stage door entrance of the Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton, on Thursday morning:—"Sir Henry Irving much regrets to say that the remainder of the present tour has to be abandoned. The ladies and gentlemen of the company will fully understand this from the following certificate:—

Wolverhampton, Feb. 23, 1905.

It is imperatively necessary that Sir Henry Irving shall not act for at least two months from this date.

(Signed) Arthur Foxwell, M.D.,
W. Allan Lloyd-Davies, L.R.C.P., F.R.C.S."

The medical bulletin on Friday stated that Sir Henry was rather better; was taking plenty of nourishment with a fairly good appetite; and was also much more cheerful. He may remain at Wolverhampton for another week, and then will probably go to the South of England for rest and change. He is not expected to resume work for two months; but in all probability will fulfil his engagement at Drury-lane Theatre towards the end of April.

When we remember how Sir Henry Irving has been working of late, his collapse is not extraordinary. On Sunday, the 12th inst., he travelled from Plymouth to Exeter. On the following Monday, at the latter place, he rehearsed Waterloo and Becket in the afternoon, appearing in those pieces in the evening. On the Tuesday he appeared in The Merchant of Venice at a matinée. On the Wednesday afternoon he attended an official reception by the Mayor and Mayoress at the Exeter Guildhall, appearing in Becket in the evening. He arrived in Bath at noon on the Thursday, and opened there in Waterloo and The Bells. On the Friday he unveiled the Quin tablet, making a long speech under fire from a hundred and fifty photographic cameras, inspected the Guildhall and the Abbey, and was entertained at luncheon, making a second long speech, and acting, of course, the same day. The only wonder is that, with such unsparing exertions, Sir Henry has not broken down earlier.

Our ever-cheery contemporary, The Pelican, in a paragraph about Mr. A. B. Walkley, states that he began his career as a dramatic critic by noticing amateur performances in The Era. This is calculated to convey a slightly erroneous impression. Mr. Walkley was, fortunately, secured by us as a specialist; and his department was the criticism of all the French companies which visited London. We need hardly say that he did complete justice to their performances. There is a legend in this office that he left us because he could not feel completely satisfied with the supply of Greek type.

Another eminent critic, Mr. William Archer, was at one time anxious to contribute to our columns. We hasten to add that his proposal involved no sacrifice either of his dignity as a writer or his self-respect as a man. Mr. Archer's idea was that he should have a special page reserved for him on which to express his opinions weekly on things theatrical, our own staff "contradicting and confuting" him—as he put it—"just as they pleased." There were great humorous possibilities in the notion; but, as party feeling in connection with Ibsen was running high at the time, and as our staff to a man were ardent anti-Ibsenites, we were afraid that the fun of this proposed internecine warfare might grow rather too fast and furious.

Mr. Beerbohm Tree has decided upon the production in the autumn of a new drama, by Mr. Stephen Phillips, in which the Emperor Nero will figure, up to the period of his death. A full scenario of the work, which is in a prologue and three acts, has already been made by Mr. Phillips, who has condoned the faults of the cruel Nero by ascribing his crimes to æsthetic, rather than to brutal sources. The female interest in the play is concerned with Agrippina, the mother of Nero; with Poppia, his mistress; and with Acte, his slave, who exercises a salutary influence over him. Of the opportunities which Nero gives for spectacular display Mr. Tree is sure to take all possible advantage, and a production of unexampled magnificence may be expected.

Miss Edith Wynne Matthison has our deep sympathy on the death of her father, Mr. Henry Matthison, who died on the 16th inst. in his sixty-sixth year, after a long and painful illness. Mr. Matthison, who possessed a fine tenor voice, belonged to a Birmingham family, and at the time of his death was a trustee of the Musical Society of that town, of which he was one of the original members. Mr. Matthison married Miss Kate Wynne, a cultured vocalist, who survives him, and there are also three sons.

Mr. Edward Hastings has received the following further subscriptions since Feb. 9:—Mr. Lewis Calvert, £1 1s.; Mr. Harry Grattan, 10s.; Mr. Compton Coutts, £1.

Our Paris correspondent thus expresses his opinion on the French Société des Auteurs:—"I think it was as far back as 1896 that The Era, in an excellent leader—which was reproduced in several Paris papers—made a vigorous onslaught on the 'Société des Auteurs,' drawing attention to its grotesque policy of bullying instead of protecting its members. And it is a pity that M. Millerand, who, as counsel for several dramatic authors, is now attacking the Authors' Society in one of our law courts, does not use the beforementioned leader as a leit-motiv. The society, seeing that its existence was threatened, raised the silly alarm about the 'Theatrical Trust.' But everybody knows this is only a farce. With its existing mediæval regulations, this society has no raison d'être whatsoever, and must either disappear or be reconstructed on altogether different lines. Draco's laws were mild compared to those invented by the governing body of this wonderful society. Thus, one of its by-laws forbids an author to accept from a theatre a smaller royalty than the one fixed by the society; the author infringing this rule to be expelled, and the theatre to be placed in interdict. Referring to this beautiful arrangement, M. Leon Gaudillot, the well-known dramatist, said: 'Our ancestors would not have taken the trouble of storming the Bastille and sweeping away the abuses of the old régime had they known that a century later a dramatic author would be less fortunate than a greengrocer, who can dispose of his carrots and potatoes at whatever price he likes.' At last, however, the day of reckoning has come, and the powerful society has to answer for its misdeeds."

There are some incidents which can be dealt with neither by apology nor explanation, and can only be treated humorously. In the case of Leslie v. George Beach, in the Court of King's Bench, on Tuesday, it "transpired"—to use the consecrated term—that the first part of an advertisement for "two wagons of beasts and a bouncing lion" had inadvertently been inserted by us as "two wagons of bats." To throw the blame on the copy would be, possibly, to offend an advertiser; to admit error would be to inculpate ourselves. We can only plead the rarity of accidents of a kind which will occur in the best regulated periodicals.

The consequences, however, appear to have been rather serious. We are informed—but do not in the least believe—that the demand for bats was stimulated by this advertisement in a remarkable degree. The Era is read by animal dealers in every part of the world; and, as "two wagon-loads of bats" was obviously a large and profitable order, it is stated—though we will not vouch for the accuracy of the statement—that so active were the agents in procuring the often-inverted "fly-by-nights," that whole districts were denuded of bats. "Enquiries," as they say in the Stock Exchange reports, were very vigorous; and the supply, for the moment, was quite unequal to the demand. In some places, indeed, there was not a bat to be had "for love or money." However, menageries and zoological gardens can always use a few dozen of these curious creatures; and the interesting bat cage in the "small cat house" in the Zoological Gardens is now well tenanted.

The incident reminds us of a mistake in a country paper, by which an offer to dispose of a "long-horned cow" was transformed into an announcement that a "long-horned sow" was for sale. Showmen from all parts of the country "wrote in" to secure this unusual animal, and were much disappointed to discover that it was the "pica," and not the pig, that was eccentric.

Sir Henry Irving sent a wreath, with the inscription "From an Old Comrade," on the occasion of the funeral of the late Mr. Lewis Ball, which took place on Saturday at Teignmouth. Similar tokens of respect were received from Mr. Edward Compton and the Compton Comedy Company, and from the Lyceum Company.

The chairman's list at the Benevolent Fund Dinner of the Scenic Artists' Association, at the Imperial Restaurant on Sunday last, totalled upwards of £100, including £20 from the chairman, Sir Lawrence Alma Tadema, R.A.; £10 10s. from Mr. George Alexander; £6 6s. from Mr. Hawes Craven, the President of the Scenic Artists' Association; £6 6s. from Mr. Sidney Goldmann; £5 5s. from Mr. J. M. Barrie; £5 5s. from the London Exhibitions; £5 5s. from the Alhambra; and the following:—Sir Clinton E. Dawkins, £5; Mrs. Bethune, £3; Mr. W. L. Courtney, £3 3s.; Mr. Charles Frohman, £2 2s.; Mr. Max Hecht, £2 2s.; Sir Henry Irving, £2 2s.; Mr. W. H. Kendal, £2 2s.; Captain Robert Marshall, £2 2s.; Mr. J. S. Sargent, R.A., £2 2s.; Mr. Henry J. Welch, £2 2s.; Mr. R. Caney, £2 2s.; Mr. W. Telbin, £2 2s.; Mr. J. Copper, £2 2s.; Sir William B. Richmond, R.A., K.C.B., £2 2s.; Mr. Martin Harvey, £2 2s.; Mr. Ambrose Poynter, £2; and Sir Squire Bancroft, £2 2s.

The committee of the Scenic Artists' Association hold their next meeting on Monday next, 27th inst., and we are asked to remind candidates for membership that this is the last occasion upon which they can be elected members without payment of an entrance fee. The secretary of the Scenic Artists' Association will be glad to hear from artists willing to give their services at the daily matinées at the exhibition in April next. He will also be glad to hear from owners of pictures, sketches, or models by Absolom, Bolena, Beverley, Bough, Chambers, Cox, Sidney Cooper, Calcott, Gates, Grieve, Hunt, Leitch, Loutherbourge, Marinare, Mulready, Marshall, Nasmith, Roberts, Clarkson, Stanfield, W. Telbin, Charles Tomkins, John O'Connor, Michael Angelo Rooker, and any other famous deceased scene painters.

The "Dictionnaire National des Contemporains," published in Paris, contains some interesting particulars respecting Mr. W. H. C. Nation, the well-known manager, adapter, and writer of songs. One of his pieces, described in the dictionary, "Green beaf the graceful or the blue faced shore," is stated to be founded on an old fairy tale dedicated to the Princess de Conti. The title, at any rate, is original.

Mr. E. S. Willard devoted a week of his recent engagement at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, to the English version of Alfred Capus's comedy La Chatelaine, which was first named The Optimist, and recently rechristened The Brighter Side. Mr. Willard then revived The Middleman on the 13th inst., and appeared once more as the genial old potter, Cyrus Blenkarn, in which rôle he won the favour of the New York public many years ago at the old Star Theatre, and which still remains one of the most popular and enjoyable in his répertoire. On the opening night of the present revival, Mr. Willard's performance was applauded to the echo, and at the end of each act he was obliged to respond to repeated curtain calls. Mr. Willard's company appeared to great advantage.

"The Lonely Millionaires," Mrs. Henry de la Pasture's comedy, will be produced at the Court Theatre this afternoon, a matinée and evening performance being also fixed for Monday. Mr. William Farren, jun., will take an important part in the new piece.

Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer, who is a shareholder in the Great Northern Railway Company, was asked to sign the memorial against Sunday travelling, which met with such scant ceremony at the recent meeting of the directors. Her reply was a vigorous letter of protest to the chairman.

Miss Stella Brereton (Mrs. Richard Douglas) is widely known as an actress and teacher, but the list of her accomplishments does not end with the voice production, dancing, facial expression, and general deportment that she conveys so cleverly to her many pupils. She has designed costumes for both sides of the footlights, the idea having first occurred to her when her late son was a small child, and the well-known artist, Mr. Joseph Mordecai, was anxious to paint his portrait. Mrs. Douglas dressed her boy in a suit such as Romeo's page might have worn, of stamped velvet of golden tint, with tights of a peculiar peacock blue, and a tiny skull cap. He was given a lute to hold, and the picture, called "My lady sweet," was hung on the line at the Academy, and became the property of an American, who bought it for his private gallery in the United States. Lace-making is another occupation of Miss Brereton's spare time. She lives near Regent's Park, in a pretty little house built in the time of George IV., only a few doors from a house once possessed by Kean. Her garden is large enough for the erection of a small stage, several of her pupils having made their first appearances in this little pastoral theatre.

Miss Brereton, who studied with the late Miss Mary Birch, tells a score of anecdotes of the old days at the St. James's, under the Hare and Kendal management, at the Novelty, and at the Princess's Theatres. At the last-named house she understudied Miss Eastlake, and played her part in The Romany Rye, to the hero of Mr. Willard—during Mr. Barrett's absence—on an occasion when the King and Queen (then Prince and Princess of Wales) paid a visit in state to the popular theatre. The stage-manager asked Miss Brereton whether he had better wire for Miss Eastlake, to which she calmly replied, "Don't be nervous! I think I know my words!" A big basket of exquisite flowers, sent round from the Royal box, proved that "the guests of the evening" had no fault to find with her performance of Gertie Heckett. On another occasion, when the Prince of Wales was present at the Novelty, soon after the production of Nita's First, there was a hasty consultation behind the scenes on the advisability of omitting a certain good line in the farce, because it contained the following allusion to a Royal residence. The characters were discussing a suitable place to which to dispatch the baby on whose inopportune appearances the fun of the piece turned, and one of them had to say, "Do you expect me to send it to Buckingham Palace?" By Miss Brereton's advice the speech was not cut, and the Prince was so amused that there was a long stage wait while His Royal Highness had his laugh out.

Miss Brereton's skill in making up is shown by the fact that such an experienced actor as Mr. McIntyre actually mistook her for one of the useful, but least attractive, people connected with a theatre. She was cast for the part of a servant girl in a farce, and, standing beside him for a minute, on the first night, was a little surprised that he did not speak, so she wished him good evening. He started at the sound of her voice, stared at her, and exclaimed, "Good heavens, my dear! I thought you were a cleaner!" Miss Brereton possesses a fine collection of Mr. Mordecai's paintings, including several beautiful portraits of her son, two of herself, and a life size "sketch" of the King that is a remarkably strong piece of work.

Mr. Edward Terry changed his bill at the Princess Theatre, New York, on the 10th inst., and appeared for the first time there as Christopher Coleman in Messrs. Stephenson and Yardley's three-act farce, The Passport. This exceedingly lively and laughable play was received with marked approval, the mishaps and complications that involved a party of English tourists in Russia being set forth in such a spirited and clever manner that the audience was kept in a high good humour throughout the performance. Mr. Terry and the principal members of his company were warmly applauded

Miss Maude Adams, the American actress, who recently appeared for the one-thousandth time as Lady Babbie in The Little Minister, has added the one-act play 'Op 'o Me Thumb, by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce to her bill at the Empire Theatre, New York. In this pathetic little piece Miss Adams does some effective character acting, and her embodiment of the little laundry drudge, Amanda Affick, has received universal praise.

"The Taming of the Shrew," which on Wednesday next establishes with its 100th performance a record so far as this play is concerned, will probably give place to Hamlet at the Adelphi Theatre some time in April next, after which it will be sent, with Mr. Asche and Miss Brayton in their original parts, for an autumn tour. During the absence of Mr. Asche and Miss Brayton, Mr. Stuart will produce Dr. Wake's Patient, by W. Gayer Mackay and Robert Ord, a play which was tried some little time ago with great success at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool. About Christmas Mr. Asche and Miss Brayton will return to the Adelphi Theatre, to appear in Mr. Stuart's production of As You Like It.

The leading character in Strongheart, Mr. William C. De Mille's four-act comedy-drama, which was recently produced at the Hudson Theatre, New York, is a young Indian, the son of a Chief, whose tribe have raised a fund to pay for Strongheart's education among the white men. He is studying at Columbia College. His courage and honesty have won for him the friendship of his fellow-students. He has covered himself with glory in the football field. But there comes a time when he is suspected of treachery, being accused of sending the signals used by Columbia to the opposing team. In order to screen the man to whom he has been as a brother, he refuses to clear himself, and is ostracised by the students. In the midst of this trouble, a greater one falls upon him. He lets it become known that he is in love with Dorothy Nelson, the sister of his best friend. When Frank Nelson, her brother, hears this, he turns on Strongheart, and berates him for his presumption. He must never forget that he is an Indian. Whereupon Strongheart delivers a long tirade against race prejudice, but fails to move his listeners.

Embittered by their treatment, he is tempted to withhold certain facts concerning the sending of the signals. These are in Frank Nelson's hand-writing, and at the inquiry to be held on the following day, Dorothy's brother will be adjudged a traitor, and expelled from the college if the Indian shows the paper in his possession, and lets matters take their course. He is too magnanimous, however, to do that, and when the right moment comes he "shows up" the real villain, and wins the gratitude of the students. He is restored to favour, but, all the same, he can never be allowed to marry a white girl. Dorothy has confessed her love for him, and expressed her willingness to go with him to his own people. At this juncture an Indian messenger from Strongheart's tribe comes to announce the death of his Chief, and summon Strongheart to take the leadership of his people. The message tells him that he must not bring the white woman; that she could not endure the life of the plains; and that the tribe would refuse to let her dwell among them. In Strongheart's breast there is a conflict between personal desire and racial pride, and the latter triumphs. He obeys the call, and renounces the girl he loves. "Great Spirit, help me, for I am all alone," he cries, with uplifted hands, as the curtain falls.

Mr. Charles Frohman has just come to town from New York, and is enthusiastic over the success which English authors have achieved in the States in recent times. Among them he includes The Duke of Killicrankie, the répertoire plays of Sir Charles Wyndham, 'Op o' Me Thumb, The Little Minister (in the revival of which Miss Maude Adams played Babbie), Sunday, Mr. Pinero's Letty, Joseph Entangled, The Admirable Crichton, Cousin Kate, Mr. Forbes-Robertson in H. V. Esmond's Love and the Man, and The School Girl, in which Miss Edna May's triumph was complete. The American belle is to return to us in May with The School Girl, in which she is to play a seven weeks' engagement in London.

English dramatists may take a proper pride in the above list, for in only two French pieces could Mr. Frohman perceive prosperity, his choice lying with Sardou's Sorceress and Mirabeau's Business is Business; Germany could boast only one success, The Mountain Climbers; while, of American plays, those which made decided hits were Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots, The Dictator, Strongheart, Cousin Billy, and Grannie. For the guidance of our readers, we may remind them that all these plays have been fully described from time to time in our columns.

Mr. Frohman further declares his intention to take Mr. Seymour Hicks and Miss Ellaline Terriss to America for a season, when they will be supported by the best musical comedy talent that can be secured. The enterprising manager has also obtained the English rights in Leah Kleschna, the strenuous play by Charles McLellan, which he will introduce to London about Easter. Withal, he has another comedy from the pen of Mr. J. M. Barrie, to which Miss Ellen Terry will add her fascinating personality; while, with certain musical plays which will occupy Mr. Frohman's attention next season, the hands of the indomitable entrepreneur are pretty full.

Mr. William Mollison will secede from the cast of Henry V., at the Imperial, in April, as he starts his tour of Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush at the Shakespeare, Liverpool, on the 3rd of that month. Mr. Mollison has a very strong pathetic part in the new piece, which has been running for five years in America. The play contains a fine comedy part of rather an uncommon nature, and Mr. Durward Lely, Mr. Mollison's partner, has sailed for America in order to secure its American representative. Mr. Frank Cooper and Miss Lucy Wilson, the clever emotional actress, have also been engaged for leading parts.

At the Gaiety Theatre, Hastings, on Monday, will be produced a new one-act play, by Fewlass Llewellyn, entitled At Evensong. The parts will be sustained by Messrs. Percy D. Standing, C. W. Standing, Ronald Daniel, William Allison, and Miss Joan Ellis. Mr. Llewellyn, it may be remembered, is part author of The Coal King and A Gentleman of England.

Dr. A. H. Mann, organist of King's College and to the University of Cambridge, delivered, on Tuesday, in the Guildhall School of Music, a lecture on "Some East Anglian Musicians." The address, which was given under the auspices of the London Society of East Anglians, was illustrated by Miss Sybil Keymer (violinist), Mr. Joseph Reed (tenor), and Mr. A. H. Gee (baritone). Dr. W. H. Cummings, principal of the school, presided. Dr. Mann, in his address, went so far back as about 1220, when the famous "Summer is icumin in" was copied by an East Anglian. Though organs were earlier in use, the first organist mentioned throughout England was "Adam," organist of Norwich Cathedral in 1333. He concluded his lecture with a reference to a song he had discovered in the Market Place of Norwich, and not before mentioned in any list of old Norfolk songs. It sang the glories of the "Norfolk Rangers," a Volunteer corps raised in 1782, and dispersed in 1812.

Miss Lena Ashwell delighted with her recitations the aristocratic company present at the "At Home" given by the Ladies' Empire Club, on Tuesday afternoon.

Madame Adelina Patti, accompanied by her husband, Baron Cederstrom, is on a motoring tour in the South of Europe. They have arrived at Cannes, and are continuing their journey through Italy.

Mr. Hall Caine's Eternal City is now being acted in an Italian version at the Manzoni Theatre, Rome, the Pope being referred to as Sixtus X. Signor Turelli and D'Arborio are the adapters of the play.

Mr. J. T. Grein will open a public debate in the Library of the Passmore Edwards Settlement, on Monday next, at 8.30, his subject being "Subsidised Theatres: Their Artistic and Financial Organisation." Admission to the debate will be free.

Miss Amy Lamborn, who has played ingénues and juvenile leading parts with Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, and Mr. Penley, has been engaged by the Vedrenne-Barker management to appear in an Irish character part in The Pot of Broth, at the matinée at the Court Theatre, on Tuesday.

"The Great Awakening," a new and original drama by Maud Hildyard and Russell Vaun, will be taken on tour by Miss Hildyard in the autumn, visiting all the principal suburban and provincial theatres, supported by a company of specially-selected artistes, and furnished with new scenery, uniforms, and costumes. The booking is in the hands of Mr. Ernest Dottridge, of the Empire Theatre, Oldham.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram," a farce in three acts, by Frank Wyatt, was the attraction at the Madison-square Theatre, New York, on the 1st inst. This little playhouse has always enjoyed a distinctive popularity, and many a theatre-goer was glad when it was reopened, under the management of Mr. W. N. Lawrence, after being closed for a year. A Trip to Chinatown and many a merry farce was produced here in the years that are gone, and Mr. Wyatt's play is, fortunately, quite in keeping with the traditions of this particular theatre. Mrs. Temple's Telegram was an unqualified success, and the Madison-square Theatre has taken a new lease of life and popularity. The story runs as follows: Jack Temple, a young married man, has been away from home all night, having been imprisoned in the Ferris Wheel. In the car with him was a lady, who turns out to be the wife of his best friend, Frank Fuller, but it is some time before he learns her identity. His own wife refuses to accept his explanation, and he thereupon decides that a lie will serve his purpose better. So he tells her that he has been visiting his friend, John Brown, who lives in the suburbs. Asked for the name of the place, he invents, as he supposes, that of Pickleton-on-the-Thames. His wife immediately wires an urgent message addressed to Mr. John Brown at the place mentioned. In the meantime, Frank Fuller calls, and at Temple's solicitation agrees to impersonate the fictitious Mr. Brown. Of course, there is a real Pickleton, and a real John Brown, and the latter has a very real and jealous wife. Hence there are more lies and a series of complications that last through three acts, and keep the audience laughing most of the time.

Mr. Clinton Baddeley has been engaged by Mr. Walter Melville to play Jules Delarney, in A Disgrace to Her Sex, on tour, appearing this week at Ipswich.

Mr. Laurence Irving, at the recent matinée for the benefit of the Russian artistes who left London on Saturday for America, remarked that M. Orleneff, the manager of the troupe, would probably, in his gratitude for over £230 collected, insist on kissing him. We have not been able to ascertain if the osculation "came off"; but in any case it is interesting to notice that, while the Russians "pepper" our unhappy fishermen in the North Sea, we bombard their actors and actresses with banknotes.

Mr. Norman Forbes will play Shylock at two special matinées of The Merchant of Venice, which will be given at Terry's Theatre on Thursday and Saturday, March 9 and 11 respectively. Mrs. Constance Stuart will essay Portia, and Mr. Loring Fernie and Mr. Henry Ainley will enact Gratiano and Bassanio. The production will be under the direction of Mr. J. H. Barnes, who will enact Antonio.

Mr. Walter Reynolds's new play, entitled Mr. Smith, in which a striking contrast between the classes and the masses is drawn, will be produced at the Camden Theatre on Monday, March 6.

Messrs. Pagden and Gilbert's tour with A Woman of Impulse starts on Monday, and is fully booked till June. In a strong cast are Messrs. Pagden, Gilbert, and Ruddle Brown, and Misses Marie de Roos and Lina Nazeby.

Mr. Frank Lascelles, who has been engaged by Mr. Tree to play Ferdinand in the only company of The Tempest which he is sending out this spring, has had a wide experience in Shakespearean parts, his Romeo being spoken of in high terms of praise.

We announce with regret the death of Mr. Walter Summers, the well-known author, playwright, and pantomime producer, which occurred on Wednesday morning last at the Beaconsfield Nursing Institution, Balham, after a long and painful illness. He was thirty-eight years of age at the time of his death, and his last work was the production of Mr. Fred Karno's successful pantomime of Cinderella—of which he was the author—at the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington, during the Christmas season just concluded. The funeral will take place at Wimbledon Cemetery on Monday next, the cortege leaving the above institution at 2.30 p.m.

The Oxford University Dramatic Society will, on Wednesday, produce at the New Theatre, Oxford, The Clouds of Aristophanes in the original Greek. The incidental music and choruses have been specially written by Sir Hubert Parry.

Mr. Norman V. Norman is arranging to produce a series of "Pastoral Plays" during the coming summer. The répertoire will include the popular comedy Nell Gwyn, which has been specially adapted for pastorals, and which has met with such striking success under Mr. Norman's management.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Thomas Percy Carmichael (professionally known as Arthur Cecil Percy), which occurred at Epsom on the 16th inst. Mr. Percy was a native of Glasgow, and was known as a very painstaking actor in heavy and character parts. His most distinct successes were made in The Hansom Cab, England, Home, and Beauty, The Trumpet Call, The English Rose, The Penalty of Crime, Alone in London, The French Spy, and I Defy the World. His demise at the early age of 43 is deeply regretted by his many friends and acquaintances, especially so by his sorrowing wife. The deceased was interred on Monday at Epsom.

Arrangements have now been completed to give a limited number of evening performances, commencing Monday, May 1, at the Court Theatre of Mr. Bernard Shaw's comedy, John Bull's Other Island.

Miss Marie Daltra (Mrs. Lionel Rignold), the original Mrs. Brown of A Chinese Honeymoon, at the Strand Theatre, has been specially engaged by Mr. Charles Macdona to play Mrs. Honeycomb in a suburban tour of The Gay Parisienne, commencing March 6, at the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington.

Miss Louisa Peach terminates to-night a seven months' starring engagement with Mr. Henry Furnival's Harvest of Sin and Lost in Paris company.

Master Cyril Smith, who has for so long played Geoffrey to Sir Henry Irving's Becket, on tour, is, we regret to state, so seriously ill that it was found necessary to leave him behind at Plymouth. He is in the Brough Hospital, where he is progressing satisfactorily, and hopes to rejoin his company shortly.

The hundredth performance of the successful children's pantomime, The White Cat, will take place at Drury Lane Theatre on Tuesday, when the management will present each visitor with a souvenir of the occasion.

Mr. Lionel Rignold has accepted an engagement with Mr. Charles Macdona to play Ebenezer Honeycomb in The Gay Parisienne for a suburban tour, commencing March 6. Many of Mr. Rignold's admirers will remember with pleasure his admirable performance of this part during the long and successful run of the comedy at the Duke of York's Theatre.

"Zapfenstreich," Franz Adam Beyerlein's stirring military drama, which has just been produced under M. Porel's management, at the Vaudeville Theatre, Paris, was given in London last year, and formed the greatest success of the German season at the Royalty Theatre, being played thirty times in all during the season. It was revived with great success during the present German season at the Great Queen-street Theatre.

Mr. James H. Stoddart, "the grand old man of the American stage," at his farewell performance at the Grand Opera House, San Francisco, on the 4th inst., in The Bonnie Brier Bush, received many tokens of regard from the leading citizens of the city. The members of his company assembled on the stage, and with the immense audience present, united in singing "Auld Lang Syne." This performance completed the 70th year of Stoddart's appearance, and at the end of this season he will retire permanently from the stage.

A committee meeting of the Touring Managers' Association will be held at 3, Bedford-street, Strand, on Friday, March 3, at 12.30.

Mr. John F. Asche, having just concluded a tour with the great spectacular drama, The World, is now booking a spring and autumn tour. This revival has proved one of the most successful of the past year, and there is no doubt that great things may be expected of it during the coming season.

Frau Rosa Bertens will make her first appearance this season at the Great Queen-street Theatre on Monday next, in Max Halbe's powerful play, Der Strom, which will also be played on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday Die Wildente (the wild duck), by Ibsen, will be produced, and will be played during the remainder of the week and on Saturday afternoon, March 4, Frau Rosa Bertens appearing as Gina Ekdal. The German season has entered upon its last weeks, and Saturday, March 18, will see its final performance this season.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

"DIONYSOS,"
Lyric Tragedy, in Three Acts, in Verse,
by M. Joachim Gasquet.
Music by M. Leon Moreau.
Produced at the Theatre de l'Œuvre, Feb. 29.

Kadmos	M. PHILIPPE GARNIER
Pentheus	M. JEAN FROMENT
Tirésias	M. GEORGES SAILLARD
Dionysos	MDLLE. CARMEN DERAISY
Agavé	MDLLE. LAURE MOUREY
1re. Bakkante	MDLLE. IDA BRASSY
2re. Bakkante	MDLLE. DELARGE
3re. Bakkante	MDLLE. DEMOY

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, FEB. 23.—Several novelties are announced for the coming week, and, as usual, Messieurs les directeurs are cunningly arranging things so as to squeeze at least two in one night. The Œuvre has produced M. Joachim Gasquet's lyric tragedy, Dionysos, and I ask myself what induced M. Lugné-Poe to bring out a work enshrouded in a thick mist through which we tried in vain to grope our way. Even M. Leon Moreau's at times rather noisy music, admirably rendered by M. Chevillard's orchestra, failed to impart colour and life to this dull, terribly monotonous play. Nor was the interpretation worthy of the traditions of the Theatre de l'Œuvre. We expected better things from M. Lugné-Poe.

Le Bon Numéro is the title of a smart little one-act curtain-raiser by M. André Barde, produced at the Vaudeville, and which accompanies La Retraite on the bill. The scene of this trifle is laid at a charity bazaar, at the Baronne de Vaucresson's mansion, where the stalls are kept by Society women and well-known actresses. Among the fashionable crowd is Lucien Moustier, the millionaire's son, a practical youth. He has come to have a look at an heiress whom his father wants for a daughter-in-law. The heiress, he is told, is to be found at Stall No. 9. He mistakes, however, a 6 for a 9, and goes to the Stall 6, where he sees a delightful creature, with whom he at once falls violently in love. And when he discovers his mistake, and learns that No. 6 is penniless, he does not care a bit. He will marry No. 6. Admirably interpreted by the capital Vaudeville company, the little comedy met with an excellent reception.

AT the Comedie-Française Alfred de Vigny's Shylock has been put into rehearsal. M. Leloir will impersonate Shylock, and Mdlle. Lara Portia. The work will be played at the classical matinées.

THE piece to follow La Retraite, at the Vaudeville, will be L'Armature, a five-act comedy by M. Brieux, founded on M. Paul Hervieu's well-known novel of the same name. Mme. Berthe Cerny, Mdlle. Lucie Gérard, Mdlle. Drunzer, M. Grand, and M. Chelles have been specially engaged for the new work.

THE Ambigu announces for next week La Belle Marseillaise, a piece in four acts and five tableaux which plays at the time of the Consulate. The management promise us a wonderful fourth act, on the terrace of the Château de Saint-Cloud, the day on which Bonaparte proclaimed himself Emperor.

MME. ASTIE DE VALSAYRE, who has become an expert fencer to defend women's rights, sword in hand, has written a play in collaboration with M. Camille Hayot. The piece, called La Chasse aux Millions, will be produced at the Theatre Populaire, of Belleville.

Le Bercail has disappeared from the bill at the Gymnase, and Le Retour de Jerusalem is being played once more.

M. EMILE FABRE'S comedy, Les Ventres dorés, to be brought out soon at the Odéon, plays in the world of finance. We will be shown bankers of every category, stockbrokers, touts, speculators, journalists, deputies, noblemen. Every class of society will be represented. There will even be a king! The principal rôle will be interpreted by M. Gémier.

THE Secretary of the Fine Arts Ministry has authorised M. Ginisty, manager of the Odéon, to send his company on tour in the provinces during the month of June. Only classical works will be given, and only those cities will be visited whose inhabitants are supposed to have an eye to literary beauty.

"LES AVARIES."
Play in Three Acts,
by M. Brieux,
Produced at the Théâtre Antoine, Feb. 22.

Le Directeur	M. ANTOINE
Le Docteur	M. MOSNIER
L'Avarié	M. BERNARD
Le Ceau-père	M. SAVERNE
Un Père	M. DEGEORGE
L'Epouse	MDLLE. VAN DOREN
La Mère	MDLLE. GRUMBACH
La Nourrice	MDLLE. MILLER
Une Fille	MDLLE. JEANNE LIAN

Two years ago the Censor refused to sanction the production of M. Brieux's Les Avariés, whereupon the author read the play at the Théâtre Antoine to a packed house, and received quite an ovation. When I tell you that Les Avariés deals with the affliction bestowed upon mankind by the flighty goddess Venus, you will understand that there is no necessity to enter into the plot, especially as, from a dramatic point of view, Les Aviaries does not constitute a play. All I can say is that if I want to offer my friends a pleasant evening's entertainment, I certainly will not take them to see M. Brieux's latest production. It required some moral courage on the part of M. Antoine's company to impersonate what the author calls "des avariés"; but the artists on Wednesday worked with a will, and acted admirably.

PRESENT TO SIR HENRY IRVING.

We here give an engraving of the smoker's combination in silver, which was presented to Sir Henry Irving last week at Bath, by the Mayor, on behalf of the citizens. The inscription upon it is:—"Presented to Sir Henry Irving by the citizens of Bath as a memento of his visit to his native county, and in grateful recognition of his distinguished services to the drama, both as actor and as manager. Bath, February 17, 1905."

Among those present at the luncheon were Mr. Lewis Waller, Mr. Bram Stoker, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Raleigh, Mr. Egbert Lewis, lessee of the Bath Theatre Royal, and Mrs. Lewis, Miss Maud Fealy, Mr. Gerald Lawrence, Mr. Peter Davey, of the Kingston Theatre, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Loveday, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chute, of the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, Mr. Lewis A. Long and Mr. W. F. C. Schöttler, respectively acting-manager and musical-director of the Theatre Royal, Bath, Mr. Alderman Mitchell, chairman of the Bath Theatres Co., and Mr. Councillor Ricketts, the secretary of the Bath Theatres Co.

PRESENTATIONS.

Two interesting presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kelly, at the Theatre Royal, Birkenhead, on the 17th inst. Mr. Kelly, as is well known, terminates his tenancy of the Theatre Metropole at the end of this month, but he still continues as lessee of the Theatre Royal. The first of the two presentations was made by Alderman T. Shaw in the crush-room of the Royal, and consisted of a handsome gold cigar case for Mr. Kelly and a beautiful silver rose-bowl for Mrs. Kelly. On the case was inscribed: "Presented, together with a silver rose-bowl, to W. W. Kelly, Esq., by a number of Birkenhead friends, as a token of their esteem and regard. 17th February, 1905." Mr. Kelly appropriately acknowledged the gift, and Mrs. Kelly also replied in a graceful speech. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly were afterwards presented by the staff of the Metropole with an illuminated address.

"DEAR LADY MARY."

A Comedy-Drama, in Four Acts,
by Lady Violet Greville.
Played for the First Time at the Bijou Hall, Bayswater, on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

Lord Dover	MR. G. H. BLAGROVE
Hon. Antony Etheredge	MR. F. ST. BARBE
Rev. Cecil Chassible	MR. V. E. G. CHURCHER
Jim Blake	MR. J. FRITZ RUSSELL YOUNG
Mr. Cockayne Frith	MR. CECIL COTCHIN
Tom Bennet	MR. H. C. HEWITT
Inspector	MR. J. H. WEST
Richard Giles	MR. CECIL COTCHIN
Lady Mary Sheldon	MRS. HATHERELL
Lottie Vervaine	MRS. MURCH
Mrs. Cockayne Frith	MRS. G. H. BLAGROVE
Pamela Frith	MISS DORA EVILL-WEST
Lily Frith	MISS LUCY MERZBACH
Mrs. Potts	MISS E. E. BIRCH
Maid	MISS F. ROSE PALMER

The tribulations of Cupid are freshly treated in a new piece by Lady Violet Greville, the popular writer whose weekly chat in the columns of a contemporary is so entertaining, and who has given proof of her ability equally to amuse as a playwright. A nimble wit is evident throughout the play, sparkling epigrams are frequent, and the romantic interest, which at times becomes thrilling, is preserved without a break; but the pen of the authoress has faltered in the last act, and the end is weak and ineffective, careful revision being needed to preserve it from the "anti-climax" which at present exists. Devoted affection is cherished by the Hon. Antony Etheredge, a headstrong youth, for his sister, Lady Mary, a charming widow, the memory of whose short and unhappy marriage is softened by the exercise of a charity which has won the esteem of the country folk in the village wherein she dwells with Antony and her elder brother, Lord Dover. Their peaceful life is broken in upon by their cousin, Jim Blake, whose roving disposition has kept him away from home for many years. He is cordially hated by Antony, partly because Jim saved him from death through a runaway horse, but especially because it is evident that the ne'er-do-well has made an impression on Lady Mary, who, in fear of fortune-hunters, has pledged herself to widowhood. Jim does, indeed, propose to Lady Mary, in spite of his engagement to Lily Frith, the daughter of a retired Islington grocer, with whom he had flirted on board an American liner. Jim has kept his engagement secret, until a neighbouring house is taken by the Friths, and Lily herself appears just after Lady Mary has retired to consider her answer to Jim. With scant ceremony Jim begs Lily to postpone her visit till the next day, when he hopes to effect a compromise; but Antony has learned of Jim's secret, and blurts out the truth to Lady Mary, who is on a visit to the Friths, calling in the girl and her mother to bear testimony in the presence of Jim, also laying bare his pretensions to Lady Mary. Lily, who has perceived Jim's increasing coolness towards her, declares that, under the circumstances their marriage is impossible, and Jim, with Lady Mary's reproaches ringing in his ears, goes off to resume his travels. In the year and a-half that elapse between the second and third acts, Lily Frith has assumed the free and independent spirit of the erudite, and returns home from college to take up a position as secretary to Lord Dover, aiding him so much in his archæological researches that there is more than a suspicion that she will win his heart and hand. Lady Mary is still devoted to her philanthropic work, but yearns for Jim's return, and when presently he enters through the window she allows herself to be clasped in his embrace. At this moment Antony enters, and ordering Jim out of the house, seizes a knife. There is a struggle, and Jim falls insensible, while the repentant youth pleads on his knees for Lady Mary's forgiveness. The wound, however, is not fatal, and Jim declares to a police officer who comes to investigate that the affair was an accident, but there is a fear that Antony's contrition is not lasting, and Jim begs Lady Mary to accompany him to South Africa. Lady Mary, with a devotion that appears indefensible, will not desert her brother, and the union of the lovers appears to be hopeless until it is found that Antony himself is on the verge of matrimony, and Lord Dover is espoused to his secretary, when all obstacles thus disappear. Little fault beyond an occasional lapse of memory could be found with the performance by the members of the Lewis Waller Dramatic Society, who gave a commendable rendering of the play. Mr. J. Fritz Russell Young is admirably fitted in voice and appearance for the part of the rugged, restless rover, whose tender qualities are revealed under the softening influence of love. He spoke the lines which are allotted to Jim Blake with almost perfect elocution, and earnestness and dramatic skill combined in a performance of thorough excellence. The part of Lady Mary was charmingly played by Mrs. Hatherell, whose enunciation was also to be commended, while the delicacy and grace of her rendering was infinite. Mr. G. H. Blagrove's well-proved ability was again apparent in a humorous impersonation of Lord Dover, but so much could not be said for the Cockayne Frith of Mr. Cecil Cotchin, who was evidently willing to be funny, but who suggested the wealthy plebeian neither in appearance nor action. Mr. F. St. Barbe, as the Hon. Antony Etheredge, played cleverly in a part that carries few compensations, and Mr. V. E. G. Churcher was conventionally clerical as the Rev. Cecil Chassible. Cordial approbation may be given to Miss Lucy Merzbach, who acted excellently as Lily Frith, and the vulgar affectations of the sister Pamela and of Mrs. Cockayne-Frith were effectively assumed by Miss Dora Evill-West, and Mrs. G. H. Blagrove, Mrs. Murch being vivacious and pleasing as Antony's affianced bride. During an interval, Mr. Russell Young, in his capacity as stage-manager, read a letter from Mr. Lewis Waller, the president, wishing success to the club, who had performed such excellent dramatic as well as charitable work, and also one from Lady Greville, who is in the South of France, thanking the club for the trouble taken in the production.

MR. DURWARD LELY sailed by the Campania from Liverpool on Saturday to make final arrangements for transferring the new play Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush to this country.

"THE 'VARSITY BELLE."

Farce by Fred. Jarman,
Music by Edward Jones; and Lyrics by George Porrington.
Produced at the Theatre Royal, Dover,
On Monday, February 20.

Theocritus W. Sparkleton	MR. HARRY COLLIER
George Barker	MR. LIONEL GLENISTER
Bertie Perrin	MR. LAURENCE TESSIER
Runyard	MR. JOHN R. VAL
Prof. Septimus Stoney	MR. HENRY CHICHESTER
Mrs. Barker	MISS ESTELLE DESPA
Maud Stoney	MISS MURIEL LOCHNER
Eva Stoney	MISS MAY CARDEW
Gaye Sparkleton	MISS FLORENCE BRANDON

The 'Varsity Belle, which has been turned into a musical comedy, has been apparently endowed with a new lease of life, for while the tuneful musical numbers and pretty dances introduced add to the verve and swing of the performance, the humorous scenes and situations remain unchanged. The details of the plot are too well known to need repetition. The principal interest is, of course, centred in the Belle. Miss Florence Brandon fully realises the love of fun that is the chief trait in the character of the charming young actress, Gaye Sparkleton, and whether, as the demure Mr. Payton, of Emmanuel, or as the mischief-loving girl who flirts with every man she meets—the grim professor included—Miss Brandon completely captivated the house, and scored a personal triumph. Mr. Harry Collier showed exceptional ability as Theocritus Ward Sparkleton, showing many original touches that prove the born comedian. Mr. John R. Val, too, is responsible for much merriment in the mirth-provoking character of Runyard, the college scout. The fun was also largely added to by the whimsical treatment of the rôle of Professor Septimus Stoney by Mr. Henry Chichester, and this gentleman shared most unmistakably in the success. Mr. Lionel Glenister, as George Barker, and Mr. Laurence Tessier, as Bertie Perrin, create merriment by their clever studies of the irrepressible undergraduates, Mr. Glenister's melodious baritone being heard to advantage in the topical song, "I wish I could invent." Miss May Cardew, as the Professor's wife, acted with grace and refinement, and made a most favourable impression. Miss Muriel Lochner's portrayal of Maud Stoney was most noticeable for its utter absence of artificiality and excellent elocution; and Miss Estelle Despa showed a considerable amount of unforced humour in the part of Mrs. Barker.

"MUCH ADO" AT HIS MAJESTY'S.

Those who saw Much Ado About Nothing on the first night of its production at His Majesty's Theatre can hardly imagine how greatly the production has been altered and improved. Not only has the piece been reduced to reasonable limits in the matter of time of performance, the Vault Scene having been judiciously removed; the whole performance has been enlivened, the repartees are delivered with more smartness and briskness; and the dramatic element in the entertainment has been strengthened and vivified. These remarks apply especially to Mr. Beerbohm Tree's Benedick. On the first night he was obviously anxious. Now that the production has settled down firmly into its groove he is happier, more humorous, and more effective. He is more at ease both in his armour and his costumes, and his Benedick is an admirable creation. It is less measured, more spontaneous, and he carries the audience with him completely. Miss Winifred Emery's Beatrice is as gay and airy in its humour, and as dainty in its delivery, as on the first night. Miss Viola Tree, who is now playing Hero, the part which she was prevented from undertaking by illness at the première, gives an exquisitely graceful and feminine reading of the rôle. There is a pleasing trace of girlishness about Miss Tree's reading, and she makes Hero, usually a somewhat colourless individual, interesting, sprightly, and agreeable. In the scene in which Margaret and Ursula dress Hero's hair, Miss Tree introduces a song which she sings with so much sweetness and skill as to delight the audience immensely. There is a freshness about Miss Tree's performance which is very winning; and her Hero is an agreeable variation on the usual reading of the rôle. Mr. Sydney Brough's Don Pedro has, of course, lost none of its dignity and ease, and Mr. Lawrence Irving's Don John was always so good that improvement was almost impossible. Another interpretation which was scarcely capable of being bettered is Mr. Basil Gill's Claudio, which retains all its original virtues of expressive delivery and artistic refinement. Mr. Henry Neville's Leonato is still impressive in its picturesque "presence," noble in its bearing, and so powerful in its dramatic force and energy. Mr. J. Fisher White's altogether excellent Antonio, and Mr. William Haviland's irreproachable Friar Francis, continue to win the warm admiration of the audience; and Mr. Louis Calvert as Dogberry, and Mr. Lionel Brough as Verges, present two capital creations of the best vein of Alston, as Margaret, and Miss Alice Crawford, as quaint Shakespearean comedy. Miss Muriel Ursula, have greatly improved their respective impersonations. Much Ado About Nothing is one of the most sumptuous and artistic productions, and one of the most sterling all-round representations of Shakespeare that could be imagined or desired; and there can be little doubt that the run of the magnificent revival will be a long and prosperous one.

MR. EDITOR.—Sir,—In your notice for Abertillery in last week's issue, you mention Mr. Will Simpson as having played the part of Fritz in What a Woman Did. I took up the part at short notice the previous Saturday at the King's Theatre, Cardiff, and also played it the following week.—Yours faithfully, JIM WOODS. Alhambra Theatre, Stourbridge, Feb. 21, 1905

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MISS MARGARET TURTON BROWNE.

MISS BROWNE says she was only on the stage for a short time, for, like most beginners without any interest at their back, she found it difficult to make anything like a good position for herself, competition being so keen nowadays. She wrote to a great many people before she got a chance—"to nearly every manager in London," she says, "and last of all to Miss Ellen Terry, who replied asking me to call, which I thought a great honour; but, alas! her letter went to the wrong place, through the carelessness of the General Post Office—all the way to Southampton, instead of Southampton-street. I explained this to Miss Terry, who said 'My dear child, you would have just looked the part, and now it is too late; the part is filled. I wanted someone in a hurry.' Poor little me! how my heart sank; but the famous actress added, 'Write to me again, and I will see what I can do for you.' Well, I have twice since, but I don't suppose she ever got my little notes." Miss Browne had thoughts of making a start as a reciter, but was advised to try the stage, as she was considered to have some talent for acting. At length a young manager gave her a chance in his company. She played the part of Kate Tyndall in Four Little Girls, and obtained some very good Press notices. The play, however, ran only a month, but the young actress was delighted at getting at least a start, and she says that she still feels grateful to the young manager. Then she joined Mr. Frank Curzon in Trelawny of the Wells, playing the part of Clara de Phenix, and also understudying. Miss Browne's next engagement was with Mr. Penley's Charley's Aunt company, sustaining in succession the parts of Amy Spettigue, Kitty Verdun, and Ela Delahay in that play, and the only lady, Marion, in The Lost Legion. She remained with this company for six months, and then joined Mrs. Patrick Campbell in the play, A Moonlight Blossom, and was also engaged for that lady's next production, The Canary, in which she played Lilly Jonus, and undestudied Jeffik Guillou in The Sacrament of Judas, but never had an opportunity of playing it. Joining Mr. Mouillot's company, she played the title-rôle in Sweet Lavender, which she thinks was her best part. Then a season of bad luck came, and Miss Browne accepted an engagement as nurse at one of the London hospitals, but her health broke down, and she gave it up. Recently she has taken up reciting in earnest. The largest building in which she has recited is the Alhambra, and her services have been largely secured for private "At Homes," &c.

THE RUSSIAN COMPANY.

BENEFIT MATINEE.

On Friday afternoon, the 17th inst., a performance was given at the Haymarket Theatre in aid of the company of Russian actors and actresses who have been in our midst during the last few weeks, and who leave London to-day for America. The theatre was kindly lent for the purpose by Mr. Frederick Harrison and Mr. Cyril Maude, and the charitable function largely owed its inception to the efforts of Mr. Laurence Irving and Mr. Samuel Gordon, the honorary secretary. The honorary committee consisted of her Grace the Duchess of Sutherland, the Lady Mary Harris, the Countess of Warwick, Sir Henry Irving, Miss Ellen Terry, Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beerbohm Tree, Sir George and Lady Lewis, Sir Samuel Montague, Bart., Sir Squire Bancroft, Lady Palmer, Lady Hardman, Mr. George R. Sims, Mr. Jerome K. Jerome, Mr. Frederic Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Maude, Mr. A. W. Pinero, Mr. Stuart Samuel, M.P., Mr. Carl Hentschel, and Mr. J. T. Grein. The business managers on this occasion were Mr. Horace Watson, the manager of the Haymarket Theatre, and Mr. A. F. Henderson, general manager to Sir Charles Wyndham.

The theatre was packed from floor to ceiling, and no wonder, when one considers the programme! Five different pieces were presented, comprising the screen scene from The School for Scandal, with Mr. Cyril Maude and Miss Winifred Emery; The Ballad Monger; a one-act Russian comedy by Balvotski, entitled A Zealous Fool is Worse than an Enemy; Charles Reade's Nance Oldfield; and In the Night, a Russian sketch in one act, by Stachovitch. Miss Ellen Terry, though suffering from a bad cold, charmed everyone with her Nance Oldfield, and Mr. Laurence Irving gave a clever study of the infatuated, dreamy law student, Alexander Oldworthy. At the conclusion of the performance of Nance Oldfield Mr. Irving came before the curtain and made a short speech. "Thanks are due," he said, "to Mr. Frederick Harrison and Mr. Cyril Maude for the use of the theatre; to the honorary committee, especially the ladies, who have rendered such valuable assistance; to the artistes who have given their services, and lent their names to the committee; and to the programme-sellers. I am particularly delighted to participate in this act of good fellowship and goodwill towards the actors and actresses of a land from which I have always received the greatest kindness, courtesy, goodwill, and consideration. I am very glad to be able to show to our Russian friends a similar spirit, and to be of real assistance to Mons. Orleneff and his company. Before we conclude he will very likely put my insular reticence to the test by kissing me. The financial results of this matinée are very good, there being a sum of over £230 after paying expenses. I am sure we all wish our Russian guests God-speed to the United States, and all the success which their great gifts and noble aims so justly deserve."

After the curtain was rung down on the last item of the programme Madame Nasimoff appeared on the stage, in response to the continued and enthusiastic applause of the audience. She said very little, but what she said came with all sincerity. "I tank you. You forget us—we not forget you. I tank you."

The ladies who kindly consented to sell programmes were Miss Nita Aria, Miss Sybil Arundale, Miss Muriel Beaumont, Miss Lillian Braithwaite, Miss Camille Clifford, Miss Kate Cutler, Miss Dorothy Grimston, Miss Nora Lancaster, Miss Ruby Ray, Miss Marie Studholme, and Miss Alice de Winton. The programmes, which were supplied gratis by Mr. Carl Hentschel, were artistically got up, and contained photogravures of Mr. Tree as Gringoire in The Ballad-Monger, Miss Ellen Terry as Nance Oldfield, Miss Winifred Emery and Mr. Cyril Maude as Lady Teazle and Sir Peter Teazle, in The School for Scandal; and of Mons. Orleneff, Mons. Orloff, Mons. Karataieff, Mons. Kromskoi, and Mdme. Nasimoff. The stage, it should be mentioned, was under the direction of Mr. John Harwood and Mr. Cecil King.

"MR. HOPKINSON."
An Original Farce, by R. C. Carton, Produced at the Avenue Theatre, on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

Duke of Braceborough	Mr. FREDERICK KERR
Earl of Addleton	Mr. HENRY KEMBLE
Lord Gawthorpe	Mr. ATHOL STUART
Hon. Otho Dursingham	Mr. W. GRAHAM BROWNE
Mr. Smethurst	Mr. CHARLES ALLAN
Parbury	Mr. HERBERT DRUCE
Blisset	Mr. HENRY STEPHENSON
Samuel Hopkinson	Mr. JAMES WELCH
Lady Thyra Egglesby	Miss ELEEN O'MALLEY
Eliza Dibb	Miss ANNIE HUGHES
Duchess of Braceborough	Miss COMPTON

In most of the plays in which a Plaintive Parvenu is the central figure, there is an element of pathos. The débâcle of Mr. Joseph Lebanon in The Cabinet Minister was, indeed, from one point of view, a tragedy too deep for tears. It is such a sad reflection on the infirmity of our common English humanity that an individual, "erect on two legs, and calling himself a man," as Sergeant Buzfuz described Mr. Pickwick, should elect to become a "fish out of water." One can understand the tricks of the naturally amphibious tribe; but that a fish should deliberately desire to jump on the bank and flounder there seems pitiful indeed. Mr. R. C. Carton, in Mr. Hopkinson, which was produced at the Avenue Theatre on Tuesday, has taken care to deprive his ambitious "bounder" of any claim on our sympathy. He is such a mean, selfish, heartless little "cad" that we all rejoice when his fiancée runs away with someone else, and he has to pay heavily for jilting a dressmaker's assistant. The piece has been decried as "sordid." There is a confusion of ideas here. A work of art which depicts mean people is not necessarily sordid itself; it may be simply satirical. It all depends whether, as in the French comédie rosse, your author resignedly throws in his lot with the worst of his characters, and practically gives up life as "a bad job"; or whether, as in Mr. Hopkinson, he is a satirist, and not a pessimist. Mr. Carton's characters have a peculiar artistic virtue; they are absolutely unconscious; and reveal themselves without any hypocritical reserve. The Duke and his Duchess, he with his favourite married woman, and she with her pet "boy"; the phlegmatic young man who marries the "nice girl"—she is only "nice," by-the-bye, in comparison with the other personages—out of mere good-nature; and the little "bounder" himself, are quite "open and above board." The result is that they appear to be even meaner than they are. But Mr. Hopkinson is not one of those plays which leave a nasty taste in one's mouth. On the contrary, it keeps us laughing "the whole time," and sends us home with delightful recollections of a very pleasant evening.

The leading character is a vulgar little Cockney who has "come into money," and wants to get into Society. So he throws over Eliza Dibb, the "girl of the people," to whom he is engaged, and applies for advice and assistance to the Duchess of Braceborough. The Duke is in monetary difficulties, from which he hopes to extricate himself by a mortgage with the assent and assistance of his brother-in-law, the Earl of Addleton, whose daughter, Lady Thyra Egglesby, for a reason, does not get married. The reason is, she is hopelessly attached to a certain amiable Lord Gawthorpe, who considers himself too poor for matrimony. So the Duchess decides to marry Lady Thyra to Hopkinson; and the union is "arranged" and announced. Now, Eliza Dibb, a very astute young woman, has taken service as Lady Thyra's maid—the almost brutal indifference with which she is engaged is realistic—and, when Hopkinson discovers this, he does all he can to alter the arrangement on the score of economy. This is the last straw; Lady Thyra finds that she "cannot do it"; and the good-natured Lord Gawthorpe offers to run away with her. The Earl arrives, suffering from the effects of a bad Channel passage, and there is a most amusing scene in the last act, in which, on the strength of the "good" marriage which his daughter is about to make, he is induced to sign the mortgage deed above alluded to. Eliza enters, and demurely demands the payment to her of £5,000 as the alternative of a breach of promise action. Hopkinson pays half of this, the rest being extracted from the Earl; and then the news comes of Thyra's elopement. Enraged at perceiving his position, the Earl endeavours to tear the bag containing the deed out of the lawyer's arms; and a lively struggle takes place. Eventually, Hopkinson, having paid for his experience, is left pondering. He is visited by Eliza, who suggests that he had better marry her, after all. When she is gone, he walks to the table where the wedding presents are placed, takes up some very valuable jewels, and walks out with them under his arm.

The ease, the aplomb, and the finish of the acting at the Avenue on Tuesday could hardly be excelled. Mr. Frederick Kerr, capitally made-up, with an air of hungry activity veiled by a good manner, was entirely admirable as the Duke of Braceborough. The nice discrimination with which the extremely sharp man-of-the-world was allowed to "break through" the polished aristocrat was extremely artistic, and did great credit to Mr. Kerr's discrimination. Mr. Henry Kemble's Earl of Addleton—corpulent, overbearing, and excessively comic—was an agreeable and most amusing foil to the cooler and meaner personages of the piece; and peals of laughter were evoked by his diverting suggestions of approaching nausea. It is strange how little sympathy there is with seasickness in a theatrical audience. Mr. Athol Stuart's Lord Gawthorpe was highly praiseworthy in its entire absence of exaggeration. A fraction of caricature would have ruined the effect of the embodiment, which was absolutely convincing. Mr. W. Graham Browne gave to his performance as the Hon. Otho Dursingham just the needed touch, and no more, of characteristic pettiness, the cynical smoothness of the personage being very cleverly indicated. In appearance, too, Mr. Browne was the very artist for the task. Mr. Charles Allan is so happily endowed by nature for the depiction of a character like that of Mr. Smethurst that it was no wonder that he was "every inch" a solicitor of the type suggested by the surroundings, and Mr. Hubert Druce was as irreproachable as Parbury as Mr. Henry Stephenson was as Blisset. Mr. James Welch's Samuel Hopkinson was conceived on very effective lines, the contemptibility of the little "bounder" being emphasised distinctly, while his eccentricities, verbal and otherwise, were not overdone. Miss Ellen O'Malley was winningly frank and free as Lady Thyra Egglesby, and acted with a commendable combination of discretion and spirit; and Miss Annie Hughes was the essence of demure decision as Eliza Dibb. As for Miss Compton, it is only necessary to state that she was the Duchess of Braceborough in order to evoke in the imagination of every experienced playgoer the placid drollery, the humorous ease, and the never-sluggish serenity of her consummately clever impersonation. Mr. Hopkinson is particularly well dressed and mounted, and is one of the most diverting comedies to be seen on the London stage at the present time.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, Thursday, Feb. 23.—This play is decidedly original, and has a good deal that is amusing and pleasing. A few words will be sufficient for the plot. We are introduced to a number of tramps, chief among them being Josef Einzinger, an Austrian, formerly a waiter who had served in the army as Kaiserjaeger. Einzinger might have become an honoured member of his calling, but having had the misfortune to spill a portion of "Gulasch" over the Imperial nether garments of an Archduke, he was "hounded out of society," and rather than seek further employment, he took to the profession of a tramp—whatever that may be. Einzinger is a merry, happy-go-lucky fellow, and the landlady of the inn at Alt-Lanke casts loving eyes upon him. Marie Werder is a widow, and over-amiably disposed to the opposite sex; her former lover and manservant, Malte, is in gaol for the murder of a rival, and she loses no time in engaging the Kaiserjaeger. Before long they are married, and Einzinger's naturally good business capacities raise the inn and its adjoining shop to a flourishing condition. He is not happy, in spite of prosperity; the fascinations of a wandering life appeal to him so strongly that he goes off periodically to shake a loose leg among his old dissolute companions. When Malte suddenly appears on the scene, having escaped from prison, demanding the old relations between himself and Marie, and Einzinger learns the truth for the first time, the Kaiserjaeger's just indignation knows no bounds. He goes off finally, in spite of his wife's tearful entreaties, but we have a strong suspicion that the joys of vagabondism attract our hero more than Marie's lack of virtue repels him. A very friendly reception was awarded to the piece, the authors being "called" repeatedly in response to general applause. Herr Wehrlin, in the title-rôle, had a part which suited him splendidly, and his rendering of it was the greatest success of the evening.

The Royal Opera has finally produced the long-promised novelty, Rübezahl, a three-act opera by Hans Sommer, words by Eberhard Koenig. It is a composition about which opinions differ; the reception was cordial, and nothing more. Rübezahl is a thoughtful composition, with some approach to originality, but the orchestration is far too noisy, frequently completely overwhelming the voices, and genuine melody is almost absent. The book is uncanny enough in the original; the librettist has softened it somewhat. Rübezahl is the Spirit of the Mountains—according to ancient German legends—who has been sung by many poets, and set to music many times. Even Weber took his first ideas of Der Freyschütz from Apel's Ghost Book—the foundation of Koenig's text. The scene is laid in the old Silesian town of Reisse, in the reign of the tyrannical Vogt Buko. The citizens determine to revolt, but give one more chance to the autocrat by the sending of a deputy, whom Buko promptly claps into prison. Under the young painter Wido—who has gained Buko's favour by his art, and who loves Gertrud, the Vogt's daughter—the people rise. Wido is implored by his sweetheart not to leave his brush for the sword, but the young man feels it is his duty. First, however, he consults Rübezahl and begs his assistance, which the capricious Spirit does not promise. He advises Wido in the same strain as Gertrud did, and takes upon himself the disguise of a bagpiper to mingle with the people. Wido persists in joining in the revolt. The band of men go to the autocrat's castle to demand their messenger, but failing to storm the citadel, set fire to it. Gertrud comes out of the burning building, and the mob turns its fury upon her. Wido protects her, and is accused of treason by his followers. It would go hard with them both did not Rübezahl, in his disguise of Ruprecht, appear with his bagpipes, which bewitch the people, who all depart dancing. The Vogt, returning home, wishes to thank the man who has saved his daughter, but Ruprecht—in his character of merry rascal—becomes so cheeky that he, too, gets put into prison. Gertrud now confesses to her father her love for Wido, but the Vogt declares when the dead come out of their graves she may marry him, not before. The scene now changes to the cemetery, where Ruprecht has been buried, after the Vogt's soldiers have made an end of him. All our old friends assemble here. Buko is drawn by restless feeling to Ruprecht's grave; Wido is pursued thither by the Vogt's satellites, and even Gertrud turns up to beg her lover's life. Wido, having bravely defended himself, is about to be overwhelmed by the Vogt and his soldiers, when he once more appeals to Rübezahl to come and help him. A mysterious sound of bagpipes is heard from Ruprecht's grave, while, to the horror of all, the surrounding graves open and their occupants come forth. The tyrant falls dead, no one dares to lay a hand upon Wido, and Rübezahl appears in his own form and addresses the crowd. Gertrud and Wido will be eventually united, and while the latter sings the praises of love and art the curtain descends. The interpretation might, on the whole, have been a better one. Dr. Strauss conducted in his usual able manner, and composer and author were called several times before the curtain.

Ibsen's fine play—considered by some people to be his best—Die Frau vom Meere, is still running at intervals at the Lessing. A change has been made in the cast, the important rôle of the Stranger being given by Herr Marr instead of Herr Bassermann. It does not lose in any way by the alteration, admirably as it was acted by Herr Bassermann. The title-rôle is still given by Fräulein Triesch, than whom no better exponent exists.

Dr. Oscar Blumenthal's farce, Die Teufelsfelsen, has been drawn upon by Herr Hans Liebstoecke for the text of an operetta. The Kapellmeister of the Stadt Theatre, Herr Josef Stransky, at Hamburg, has composed the music, and the work will be produced here and in Hamburg before long. The title remains the same.

A member of our Corps Diplomatique, Madame Morel-Bey, is busy translating a German comedy into English for a London theatre. The piece—Standesgemäss, by Wilhelm Georg—was recently performed for the first time in its native tongue at the Court Theatre, at Brunswick. Madame Morel-Bey, who is the wife of the First Secretary at the Turkish Embassy here, is an English lady by birth.

"Die Herren von Maxim" has reached its 100th consecutive performance at the Metropol, and is still proving an attraction. Fräulein Fritzi Massari has lost none of her popularity in the principal rôle.

Mr. Samuel P. Swanton, the talented chef d'orchestre of the Theatre Royal and Palace Theatre, Belfast, is, we are glad to state, recovering from his serious illness.

COUNTY COUNCIL AND AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The usual weekly meeting of the London County Council was held on Tuesday, at the County Hall Spring Gardens.

MUSICIANS' PETITION.

Mr. John Burns, M.P., presented the following petition from the Amalgamated Musicians' Union: "Gentlemen,—We, the undersigned, professional musicians, dependent entirely upon our profession for our means of livelihood, respectfully urge upon the London County Council the necessity of employing more professional auxiliary bands or orchestras in the parks during the next summer season, either by direct employment or through recognised non-profit-making agencies, which undertake such work purely in the interests of professional musicians (such as the above Society, or the London Orchestral Association), and in such a way as to assure them at least three days' employment in each week, for the following reasons: 1. That musical employment being largely seasonal, professional musicians must earn sufficient during those seasons to provide for the periods they are unemployed. 2. That want of employment amongst other classes of the community has had a corresponding effect upon our profession, so that scores of professional musicians are suffering considerably through want of employment. 3. That as competition for engagements amongst professional musicians becomes keener every day, owing to the large numbers of musicians constantly joining our ranks from the different schools of music and other sources, there is greater need for the employment of more professional bands and orchestras, so that employment may be provided for those in urgent need of it. 4. That as we have only our musical ability to depend upon, we respectfully submit, as London residents and ratepayers, that our claims for consideration are far greater than those who have other sources of income besides that derived from music; and (5) that the system of allotting six or seven engagements, to be spread over a period of three or four months of the summer season, is not sufficient employment to keep professional bands together for that length of time, whereas three or more engagements every week would form at least the nucleus of a living. For these reasons we hope the London County Council will accede to our petition, and employ more professional bands and orchestras at "fair terms," and thus provide employment for those engaged in the musical profession in London."

The petition, which was numerously signed, was referred to the Parks and Open Spaces Committee.

THE LONDON COLISEUM.

The Council, on July 14, 1903, approved plans of the London Coliseum, St. Martin's-lane. These plans showed, inter alia, certain lifts proposed to be provided at the building. A plan has since been submitted by Messrs. F. Matcham and Co., showing certain alterations which it is proposed to make to the enclosure to the lift in the main entrance vestibule, and the Theatres and Music Halls Committee recommended that Messrs. F. Matcham and Co. be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the tracing submitted by them with regard to the lift in question.—Agreed to.

ELYSIA.

The committee had considered a plan, submitted by Mr. A. O. Collard, showing how it is proposed to alter the wood and plaster facades in front of the two existing buildings in the part known as Elysia, of the London Exhibitions Buildings. The proposal had been approved by the Building Act Committee, and it was agreed that Mr. Collard be informed that the Council had no objection to the proposed alterations.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.

The committee had considered a plan, submitted by Mr. J. G. Buckle, showing a proposal to alter the gates at present fitted to the main entrance vestibule and balcony entrance at St. George's Hall, Langham-place, so as to make these gates fixed instead of collapsible, as at present. The proposal appeared to be satisfactory, and the committee recommended that Mr. J. G. Buckle be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the plan submitted by him with regard to the proposed alteration, provided that if the gates be fitted on fastenings, such fastenings be made to work automatically. That Mr. Buckle be further informed that if it is desired to retain the gate to the stage entrance, this gate should be treated in a similar manner to those shown on the plan submitted by him.—Approved.

LA SCALA THEATRE.

The Building Act Committee recommended that the Council, on the application of Mr. F. T. Verity, on behalf of Mr. E. D. Maddick, do consent to a deviation from the plans approved on December 13, 1904, for the erection of iron and glass shelters to a theatre building abutting upon the east side of Charlotte-street, the south side of Tottenham-street, and the north side of Pitt-street, S. Pancras, so far as relates to the shelter erected over the Charlotte-street entrance to the theatre, overhanging the public way three inches more than shown on such plans, such consent being subject to all the conditions contained in the resolution of December 13, 1904, consenting to the erection of the shelters, being otherwise strictly observed.—Agreed to.

THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN.

In submitting a series of proposed bye-laws for carrying out the Employment of Children Act, 1903, the Public Control Committee explained that the employment of children in theatres, music halls, and other places of public entertainment, which was regulated by the Prevention of Cruelty to Children Act, 1894, and by the Employment of Children Act, 1903, was now controlled by the Prevention of Cruelty to Children Act, 1904. The Factory Act fixed the age below which children should not be employed in theatres One of the bye-laws prohibits a child under the age of 16 engaged in street trading from entering for that purpose any premises licensed for public entertainments or for the sale of intoxicating liquors for consumption on the premises. The new bye-laws were, after some amendments had been introduced, agreed to.

At the usual weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association, held last Tuesday, Constance Owen, Elinor Foster, and Frank Lascelles were nominated for election. The Secretary reported that a member of the Association, who had recently, through the instrumentality of the hon. solicitors, recovered the full amount of salary due to her under a contract—legal proceedings having been taken to enforce her claim—had written to him a letter of thanks, and sent a donation to the funds of the Actors' Association. The Secretary reported that an arbitration had been held by the Joint Board, and an award published in favour of a member, and that the member had tendered his thanks for the consideration given to his case. The hon. solicitors reported progress in several matters.

Mr. Luscombe Searelle, who collaborated with Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox in the play Mizpah, recently produced at the Majestic Theatre, in San Francisco, is lying dangerously ill at a sanatorium there. While visiting friends in a town near by he was stricken with a hemorrhage of the stomach. It was the recurrence of an old complaint, but in a worse form than he had experienced before. The next day Mr. Searelle's condition became so alarming that his friends had him taken back for special treatment.

Mr. Tatten Hall, owing to his great success in pantomime this year, has been engaged with Mr. Milton Bode for next season.

The story unfolded in Mein Leopold is of a simple domestic kind, but some of the people introduced are amusing studies of character, to which the members of the clever company, under the direction of Herr Hans Andresen and Herr Max Behrend, do ample justice. Those playgoers who are not acquainted with the German tongue can easily follow the story with the aid of the synopis contained in the programme.

Gottlieb Weigelt is a well-to-do shoemaker in Berlin. Uneducated and overbearing, he lives in a state of perpetual warfare both with his neighbours and with his tenants. He is a widower left with two children, Clara and Leopold. The father's entire affection is lavished on the boy, whom he has brought up and educated far above his station; Leopold, when the play commences, holding some small legal post. The result of his bringing up is only too evident, Leopold is a conceited, selfish prig. Clara having decided to marry one of her father's employees, Rudolph Starke, is disowned, and driven from her home. The foolish father, having now only Leopold left, allows his affection for him to become his master passion. In order to minister to his spendthrift son's ever-increasing demands, he disposes of his business, and then, by degrees, of all his other property; only in the end to be blamed by his son for having done so. Leopold's extravagance demanding even more than his father gives him, he commits forgery, and, recognising the fact that he is at the end of his tether, decides upon a wealthy marriage as the means whereby to obtain a fresh lease of the life he is leading. His prospective father-in-law, Schwalbach, a rich merchant, has, however, heard rumours of the kind of life Leopold is leading, and insists upon his winning his future wife by industry and reformed life. A speedy marriage being an important factor in Leopold's schemes, he robs Schwalbach, and flies the country. Gottlieb, ruined by his son's excesses and misdeeds, goes back to his old trade of shoemaking, working day and night in a wretched garret to pay off the amount of his son's forgery, which he has made himself responsible for. Thus he is found by the daughter of one whom in former days he had harshly treated, and through whom he is now reconciled to his daughter and her husband. From the latter he learns that, helped by him, Leopold, across the seas, having turned over a new leaf, is on the high road to success.

Herr Hans Andresen plays very naturally the part of Gottlieb, the father who foolishly ruins himself for the sake of his worthless son; the mixture of humour and pathos alternately displayed proving most effective. Herr Heinz Pabst gives an excellent portrayal of Leopold, a character somewhat upon the same lines as the one he played in Maskerade last week. Herr Hans Stock is admirable in his embodiment of Rudolf Starke, the honest workman who marries Clara, and sets her father at defiance. The part of Clara has a pleasing exponent in Fräulein Callista Marvin, who, however, on Wednesday night, was obviously suffering from a severe cold. Fräulein Camilla Dalberg does well as Emma, one of the three daughters of Zernikow, a part ably sustained by Herr Bruno Wiburger. Schwalbach was carefully depicted by Herr G. F. Schwieger; Fräulein Rosie Grawz was admirable as a pert and pretty servant maid; and other rôles received adequate treatment. Several songs were introduced, but they struck one as being somewhat out of place in a play of this kind.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

STOURBRIDGE.—Alhambra Theatre.—Manageress, Miss Maude Lynton.—What a Woman Did, a powerful drama, is paying a first visit here, and must be considered a great success. The company appearing is under the direction of Mr. William A. Armour. The latter, in the leading rôle of Conrad de L'Orme, performs this heavy character in an admirable manner, and the same must be said of Elsie de L'Orme, a part undertaken by Miss Dora Price. Mr. Percy E. Wright proves an able exponent of the character of Raffaelle Duroc; Mr. Jim Woods proves very popular as Fritz, his singing being much enjoyed; Mr. Fred Rignold is most amusing as Peter Pippin; and Miss Norah Waylett makes the most of her part of Nannette; Miss Alice Raymer, as La Papillon, is capital; and Miss Louie Lonora, as Fanchon, deserves mention.

SUNDERLAND.—Avenue Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; General-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. J. F. Elliston's popular pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty and the Yellow Dwarf, is still drawing large houses in this its last week here. Miss Esmé Gordon gives a particularly fine presentation of Prince Faithful; and Miss Daisy Stratton is a captivating Beauty Allfair. Mr. W. J. Churchill as Count Incognite keeps the audience in constant good humour by his mirth-provoking patter; and Mr. Alf Bishop and Mr. James Chippendale are uproariously funny as King and Queen Half-a-Crown. The Yellow Dwarf of Mr. Lonnen Meadows is a clever performance; La Superbe scores in her terpsichorean acrobatic phantasy; and much pleasure has also been provided by the Morton Trio and the Sisters Cunningham.

Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; General-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. Bert Coote's company, in The Fatal Wedding, is the attraction here this week. Mr. S. Herbert Humber is an effective Howard Wilson; and as Robert Curtis Mr. Oliver Rogers is remarkably good; Mr. Chas. Kenney is well placed as Peter Schwartz; whilst Mr. Jack Waring is adequate as O'Reilly. Miss Gertrude Harrison plays cleverly as Cora Williams; and Miss Nona Hoffe is a pleasing Mabel Wilson. Miss Harriet Clifton is highly amusing as Bridget; Miss Marjorie Lawrence is exceptionally smart as Jessie, "the little mother," and her vocal efforts deserve special praise.

Palace Theatre, Ltd. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Livermore Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George V. Wybrow.—The renowned Scotch comedian, Harry Lauder, tops the bill here this week, and meets with a hearty reception; Lina, a Swedish artiste, scores with his dances; Primavesi is a unique juggler; Dezmonti and Mora contribute a clever triple-bar act; and other acceptable turns are the Two Neros, comedians; Louis Lavater, with his amusing Canine Kilties' Band; Belle Braham, vocalist; and Harry Sheldon, comedian. Vernon's animated pictures are also shown.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD.—King's Theatre.—Proprietors, Sutton Theatre Syndicate; Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Mr. F. S. Gilbert's Grand Opera Company opened on Monday to a crowded house, with Maritana. Mr. Gilbert was in capital voice, and his Don Cæsar was rendered in excellent style. As Maritana, Miss Marie D'Alcourt sang charmingly, infusing plenty of fire and feeling into the beautiful lines. Mr. F. Halpin, as Don Jose, played and sang excellently. The repertoire throughout the week is well chosen. On Tuesday night, Mr. Frederic Hudson charmed his audience as the Count De Luna in Il Trovatore; and Miss C. Florence played the gipsy cleverly, her voice being good and well sustained throughout.

SWANSEA.—Grand Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. David Allen and Sons; Lessees and Managers, Messrs. E. Oswald Brooks (Resident) and J. W. Woodbridge.—The Swansea Amateur Operatic Society gave, on Tuesday night, the first of five performances of Planquette's Les Cloches de Corneville. The performance throughout was good, and reflected credit on Mr. D. Stanley Brown (the professional coach), who also assumed, very successfully, the rôle of the Marquis.

New Star.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. T. Morton Powell; Acting-Manager, Mr. William Coutts.—The current attraction here is A Traitor Prince, played by Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company, under the direction of Mr. E. Carter Livesey.

New Empire.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Mitchell.—A good programme here includes Harry Lamore, the silent comedian on the wire; Lukos Herford and his canine acrobats; Ida Heath, quick-change artiste and dainty dancer; Sable Fern, popular comedienne; F. V. St. Clair, the famous topical vocalist; the American bioscope; Rumbo Austin, and troupe of parody acrobats; Marie Collins, a favourite comedienne; and Prof. Bernar, with miniature theatre and marionettes.

Palace.—Lessees, The Swansea Varieties, Ltd.—The Donnells, Kate and James, vocalists and dancers; Walter Levalle, F.O.S., coster comedian; the Two Balzens, Japanese jugglers, Nellie Lucreece, comedienne and vocalist; King and Delane, comedy dudes; the Palace pictures; Flo. Winter, serio-comic vocalist; the Surrey Sketch company, in their Act, Sally; comprise the company here.

SWINDON.—Queen's Theatre.—Sole Lessee and Responsible Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—Three Little Maids is here on a return visit. This pretty musical piece is tastefully staged and presented by Mr. Charles Macdona's company, under the business direction of Mr. Herbert Austin. The full chorus and augmented orchestra are under the bâton of Mr. Julian Rutt. Miss Vera Vallis (Ada), Miss Nellie Groves (Hilda) and Miss Mabel Lavelle (Edna) form a trio of charming little maids, each being heard to considerable advantage in their delightful vocal efforts. Miss Laura Wright is excellent as Gretchen; and Madame Ilma Norina is earnest and dignified as Lady St. Mallory. Mr. Arthur Longley, as Lord Cheyne, is admirable; Mr. E. K. Favelles achieves a distinct success as Brian Molyneux; and Mr. Jules Charmettes does capital work as M. de l'Orme. Mr. Gus Oxley, a great favourite here, fully deserves the unstinted applause he gains as Cupid; and Mr. W. P. Morgan, stage-manager, makes the part of the Vicar stand out prominently.

TORQUAY.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. R. Smerdon; Secretary, Mr. A. Pearse.—The late Wilson Barrett's domestic drama, The Sledge Hammer, was enthusiastically received on Monday, when it was presented by Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company, with special scenery and accessories. Mr. Charles Herberte made an excellent Matthew Derrick, and his sons were well represented by Messrs. W. V. Garrod, A. Northway, and C. Halling. Mr. Frank Litchfield was a very acceptable Tom Walker; and Miss Bertha Kingston a pretty and demure Rose Maywell. Other characters were well placed with Misses Fanny and Ella-line Thorne, and Messrs. M. Davidson, F. Dallas, L. Konrad, L. St. Clair, W. Vincent, and E. Ashton.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—The Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Carey; Manager, Mr. F. Edgar Manaton.—The Messenger from Mars, on a return visit, has been well received this week. Mr. F. R. Buckley gives a clever study of Horace Parker; and Mr. W. H. Brougham is admirable as the Messenger. Mr. B. Lindley as the Tramp, also scores. Among the ladies, Miss Flora Hastings, Miss Peggy Yeoman, Miss Joan Meredith and Miss Teresa Vanbrugh, all contributed to the success of the performance.

WAKEFIELD.—Royal Opera House.—Proprietors, Messrs. Sherwood and Co.—Mr. John Tully's company is here in Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mr. William Taylor does well as Uncle Tom; Mr. John Tully is seen to advantage as Phineas Fletcher; Mr. B. Kellen Taylor is clever as George Harris, and Mr. James Palmer ably impersonates the part of Mr. Shelby. Miss Edith Blanche admirably portrays the dual rôle of Eliza Harris and Cassy; Miss Marie Lyndon is successful as Aunt Ophelia, and Miss Kitty Wood submits a smart rendering of Topsy. Other principal parts are ably taken by Mr. Charles Colwyn, Mr. Fred G. Kay, Mr. St. Vincent Beechey, Miss Ethel Winter, and Little Marie.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, the Wakefield Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Geo. S. Douglass.—Hanco, jail breaker, is here this week, and astonishes the audiences with his wonderful feats. Tom Hall and his comic acrobatic nippers contribute a laughable turn; Louis Kerno, coon vocalist and dancer, is a decided hit; the Skandia Troupe of gymnasts are clever; the Wedburns, comedians, provide an amusing turn; Miss Kitty Timms, vocalist, wins favour, and Walter Payne's Bio-Photoscope displays interesting films.

WALLSEND. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Owners, The Wallsend Theatre Company; Manager, Mr. T. Richardson.—Mr. Arthur Richmond's company, in The Beautiful Avenger, is here this week. Mr. Algernon Syms gives a capable rendering of Cyrus Telford; and Mr. Edwin Walton's portrayal of Zadoc Foxbane is commendable. Mr. Chas. T. Dee makes the most of his opportunities as Herman Foxbane; as Victor Stanhope, Miss Nannie Meade leaves little to be desired; and Miss Cissy Podmore is a pleasing Edna Volta.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, LTD.—General Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—The Ben Greet company is presenting here this week their Japanese play, The Darling of the Gods. The rôle of the crafty Zakkuri is ably filled by Mr. Edward A. Warburton. Mr. Alfred Goddard gives a powerful rendering of Kara; Mr. Leonard Grey makes the most of his opportunities as Saigon, and receives admirable support from Mr. Alexander Haviland, who capably impersonates Tanda Tanji. Miss Inez Bensusan depicts Yo-San in a charming manner; Miss Edith Anton Laing appears with marked success as Rosy Sky; Miss Kate Hamilton is all that can be desired in the part of Madam Asani; and Miss Stella Wynne is well placed as Ni, a singing girl.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD. — General Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—The Fiends of London, presented by Mr. Herbert Fuller's company, opened here on Monday. Mr. Harold Weston capably represents Sir Horace Bream, and Mr. Herbert Fuller earns enthusiastic calls for his portrayal of the popular jockey, Bob Archer. The rascality of Captain Crawley is depicted with marked fidelity by Mr. Hugh Carmichael; and Mr. H. Delmar makes a capital Peter Shark. Miss Agnes Collier gives an excellent rendering of the heroine, Laurie Christie; Miss Emily Lewis creates much amusement as Flossie Spring; Mr. Talleseyn G. Davis is to be congratulated on his assumption of Mad Joe; and Miss Edith Lister does well as the Countess.

WALTHAMSTOW.—PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr G. Adney Payne; Manager, Mr Arthur J. Barclay; Acting-Manager, Mr Geo. F. Slatter.—The appearance here of Miss Louie Freear is very welcome. In the two songs contributed by this clever little lady she once more proves herself an artist to the tips of her fingers, and her performance of the slavey who describes the doings of an actress who has simply to walk on and walk off is exquisitely droll. Miss Annie Abbott, the Little Georgia Magnet, displays her powers to the astonishment of her audiences. Miss Ruth Dorris sings tunefully, and dances with lightness. A capital turn is that of Ara, Zebra, and Vora, in their speciality, Indian Pastimes, in which picturesque costumes and surroundings assist the really graceful acts of the performers. Mr. Frank Clements cleverly imitates various ways of doing everyday things; the Sutcliffe Troupe, in Highland dress, give a fine exhibition of dancing and pipe-playing; and Verno and Voyce, who have made themselves popular at this house before, go through their scena, Capital and Labour, with fine effect. Not the least attractive feature of the week is the reappearance of Mr. Leo Dryden, who sings his great successes, "For Freedom and Japan" and "An Actor and a Man," receiving for each loud and well-deserved applause. Another great favourite—if we may apply the term to such a tiny comedian—is Little Cliff, whose two contributions, first as a mischievous schoolboy and afterwards as a masher in evening costume, fairly bring down the house. Mezzetti and Mora are excellent and graceful triple-bar performers.

KING'S THEATRE.—Mr. Cecil Clayton's Dick Whittington is full of good scenes, to which a clever company does ample justice. Miss Gertrude Gray is a handsome and stately Good Fairy; Miss Millie Beckett is a dashing and sprightly Dick; Miss Gertie Lovedale a pretty and lively little Alice; Mr. Alfred Evremond makes much comic capital out of Alderman Fitzwarren; Mr. James Glover is very good as Idle Jack; the Angelina of Mr. Tom Kenealy is a cook whose doings are the means of causing merriment all the time she is on the stage; and Miss Lillie Burrell as Sam and Miss May Isabelle as Tim are a pair of lively apprentices.

WARRINGTON.—ROYAL COURT.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General Manager, Mr. J. Potter.—Miss Mary Austin and company are here this week in the delightful play, The Cotton Spinner, produced under the direction of Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds. As Mary Prescott, Miss Mary Austin displays exceptional talent, and her acting throughout is marked with a naturalness which wins for her many friends; Miss Bella Power scores as Lady Charlotte Needy; and Miss May Grimshaw is well placed as Constance Harrington. In the title-rôle, Mr. John S. Haydon acts with rare dramatic force, a remark which also applies to Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds as Arthur Norbury; Mr. Ernest C. Edwards does well as Major Stratton; and Mr. Edwin F. Fysher is a dignified Lord Norbury; Mr. Frank Eaglesfield makes the most of Foster Cunningham; and Nobbs, James, and Smirk are in the safe hands of Messrs. H. Brown, Frank Storey, and Miss Ethel Inwoll. A new feature in the shape of the Royal Bioscope pictures between the acts has met with cordial approval.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. F. Will mot.—Another excellent company is here this week. Lozelle supplies a novel and artistic turn; Harry Conlin is a popular comedian, who scores well; Primrose is a smart sand-dancer; and Gillin supplies a welcome ventriloquial turn; Rose Coleman is a charming comedienne and dancer; and Morny Cash is a favourite comedian; Casselli and James delight all with their banjo selections; and the Royal Bioscope depicts a series of charming pictures.

PAVILION HALL.—Proprietors, Warrington Corporation; Lessee, Mr. J. Lyon Whittle.—Mr. J. Kiddie's pantomime company attracted a large house here on Monday. Little Aladdin has a freshness about it which is distinctly pleasing. Witty Wattie Walton is exceedingly funny as Widow Twankey; and a clever portrayal of Abanazar is submitted by Mr. Arthur Alston; Mr. Fred Buxton scores well as Nanti Oof; and Mr. Ralph Roberts makes a humorous Wishee Washee; Miss Emma Milstead is excellent as Saucee, and her singing and dancing are nightly encored; Miss Marie Beresford is a dashing Aladdin, singing and dancing charmingly; and a delightful Princess is Miss Nellie Boyd. The two Kelsoes are clever comedians, and are the life and soul of the pantomime. Miss Maud Clarke is an accomplished dancer; and the Caenville Troupe of lady dancers go through some graceful evolutions. The chorus and orchestra are ably conducted by Mr. John Gill.

WEDNESBURY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston.—Mr. Henry Furnival's company in the sensational drama, Lost in Paris, is proving a great attraction here this week. Mr. W. J. Butler as Count de Linieres, and Mr. H. Charles as the Marquis de Presles, are very capable. As Adrien Chevalier-du-Vaudrey, Mr. A. V. Dixon is successful; Mr. Evered as De Mairley, and Mr. Holt as D'Estrees, are both clever. Miss K. Willoughby as Louise, and Miss Louisa Peach as Henrietta, the "Two Orphans," are well worthy of the highest praise; Miss Garratt does valuable work in the rôle of Florette; and the part of the Countess de Linieres is characteristically portrayed by Miss Alice Oliver.

WEST HARTLEPOOL. — GRAND THEATRE. — General-Manager (for Mrs. Weldon Watts). Mr. Sidney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Conneaux.—Mr. Jno. Tiller's pantomime, Dick Whittington, is attracting large houses. It is bright and sparkling throughout, and is staged in a manner which calls for hearty congratulations. Miss Gracie Grahame is a tremendous success in the title-rôle, and the comedy is admirably supplied by Bob Selvidge, Dan Thomas, Harry Lyndon, Will Mackney and J. G. Aitken, who are all enjoying great popularity. Miss Fanny Harris makes a charming Alice. The chorus is a powerful one, and the dresses exceedingly effective.

PALACE.—Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten.—The marvellous equilibristic feats of the Lukushima Troupe of Japanese artistes are evoking unbounded enthusiasm. An expert gymnastic and aerial act is given by the Loma Trio; and Clement is a clever ventriloquist, introducing many novelties into his figures; Chas. Coverdale's smart and original patter is a source of great delight, and other artistes, who complete a strong bill-of-fare, are Rezene and Rubini, comedy trapeze artistes; Ethel May, comedienne, and Walt Tyler, descriptive vocalist.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — KNIGHTSTONE PAVILION AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. John H. Morton's The Rajah of Ranjapore company opened here on Monday. Miss Marion Walker, though suffering from a severe cold, deserves unstinted praise for an extremely clever and vivacious impersonation of Eliza; Miss Nell Ascott, as Primrose, acted and sang artistically; and Miss Minnie Blackmore is entitled to commendation for her efforts as Edith. Mr. Alvin Sawyer worked very hard as Horatio Chicks; Mr. Bolt Harrow is an excellent comedian, and proved irresistibly funny as Thistles; Mr. Phillip Percival is the possessor of a fine baritone voice, and his singing of the songs allotted to Ernest Travers was warmly received; Mr. Arthur Reid made a sufficiently villainous Captain Hertage, and Mr. Geo. Trevor did good work as Ted Perkins. Mr. Harry Cornwall scored as Mr. Stutt. The Rajah Troupe of lady dancers are worthy of eulogy for the graceful manner in which their several dances were executed.

WIDNES. — ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Proprietor, Mr. James Kiddie; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Thos. Swinton.—Mr. Chas. H. Phelps' company in One Woman's Wickedness occupies the boards here this week. Mr. Lawrence O'Brien as Philip Beaufort plays his part with force and feeling; Miss Florence Lloyd, as Janet Raymond, proves a capable adventuress. The comic element is supplied by Mr. George Payne as Lord Algernon Fitzroodle and Miss Ethel Asbury as Jenny Giggles. On Wednesday evening the Farnworth Amateur Dramatic Society played Dandy Dick for the benefit of the funds of the N.S.P.C.C.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE. — Managing Director, Mr. John Worswick. — Mr. William Greet's No. 1 company is here with The Sign of the Cross. The popular drama has been witnessed by large and enthusiastic audiences, and the various characters have been sustained with the well-known ability of the members of this strong company. Mr. F. B. Woulfe is an able exponent of the part of Marcus Superbus, and Mr. A. B. Turner, as Nero; Mr. Charles Aldred as Tigellinus, and Mr. J. Wetherall as Lucinius Ædile, are excellent. Poppœa is well represented by Miss Nellie Bonser, and Miss Evelyn D'Alroy as Mercia plays the part with sympathetic expression.

THE GRAND HIPPODROME.—Managing Director, Mr. J. Worswick.—Lockhart's highly-trained elephants, introduced by Captain J. Taylor, and Manning's Entertainers, in the sketch, A Turkish Bath Rubber, in which a fine tumbling turn is provided, afford much merriment. The Dainton Girls, character duettists; the Brothers De Wynne, skilful equilibrists; Joe Mac, comedian, &c.; and King and Delane in the comedy act, At the Club, give capital performances. Ida Dalton, comedienne; Victoria Dagmar and clown, on the horizontal bar and gymnastic ropes; the Sisters Claribell, in the scena, A Swiss Chalet; and Will Bell, comedian and dancer, make up a first-class programme.

EMPIRE MUSIC HALL.—Manager, Mr. W. Birchall.—The Seltina Troupe, acrobats, give a very acceptable performance. Fenton Cross, speciality entertainer; Mr. Bert Hicks, comedian and descriptive vocalist; The Levitts, in their vaulting act; Miss Nellie Linton, comedienne; Harry Bent, comedian and mimic; Miss Carlotta Lunn, descriptive vocalist; and Hilton, in his fine wire act, provide capital entertainment.

WOLVERHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival. —Sir Henry Irving has appeared here for the first three days of the week, a crowded house assembling on Monday to witness Waterloo and The Bells. In both plays the eminent actor exercised his wonted effect; his supporters in the former being Miss Maud Fealy as Nora, and Mr. Lionel Belmore as the Sergeant. Mr. H. B. Stanford took the part of Christian in The Bells, and Miss May Holland was Annette; Miss Grace Hampton appearing as Catherine. On Tuesday Becket formed the attraction, Sir Henry's superb rendering of the title-rôle winning the enthusiastic cheers of a crowded house. The parts of Henry and Rosamund were powerfully played by Mr. Gerald Lawrence and Miss Maud Fealy, and Miss Cecil Raleigh filled the character of Eleanor with her accustomed skill. On Wednesday night The Merchant of Venice was produced to another very large audience, Sir Henry appearing as Shylock and Miss Edith Wynne-Matthison as Portia.

WORCESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe; Assistant-Manager, Mr. F. Le Wards.—After a week's performance of The Pirates of Penzance and Les Cloches de Corneville, by the Worcester Amateur Operatic Society, the theatre has this week again become the home of the "legitimate" drama, a series of plays having been efficiently represented by Mr. Hoggan-Armadale and his dramatic company. The programme opened on Monday with The Sleigh Bells, in which the principal made a most favourable impression by his powerful impersonation of Matthias. Miss Marie Florence, in the part of Madame Matthias, and Miss Violet Wilson as Annette, were good, and Mr. Fred Emery, as the officer of gendarmes, was well suited to that character; while the humorous element was quietly and quaintly introduced by Mr. W. F. Clitherow and Mr. Henry Osman, the two old "topers." The scenic effects were very fine. Other pieces produced during the week were David Garrick, The Vicar of Wakefield, and The Lady of Lyons.

WORKINGTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers.—Miss Rose Moncrieff's company is here with the pantomime of Red Riding Hood. She is popular in the title-rôle. Mr. W. E. Mathews is worth mentioning as Granny; Miss Jessie de Grey is vivacious as the Prince; Mr. George Tearle is good as the baron. The support is fair.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Helaby Wright.—There is a variety company here, which includes the Five Rhynes, Miss Minnie Hart, Henry Reno, Geo. Le Wist, Bell and his terriers, Miss Whitfield, &c.

WORTHING.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Miss Ina Rozant's company opened here on Monday, in the new and extremely funny farcical comedy The Designers. Mr. W. Hargreaves leaves nothing to be desired in the character of John Huggins; Mr. E. O'Grady gives a typical presentment of the manager, Mr. Currie; too much praise cannot be allotted to Mr. William Luff for his really excellent delineation of the stage-struck clerk, Wilfred Fry; Mr. Arthur Dennis provokes much mirth as Percy Loraine, as does Mr. Frank Lester as Taddlebury. Mr. Herbert Lloyd realistically portrays the eccentricities of the foreman Roodge; Mr. Gerald Clarke is good as Walter, the office-boy; and Miss Ina Rozant, as Miss Rachel Huggins, is the life and soul of the piece.

YORK. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. H. Barrow.—The success of the American drama, At Cripple Creek, presented by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company, was assured on the opening night. Mr. Mark Blow, as the manly Joe Mayfield, is untiring in his efforts, and performs an exacting part with consummate skill. Mr. Walter Thornton and Mr. C. D. Pitt, as Martin Mason and Manuel Alvarez, were sufficiently villainous to raise the ire of the popular parts of the house. Mr. Will Hook, a comedian of undoubted merit, caused much fun as Reggie Harwood; and with Miss Daisy Carlton, as Maggie Mason, kept the audience in roars of laughter by their thoroughly genuine humour. A pleasing Ann Marbury was seen in Miss Emilie Polini; Miss Hope Mayne gave a thoroughly natural and forcible impersonation of Belle Gordon; and May Douglas made a particularly pleasing Little Tatto.

OPERA HOUSE AND EMPIRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting Manager, Mr. Sidney Brooke.—This week the management have again succeeded in presenting a programme of unique merit and refinement. The Florenz Troupe of acrobats, twelve in number, are the greatest attraction, and their marvellous feats are received with great enthusiasm. Dandy George introduces his canine masterpiece, Rosie, the cleverest and most graceful dog that has been seen here; Ted Karno and company present a clever sketch, The Traveller's Rest, which is screamingly funny; Cissie Curlette is a refined vocalist with a well-trained voice; the Abadaroffs, prehistoric mountebanks, are well received; Bromley and Tonkin are clever operatic humorists; and another good turn is La Wilma, a lady painter; Clyo and Rochelle, smart acrobatic comedians, and Fred Casburn, vocalist, are also in the bill.

CAVILLING CRITICISM.

In the ordinary dictionary, the word "critic" has several meanings opposite to it. The first is "one skilled to judge of literary or artistic productions; a connoisseur, an adept." The sub-meaning is "one who is given to carping or cavilling; a caviller." The tone of certain recent theatrical effusions, both in the press and in public, suggests that the original significance of the word and its Greek root are in danger of being forgotten. The critic, in many instances, seems to have lost his head nowadays. "JACK is as good as his master." On one occasion, when conversing with a dramatic writer on the attack made by W. E. HENLEY on the late ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, we observed that more respect should have been shown by the critic, considering the relative positions of the pair. "A novelist," we said, "is a creative artist." "My dear sir," replied our friend warmly, "the critic is a creative artist!" In this case, there was evidently no need for the putting up of the old Scotchwoman's prayer: "Lord, gie us a good conceit of ourselves!" But when the critic claims to be a creative artist, we may take him at his word, and examine the result of his creation. The object of all created life is existence. The work of most critics is ephemeral. In a day or two, at the most, the offspring of the critic's brain has perished in ministering to various humble domestic uses. Where are the newspapers of yesterday? Where are the last year's snows? Several critics have attempted to prolong the lives of their progeny by publishing their notices in collective form; but the practice seems to have been, in most instances, abandoned. The best criticism is a thing of a day; and the most lasting criticism is the most joyous and kindly. RUSKIN is still read for the interesting illustrative matter which he introduces; but who cares, now, for his ignorance-exposing attacks on CONSTABLE'S drawing or on GAINSBOROUGH'S arrangement of light and shade and "vulgarity" in choice of subjects? Who, now, cares for RUSKIN'S poor opinion of WHISTLER? And who is not interested in a WHISTLER exhibition? The detraction perishes; the pictures remain. HENLEY'S attack on STEVENSON is a thing now forgotten; but thousands for generations to come will joy in "Kidnapped," "Treasure Island," and "Catriona."

The best criticism is the most sympathetic. The worst is the vainest and the most spiteful. The idea of many modern critics is simply to write an effective critique, something "smart" and "stinging," which shall advertise the writer and increase his importance. We may take as an illustration the tone of some of the notices of Mr. BEERBOHM TREE'S production of Much Ado About Nothing at His Majesty's. By reducing the piece by an hour in time of performance, Mr. TREE has virtually admitted that he made a miscalculation. But it was evident on the first night that the chief defect of the production would soon be rectified, and that the acting would improve in many ways with more smoothly moving machinery. It may be argued, and with exactness, that the critic has only to deal with what is before him, and is not called upon to make allowances. This holds good as to the matter, but not as to the spirit of the "notice." There is a great difference between a man who produces an indecent French farce and the man who tries, by artistic embellishments, to lead the public to love and admire SHAKESPEARE. In a great many instances, however, it is the first that is "let down easily," while the second is attacked with as much virulence as if he had committed a crime and had done nothing in his career to merit mercy. In courts of law, previous character is always taken into consideration in the verdict of any impartial jury. In the critical world, it seems rather to go against a man than to be in his favour. We deplore the bitterness of spirit in which the work of a man like Mr. BEERBOHM TREE is too often discussed. We, at any rate, have not forgotten his Resurrection, his Richard II, his Merry Wives of Windsor, his Twelfth Night, his Julius Cæsar, and his Midsummer Night's Dream. Mr. TREE endeavours, by every means at his disposal, to induce the modern public to listen to SHAKESPEARE. There are a few whose imagination is so strong that they can dispense with scenic illustration when witnessing a play. The great majority, however, are not so gifted; and it is these who require to be led and attracted to the enjoyment of the works of our great dramatic poet. The man who thus leads and attracts them is a public benefactor.

If any criticism is to endure, it is not the criticism whose chief aim is to display the critic's cleverness. HAZLITT, the only dramatic critic whose name is familiar to ordinary ears, was chiefly an "appreciator." He went to the play-house prepared to be pleased; and the principal difference between him and the public for which he wrote was that he saw beauties more clearly, and described them more vividly than his fellow playgoers. We cannot imagine HAZLITT writing a notice in the spirit of some of the notices which followed Mr. TREE'S splendid production at His Majesty's. As for CHARLES LAMB—the only other theatrical critic whose work has "lived"—his essays are almost entirely appreciative. What pleasure is Posterity likely to take in reading the egoistical essays of self-advertising individuals chiefly intent on airing their own "smartness," erudition, or impudence? Mosquitos certainly succeed in drawing blood; but with the public so strongly on his side, and with Much Ado drawing such good houses, Mr. TREE can easily bear the bites.

"MRS. LEFFINGWELL'S BOOTS."

This comedy in three acts, by Augustus Thomas, made a hit recently at the Savoy Theatre, New York. The first scene is laid at Larchmont, near New York, in the house of an artist named Bonner, who no longer paints the female form divine, because his wife objects to the living models, but goes in for cattle pictures. Mr. Bonner himself is not above a feeling of jealousy, for he absents himself from the dinner party arranged by his wife because she has invited a certain gentleman whom he dislikes. A snowstorm makes it impossible for Mrs. Bonner's guests to reach her house at the time set for the dinner. After a while a neighbour, Mrs. Effingwell, arrives. This lady also has a jealous husband. During the previous summer, whilst she was staying at a Bar Harbor hotel, her boots were found outside the window of the room occupied by a young architect named Walter Corbin, and Leffingwell has taken the worst view of the matter. On the night of the party Corbin is forced by the storm to seek shelter in Bonner's house, and Mrs. Bonner persuades him to stay to dinner. Mrs. Leffingwell and Corbin are thus thrown together in the absence of the lady's husband. To make the situation more embarrassing for Corbin, his former sweetheart, Mabel Ainslee, who has broken their engagement on account of the Bar Harbor scandal, is visiting Mrs. Bonner. Leffingwell telephones during the night, and learns that his wife and Corbin are under the same roof. He arrives at daylight and raises a tremendous row, having jumped to the conclusion that they have been sitting up together. Richard Ainslee, Mabel's brother, who has become deranged through a blow on the neck, breaks into the house in the dead of night to obtain money to pay his debts, and is gagged and bound by Corbin and another guest, a doctor, who subsequently cures Ainslee by osteopathic treatment. The latter then admits that he placed Mrs. Leffingwell's boots where they were found in order to extort money for suppressing the scandal, and satisfies the two husbands that they have no cause for jealousy, his explanation bringing Walter Corbin and Mabel Ainslee together again. Mr. Thomas has written a clever and original comedy, full of droll situations and bright lines, and it has scored a genuine success. It is acted by a capable company, including Miss Fay Davis, Miss Dorothy Hammond, Miss Margaret Illington, Miss Jessie Busley, Mr. William Courtenay, Mr. J. H. Barnes, Mr. Ernest Lawford, Mr. Vincent Serrano, Mr. John Saville, and Mr. Louis Payne.

PRESENTATION.—On Saturday evening last, in an interval of the performance of Sapho, which was played to record business at the Queen's Theatre, Liverpool, Mr. Fred L. Arthur, the business manager, presented Miss Annie Bell, on behalf of the proprietors of the theatre, with a splendid gold turquoise bracelet.

MR. C. ST. JOHN DENTON will produce at the Richmond Theatre next week a new sketch, entitled Beauty and the Barber. The principal parts will be played by Miss Maud Danks and Mr. John Denton.

Welch, Mr. Wilhelm, Mr. Woolls, and Sir W. B. Richmond.

After the loyal toast had been duly honoured,

THE CHAIRMAN, rising to propose the toast of the Scenic Artists' Association, said: Before I submit this toast, I wish to tell you that I have received telegrams and letters from Mr. Telbin, who is very sorry he cannot be present; from Mr. Lionel Brough, who is ill; and from Mr. Dion Boucicault, who is prevented. Mr. Tree wires, "Greatly regret unable to be present to-night. Will do all I can to further the object of the Society." Gentlemen, I feel as though I were fast becoming a fixture here. After that memorable night when we fêted the scenic artists of the country, we were successful to such an extent that our brethren of that order joined together and made an association, calling themselves the Scenic Artists' Association. They have gone a step further. They have amalgamated with such an association a benevolent institution. We artists have many benevolent societies, but they run on different lines. I so often think of the remarks made by musicians, who say, "Yes, you are lucky fellows. Even should we fascinate the ear of the public, when we are silent we are not exactly forgotten, but the memory gets slacker. You artists' pictures can remain, and the public can refer to them." I am sorry to say that I know that the art of the scenic artist is sooner forgotten than the art of the singer, because after a few years it does not exist. One can only remember having heard of scenes painted. When the scenic artist becomes too old to work he has lost claim upon the benevolence of the public, because they do not know him any more. Some of his friends and brethren of the brush may remember what he has done, but he cannot somehow say, like we do, "Such a picture—such a drawing—such a statue—proves that I have a certain claim." Therefore I think it is doubly necessary that the scenic artists should have a benevolent fund, and I hope sincerely that it will answer the most sanguine expectations. So I ask you to support this scheme, and to do what you can to help men who wish to help themselves. Let me invite you to drink to the Scenic Artists' Association, with which toast I couple the name of Mr. W. Hann.

MR. W. HANN, in responding, gave an interesting sketch of the inception and development of the Scenic Artists' Association. In continuation, Mr. Hann said:—We are making arrangements for an exhibition of works, which we hope will be annual, at the Grafton Gallery, in April next, for a week or longer. Here will be shown models of scenes and drawings. As it is a large and somewhat costly venture for a small body, we are hoping that we may draw upon the kindness of our friends to give us a little entertainment in the way of readings, recitations, or music, for one hour each day, which will greatly add to the attraction for the public, and so help to pull us through, and perhaps yield a little to add to our Benevolent Fund. Of course, we do not pretend to vie with those artists who devote themselves wholly to pictures; but, as there is a notion abroad that scene-painting is done by throwing a big brush at the canvas haphazard, we want to convince our friends that our achievements are the result of careful studies from nature, and long and studious contemplation of the works of eminent artists. One of the main objects of this Association, and nearest our hearts, is the establishing of a Benevolent Fund, for the number of the unemployed in our small body is rather appalling, and distress is great. In the name of the Association I most heartily thank you, Sir Lawrence, for your kind and encouraging words in proposing this Toast; and you, gentlemen, for the hearty way in which you have drunk to the success of the Scenic Artists' Association.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER then proposed "The Drama," in the following words:—

When Sir Philip Burne-Jones asked me to say a few words to-night I felt that it would be ungracious not to avail myself of the opportunity of adding my humble tribute of respect to the professors of scene-painting. I take this opportunity of expressing my admiration for them, and my gratitude for the artistic aid they have given me in my work as a manager of a London theatre. I wondered why Sir Philip asked me to propose the toast of the Drama; perhaps he thinks that I have done so much towards killing it, that it was time I had an opportunity of offering up a prayer for its regeneration. If so, he does not stand alone. Am I not an actor-manager?—and all the shortcomings of the drama of the present day are laid at the door of the actor-manager. It is urged that commercial success has not been general in our theatres during the last few years, and the quality of the entertainments offered is said to have been the cause. But has not this depression been general in all other professions and trades? I think the Drama has come out of a bad financial time very creditably. There is a cry that the theatres are too much given up to musical comedy. Well, gentlemen, I don't think this is altogether the fault of the public. If the authors and the managers who control theatres have not been able to supply sufficiently attractive plays of the higher order for the public it is their misfortune, and it is only natural that playgoers will turn to entertainments of a brighter and more amusing kind. Then it has been said that our system is all wrong, that we require répertoire houses, that the actors should never be allowed to control their own theatres. Was there ever a more ridiculous suggestion? Why should not the actor be his own master? The mountain-top is a windy place, and if he is not deserving of this exalted position he will not be suffered to remain there long. I read with great care all the suggestions for the establishment of ideal theatres. For one of these national schemes already in existence (though at present only to be spoken of in whispers) I have the greatest respect; while for the other I can only say that the schemes made seem to include prominent positions for the schemers themselves. They propose to do well what we are doing badly. Well, the field is open; let them try; but let them refrain from throwing mud at men who are now endeavouring to do their best. It is all very well to abuse the methods of these men who have fought for and won the confidence of the public, but that same public is, I am glad to say, discerning, and is not blind to the gentle art of "axe-grinding," however cleverly that "axe-grinding" may be done. I may be pardoned, I hope, if I take a cheerful view of the present situation; if I encourage the young writers for the stage by telling them that the door to success stands open to them; that there is no ring, and that if certain authors monopolise the productions at London theatres, it is because their work deserves this distinction; that the actor-managers and lay-managers in England and America are religiously reading their work, and that I do not believe a man or woman with great gifts as a dramatist will be overlooked; that the managers are constantly seeking for talent, and that young actors and actresses of ability will find endless openings for themselves in theatres whether controlled by the actors themselves or by managers who are merely business men. We have every reason to be proud of the writers for the stage who have won their laurels—Mr. A. W. Pinero, Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, Mr. R. C. Carton, Mr. C. Haddon Chambers, Mr. Sydney Grundy, John Oliver Hobbes, Mr. Oscar Wilde, Mr. Comyns Carr, Mr. H. V. Esmond, Mr. Justin Huntly McCarthy, Mr. Stephen Phillips, Mr. Frederick Fenn, and Mr. Richard Pryce. It is a noble list. They compare very favourably with other nations. We may have barren seasons, and we may have rich harvests, as they do in all countries. The French directors say that they are starving for plays; the German directors are the same. The demand is greater than the supply, and this is an unusual state of things in any trade or art; but the art of playwriting is, to my mind, one of the most difficult. I do not think the Drama in England is moribund, but full of activity. The freer production of plays for limited performances is in the air. I myself hope to contribute to this series. I am conscious, as you are, of the valuable and highly artistic work which is being done in every quarter—at the Court Theatre, for instance, by Mr. Vedrenne and Mr. Barker. The complaint that Shakespeare in London is neglected can no longer be made; Mr. Tree is producing him magnificently at His Majesty's, Mr. Lewis Waller is delighting huge audiences with Henry V., and intends to produce Romeo and Juliet and Othello; while Mr. Otho Stuart, Mr. Oscar Asche, and Miss Lily Brayton are winning golden laurels with him at the Adelphi; and soon we are to see Mr. H. B. Irving as Hamlet, while Mr. Martin Harvey has already given that play in the provinces; and Mr. Flanagan is crowding the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, where a late member of my company—Miss Margaret Halstan—has made a great success as Juliet. As one of the promoters of the répertoire theatre asserts, "she is in a sterling provincial company unhampered by the wiles and moods of actor-managerdom." To-morrow Mr. F. R. Benson will be giving us a series of Shakespearean revivals at the Coronet Theatre. Then we have running in London original plays by Capt. Marshall, Mr. W. W. Jacobs and Louis N. Parker, Mr. Bernard Shaw, Mr. J. M. Barrie, and last, but not least, the latest recruit—and I venture to say a very important one—Mr. Alfred Sutro. No, gentlemen, I do not think the outlook is as gloomy as our enemies would have us believe. Actor-managers and lay-managers are willing and anxious to produce good plays by tried and untried dramatists, and I for one mean to continue to put my heart and soul into my work, and feel that the public who have been generous to me will extend that same generosity and as fully to all those who strive for a high ideal and pursue their careers without fear—on honest, upright, and artistic lines. There is no stauncher friend to that Drama than Mr. Comyns Carr. If it were put to the vote as to the man who was the most popular and kind-hearted connected with the dramatic profession, he certainly would come out at the top of the poll. There is hardly a young actor, actress, or dramatic author who has not at some time or other had from him words of encouragement—words so helpful at the beginning of a career: I myself am of the numbers. And, as is not sometimes the case, he rejoices, too, with everyone when success crowns their efforts; in fact, he is a generous friend, and a valuable critic at all times and in all seasons. Of his great and varied gifts it would be impertinent of me to speak—they are well known to everyone in this room, and to the world at large. His charity knows no limit; there is hardly a dinner connected with the dramatic profession he does not attend, and by his eloquence and wit he rescues the proceedings from the boredom of speeches such as mine. I ask you to join me in drinking prosperity to the Drama coupled with the name of Mr. Comyns Carr.

MR. J. COMYNS CARR, in responding, said:—I agree with Mr. Alexander in thinking that the drama does not need a defence. Mr. Alexander has said that the supply does not equal the demand, and it never can. There is no art in which the supply can possibly equal the demand from an intelligent public, because the demand must always far exceed the supply of men of talent in any art, and in drama most of all. I cordially agree with Mr. Alexander that of all arts in which literature is engaged, it is the most exacting and the most difficult.

MR. E. BANKS, in proposing the health of Sir Philip Burne-Jones, said that every scenic artist appreciated his kindness and his support. Whatever might become of the future of the Scenic Artists' Association, there would always be a warm corner kept in their hearts for Sir Philip.

SIR PHILIP BURNE-JONES (the hon. secretary to the Dinner Benevolent Fund) expressed his gratitude for the compliment, and then announced that the amount collected at the tables that evening was £63 5s. 6d. The total subscriptions they had in hand exceeded £128.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY, in proposing "The Chairman," said:—It seems to me there is a peculiar fitness in Sir Lawrence's honouring us in this manner. Not only does his ready sympathy with the immediate object of our gathering point to him as the one best fitted to preside over us; there is much in common with his work and that of this Association—to which I have the privilege of belonging as an honorary member. I mean the reconstruction and illustration of ancient historical periods. None of us who had the pleasure of seeing them will easily forget those superb scenes of the Capitol and the Orchard of Brutus, designed by Sir Lawrence for Mr. Tree's revival of Julius Cæsar; scenes remarkable for their archæological accuracy, and yet subordinated, with a sense of the finest taste, to the dramatic movement for which they were designed to serve as background. The forthcoming exhibition of scenic art, to be held at the Grafton Galleries, will include, too, I understand, a beautiful model of a scene in Coriolanus, prepared for Sir Henry Irving by Sir Lawrence. But, gentlemen, when all is said and done, it is the man whose health I ask you now to drink, before the artist. The man whose ready sympathy has done so much to hearten and encourage the efforts of our Association; the man whose kindliness of nature has allowed him to place so much of his valuable time and interest at our service, and whose long continued health I ask you now to drink in a bumper.

The Chairman's reply brought the meeting to an end.

The donors to the Scenic Artists' Benevolent Fund up to Feb. 18, 1905, were Sir Henry Irving, Lady Lytton, Sir Anderson Critchett, Sir Clinton E. Dawkins, K.C.B., Sir George Lewis, Sir Edward J. Busk, Mr. George Alexander, Sir James D. Linton, Sir Felix Semon, Sir Philip Burne-Jones, Lady Parker, Mr. W. Lockhart Bone, Messrs. Allen and Sons, Mrs. Bethune, Mr. A. P. Bowyer, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. Leonard Boyne, Mr. Ernest Carpenter, Mr. S. A. Cookson, Mr. W. L. Courtney, Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. Tom B. Davis, Mr. C. Dixon, Mr. Gerald Duckworth, Mr. Charles Frohman, Mr. A. Gilmer, Mr. S. Goldmann, Mr. Martin Harvey, Mr. Hare, Mr. Max Hecht, Mr. J. Harvey, Mr. Selwyn Harvey, Mr. P. Harker, Mr. W. Harford, Mr. H. Hemsley, Mr. G. Hemsley, Mr. M. Henry, Mr. C. T. H. Helmsley, Mr. George Herring, Mr. Herman Hart, Mr. J. James, Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, Mr. C. Karl, Mr. W. H. Kendal, the Hon. Charles Lawrence, Mr. R. G. Legge, Dr. Lehwes, Captain Robert Marshall, Mr. W. McCleery, Mr. W. C. Middleton, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. J. L. Nolton, Mr. Henry Neville, Mr. A. Palmer, Mr. Louis N. Parker, Mr. Ambrose Poynter, Mr. Alfred Sutro, Mr. L. Stephen, Mr. J. S. Sargent, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. M. Van Leems, Mr. Lewis Waller, Mr. H. J. Welch, Mr. E. Fisher White, and the Water Valley Colour Company.

The number of Mr. Arthur Shirley's plays is legion, but perhaps his most ambitious effort was made on Wednesday last, when he fitted Mrs. Lewis Waller with a character in which her special gifts of broad comedy are amply employed. Mr. Shirley has been credited with the admission that originality is impossible in playwriting of the present day, but his most mature effort is nevertheless fresh in its humour and thrilling in the romance which forms no unimportant part in its composition. Of the shafts of wit which are let loose in the piece many are excellent, and some indifferent; and in at least one case a laugh is gained at the sacrifice of a situation of rare dramatic excellence. The prologue of the play is devoted to the homecoming of Joseph Rumbelow, a petty officer of the King's Navy and the sweetheart of Janet Briggs, the belle of Botley, a village in picturesque Hants. Joe had been fighting his country's battles in China, and not having heard from him for a year, Betty had concluded he was dead, and is even now preparing for her wedding with another. Joe, however, has a convincing method, and the bridegroom-elect gives way, and agrees that Betty shall choose between the two. Joe has won promotion in the war, and is expecting a lieutenancy, the warrant arriving just as he is awaiting Betty's decision. Fearing that she will be unable to fulfil the duties of her higher station, she at first leans towards Peter; but love gains the day, and she chooses the sailor-hero. During the interval that elapses, Joe has grown grey in the service, taken the Bay of Biscay and many prisoners of war, and become an Admiral of the Red, but Betty has advanced in nothing but charity and virtue. Their son Harry is deeply in love with Isabel, the daughter of the Marquis De Villaflor, a Portuguese grandee, who has taken refuge in England from the rigours of the war between his country and Spain. His wife, the Marquise, and his friend, Captain Braddon, though outwardly at daggers drawn, carry on an illicit intrigue, while the latter is supposed to be courting Isabel. The Captain leaves a note signed Harry for the Marquise under a vase on the mantelpiece, and when Isabel finds it and reads the passionate phrases addressed to her stepmother, she concludes that her lover is faithless, and refuses to see him again. Lady Rumbelow, the Admiral's wife, calls upon the Marquis to talk about their children's betrothal, and on learning of the breach undertakes to mend it. No reason will be vouchsafed by Isabel, but Lady Rumbelow gleans from the Marquis's valet the fact that the rupture is due to the girl's dislike of her ladyship's vulgar birth. She thereupon announces her intention of parting from her husband, in order to secure her son's happiness; but Sir Joseph calls the boy in to decide, and he naturally refuses to agree. It is the girl herself who reveals the truth to Lady Rumbelow, who takes possession of the note, Betty, unable to read, cannot see the difference in the handwriting, and it is only when she submits the epistle to the Admiral that the fraud is discovered. Captain Braddon, not wholly bad, avows his perfidy, and by agreeing to leave England immediately avoids the scandal which would attach to the Marquis, the recovery of whose estates enables him to return to his native land in blissful ignorance of his wife's villainy.

So brief an account gives little idea of the uses to which Mrs. Lewis Waller's peculiar talents were put. As village belle, or the Admiral's wife, her volatile characteristics had full play, and her vivacity was unfailing. Laughter flowed unchecked throughout her lengthy occupation of the stage, and a record of mirth must surely have been registered. Nor was tenderness wanting in the impersonation, and Mrs. Waller's capacity to touch her audience was constantly proved by sympathetic applause. Mr. H. Gomer May, who was quite to the manner born as the petty officer of the prologue, made a hearty Admiral in the latter acts. Perfection marked his delivery, and his clear and resonant voice made the words of his dialogue ring. Miss Ethel Warwick is to be credited with an exceptionally fine performance of the Marquise de Villaflor, her haughty demeanour and calm impassiveness setting off the passionate outbreak at the close, in which the power and flexibility of her voice and her distinct utterance were invaluable. Mr. Edgar J. Coyne ably assumed the oddities of the well-preserved Marquis, whose haut ton was reflected in his servant Ildefonso, a part played with characteristic humour by Mr. Strickland. Mr. Edmund Waller appeared as Harry Rumbelow, and won a cheer by his vigorous declamation of some thrilling lines; and Miss Alice Langley, as Isabel, acted the modest maiden gracefully. A striking impersonation of Captain Braddon was given by Mr. Eric Mayne, who played the villain with elegance, and Miss Minnie Rayner supplied excellent comedy as Betty Jinks, the maid. The humour of the prologue is abundant, and it was ably contributed to by Mr. Frederic Jacques, as a village beadle, and by Mr. J. Henessey, as a dull-witted yokel. Regal splendour marked the dresses worn by Mrs. Waller and by Miss Ethel Warwick, and the mounting was elegant and tasteful. Curtain calls were numerous from beginning to end, when, in response to cries for "Author," Mrs. Waller, leading on Mr. Shirley, asked, "Is it a success?" and the reply was unanimously in the affirmative.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. Ernest Bacon, of the Grand Theatre, Newcastle-on-Tyne, was presented on the 17th inst. with a gold keyless watch and chain, on his retirement from the management of the theatre. The Sheriff of Newcastle, Arthur Scott, Esq., made the presentation.

MUSIC HALL GOSSIP.

In aid of the Dan Leno Cot Endowment Fund the use of the London Pavilion has been kindly given by the directors for a matinée. The cot will be placed in the Belgrave Hospital for Children, Clapham-road. It will be remembered that the lamented comedian took a great interest in the welfare of this institution, which is in great need of funds. The first list of patrons includes: Her Grace Katharine Duchess of Westminster, the Right Hon. Lord Windsor, the Lady Blythswood, Colonel the Hon. Sir William Carington, K.C.V.O., C.B., and the Hon. Lady Carington, the Right Hon. Justice Romer, G.C.B., and Lady Romer, Colonel the Hon. Charles Hay Drummond, Sir Robert Mowbray, Bart., M.P., Sir Henry Irving, Sir Squire Bancroft, Mr. Percy Armytage, M.V.O., Mr. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. George Edwardes, Mr. Seymour Hicks, Mr. Lewis Waller, and Miss Rogers. Mr. Hugh Astley will fill the position of hon. treasurer. No better plan of perpetuating the memory of Dan Leno could have been thought of.

An important change in the noon and six o'clock performances at the Coliseum has been made this week. A delightful scena is My Gollywog, arranged by Mr. Will Bishop. He appears as the Gollywog, and repeats the clever mechanical dance he gave a year or two ago at the Empire. The impressive spectacle of "The Siege of Port Arthur" is now in excellent working order. The first scene represents the open sea, and soon the Japanese gunboats are swinging round on the revolving stage and firing viciously in all directions. Later we are on shore with a landing party. There is more firing, there are many casualties, and a spy is shot down. Anon a towering rock fills the centre of the stage. More firing, followed by an interesting display of the mode of transporting and fixing up of mountain guns. The last scene shows the assault. The Russians and the Japanese have a hand-to-hand fight in the smoke which the guns, now blazing on all sides, make thicker minute by minute. Then rises the flag of surrender, the din dies down, the smoke drifts away, and the two commanders are seen shaking hands. "Port Arthur" is a wonderful spectacle that will form a powerful attraction at the Coliseum for some time to come.

Miss Loie Fuller is another of the special attractions, and in her "dance of the thousand veils" introduces a number of artistic and beautiful effects. Radium is employed, it is stated, upon some huge translucent butterflies which float through the auditorium, and has been, according to further information, extracted from pitchblende in the lady's own laboratory, at a cost of £4,000. The charming stage picture gradually reveals the dim depths of the sea, with shadowy forms sadly circling round an altar, on which stands a mystic woman, who stirs the water for fifteen feet around her into a graceful whirl of the most delicate of hues. Many are the beautiful sea-changes wrought. The whole spectacle is strange and fascinating, as, indeed, are all La Loie Fuller's performances.

The new ballet, My Lady Nicotine, invented by Mr. Charles Wilson, with music by Mr. George W. Byng, will be produced at the Alhambra on Monday evening. Madame Cormani has had the arrangement of the dances. Hopes were entertained that Mr. J. M. Barrie, to whose courtesy the use of the title is due, would be present at the first performance, but, unfortunately, a previous engagement compelled him to decline the management's invitation. The piece contains five scenes, the first showing a plantation in Virginia about 1770, the second the interior of a Turkish harem, the third affording an interesting glimpse of Holland, with, of course, a "dance of sabots," the fourth offering a fantastic picture illustrative of the birth of Nicotina, and the fifth revealing the abode of "My Lady Nicotine," wherein takes place a grand march executed by the many votaries of that highly-esteemed damsel. The choice of the subject of the new ballet is a very happy one, and everything seems to promise well for the new production, which will, no doubt, form a notable addition to the long list of brilliant spectacular and terpsichorean displays at this house.

"The Knights of the Road," the new operetta by Sir Alexander Mackenzie and Mr. Henry A. Lytton, will be produced at the Palace on Monday evening. The composer will conduct on the opening night. Dick Turpin, who has figured in so many stage productions, is the hero of the story. Music hall patrons will recall to mind that Mr. Frank Gerald has impersonated the famous highwayman in his sketch, The King's Highway, for many years past, both in this country and in Australia, with his mare Wiapera as Black Bess.

In the new Palace operetta all four adventurers are deeply in love with the one feminine character in the play; and when, to delightful music, the suit of one most daring is eventually smiled upon, the highwaymen decide to give up the road and to swear allegiance to the King. The decision is too late, however; and the arrival of the troops with an order for their arrest brings the little piece to a dramatic end. There are several concerted numbers and three single songs in the little play. The principal character will be taken by Mr. Walter Hyde, who was in My Lady Molly. Mr. Henry Claff should be a popular baritone; while Miss Blanche Murray, who has appeared with success in several Gilbert and Sullivan productions, will play the feminine part. There will be a "specially selected chorus" of five performers.

Mr. Bransby Williams has arranged and produced a most attractive scena, entitled Jolly Squires. A quartet of gentlemen sing the old songs and choruses, which are interspersed with toasts. The hunting costumes give the show a brilliant effect, and in the singing of "Boys Together" the audiences at New Cross Empire last week joined very lustily. The final tableau, "The King, gentlemen," is very effective.

Miss Madge Girdlestone's new dramatic episode, which is being played at the Palace Theatre, is written in quite a superior style, and is admirably acted by the authoress and her two fellow-artists. The scene is laid in the Hon. Jack Trevor's chambers in Jermyn-street. Trevor is in love with Lady Mildred, the wife of his friend, Captain Reginald Hargreaves, who is about to leave England for Australia, taking her with him. The relations between Mildred and Jack are quite innocent and honourable, and this is their last farewell. As they are at supper, the husband calls. His suspicions are excited, and his wife endeavours in vain to pacify him with explanations. He leaves, promising to come back in a few minutes. In the interval, Jack writes a letter, blots it on a blotting-pad, and burns it. The pad is handed to Hargreaves on his return; and, after reading it backwards in the mirror over the fireplace, he is convinced that Jack decoyed Mildred to his chambers by means of an artfully-worded epistle. Hargreaves takes his wife away in disgust at his friend's treachery; and Trevor prepares to commit suicide with a revolver. Miss Madge Girdlestone, as the wife, made an imposing and attractive appearance in a very handsome costume; and acted with style, spirit, and ease. Mr. Martin Sabine was sufficiently melancholy and bitter as the Hon. Jack Trevor; and Mr. Cecil Morton York played Captain Reginald Hargreaves with dignity, expression, and weight. Two Men and a Woman is an excellent example of the brief but telling dramatic episodes which find so much favour with modern music-hall audiences.

The company travelling from the Newport Empire to Nottingham on Sunday last are to be congratulated on escaping what might have been a serious disaster. As the train left New-street Station, Birmingham, two of their number, who were fortunately looking out of the window, noticed smoke issuing from the van immediately in front of their carriage, in which was stored the baggage and scenery, also two valuable dogs belonging to Mr. Walter Bellonini. The train was stopped, but only just in time, as the fire was discovered to be making headway amongst the inflammable material. The artists, assisted by some members of the Why Men Hate and Between Two Women companies, who were in the same train, soon rescued the contents, but not before considerable damage had been done, especially to the scenery and effects of Mr. A. C. Lilly's Drummed Out company. By a little manipulation, all of them were able to appear on Monday at Nottingham. They desire to gratefully acknowledge the valuable help rendered by their brother artists.

On Saturday last Messrs. T. Barrasford and Will Sley closed the doors of the Grand Theatre, Manchester, to the public, after a tenure lasting only twelve months. Almost simultaneous with the failure to keep up with local competition may be mentioned the death of Mr. E. H. Jones last week, who retired from the management of the Grand a year ago, owing to ill-health. The melancholy coincidence would seem to suggest that the house with which he was associated for so many years was not destined to survive him as a place of entertainment, though Messrs. Barrasford and Sley have done their best to provide attractive programmes during the period of their tenancy.

Mr. Thomas Barrasford's motor car caught on fire last Sunday evening, causing great excitement in Middle Street, Brighton. The car had just completed a fine run during the afternoon, and the chauffeur at the time was refilling the petrol tank, previous to again going out, when an explosion occurred, setting fire to the fore-part of the car. The blaze was eventually smothered with the aid of rugs, &c., not, however, before considerable damage had been done to the car. Mr. Barrasford and several gentlemen passing the Hippodrome at the time, rendered every assistance possible to the chauffeur, who was badly burned about the hands and arms.

Miss Florence Smithers concluded her pantomime engagement at the Prince's Theatre, Manchester, on Saturday, and is now fulfilling a special week as Dolly, in Hard Lines, at Moss and Stoll's Palace, Bordesley. On Monday next she rejoins Mr. Edward Marris, for her original part Jane, in The Dandy Doctor, a part she has played over a thousand times.

A capital programme was submitted at the Empire, Middlesbrough, on Wednesday night, the occasion being the benefit of Mr. J. W. Thornborrow, the genial and popular manager of the hall, who, his many friends will regret to hear, is in a critical state of health. A little over a week ago, Mr. Thornborrow was married at Middlesbrough. He is at present in the South of England, and the premier Tees-side Hall is once more under the temporary guidance of the genial Mr. Charles Rembges of the Middlesex.

At Mountpottinger Hall, Belfast, on the 16th inst., the dramatic sketch, After the Honeymoon, was played, the leading rôles of Twitters and Lydia, his wife, being cleverly sustained by Mr. Sinclair Neill and Miss Geraldine Duff, the latter an amateur, who made her début with undeniable success, and was warmly congratulated. Much interest was also evinced in the dramatic dialogue, entitled The Other Woman, in which Miss Geraldine Duff and Miss Hilda K. Duff appeared.

We regret to learn that a serious accident occurred on Tuesday to Mr. Arthur Lennard, whilst returning from the races at Baldoyle, on a jaunting car, in company with Messrs. Sam Mayo and Walter Stanley. In accordance with the general rule, racing does not finish on the racecourse, but is continued by the Irish "jarveys" till their fares are landed either at their respective destinations or in the road. Unfortunately, Mr. Lennard arrived at the last-named goal, and is now lying seriously injured at his apartments in Dublin, under the care of Dr. Cowie. Mr. Lennard did not appear at the Empire on Tuesday evening, much to the disappointment of a large audience, and it is very doubtful if he will appear again during the week. Messrs. Mayo and Stanley, who had quite a miraculous escape, were fortunately quite unhurt.

Mr. W. F. Frame is one of the few Scotch successful comedians who has crossed the border, and what is England's gain is Scotland's loss. "The Man You Know" opens on the Stoll tour at Bradford on Monday.—The Lyons Trio leave town for a special week at the Grand, Hanley, after which they return to the Syndicate Halls, and open at the Coliseum on April 10.—Regan and Ryan, who have been very successful in the pantomime at the Princess's Theatre, Glasgow, were accorded a complimentary benefit on Monday night. Mr. Dan Roylat, from the Grand Theatre, and several other popular turns appeared. The couple are booked with Mr. Robert Arthur for the next two years in pantomime, and are also with Mr. Oswald Stoll for the Oxford, the Palace, Shaftesbury-avenue, &c.

Mr. Harry Burns (manager of the Empress Theatre, Hartlepool) has just recovered from a serious illness, and is at the present time in Southport for the benefit of his health. He will, however, return to Hartlepool this week-end.

The Smart Set Entertainers, who have not long returned from a long tour through the United States, will make their first appearance at the music halls next week, Mr. Charles Hector having engaged them for Collins's and the London.

Miss Madge Haines and Mr. Somers Bellamy, who played Poppy and Yen How in Mr. George Edwardes's San Toy company for over two years, are the latest recruits to the music halls, and have just produced most successfully their musical duologue, Something in the City.

The 394th meeting of the Executive Committee of the M.H.A.R.A. was held on Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Joe O'Gorman chairman of the committee, presiding. Mr. George Parsons, of the Salisbury Hotel, Boscombe, was appointed as agent in that town. The resignation of Mr. Harry Mountford as a member of the committee was accepted with regret. The secretary reported that 38 new members had joined during the past week, making a total number enrolled since the commencement of 11,342.

A presentation was made on Saturday evening to Mr. Ernest Bacon, of the Grand Theatre, Newcastle-on-Tyne, of a gold keyless watch and chain, on his retirement from the management of this theatre. The Sheriff of Newcastle, Mr. Arthur Scott, made the presentation, Councillor Weidner being in the chair.

It will be remembered that Miss Jennie Maynard was taken seriously ill while touring with the Kennedy Miller stock company. The unfortunate lady has had a slight stroke of paralysis, affecting the right arm. A sea voyage has been recommended, so Miss Maynard is taking a journey to Melbourne, in the hopes of recovering her lost health. We wish her bon voyage and a speedy recovery.

Mr. George Mozart, the popular comedian, who has made such a great hit in the part of one of the comic villains in The Babes in the Wood pantomime at the Islington Grand, concludes his very successful engagement to-night, with the close of the season. It is worthy of note that a Grand pantomime was not run for nine weeks since the celebrated "Tar-ra-ra-ra-boom-de-ay" year; and much of the success achieved is of course due to the untiring efforts of the comedians engaged. Mr. Mozart's genuine humour and quaint manner have especially delighted North London audiences, and merriment has reigned supreme while he has occupied the stage. Of his remarkable popularity in "Merrie Islington" there can be no question. He returns to the halls with a new répertoire. Mr. Hartley Milburn is Mr. Mozart's sole agent.

Audiences at the West-End halls will, within a week or so, have the opportunity of witnessing a great novelty—a most ambitious and successful effort to illustrate a complete novel or story by means of a cinématograph film. The picture has just been completed, after immense difficulties, by Messrs. Gaumont and Co., of Cecil Court, W.C. Its success should be instantaneous, for it combines dramatic acting with a true vein of pathos, and there is comedy in it as well—just enough to provide the necessary "relief." Messrs. Gaumont have decided to call the picture "The Blacksmith's Daughter." The story is told in a series of episodes.

Briefly, the picture shows us, in real life and movement, how a simple country girl, "the blacksmith's daughter," is deceived by a gay and unscrupulous cavalier, who rides up to her father's smithy. His horse has cast a shoe. She deserts father, home, and her faithful village swain, and flies with the stranger at dead of night. After desertion, misery, and shame, she creeps sadly back to the little village, falls fainting by the roadside, and is discovered by her rustic lover. He forgives all; so does her poor old father—broken with grief at her desertion—and the curtain falls upon a very pretty scene of reconciliation.

Mr. Frank Parker, stage-director of the Hippodrome, has just been endowed with a magnificent present of silver, valued at £200, and comprising some fifty articles, to celebrate his forty-third birthday and the 100th performance of Butterflies in Fairyland. The gifts, which were subscribed for by the Hippodrome staff, were handed to Mr. Parker at the conclusion of the matinée on Friday, the 17th, by Mr. Clarence Corri, the musical director.

Miss Winifred Hare terminates her exceedingly successful pantomime engagement this week at Sheffield, where the Stoke Newington pantomime has been played since its departure from London, and returns on March 13 to begin an important engagement at the Coliseum, where she will sing two of her dainty chansonnettes, "Little Brown Dove," by Hannen Swaffer and Hermann Darewsk, jun., and her latest success, "Banish Sorrow," by the late Frederick Clay. Special scenery is being painted to illustrate these two songs.

Mr. Rutland, solicitor to the London Entertainment Association, again attended, on Thursday, with Mr. Henri Gros, the president of the society and managing director of the Metropolitan Theatre of Varieties, at Westminster, to discuss the conviction by Mr. Curtis Bennett, at Marylebone, with respect to the performance of the sketch called The Fighting Parson as a stage play. Mr. Gros, who was under recognisances to come up for judgment if called upon, considered that an indignity, and was willing to plead guilty to the technical offence, so that it might be dealt with once and for all. It was surely not right that the summons should be dealt with in a manner which kept it in perpetuity over a defendant who was willing to take the full responsibility of what he had done as an individual and in the interests of his shareholders. Mr. Gros claimed to have the same liberty and right as others engaged in the same sort of business.

Mr. Heddekwake, for the Theatre Managers' Association, pointed out that the course taken at Marylebone had, at the time, the approval of Mr. Gros, and he submitted that no special circumstances had since arisen which made it desirable to reopen the case. Mr. Curtis Bennett observed that he felt this difficulty. Mr. Rutland protested that it was a dog-in-the-manger policy to put any obstacle in the way of an adjudication. Defendant had a right to ask that the case should be finally dealt with on its merits. The sketch complained of as a stage play was still being openly played at other halls, and it was only by a want of appreciation of the position that Mr. Gros ever consented to be bound over. If there had been adjournment to a certain date instead of sine die, such a position as this could not have arisen. Defendant really had a right to ask for adjudication. Mr. Bennett said at any rate he could not deal with the matter unless it was properly before him at this court. He would reserve his decision.

The numerous friends of Mr. Alfred Butt, manager of the Palace Theatre, will regret to learn that he is confined to his bed with a severe chill.

Mr. John Grun Marx, the modern Hercules, finishes his London engagements at the Empress, Brixton, to-night. He is engaged at the Alhambra, Paris, from March 1 to April 1. His feats of strength cannot fail to win the admiration and evoke the astonishment of Parisians who have the good fortune to witness his wonderful performance. More particularly will they be surprised when the man of might concludes by supporting on his chest a roundabout carrying eight full-grown men, the whole weighing over 25cwt.

The Haldyne Duo (Mark and Alicia) deputised for Miss Kate Carney on Tuesday at the Canterbury, and were retained for the remainder of the week.

Councillor John Coveney handed to Mr. Mead, at the Thames Police-court on Monday morning, a cheque for £10, part of the proceeds of a matinée held at the Cambridge Theatre of Varieties, in aid of the poor. Mr. Mead, in accepting the cheque, said he was very much obliged to Mr. Coveney and those gentlemen who had assisted him.

At the Westminster Police-court on Monday Mr. Swanborough, manager of the Chelsea Palace of Varieties, aplied to Mr. Horace Smith for a licence to enable a little girl of eleven to appear on the stage to give a singing and dancing turn. The magistrate inquired what time the child would finish. Mr. Swanborough said there were two performances a night, and the child's first turn would be about 6.45 and the second at 9.15. The Magistrate: I don't think it is very desirable for young children to be kept out of bed. The London County Council naturally object to this sort of thing, for how can a child like this be expected to receive proper education? I can't tell whether she goes to school. The mother of the girl said efficient instruction was given by a governess. She admitted that after the performance the child had to go home to Norwood. The Magistrate: I should have thought the child ought to have been in bed by nine. The first performance should be quite enough. Mr. Swanborough: She has been playing for some years, and we have the same programme for both houses. Eventually his Worship granted the licence for a week on the conditions that the child was lodged at Chelsea and finished at 9.30 o'clock.

The directors of the Empire, in their report, to be presented at the ordinary general meeting of shareholders on Monday, state that after allowing for depreciation on the usual liberal lines, amounting in the aggregate to £6,300 16s. 4d., with an additional sum of £4,669 4s. 8d. charged to revenue for renewals and repairs, and also setting aside the annual amount required (£430) to repay the capital on expiry of lease in 1929, with £115 4s. 7d. interest on the uninvested portion of the sinking fund, the net profit (including balance of last account) is shown at £5,220 11s. 10d. It is now proposed to pay a dividend in respect of the year 1904 of 1s. 6d. on each "15s. paid" share and of 1s. on each "10s. paid" share respectively, and to carry forward to next account a balance of £2,095 11s. 10d.

The directors much regret that the working of the year under consideration has resulted so unsuccessfully, and can only attribute it to the depression of trade in general and the delay in producing a new ballet, consequent upon the actions at law pending against the company in respect of such productions. The directors are, however, pleased to state that the year 1905 has commenced auspiciously, and continues to promise well for the future. The directors deeply regret the loss they sustained through the death of the late chairman, Mr. H. N. Tennent. At the request of Madame Nicols they have elected to a seat on the board Mr. Frederick Hurdle, chairman of Messrs. J. Marston, Thompson and Son, Limited, to represent Madame Nicols' interests as freeholder and as the largest shareholder.

Mr. Arthur Roberts has strengthened the Tivoli bill this week with his new sketch, Where's the Count? which was recently produced at the Palace. Mr. Roberts is in the best of form, and his comicalities keep the house merry throughout his stay. Miss Ruby Celeste aids valuably in the success of the production.

A novel act which will be included in the Pavilion programme next week was privately presented at the London Pavilion on Wednesday afternoon. The Brothers Zachs introduced a curious iron cage, from which they defy any man to escape. One of the brothers, after being heavily manacled, effected the escape in the presence of a committee.

From the report of the directors of the Metropolitan, Edgware-road, to be submitted to the shareholders at the sixth annual meeting on Wednesday next, it appears that the net profit earned for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1904, after providing for interest on the mortgage and debentures, amounts to the sum of £4,846 15s. 9d. In July last an interim dividend of £5 per cent. for the six months ended June 30, 1904 (less Income Tax), was paid; the directors now recommend a further dividend of £5 per cent. (less Income Tax) for the half-year ended Dec. 31, 1904, making £10 per cent. for the year. After payment of this dividend there will remain a balance of £3,081 17s. 7d. to be carried to the current year's accounts. The general reserve fund amounts to £12,000, partly invested in Consols and freehold property adjoining the Metropolitan.

The Gardner-Brown Bioscope and variety company opened at the Assembly Rooms, Gibraltar, on the 7th, under the distinguished patronage of Field Marshal Sir George White and Rear-Admiral Chichester, Bart. This company, which was organised last year by Mr. D. Gardner-Brown, specially to cater for the amusement of the British residents in the Mediterranean, has been successful all along the line, their tours in Egypt and Malta having been one triumphal march of success. Mr. Gardner-Brown has been long resident in the Mediterranean, and is therefore peculiarly fitted by his experience for this special class of catering. The company includes Miss Lottie Walton, serio; Miss Annie Russell, soubrette; Sisters Romaine, duettists and dancers; Leo Montague, comedian and dancer; George Gulliver, ventriloquist and polyphonic entertainer; Clem Allen, coon eccentric; Madame Gardner-Brown, with illustrated songs; and the Bioscope.

Mr. J. P. Adderley, ballad vocalist, and late of the 4th Manchester Regiment, wishes all his friends and acquaintances to know that he has not departed to the "unknown bourne," notwithstanding reports to that effect. It appears that this false report originated from the fact that a comrade who bore the same name was killed in South Africa four years ago, whilst serving in the Manchester Regiment.

Mr. Henry Carlton, the popular young comedian, had an exciting experience and a narrow escape from being drowned on Monday last. Whilst out shooting on the sea coast at Lancaster, Mr. Carlton crossed to an island, and not noticing the incoming tide, got hemmed in, the water soon completely covering the part where Mr. Carlton was standing. However, being a strong swimmer, he managed to escape with nothing worse than a severe ducking.

On Monday afternoon a meeting of the shareholders of the Croydon Palace of Varieties was held at Hummum's Hotel, Covent-garden. It will be remembered that this concern numbered the late Dan Leno and the late Herbert Campbell among its shareholders. Only shareholders were admitted, and one gentleman, who held proxies to the amount of £1,000, was refused admission. The shareholders had to consider the advisability of accepting an offer made by Mr. Walter Gibbons to take over the site of the Croydon Palace, build a new and up-to-date music hall, and to pay the company £300 a year. No decision could be come to as to what was best to be done, so the meeting was adjourned.

All artistes engaged for the Macnaghten London Circuit should note that rehearsals now take place at twelve o'clock on Monday.

"Wallau," described as a professional juggler, was on Wednesday the defendant, at Wrexham County Court, in an action for damages brought by Mr. J. J. Scott, proprietor of the Empire Music Hall, Wrexham, in respect of an alleged breach of contract. The defendant did not appear. According to the case for the plaintiff, which was proved by his manager, Mr. Herbert Nicholls, the defendant was engaged to perform twice nightly at the Empire Music Hall during the August Bank Holiday week of 1904, and the usual contract was duly signed by both parties. On the Saturday preceding the week of his engagement, the defendant wired Mr. Scott as follows:—"Sorry unable to appear. Had to hurry home. Unforeseen circumstances.—Wallau." As a matter of fact, it was discovered afterwards that during the week in which he should have appeared at the Empire the defendant performed elsewhere. Plaintiff claimed £5 as damages. Judgment was entered for plaintiff for the amount claimed, with costs.

The famous and ever-popular "money-spinner," Humanity, commences a tour of the Moss and Thornton Empires in May. A novel scene is being prepared, and the sensational staircase incident will be doubly impressive.

The latest addition to swell the ranks of the Terriers' Association is Mr. John Marx, the strong man.

Messrs. B. Feldman and Co. have acquired for publication purposes Miss Florrie Forde's latest success, "The Little Bit of Red," which has been specially written and composed for this popular artiste by Messrs. John P. Harrington and George Le Brunn.

In consequence of the emphatic and instantaneous "hit" achieved by Miss Vesta Tilley at the Empire, Birmingham, with her newest character impersonation, entitled, "Doesn't Anybody Want the Curate?" it has been accepted for immediate publication by Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter. The author and composer are Messrs. John P. Harrington and George Le Brunn.

Miss Maud Marlow, having recovered from her recent indisposition, resumed business on Monday at the Grand, Clapham. This rising artiste is booked for the Barrasford tour and several of the principal London halls through her agent, Mr. Will Oliver. She opens on Monday at the Palace, Belfast.

Mr. Arthur Reece has secured a stirring Nelson Centenary song, entitled "The Name that shall Never Die," by George Everard.

Messrs. Dale and Dargan, who are making a big success in J. A. Thompson's pantomime, Aladdin, as Emperor, Vizier, and speciality, have been re-engaged to play the same parts next Christmas.

Miss Florence Challis has produced this week a new scena, entitled Smiles are Tears, by Geo. A. Stevens. At both the Camberwell and the Standard it has met with great success.

The Dunedin Troupe have just returned to Paris from South America. They were a great success in Buenos Ayres, Rio Janeiro, and San Paulo, and open on March 1, for six weeks, at Cirque Medrano, Paris.

An original episode by Warden Reed and Walter Hart, entitled The Right Road, will be produced at the Battersea Empire next week. Mr. Reed and Miss Granville will appear in it, and the new production has been booked for the Metropole, Camberwell, for March 13.

Miss "Del" Levey has scored a great success at the Theatre Royal, Glasgow, this week. Her new song, "My Queen Bee," was specially well received; and Miss Levey's fine figure set off to advantage in her wonderful yellow costume was also much admired.

As we announced last week, a new comedy interlude entitled The Sporting Duchess, which has been specially written for the Lady Haldon by Mr. Arthur Branscombe, the well-known author of Morocco Bound, will be produced at the Tivoli on Monday. Lady Haldon was formerly and for a considerable period a great favourite on the London stage, where, as Mdlle. Miska, she was leading lady, and the creator of original parts with Sir Augustus Harris at Drury Lane. She also appeared at the Empire, when a theatre, in Round the World in Eighty Days; and afterwards toured the United States for three or four years.

Mr. Medley Barrett, whose fine song for Mr. Harry Randall, "I'm not a bad sort—am I?" will be remembered, has been secured by the British Bioscope Company as chief humorist in a series of exhibitions, which will commence in Edinburgh on Monday. One of the artist's strong cards will be "Little Tommy's Christmas Pudding," a composition of his own.

Mr. Henry A. Moore, the mimic, is breaking new ground as a writer of dramatic duologues, and one from his pen, entitled Matches, played by Mr. Edward Christopher and Miss Dorothy Riddell, met with great success at the Palace, Manchester, on a recent afternoon. Mr. Moore opens at the Hippodrome, Boscombe, on Monday.

Miss Sybil Arundale writes pointing out there there is no truth in the statement contained in last week's Era that she has arranged to appear at the London Coliseum.

Lynn, "the original singing newsboy," has been appointed sole manager of the Hippodrome and Coliseum Gardens, Llandudno, and will establish there a World's Fair, which will last from June 5 until October. He has just finished at the Coventry Hippodrome a twenty-nine weeks' tour, and has been engaged by Mr. Henri Gros for London.

Mr. J. Hickory Wood, the well-known author of so many pantomimes, has been commissioned by Messrs. Methuen to write a biography of the late Dan Leno. The book will contain numerous portraits, and also reproductions of pictures painted by the lamented comedian, who was decidedely gifted both as a draughtsman and a colourist.

Miss Alice Lloyd, who is now gracing the boards at the Pavilion (Mile-End) pantomime, has been presented with Ally Sloper's sixth weekly ring for the most popular pantomime actresses. Last year Miss Lloyd won a 50-guinea ring presented by the same paper.

Mr. J. B. Elliott writes as follows, under date Feb. 17:—"I am sorry to inform you that my niece died yesterday in Paris, after an operation for cancer. She was not a member of our troupe." The family have received many messages of condolence.

Mr. Tom Burrows was greatly cheered in the monotony of his task of club-swinging at the Canterbury by the voluntary efforts of Miss Kate Carney, and he was also greatly indebted to her for his success.

Giant Machnow, the Russian, who is being bombarded by rival managers desirous of securing his services, has been offered £400 per week by a certain variety agent for a period of twelve months, on condition that he breaks his contract with his present agent, Paul Schultze, of Berlin. The directors of Moss' Empires, Ltd., are determined to hold Machnow to his contract. The interest which this abnormal individual has excited during his stay in London has proved so valuable, that at present, although his performance consists of simply shaking the hands of some of the audience, he has been offered a salary much bigger than even Dan Leno received in his prime.

Mrs. John Lawson's weird performance of Louie Faber in A Bride for a Living still continues to excite most favourable comment. A special part is now being prepared for Mrs. Lawson in A Key to the Bible.

Mr. Tom Wootwell has been chosen to make one of the English team of swimmers, headed by J. A. Jarvis, going to Vienna next August to give exhibitions of the English method of life-saving. In addition to these exhibitions, there will be several good prizes given for races between the Englishmen and the Viennese, who have some very good swimmers. Of course, Mr. Wootwell looks upon it as a big feather in his cap to be chosen to form one of such a representative team. Four years ago he went to Italy, and swam for England in five towns.

Mr. Dusty Rhodes has recovered from the accident which happened to him seven weeks ago, while he was engaged at the Hippodrome, Liverpool. He came out of the hospital on Monday, and desires to express his thanks to friends for letters and presents.

Over 314,000 copies of illicit music were seized by the police and agents of the Musical Copyright Association, who visited a warehouse in Larkhall Lane, Clapham, on the 17th inst.

THE LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

THE LYCEUM.

A constancy to change is the policy of Mr. T. Barrasford at the magnificent Lyceum; and out of the twelve items presented on Monday no less than eleven were fresh to the boards of the house. The remaining turn is the excerpt from Faust, given by the operatic company, now firmly established in the favour of the patrons of the house. Gounod's music is superb, and in the scene chosen—that of the prison—highly dramatic. Mdlle. Van Parys rises to great heights of fervour as the hapless Marguerite; M. Ansoldi shows the repentant mood of Faust by his acting, and sings very finely; and the generous applause that is accorded the whole scene—to the success of which M. Rey, as Mephistopheles largely contributes—is well won. As an immobile comedian, with a peculiar quaintness all his own, Mr. Alf. Gibson has already won the ear of London audiences in other places, and the Lyceumites seem to like his imperturbable methods by the way in which they applaud his songs, "All through eating frozen meat" and "It wasn't long before he shifted." Miss Claire Romaine's "boys" have always been interesting, and she scores as the forward youngster who remarks, "They don't mind me; I'm only a bit of a kid." Her more sentimental ditty, "Sweethearts," has a pretty melody, which easily recommends itself to any well-constituted gallery possessing a love of harmony. Mr. Whit Cunliffe, light comedian, opens his entertainment with some instrumental and other imitations, which prepared the way for his well-known song, "I would," which bids fair to repeat here the success it has met with in other places. Sensational performances are always expected of the Japanese, both in war and peace, and the Akimotos are not behind their countrymen in their wonderful exhibition of prehensile activity on a pole balanced by a member of the troupe lying prone on his back. Keen and Waller are labelled "Parson and Sport," and they are responsible for some very smart tricks in the way of somersaults and pirouettes combined. They are also exceedingly agile, as well as particularly quaint in their table business, and have a real sense of fun. Mr. Carl Nobel, ventriloquist, has some excellent mechanical figures, and his divertissement with a lady dummy is exceedingly clever. His promenade and conversations with two other figures are amusing, the show being throughout bright and entertaining. Mr. Norman French's sand dancing is quite unique, and one is reminded of the old-fashioned harlequinade by the funny trap business of the Pickards. The Athlones give an exhibition of physical culture; and the "Interesting Story" told by animated pictures is as puzzling as it is humorous. That the public still appreciate the Ju-Jitsu, or Japanese form of wrestling is shown by the reception accorded to Tarro Myake, who defeated the redoubtable Yukio Tani at the Tivoli on Dec. 24, 1904. Myake offers £20 to any man living whom he fails to defeat within ten minutes, and £1,000 to the man who defeats him. He is more sturdily built than Tani, and looks older than the 23 years attributed to him by Mr. R. W. Guke, who introduced the Jap on Monday. He is said to stand 5ft. 8in. high, and to weigh 11st. From the outset it was evident Myake could have disposed of either of the men opposed to him in a minute, but he permitted the first opponent, Mr. Sutherland, to remain for 3min. 15sec., and Jack Bibby for 4min. 11sec. Mr. Louis de Reeder's fine orchestra is heard to advantage in the new march, entitled "The Lyceum," and in the operatic selection.

THE MIDDLESEX.

For funny sayings, and a quaint way of delivering them, Mr. Cliff Ryland is one of the most commendable of comedians. The best of his humorous points are brought out with a gravity of facial expression which suggests that he is quite unconscious of the purpose he fulfils before the footlights. This week at the Middlesex he is as much favoured by applause as he is everywhere else. His little anecdotes concerning the idiosyncrasies of one Casey are particularly well relished, and his songs, "Feet, nothing else but feet" and "The Girl with the Game Eye," also form no small factor in the making of a success. Kitts and Windrum have a very entertaining act, entitled The Entr-acte, in which the lady partner appears as an actress dressing for her part, and the gentleman as a "Johnny" who has fallen a victim to her enchanting influence. During the course of the act we get quite a variety of diverting quips and cranks, and the lady cleverly and gracefully executes a dance. Miss Lily Marney, a comedienne who possesses a decidedly bold style, creates a strong impression on the Middlesex boys by her singing of "He breathed words of love" and "I'm a Spanish young lady." Rex Fox must be a man of wonderful nerve, and the daring act in which he stands on one foot on a high wire, balancing a lighted lamp on the other foot and playing a banjo the while, is a source of wonderment and admiration to the onlookers. Miss Gipsy Woolf's musical scena, The Gipsy Encampment, is a charming item, and is most picturesquely staged. Her song, "Ma Sunlight Sue," the chorus of which is delightfully rendered by her six little "Romanies," immediately secures the affections of the audience, and the dancing of the juvenile troupe is admirable. Miss Rose Elliott comes on as an extra turn, and a very acceptable one at that, her "Rose of White" ditty being sympathetically and effectively sung. Dale and O'Malley are right when they tell us that they have "got a lot to say," and the "lot" of these talented comedians and patterers is an extremely attractive and laughable commodity. Their "Johnnies" song is specially deserving of praise. Mr. Frederick Maxwell and Co. have a very interesting production in their romantic episode, The Corsican Brothers. Mr. Maxwell plays the dual rôle of the twin-brothers, Fabien and Louis dei Franchi, and his acting throughout displays strong dramatic power, especially when he appears as the avenger. Miss Lois du Cane, as Emelie de l'Esparre, acts with womanly grace and dignity, and the portrayal, both as to speech and gesture, gives evidence of considerable histrionic ability. The sketch is well mounted, the different scenes showing that attention has been paid to stage effect and historical correctness. Juggling extraordinary is indulged in by Prince Kuroki, whose tricks are performed with surprising neatness and mystifying adroitness. The comical side of life is aptly illustrated by Mr. Bedford Davis and Co. in their farcical sketch, Uncle Jack, which from start to finish is productive of the most profound hilarity. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knox win golden opinions with their new song "My Flower Girl of Drury Lane." The Five Bon-Bons submit a merry trifle in Hot time for one, and their turn goes with a capital swing right to the last line. The Sisters Vincent are smart duettists and dancers; Miss Ena Beryl puts forth some good work as a vocalist and mandolinist; Mr. Fred Elton, comedian, has the humorous instinct highly developed; and the Sisters Morgan delight everybody with their singing and dancing.

THE BEDFORD.

The Camden Town folks are staunch in their love of sensation; and they have this week their old favourite, Mr. Leonard Mortimer and company, to present it in what may be termed a dramatic tabloid of thrilling interest, entitled The Britisher. The hero of this somewhat explosive piece of work is known as Pete, who in consequence of a drunken frolic, has left England and volunteered with the American forces charged with the suppression of the Filipino insurrection. Pete finds a fierce rival in Stratton, a Yankee officer, and they quarrel, with the result that a duel is arranged for the morning. In order to get Pete into her power Inez Marcelino fixes upon him the ignominy of being a spy by placing important plans in his military overcoat. Pete is denounced by the colonel of the American regiment, and is arrested. Inez, however, relents, and, releasing Pete, enables him to rehabilitate himself with his comrades by a brilliant feat of arms. Mr. Leonard Mortimer displays force and earnestness in the part of Pete, and he is well supported. The chief star of the bill is Miss Peggy Pride, who long since made herself a favourite with the Bedfordians. She sings of "Sally's Wedding Day," a hilarious function in costerdom. Miss Pryde's description of the wedding breakfast and the proceedings following thereon makes for laughter. For her second number she chooses the popular refrain, "Good-bye, little girl, good-bye," in the singing of which she is heartily joined by an unpaid choir in the gods. An interlude of considerable interest in the programme is that submitted by Gardner, Griffin, and Gardner, musical comedians. The cornet player is responsible for a capital rendering of the "Whirlwind" polka, in which he is accompanied by a lady pianist. The comic man plays the part of another "Pied Piper of Hamelin," his tootlings on the flute resulting in the appearance of some huge property rats. A really artistic feature of the show is the duet between flute and horn, an unusual combination, and the rendering of "Ah! che la morte," from Trovatore, is excellent. This clever trio should win popularity in London wherever they may appear. Miss Rose Elliott, who looks very attractive in a white lace dress covered with shimmering sequins, commences in the lighter vein with a song entitled "I'm a bit of a judge." In this we learn that a member of the police force stationed in Leicester-square is quite an expert critic of stockings. Quite serious in tone is Miss Elliott's song of the red and white rose, in which the sorrow of an aged man's life is caused by a stage sweetheart wearing—through the machinations of an enemy—the wrong colour. Thinking that he is unforgiven, the lover wastes in despair, and apparently is entirely oblivious of the comfort to be derived from the poet's lines, "If she be not fair to me, what care I how fair she be?" Miss Elliott puts much earnestness into her delivery of the number. Miss Alma Gray, a capital dancer, has a rag-time song, to which she was scarcely able to do justice on the night of our visit, in consequence of the prevalence of smoke caused by the explosions incidental to a previous sketch. Mr. Arthur Slatter, a discovery of Mr. Harry Day, is an accomplished siffleur, his imitations of the lark and the canary being excellent. He is also responsible for mimicry of Mr. Frank Lawton, who was the original Blinky Bill, the whistling "mixed ale pugilist" in The Belle of New York. Mr. Slatter, who dresses completely in white, makes an excellent bid for success, and should be heard of in the West-end halls shortly. Plenty of genuine knockabout fun is supplied by Rezene and Robini, both on the trapeze and off. Levano adds to the difficulty of his energetic Arab tumbling feats by placing daggers at his heart and throat before their accomplishment; the Paytes, comedy sketch artistes, are responsible for a lively trifle, in which a sporting husband's unreasoning jealousy is completely cured; and other turns include Miss Minnie Wren and Mr. T. P. Carrol. The Imperial Bioscope is also an attraction. Mr. A. F. Lovesy's supervision of the entertainment here gives complete satisfaction to the visitors, and also to the managing-director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH EMPIRE.

The handsome and cosy place of entertainment presides, has now taken quite a big place in the affections of West Londoners. During the nineteen months it has been in existence, it has more than realised the highest anticipations of its promoters, and the cleanness of the programme presented combined with the excellent supervision Mr. Dobson has exercised in the interests of his audiences have been instrumental in securing the patronage of people who, under ordinary circumstances, might not have known what it was to visit a music hall. This week there is an attractive list of turns. We have frequently seen successful impersonations of men by lady artistes on the variety stage, but it has been rare that we have come across such a successful "woman" impersonator as Mr. George Tacius. In fact, it is only as he makes his exit from the stage and removes his lady's wig that the audience is disillusioned, and promptly acknowledges having been "taken in" by the clever disguise. Ryan and Hall are seen in an acrobatic act which possesses much in the way of novelty and power to create mirthfulness, one of the gentleman being an exceedingly agile and snake-like contortionist. A picturesque—so far as the costumes go—dramatic episode of early eighteenth century life in France is capably played by Messrs. A. E. Anson and H. C. M. Hardinge's company. The two gentlemen named are the authors, and the title of the playlet is In the King's Name. Miss Nina Martino, the charming vocalist, has a pretty and well-trained voice, which gives an agreeable rendering of the song, "Sing me to sleep." Hand-balancing and equilibristic feats are crowded into the turn of the Three Nevarros, who certainly exhibit remarkable talents in this direction. Mr. Will H. Fox shows us, as he expresses it himself, "the different ways in which a piano can be imposed upon," and if his selections are impositions—well, they are highly amusing, and at the same time indicative of great skill in fingering the keys of the instrument. The remarks with which the playing is intersected are in themselves a liberal entertainment. The strange characteristics of rag-time, cake-walks, wedding marches, and funeral compositions, as performed by people who can scarcely be regarded as brilliant musicians, are amusingly brought out by Mr. Fox. Swan and Bambard are eccentrics of the rough and tumbling order, and their act, The Eccentric Recruit, is productive of much laughter. Their antics and burlesque patter are comical in the extreme. Originality of ideas and "situations" in which there is a great deal of the sportive element are woven into a delightful comedy act, which is made the most of by the Three Brothers Fortune. Some excellent and clear and distinct bioscopic views, including the "wrongly accused" series, are thrown upon the screen at the Shepherd's Bush Empire, and are a notable feature of the entertainment.

"PROGRAMMES."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Referring to Mr. Frank Leo's letter in your issue of Feb. 18, 1905, which is no doubt directed at me, I may state that my version of "Programmes" is an improvement upon one of my old songs entitled "Didn't I, wasn't I," a song full of interruptions, in the same style as "Programmes."

If you will refer to Mr. Leo's advertisement in your columns of an earlier date you will find it states that Mr. Wilkie Bard produced "Programmes" as a novelty, not a song, at the Palace, Manchester, early in December. I am quite aware that the "programme gag" has been worked years ago, and by more than one artiste, but I still claim to be the first to work it in the form of a song. My song is fully protected at Stationers' Hall, is published by Chas. Sheard and Co., and I shall make strenuous efforts to protect my property should anyone infringe upon my rights.

Yours faithfully, SAM MAYO.

Tivoli, Dublin, Feb. 22, 1905.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. G. D. Fox, conductor of Mr. Fred J. Little's pantomime, The Forty Thieves, was presented, on Saturday last, with a silver pocket-book by the Three Sisters Silcott, at the Theatre Royal, Jarrow.

THE OXFORD ANNIVERSARY.

The Oxford wore the livery of rejoicing on the evening of Friday, the 17th, the date of the hall's twelfth annual. The auditorium was most profusely and beautifully decorated, flags of national and international significance draping the tiers, and the chaste effect of the whole scheme being much increased by charming electrical effects and bouquets in the boxes. The architectural features of the lounge also were prettily outlined with hanging smilax and scarlet and white blooms—a floral picture for which a well-known firm in Covent Garden was responsible. Mr. G. A. Payne, Mr. Albert Gilmer, and Mr. C. Blyth-Pratt received the hearty congratulations of a large number of friends on the continued prosperity of the house of which the popularity has never wavered for forty years. The programme was of formidable proportions, some fifty or so turns being scheduled; but the management did not depend on mere weight of numbers. Every one of the items was of high quality, and the packed audience had an exceedingly jolly time. An uproarious welcome awaited Mr. Joe Elvin, in that amusing racing farce, entitled, Over the Sticks, in which he appeared in his favourite rôle of a jockey. Mr. Toole in his early years as an actor made a reputation in the pigskin, but he never became quite so popular a figure as Joe, the cockney comedian, who was admirably supported by Mrs. Bennett as the gushing Rebecca. The fun on the course was of the liveliest description, and the ride to victory was most realistically managed. An interesting appearance was that of Miss Kate Tyndall (Mrs. Albert Gilmer), who recited Adelaide Proctor's "Story of a Faithful Soul" (by permission of Mr. Lewis Waller). Miss Tyndall, it will be remembered, was the original Dick, the sturdy "little vagabond" in Messrs. Sims and Shirley's play, founded on Les Deux Gosses, which had a long run at the Princess's in the nineties. The favourite actress imparted much interest to the recitation, and was loudly applauded.

A comparative novelty in the programme was the "Parisian Ragpickers," a scena that is presented by Miss Rachel Lowe's company. The foundation of the interlude—for so we may call it—is the song, "Any Rags," of which Miss Lowe made such a success, both at the halls and in pantomime. The number, which is an attraction of the current week's bill, was sung on the anniversary night by another lady, who displayed dramatic insight, and was likewise an energetic dancer. She wore a special costume, ingeniously made, and was backed up by a chorus of young ladies, carrying in front of them property heads and trunks, representative of all sorts and conditions of Paris chiffonniers. They were splendidly made, these properties, and the whole production was curious and interesting. Miss Dorothy Kenton, "the girl with the banjo," made her first appearance in England, and her playing, which is exceptionally good, at once established her a favourite. Bransby Williams repeated a dramatic triumph as "Fagin, the Jew"; Mr. Alec Hurley was heard in an amusing comic song concerning the working man who never works; Duncan and Godfrey presented once again with the most complete success their little coster idyll, entitled Me and 'Er; the audience had a merry time with Mr. James Stewart, the "tramp at the piano"; with Miss Vesta Victoria, in "It's all right in the summer time"; with Miss Maud Courtney, who sang, "I always leave 'em laughing when I say good-bye"; and with the droll Louie Freear, who gave a mirthful rendering of "All through the twiddley-bits." Mr. Joe O'Gorman repeated his success in "Pepita Maguire"; Miss Kitty Rayburn was amusing in "The Christening of the Baby"; and there was hearty recognition of the whimsical situations of that equestrian farce presented by "Ginnett's Remounts." Other favourites who appeared were Edie King, G. H. Elliott, Walter Stanley, Goggin and Davis, Amy Clevere, Pat Rafferty, Radie Furman, the Selbinis, and Eddie Comet. Mr. W. Burgess, with his usual ability, directed the orchestra, which was heard to much advantage in a special arrangement of popular tunes, known as "Oxford Echoes."

THE WOMACK FUND.

Mr. George Womack, the stage-manager of the Oxford, whose precarious health prevents him following his occupation, is about to undergo for about eight months a course of treatment for consumption at Bournemouth. A Fund is being raised on his behalf, and any subscriptions will be gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Albert Gilmer, the hon. secretary, or Mr. C. Blyth-Pratt, the hon. treasurer at the Oxford. The following sums have been received:—

MESSRS. E. HILL-MITCHELSON and HARRIS FINEBERG'S capable company has been playing Mr. Hill-Mitchelson's powerful drama, The Traitor, to crowded houses this week at the Elephant and Castle. Mr. John C. Carlyle, as the Crown Prince Rudolph, proves himself an actor of sterling ability. Mr. John E. Scanlan gives a fine reading of the part of the villainous Chief of Police. Captain Ross, R.N., and Jack Boult are well played by Mr. T. W. Hurst and Mr. Frank Sutherland, the latter being responsible for a great amount of comical business, in which he is well assisted by Miss Anena Walton, who cleverly enacts the part of a little Japanese girl. Mr. Edward Swinton works energetically as General Hertz, and Mr. Edward Lowrie is good as Soff. Mr. Edward Duff is excellent as General Franz; and Mr. Frank Day is effective as Sergeant Neidroff. Miss Ruth Shepherd acts sympathetically, and scores a success in the onerous part of Zula, the avenger; and Miss Lily Roselle gives a fascinating performance as Countess Zicka. Miss Hettie Senior plays vivaciously as Elsie Duprey; and Miss Isabel Hunt, in the character of Lieutenant Nicholas, acts with animation.

A MAMMOTH HIPPODROME.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Messrs. Thompson and Dundy, who have come to the front during the past two years as purveyors of amusement to the several million people of New York and its environs, to say nothing of the rest of Uncle Sam's dominions, will shortly open what is said to be the largest place of amusement in the world, in Sixth-avenue, just above Forty-second-street, which is one of the leading thoroughfares of the metropolis. The New York Hippodrome, as the place will be called, will be a theatre, a music-hall, and a circus, all in one. Two performances will be given daily, and the prices will range from 25 cents. to 1 dollar, every seat being reserved. The first part of the entertainment will include an extravaganza, called A Circus on Mars, which will employ several hundred persons, as well as a large number of horses and a big menagerie. The opening scene will show the circus embarking on airships en route to Mars. The next scene will represent the troupe's arrival there, and the great performance which they give in the arena of the King's palace. Then there will be vaudeville turns, besides the usual acrobatic, aerial, and equestrian acts of the circus. The second part of the programme will be devoted to a war spectacle, entitled Andersonville, the action of which will be represented as passing both on land and water. The Hippodrome building is 240ft. deep, 200ft. wide, and 110ft. high. The main entrance is 25ft. wide, and there are thirty-five exits. The auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 5200, would hold two theatres of the average size. The stage and auditorium will be illuminated by more than 20,000 electric lights. The work of excavating the site of this immense building was begun last June. During the winter, in order to keep three shifts of men working on the building without interference from the weather, circus tents were used to cover the roofless structure. The stage dimensions are as follows: Width between walls, 200ft.; depth, 50ft., with an "apron" of 60ft., making a total depth of 110ft.; height 90ft. The "apron" of the stage will serve for the aquatic part of the entertainment, and for circus performances. Two rings, each 42ft. in diameter, are on it. The scenery works in side pockets, and not from a "gridiron," as in other theatres. There are 100 dressing-rooms. The scenery and nearly everything else will be operated by electricity. The travelling electric hoists or cranes run on rubber-tyred wheels. They move out over the stage, drop their hooks into the rings in the scenery, and carry it to the pockets on either side. They will pick up with ease a piece of scenery weighing two tons, and move it at the rate of 300ft. per minute. There are nine bridges in the stage, the largest being 47ft. by 14ft., with a lifting power of 250lb. to the square foot. These are worked by electric motors and drums, which are on the lower side of the bridges themselves. The "dogs" that lock the stage in position are worked by electricity, and so are the pumps that will throw 15,000 gallons of water a minute on to the stage to represent a mountain torrent. The water tanks on the roof are regulated by a floating switch that stops all the pumps when the tanks are full, and starts them again automatically when the water has fallen 12in. Another electrical device will start the fire pump as soon as a valve is opened anywhere on the fire line, and the pump will keep going until the valves are closed again. For the stage lighting a double set of switches has been provided, each controlled by a master switch. While one scene is on, the operator can set the lights for the next scene, and when the time comes throw off all the lights by one pull at the master switch, and throw on the new set in the same way. Under each switch is a dimmer, for half lights, that can be operated at the same time. In theatres where big spectacular productions are made, twenty-two "spot" lights are considered a large number, but in the Hippodrome there will be no less than 114 of them in use. A large number of entertainers have been engaged as members of the Hippodrome company, and the new enterprise has proved a godsend to many unemployed artists in the middle of a trying theatrical season.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—We much regret that you should have aggravated the complaint we made on behalf of our client, Mr. Chris. Davis, in our letter of the 16th inst. by publishing an inaccurate extract from that letter. We stated that Mr. George Gray wrote The Fighting Parson "in collaboration with our client," but you make us state, in the extract you publish, that Mr. Gray wrote the sketch "in collaboration without our client."

Yours faithfully,

WILKINSON, HOWLETT, AND WILKINSON.

14, Bedford-street, W.C., Feb. 21, 1905.

[We much regret that a printer's error should have caused Mr. Davis inconvenience.—ED. of the ERA.]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—Our attention has been drawn to a letter published in your last issue, purporting to have been written by Messrs. Wilkinson and Co., taking exception to an advertisement of Mr. Gray, the author of the above sketch.

With regard to the allegation that it was described in the programme of the Royal Music Hall for many months as a joint authorship, such is not the case. Immediately the true circumstances came to the knowledge of such management, the name of Mr. Davis was eliminated, and, on behalf of our client, we beg to definitely state that he was responsible for the whole of the incidents, plot, and dialogue of The Fighting Parson.

We have before us the synopsis submitted by Mr. Davis, and refused by our client, and which bears no similarity whatever with the plot of the piece in question, as Mr. Gray subsequently furnished Mr. Davis with a plot and synopsis, with a view to his carrying out some part of his contract, but which he failed at the last moment to do.

Action was taken for alleged collaboration, and we cannot do better than quote from the judge's summing up: "While sympathising with the defendant in having to sit down in the middle of his own work and write the play himself, having regard to the many visits paid by the defendant to the plaintiff (which visits our client made to urge plaintiff to carry out his contract), I come to the conclusion that there was some sort of collaboration, and give judgment for plaintiff; but had it been an ordinary contract, I should have found for the defendant."

Proceedings were later instituted against Mr. Davis by our client for breach of a previous contract; but as Mr. Gray would probably be abroad when the action was to be heard, Mr. Davis and our client met, and a settlement was arrived at, our client giving a sum in settlement of all claims for his alleged collaboration, and withdrawing his action against Mr. Davis.

Our client has a perfect legal right to advertise in any way his authorship, and we would suggest to Messrs. Wilkinson's client that the advertising columns of The Era and other trade mediums, are open to him, and would welcome any prepaid contributions.

Yours faithfully,

MORRIS and RICKARDS.

MR. EDITOR,—SIR, In your report last week for the St. George's Hall, Bradford, you mentioned my name as Olive Watts, comedienne. It should have been Yours faithfully, CLIVE WATTS.

PRESENTATION TO MR. FRANK PARKER.

To be popular is the aim of most public men: to attain popularity is the luck of few: to maintain it is the privilege of those who know how to value it not from a sordid view, but from a grateful, whole-hearted, manly aspect. Mr. Frank Parker, the stage and equestrian director of the London Hippodrome, is, and always has been, the idol of his staff, his co-workers in business, his personal friends, and his confrères, who have had the honour of association with him at the London Hippodrome in their official capacities. No one ever forgets the genial and evergreen "Frank." Friday, the 17th inst., was the anniversary of his birthday. The occasion is never forgotten by his friends and admirers of his employees and dependents. The stage at the Hippodrome on this particular day represented a miniature silversmith's emporium. Between the morning and evening performances a display had been arranged on the stage while the jovial "Frank" was taking his customary cigar and "nap." His astonishment may well be imagined when, roused from his slumber, his able lieutenant, Mr. Percival, demanded his presence on the stage to meet the assembled company, and receive not only "many, many happy returns of the day," but the substantial—one might say princely—presents of silver to the value of nearly £200.

The spokesman was Mr. Clarence C. Corri, the Hippodrome's musical director, who said: "My dear Mr. Parker,—It is with great pleasure I ask you, on behalf of the artistes, stage and ring staff, orchestra, and your personal friends, to accept these presents, with their sincerest wishes for a long, happy, and successful life. They are given as a mark of esteem and admiration for the captain who so successfully commands a gigantic vessel, and the name of the ship is Unity. May the barometer on the table be always 'set fair,' and, as to the clock beside it—well, 'I ought to 'get time' for not making a better speech."

The following is a list of the principal articles:—Silver inkstands, 160ozs.; pair silver vases, 80ozs.; silver clock and barometer; silver penwipe and brush; two ivory and silver penholders; silver-mounted Russia leather blotting-book, from Mr. and Mrs. F. Percival; fumed oak tea caddy, emblematical of Mr. F. Parker's productions at the Hippodrome, from "A Chip of the Old Block" (Mr. Alfred Hughes, Mr. Parker's infallible stage-carpenter); raw-hide frame and bear's claw (mounted), from The Chamberlains; massive silver and oak cigar and cigarette carrier, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Morris; pair Doulton vases, Madame Alluta and wardrobe staff; gold-mounted cigar and cigarette holder, from Mdlle. Chiquita; Chinese cigar cabinet, willow pattern plate, tobacco jar, silver card case (Chinese), from Chung Ling Soo; silver blotting case, from chorus ladies.

Mr. Frank Parker, in responding, paid eloquent tributes to the splendid way in which his staff had for five years faithfully fulfilled every demand upon their services. He continued: While I am responsible for the well-doing of my shows, I cannot but feel that all and sundry take as much, or even, perhaps, more, interest in the success of all that is attempted to interest the public. Without loyal support, such as you have given me for years, it would be difficult to say what would happen. The old ship Unity, as my friend and tried worker, Mr. Corri, put it, perhaps might possibly have foundered. However, I thank you all, boys and girls and friends, both present and absent, from my heart for your kindly thought. God bless you all.

Hearty cheers were then given for Mr. Parker, Mr. Corri, &c.

THE "DAN LENO" COT.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE ERA."

SIR,—I am taking the liberty of writing to ask if you could spare space in your valuable paper for a notice of the above scheme, viz.: The "Dan Leno" Cot Endowment Fund. I feel sure if you can see your way to doing so, it will be an immense help to all connected with the undertaking, and tend greatly to ensure its success. The scheme is twofold: To perpetuate the memory of Mr. Dan Leno, who ever interested himself in this particular institution, and also to be a lasting benefit to the hospital itself, which, from the fact of its being the only children's hospital in the neighbourhood—a poor and thickly populated one—is greatly in need of help.

To give you a brief outline of the scheme, I may say it was suggested some short time since that an endowment cot should be placed in the Belgrave Hospital for Children, in memory of Mr Dan Leno. On making this suggestion known to the directors of the London Pavilion, they most kindly and courteously offered the loan of their hall for a matinée performance, in aid of the necessary funds, the cost of the cot being about £1,000. This matinée is soon to take place under the kind patronage of many distinguished persons. I am enclosing a list of those whose patronage we have already been successful in obtaining.

I may add, should you wish for any further particulars, either Mr. Walter Callingham, of Oakleigh, New Park-road, Streatham, or I, will be pleased to furnish them. We shall also be glad to hear from any artist who will kindly assist the cause. Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours faithfully,

F. FOWLER SMITH.

Will the Collectors for Mr Thomas Barrasford's appeal for the Music Hall Home Fund kindly send in their lists to The Era Office to the hon. treasurer, Mr F. H. Pedgrift. They will be duly announced in our next issue. Those artistes who desire a collecting card please apply to Mr J. T. Fruin, secretary, 31, Wilson-road, Camberwell, S.E.

Mrs. J. W. Gordon, the lessee and manageress of the Prince of Wales's Royal Theatre, Southampton, announces that the lease of this theatre expires on March 25 next, and the last performance there under her management will take place on that night.

Brown's Bronchial Troches.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of Brown's Bronchial Troches. People troubled with a hacking cough, slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government stamp around each box. Sold by Chemists everywhere, 1s. 1½d. per Box.—[Advt.]

THE "FISHER GIRL" IN COURT.

At Bloomsbury County Court, on the 16th inst., before His Honour Judge Bacon, the case of Parker v. Massey, an action remitted from the High Court, came on for hearing, and raised questions of considerable interest to the theatrical world. It was an action in which the plaintiff, Mr. Henry Solomon Parker, now proprietor of Parker's Hotel, King's-road, Brighton, and formerly a theatrical manager, sued the defendant, Mr. Eyre J. Massey, theatrical manager, of 34, Bernard-street, Russell-square, W.C., to recover the sum of £64, being the balance of money agreed to be paid for the purchase of the acting rights, costumes, scenery, and properties of a musical play, entitled the Fisher Girl.

In his evidence, the plaintiff stated that he had been the owner of all the rights of the Fisher Girl, and had toured with the piece throughout England and in Holland. Last year he wished to dispose of the play, and through a Mr. Cayley Calvert, a dramatic agent, he was introduced to the defendant, and after negotiations, it was agreed that the latter should purchase all plaintiff's interests in the play in question for the sum of £200. £100 of this was to be paid in cash, and the remainder in bills, and accordingly, in August, £35 was paid in cash, and in September, when a second payment of £65 had to be made, £40 was paid in cash and £25 by a post-dated cheque, which was afterwards dishonoured, and now formed a portion of the money now sued for. No complaint of any kind had been made by the defendant until after proceedings had been commenced in the High Court. A further item of £9 in the claim referred to two large theatrical baskets, which cost originally £6 10s. each, and which were not included in the sale of the properties, &c., but which the defendant took away from the Grand Theatre, Islington, when he removed the properties. As a matter of fact, he sold everything, lock, stock, and barrel. A deed of assignment was to have been drawn up by defendant's solicitors, but this had not been done, and he (plaintiff) had never been asked to sign it.

His Honour: Would you have done so?

Plaintiff: I was quite prepared to do so had I been asked.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hogg: The play was first produced at Stoke Newington, when there was a chorus of eight males and eight females, in addition to the principals. Mr. Jones had been his stage-manager, and was also stage-manager for Mr. Massey.

Mr. Hogg: And did you not lend some of the dresses to your sister to go to a fancy dress ball?

Plaintiff: Nonsense; my sister is much too old to go to fancy dress balls.

Mr. Hogg: Did Mr. Massey ever have the book of the words of the Fisher Girl?

Plaintiff: He telegraphed to me to say that he had not got it, and I thought possibly that I had taken it home. When I found that I had not done so, I let him know that it must be with the rest of the properties. The play could not have been produced if he had not had the book of the play and the vocal score.

For the defence, Mr. Hogg said that although his client had bought the play, lock, stock, and barrel, he had been given to understand that everything was in a proper state for reproduction.

His Honour: He bought the play as it was. If you buy the acting rights, dresses, and scenery of a play, unless you stipulate that it must be made better than it is, you buy it as it is.

Mr. Massey, the defendant, said that he bought the rights of the Fisher Girl in August, 1904. At first Mr. Calvert asked him to put £50 into a syndicate, and offered him the post of manager, at £5 per week. Eventually the agreement alluded to was entered into. When the play was produced he found that many of the sailor boy and girl costumes were missing, as was the book of the words, and the play could never have been produced, had it not been for Mr. Jones's prompt book.

His Honour: Is not the prompt book the book of the words. How can a man prompt if he has not got the words? Defendant: But the book is Mr. Jones's property. He made it when Mr. Parker had the play, and Mr. Parker never got it back from him.

His Honour: Then how did you give the actors their parts? Defendant: Well, I had them typed.

His Honour: Exactly; you had enough in the prompt book. Defendant: But the prompt book of Mr. Jones did not contain the comedy parts of the play. He had to spend £10 to have the dresses restored, and nearly £8 in repairing the scenery. The mortices of the scenery were all broken.

Cross-examined by Mr. Campbell, the defendant admitted that he knew the play had been on tour, but he thought it was only one tour. He certainly did not know that it had been to Holland. When he bought the piece and the properties, Mr. Parker told him that all the things were in excellent condition, and everything in readiness to produce.

Mr. Jones, who was called for the defence, attributed the failure of the play to the advertising printing not going out early enough. Of course, his book of the play did not contain the "gags," which were usually put in by the artistes themselves, with the sanction of the management.

His Honour: So "gags" are not submitted to the Lord Chamberlain? (Laughter.)

In the end, Judge Bacon said that on the evidence he was bound to find a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed.

Judgment for £64 and costs was accordingly entered.

At the Empire, Wrexham, this week, Wright and Aitken, in their duologue, The Lady Sport, have attracted good houses. Happy Attwood, a popular eccentric comedian, repeats his previous success here; and Young and Mack, speciality artistes; T. E. Moet, comedian and dancer; Miss Belle Adams, descriptive vocalist; and Poole and Poole, versatile artistes and speciality dancers, also take part in a capital programme.

Dare-Devil Dorothy has been presented this week at the Theatre Royal, Windsor, by Mr. Henry E. Swinerd's company. Mr. Arthur Verne as Silas Crump, with Miss Nellie Harcourt as Judith, are irresistibly diverting. Miss Marjorie Cecil is a pleasing actress and singer in the title-part; Miss Kathleen Garnon does well as Ruth Montrose; Mr. Cecil W. Parke is excellent in the character of Capt. George Fielding, and his songs are deservedly applauded; Mr. Henry C. Ward is strong as the gentlemanly villain; Mr. Wilfred Carr as Featherstone Haugh; Mr. W. G. Hearson as Smith the footman; and Mr. Alf. Stretton as Hawkins, make the most of their opportunities; and the Sisters Blake win hearty admiration by their nimble and graceful dancing.

Presentation.—At the conclusion of a most successful sixteen months' engagement with The Female Swindler, on Saturday, at Birmingham, Miss Violet Ellicott was the recipient of many presents, including a handsomely-framed life-sized portrait of herself, together with a smaller portrait, from Mr. Tom H. Taylor, the proprietor of the company; a large shower bouquet from the members of the company; a silver purse from Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaw; a pair of silver-mounted hat pins from Mrs. Joe Day; also several floral and confectionery offerings from various members of the audience. Miss Violet Ellicott will, by her doctor's orders, rest for some weeks before taking up another part.

A large quantity of theatrical printing, suitable for almost any play, is on sale at the premises of Messrs. C. J. Culliford and Sons, who are disposing of £30,000 worth at a reduction of five per cent., in order to save the expense of removal to their new works. An illustrated catalogue may be obtained post free on application to the firm's office at Fulwood's Rents, Holborn.

ROYAL ACADEMY ORGAN RECITAL.

On the 13th inst., at the Royal Academy of Music, an organ recital was given with no little success, Miss Elsie F. Cooks commencing with an overture by W. G. Wood, which she played with much facility and grace. A movement from the Sixth Symphony of Widor was rendered with considerable skill by Mr. Fagg Gower; Mr. Redgewell Dansie was very successful in a beautiful Andante by Silas; and Mr. Benjamin J. Dale did himself credit in the Fugue and Fantasia by Liszt dedicated to Bach. The organ pieces concluded with the Prelude and Fugue of Bach in G, a fine example of the old master, to which ample justice was done by Mr. Montague Phillips (Henry Smart scholar). Vocal music varied the programme agreeably, Miss Caroline Hatchard being heard in the recitative and air, "Lord of our chosen race," from Sir A. Sullivan's Ivanhoe, the grand opera produced at what is now the Palace Theatre. Mrs. Hedwig Hantke sang "St. Agnes' Eve," by the same composer, displaying remarkable power as a vocalist; and Mr. John Bardsley sang with much grace Schubert's famous "Serenade"; Mr. Rowsby Woof gave a brilliant rendering of the Romance and Finale from the concerto in D minor for violin, by Wieniawski, and Miss Poppé produced a fine tone in solos by Goddard and Popper for the 'cello. Miss Mignon Johnston, a youthful reciter of great promise, gave Kipling's quaint story of the Baby Elephant whose nose was lengthened into a trunk in an encounter with a crocodile. The oddity of the subject and the cleverness of the delivery delighted the large audience.

ROYAL ACADEMY CONCERT.

A very large audience assembled at Queen's Hall on Wednesday, when the students of the Royal Academy of Music gave an excellent chamber concert, commencing with the trio in C of Brahms for pianoforte, violin, and 'cello, played by the Misses Newton, Bowater, and Griffiths. The young ladies were somewhat weak in attack at first, but speedily gained in decision, and gave the Scherzo in brilliant style. Miss Jessie Bowater played the Romance of Svendsen extremely well, and it would have been still more effective if a somewhat more rapid tempo had been adopted. The first movement of a sonata by Glazounow, the celebrated Russian composer, for the pianoforte proved Miss Christian O. Carpenter a pianist of great merit, and the Canzone of Max Bruch for violoncello was interpreted with much skill by Miss Griffiths. A movement from a sonata in D minor for pianoforte by Mr. Benjamin Dale (Sir Michael Costa Scholar) had ample justice done to it by that extremely gifted student Mr. York Bowen. Some variations by Glazounow were cleverly rendered by Miss Dorothy Grinstead, an excellent pianist, and the concert concluded with two movements from a quartet, à la polka, by Smetana. The vocal music was good. Miss Edith L. Johns sang "Have mercy, Lord, on me," from Bach's St. Matthew's Passion, with violin obbligato by Miss Spain Dunk. Mr. John Bardsley sang "Onaway Awake," from Coleridge Taylor's Hiawatha, in a very pleasing manner. Miss Gladys Booth made good use of her high soprano voice in the famous air from Lakmé, conquering the difficult passages with genuine skill, and with finish and style rare in a student. "Absence," by Berlioz, was given by Miss Amy Dewhurst. The entire concert showed that the institution keeps its admirable system up to date, and both students and professors are to be congratulated on their artistic achievements, everyone, from the esteemed Principal downwards, evidently taking pride in their work, and striving their utmost to do credit to the Royal Academy of Music.

MRS. SYDNEY WEBSTER'S RECITAL.

Mrs. Sydney Webster, who gave a recital at Bechstein Hall on the evening of the 15th inst., has considerable talent as a vocalist, but is most successful when not too ambitious. For example, a succession of German songs by Schumann, Schubert, Brahms, and others needed special gifts to do them justice. We are not denying Mrs. Webster's talent, but in taking songs which have exercised the ability of the most famous vocalists, Mrs. Webster exposed herself to severe competition. However, in a group of English songs by various composers, the lady established her claims as a vocalist of most agreeable quality. She was assisted by M. Tivadar Nachez, the popular violinist, who played an Adagio of Mozart, a Humoreske of Dvorák, and a Scherzo of Tschaikowsky in his best style, and joined Mr. Benno Schonberger in a duet by Brahms. Mr. Schonberger gave as solos Preludes and a Scherzo of Chopin, and the "Rhapsodie Hongroise," No. 12, of Liszt. His playing was particularly good. A large and fashionable audience greeted Mrs. Webster with frequent tokens of approval.

A very attractive setting has been provided for Mr. Hopkinson at the Avenue Theatre, the scenes being elaborately done. One is a charming Winter Garden, with a dome roof hung with smilax, and cosily furnished in the Oriental style, with quaint Moorish furniture and Indian and Persian rugs, in beautiful antique colours; while the other is an elegant apartment in the town house of a duke, the prevailing colour note being red; while Hogarth chairs in red velvet, and handsome oaken tables, one laden with wedding presents, complete the harmony of the scheme. Messrs. Oetzmann and Co., of Hampstead Road, W., are responsible for the equipment of these appropriate and attractive scenes.

Mr. T. W. Stead, of Mr. F. J. Little's pantomime company, who had the misfortune to have his foot run over in Wolverhampton, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home at Burton-on-Trent. He hopes to be about again in a few days.

"Curing the Doctor," a farce, by J. H. Darnley, was produced for copyright purposes at the Ladbroke Hall on Thursday. The piece is to be played to-morrow evening at the Walsingham Club.

Mr. Editor,—Sir, In your Sunderland notice of last week, you mention the McRays. It should have been, Yours faithfully, The McKays.

The members of the Urban Club invited their lady friends to a dinner held at the Salisbury Hotel, Salisbury-square, on the night of the 17th inst. Archdeacon Sinclair presided, and the company numbered over ninety. The Chairman, in proposing the toast of "Our Guests," referred to the fact that in Shakespeare's time his heroines were impersonated by awkward boys, whereas we had the advantage of seeing these parts played by clever and charming women. A few evenings ago he had the pleasure of seeing Miss Winfred Emery as Beatrice in Much Ado About Nothing, at His Majesty's Theatre, and he advised everybody to go and witness this delightful performance. Miss C. Prescott, B.A., of London, gracefully responded to the toast. The dinner was followed by an attractive programme of music and recital, amongst the contributors being Mr. Charles Cruikshanks (Secretary to the Actors' Association), who gave some of his amusing stories; Mr. Sidney Gaady, the ventriloquist, with his comical figure, "Ebenezer"; Mr. Walter Grace, Mrs. Thurgood Catling, who sang the "Fan Song," and others. The health of the Chairman was proposed by Mr. W. E. Church, the hon. secretary.

Mr. R. C. Buchanan, the managing director of New Gaiety Theatre, Clydebank, was last week granted a licence for the sale of excisable liquor by the Clydebank magistrates.

LIVERPOOL THEATRICAL GALA.

The seventeenth annual Liverpool theatrical gala was held on the 14th inst. at the Liverpool Football Ground, the weather being fine and the crowds large. The event, which is always looked forward to with interest, has this year proved exceptionally successful, the gate money alone being £137, as compared with £58 last year. The floral sales realised £76, and altogether it is expected that a good sum will be realised for division among the local charities and the Music Hall Artistes' Benevolent fund. The work of arranging for the event always proves exceedingly great, and every thanks are due to the theatrical artistes who put in an appearance, and to the indefatigable committee managed by Mr. Lewis Peake, Mr. John Cropper, Mr. John McKenna, Mr. Thomas Bush (of the Bee Hotel), and Mr. T. S. Ashmole (hon. secretary). The procession to the grounds attracted much attention, and on arrival a big programme of fun and sport was gone through. The storming of Port Arthur by the men of H.M.S. Eagle was a striking spectacle, and a deal of powder was used. A football match for the gala cup between teams representing the Royal Court Theatre and the Shakespeare Theatre was watched with great interest, and resulted in the former winning by one goal to nil. Foot races for ladies ended in Miss Florence Mills and Miss Coulthard, of the Royal Court Theatre, being first and second. The men's obstacle race in comic costume was won by Mr. Bob Olrac (Empire), first; Mr. Will Olrac, second; and Mr. J. W. Riley (Royal Court), third. The cake-walk prizes were carried off by Mr. Lloyd and Miss Silvester, first; Mr. Thompson and Miss Postlethwaite, second; Master Bell and Miss Bell, third; and Mr. Bates and Miss Mottram, costume prize. Many ladies busied themselves collecting on the ground, and secured a deal of money, and music was provided by the Liverpool Police Band, that of the training-ship Indefatigable, the pipers of the Liverpool Scottish, and the band of the Caledonian Boys from the Empire Theatre. The proceedings closed with a "national tableau," arranged by Messrs. Carson and Granville, of the Queen's Theatre.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

The concert on the evening of the 15th inst. at the Guildhall School of Music had some excellent features, the performers on the pianoforte and violin being very successful. Miss Edith Gray Wallis played Wieniawski's First Polonaise in D major gracefully, and Miss Doris Cloud gave a clever rendering of a piece by Ries. Miss Gertrude Peachey, in Weber's "Invitation to the Waltz," proved herself an excellent pianist, and Miss Blanche Hutchings, in Schumann's Arabesque, played neatly and well. Mr. Robert Carr, in an air from Tannhäuser, hardly reached the Wagner standard, from no fault of his own, but because of the absence of the orchestra. The assistance of the band is most desirable in this music. Under the circumstances, we could hardly expect Mr. Carr to have done better than he did. Miss Grace Cole gave Mozart's "Dove Sini," from Figaro, with considerable grace. Mrs. Marsland made her mark in Tosti's "Good-bye"; Miss Eva Hardy was fairly successful in "Mia Piccinella," by Gomez; and Mr. Sydney Holt displayed a good voice and agreeable style in "Because" and a "Border Ballad" by Cowen. Some clever recitations varied the programme. Miss Huntsman, one of Mr. Allen Beaumont's most gifted pupils, recited "Aunt Abigail's Adventure" with genuine humour; Miss Lilian Crosbie also succeeded well in two humorous American pieces. Miss Jenny Hyman accompanied in a most efficient style.

ROYA

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

IN the Court of King's Bench, on Tuesday, before Mr. Justice Jelf and a common jury, an action was brought by Mr. Gerald Leslie, public entertainment caterer, against Mr. George Beach, to recover £40 odd, the amount alleged to be due for a space let to the defendant in the Drill Hall at Portsmouth. The defendant denied liability. Mr. Hume Williams, in opening the case for the plaintiff, said at the end of 1903 his client hired the Drill Hall at Portsmouth for the purpose of running a winter carnival. He sub-let spaces in the hall to various people, including the defendant, who was the proprietor of swings and roundabouts, "those fascinating things that seemed to go upside down and to make one ill to look at." The defence set up by the defendant was this. He said that when he entered into a written agreement to take the space the plaintiff verbally agreed that he would add as an attraction to the show three cages of wild beasts. The plaintiff, on the other hand, said at the time the arrangement was made he showed the plan of the hall and the programme to the defendant, from which it was clear that the whole space in the hall was occupied. Unless the wild beasts were placed in the lavatory or allowed to wander amongst the people, there was no place in which they could have been stored. The defendant also said that the plaintiff not only undertook to provide wild beasts, but other attractions. That he (the learned counsel) characterised as a very ungallant defence, because the plaintiff, amongst other attractions, provided a beauty show, a baby show, and a cake walk competition. The beauty show was a great success. The young men of Portsmouth went to see the beauties, the beauties went to see the babies, and everyone went to see the cake walk. Unfortunately few people patronised the swings.

The plaintiff was called, and gave evidence in support of counsel's statement. He said the defendant suggested that he should have a "bouncing lion." The public were to be told that the keeper would enter the den "at the risk of his life." It was all bounce. The beauty prize was allotted by the public, several thousands of the young men of Portsmouth taking part in the voting. The beauties were marshalled up by the witness in lots of five, and then there was a final beauty. The babies were carried up in lots of five, the first prize being a mail-cart. The cake walk lasted a week. The hearing of the case was adjourned.

NOWHERE in the kingdom is the annual fair better apreciated than at King's Lynn. The good folk of the town have full knowledge of the showman and his real domestic life, and cherish tender feelings for showmen and shows. Without Lynn Fair—or, as it is termed, Lynn Mart—the ancient town would be only a place within the meaning of the Gazetteer. With the most it is "a recreative entity."

IN our historic sketch a year ago we were unable to get the actual words of the "Proclamation." It runs thus:—"Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! Whereas by Royal Charter and prescription the Corporation of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of King's Lynn, and their successors, are empowered to have and hold in perpetuity within the said Borough one mart or fair yearly on the 14th day of February and for six days thenceforth next, and immediately following with all the accustomed liberties and privileges thereto belonging and appertaining. Now the said body Corporate acting by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Councilmen of the said Borough do hereby by proclamation of their Common Crier publish and make known that the said mart or fair, to be holden this year, doth begin on this present 14th day of February at twelve o'clock at noone, and shall continue for the space of six days from henceforth next following, with all the ancient and accustomed liberties and privileges so far as the same will now apply. And that all persons do forbear to put to sale, or show forth wares on the Lord's Day. And further that all such persons as may be justly suspected of evil behaviour do avoid this Borough and the liberties thereof. God save the King. Oyez! Oyez! Oyez!"

STANDING in the throng of the people, and noting the outside parade work of three typical shows, it was difficult to avoid contrasting it with the outside parade and gags of thirty years ago—or even less. We venture to say that, marvellous as the advancement in popular amusements all round has been in recent years, no section of the "Greater World of Shows" (whether fixed or touring the country) has shown such rapid progress as the shows and entertainments of our fairs Compared with fifty years ago, the shows of to-day are 200 years ahead of the best on the road then—the greasepot and the naphtha lamp supplanted by electric light, the pipes and drum, or the cornopean, drum, and cymbals supplanted by the 30 and 40 feet fronted mechanical organs of the Marenghi et Cie design; the old one-waggon "walk-up," with its few natural curios and its "roll-up front cloths," supplanted by the magnificent carved and painted fronts of makers like the Ortons, and painters like Alfred Smith and Whiting.

OR take, again, the people on the front. Rich and racy as the older generation of doorsmen undoubtedly are, some of the younger doorsmen of to-day have a method and a style altogether up to date—men of the 20th century in full touch with the growing and ever-changing demands of the business. The parade, too, with its agile dancers, conjurers, posturers, and knockabout comedians, make the memory of the Mister Master and the Silly Billy only matters of history.

As an example of completeness of modern equipment we will, for our present purpose, only give one example—the constant change day by day of Kemp's outside parade workers. With the change of films comes a change each day of costumes, business placards, and notice cloths.

THE questions raised by the Colne Corporation Bill now before Parliament will engage, we feel sure, the serious attention of all showmen. A great number of the smaller fairs are held in the principal streets of the town—nay, the weekly markets are thus held—and this has been the ordinary custom from time immemorial. Colne is an example of such a town. Practically, it consists of one long, rambling thoroughfare. Without some use of this street it would be a matter of impossibility to hold the annual fairs. We could, therefore, in all honesty, call the Colne Corporation Bill a Bill to abolish the Fair.

WE notice here, again, a point of vital moment, and one not always recognised: it is the travelling showman who is the champion of the market and fair rights of the people in the towns. It is the Parliamentary vigilance of the Guild experts that saves these popular rights. The people in the towns, but for that constant vigilance, would find their privileges filched away from them, and this, forsooth, in the name of progress and municipal good government.

As we look back on the remarkable upgrowth and success of the Guild, we are struck by the fact that the oft-time despised and much misunderstood nomads of the road now stand forth as the champions and defenders of the people's rights in the fairs and holidays of the empire. What hindrances have been met and overcome in this crusade for popular rights history shows.

IN the forthcoming issue of the Showmen's Year Book (to be published next week) the story of this national work will be set forth by the editor, the Rev. T. Horne. The delay in the issue of the 1905 Year Book is owing to two important reasons: (1) The whole book has been carefully revised, and its value and usefulness enormously increased. The editor has enlarged the scope of the book; the matter for general use and reference now forms two-thirds of the work. (2) The book, from being a mere manual of the executive officers' names, rules, and fair list, has become the standard work of reference in all matters of value and interest to travelling showmen. This has, of course, involved a considerable increase in size. The 1905 Showman's Year Book will contain 100 pages of matter of the highest importance to the travelling community.

IN our list of the East Anglian Fairs to follow Lynn Mart we merely gave the order of the route from Lynn. A few notes of the towns on the list may be of interest and value. "Wormold Fair," at Downham Market, begins on March 1, and is very largely boomed by the local tradesmen. Downham Market is in itself a small, sleepy old town of under 3,000 people, but the people from the districts around crowd into the town and make it a good centre for business. If the weather is anything like the Royal weather the shows have had at Lynn Mart, all will be well.

WISBECH is the next fair after Downham. It is unlike the other old towns of Cambridgeshire in this respect: it is a growing centre of life and industry. The population at the last census was nearly ten thousand. The fair rights and privileges of the people of Wisbech date back to the end of the twelfth century. The Corporation appears to have grown out of a Guild created in the fourteenth century for religious and secular purposes. This body corporate was abolished in the stormy days of the Reformation, but restored again in quieter times, and existed until its various functions were absorbed by general Municipal Acts of the last century. The old charters fix the fairs for the second Saturday in March.

AFTER Wisbech there is a division of the concerns on this round, some going to Peterborough, and some to Spalding. Both places are examples of the making of fairs by the showmen of the kingdom. These towns are on the route, and are taken as a matter of course. Peterborough, like Wisbech, has a most interesting history. Its two Charter Fairs are dated, the first for the second Tuesday in July, and the second for the second Wednesday in October, and known as the Bridge Fair. The July fair is almost obsolete now; the October fair coincides with Nottingham Goose Fair, and is always well attended. The pre-Easter fair, following Wisbech, is evidently a better time than the old date in July. Spalding is an important centre of agricultural life in Lincolnshire, with nearly ten thousand people. Its importance lies in the fact that it serves a wide district, and although it increases but slowly, it does improve, and that in Lincolnshire is a remarkable thing. The principal fair is the Michaelmas Hirings.

FOLLOWING Peterborough and Spalding we have Stamford Fair, held under an old charter dating from the tenth century. It is not a growing town, but its decline is very slow. There are many interesting things to be chronicled of Stamford. Its Hirings Fair is in November. This year the fair, owing to the coincidence of the Church's season of Lent, is much earlier than usual.

GRANTHAM is a growing town of Lincolnshire, and has its Pleasure Fair the Monday after the fifth Sunday in Lent—always a fortnight before Easter. The Charter Fairs date from the reign of Edward IV

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

The following is a copy of an agreement, which indicates the arrangements made between Managers and the Stage Employees' Society in America:—

INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF THEATRICAL STAGE EMPLOYEES.

AGREEMENT WITH ENGLISH'S OPERA HOUSE, INDIANOPOLIS, IND.

This Agreement, made and entered into this —— day of ——, 1905, by and between the Valentine Theatre Co., party of the first part, and Indianopolis Local No. 30, I.A.T.S.E., party of the second part, to take effect January ——, 1905.

"Witnesseth:—That for and in consideration of the party of the first part employing none but members in good standing of Local No. 30, I.A.T.S.E., the party of the second part agrees that the Stage Employees shall be competent, trustworthy, polite, and sober, and will conform to all rules and regulations which govern said place of amusement, as long as they do not conflict with the Laws of the said I.A.T.S.E.

SCHEDULE OF WAGES.

The schedule of wages for the various departments shall be as follows:—Stage carpenter, not less than $22.00 per week; property man not less than $16.50 per week; electrician not less than $16.50 per week; head flyman, $1.50 a performance; all stage hands, flymen, and extra men, other than clearers, to be paid at rate of $1.25 for each night performance, $1.50 for each matinée performance; and shall report for work as follows:—All stage employees must report for work at 1.30 p.m. on matinée days, and at 7.30 p.m. on each night performance, their work to continue until last scene is struck after the fall of the final curtain.

TAKING IN AND TAKING OUT SHOWS.

Taking in shows on week-days, and putting out scenery, properties, baggage, &c., of show shall be paid at the rate of 25c. an hour from time the last scene is struck until all is out of the theatre. Taking out scenery, properties, &c., during the performance in order to assist the company to catch their train, or for any cause, shall be paid for at the rate of 25c. an hour to all so engaged.

REGULAR STAFF.*

The working staff that shall be employed to work the matinée or night performances shall consist of not less than seven men.

WEEKLY EMPLOYEES.

Such men as are engaged upon the stated weekly schedule shall be continuously employed during the entire regular season.

SCHEDULE FOR DAY WORK, &C.

The regular day work shall consist of six days per week, from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., at the rate of $2.00 per day, or 25c. an hour.

BROKEN TIME.

Broken time to be considered as any time less than one half-day, and shall be paid at the rate of overtime.

OVERTIME.

All broken time on week-days, any time after 5 p.m. on week-days, and to 8 a.m., also Sundays, and all holidays, and shall be paid for at the rate of 50c. an hour.

REHEARSALS.

Rehearsals, if held on week-days, to be at rate of $1.25 for first three hours, and 50c. for each additional hour; night and Sunday rehearsals, $1.50 for first three hours, and 50c. for each additional hour.

Each man must confine himself to the work of the department he is engaged for, except in case of accident, or safety to the public or property of the theatre or company, when all should assist each other for the general good.

SUNDAY PERFORMANCES.

Sunday performances shall be paid for at the rate of double time.

EMPLOYEES' WORK.

All work of the stage employees shall be confined to the theatre proper.

DISCIPLINE.

Any employee reporting for work in an intoxicated condition, or who violates the rules and regulations of discipline set forth by the management, will not be tolerated by the party of the second part, Local No. 30, I.A.T.S.E., but another man will be furnished in his place.

The carpenter shall employ all men who shall be satisfactory to the Valentine Theatre Company, but none other than Union men, who are members in good standing in Local No. 30, I.A.T.S.E.

To all this the parties of the first part, the Valentine Theatre Co., agree to abide by the above schedule of wages, and the working conditions set forth during this season, and from date of January ——, 1905, and, further, the party of the second part, Indianopolis Local No. 30, I.A.T.S.E., agree to supply the necessary sober and competent men, who shall faithfully comply with the imposed conditions for the above-mentioned season, from January ——, 1905, to ——— ——, 1905.

Signed on behalf
Valentine Theatre Co., at English's Opera House, in Indianopolis, Ind.
Indianopolis Local 30, I.A.T.S.E., per committee.

SEVERAL applications for legal assistance to recover compensation for injuries sustained while at work, and to recover the payment of wages, had been received; and where the circumstances justified the committee in placing the matter in the hands of the law agent, this had been done with satisfactory results. There had been no disputes of any importance with theatrical managers during the past year. Managers had, in several cases, dealt in a satisfactory manner with communications from the committee relating to payment for work.

THE scheme agreed to for the distribution of the Dramatic and Musical Fund, and the report of the deputation which waited on Mr. H. B. Tree relating to the inclusion of branches of this society among those to participate in the funds distributed, were dealt with at length.

THE annual general meeting of the No. 1 N.U.T.S.E., held on Sunday evening in the St. George's Hall, S.E., was fairly well attended Mr. Charles Thorogood, the President of the branch, occupied the chair, supported by the officers and committee. The Chairman, in opening the proceedings, said that while the society was not advancing by leaps and bounds, as it deserved to do, it was making steady progress, and the members would see from the financial statement that their various funds were in a very satisfactory condition. The Secretary, Mr. W. Johnson, then read the annual report. He stated that during the past year 230 applications for membership had been granted. It was, however, pointed out that a considerable number of members did not retain their membership continuously, and were, therefore, deprived of many of the benefits provided by the branch.

THE applications for benevolent grants and the usefulness of the Benevolent Fund were reported on, and the committee recommended that every member of the branch should subscribe to this fund.

MATTERS pertaining to the branch by-laws and the general rules were reported on. The votes respecting the alteration of the title and amalgamation with the Carpenters' Society had been endorsed by a two-thirds majority of the members of the branch. The action of the society with regard to the licences of those theatres and music halls where the conditions of employment did not come up to the standard recognised as fair by the society were also reported on. The social work of the branch, relating to "outing" concerts and sports, having the double purpose of creating good feeling among all sections, and helping to raise funds for benevolent purposes, was reported on. The report concluded with a review of the position of the society in London, and an appeal for all members to do more to strengthen the society.

THE members of the Musical and Dramatic Fund were summoned to the office last Saturday to receive their share of the funds. A member's share was fixed by the scheme of dissolution at £5 per year of membership.

THE annual general meeting of the Heads of Departments' Association will be held on March 7.

A GENERAL meeting of the Society of Theatrical Carpenters will be held on Sunday next in the Salisbury Hotel, St. Martin's-lane, at 8.30, to receive the auditors' report, elect officers and committee for the ensuing year, and to transact other business.

THE balance-sheet of the General Theatrical Operatives' Sick and Benevolent Society has been issued.

THE meeting of the Glasgow Branch of the Stage Employees' Society, held on Sunday, was well attended. The following officers and committee were elected:—President, William Abernethy; vice-president, Andrew Rogers; treasurer, Daniel Rose; secretary, Robert Hay; auditors, P. Campbell and A. Wilson; representative to Trades Council, Hugh Abernethy; committee, Messrs. Harvey, Barbour, Cameron, Russell, McDonald, Campbell, and Haggerty.

A COPY of the financial statement had been supplied to all members prior to the meeting, and, after a few questions had been put, the report and financial statement were unanimously adopted. It was decided that the applications to admit male dressers to membership of the branch be not acceded to. The following were elected to hold office for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. Charles Thorogood; vice-president, Mr. John Cunningham; treasurer, Mr. Ed. Stow; secretary, Mr. William Johnson; trustees, Messrs. C. T. Cory, F. Wilson, and J. H. Tillett; auditors, Messrs. J. Finnigan and H. J. Kemp; committee, Messrs. J. Atterton, H. Bowmer, T. Dennison, E. Green, J. Hunt, A. J. Lineham, A. J. Mason, J. Phelps, P. Thomas, and H. T. Wood. The following nominations for the National Committee were adopted:—General President, Mr. James Cullen; vice-president, Mr. G. H. Dyball; treasurer, Mr. J. H. Radford; general secretary, Mr. Wm. Johnson; trustees, Messrs. C. Thorogood, Wm. Barbour, and C. Porter; the Executive Committee, Messrs. J. Cunningham, C. T. Cory, Ed. Stow, and G. Montgomery. The proceedings terminated with cordial votes of thanks to Mr. John Russell, retiring vice-president of the branch, and to Mr. J. Warner, retiring member of the Branch Committee.

THE indictment against Manager W. J. Davis and some of the employees of the Iroquois Theatre, Chicago, arising out of the disastrous fire that occurred there last year, has been quashed by Judge Kersten, of Chicago, and Judge Green, of Peoria. The ground of objection is that the indictment was not properly drawn by the State Attorney.

THE 18th annual dinner of the staff of the Grand Theatre, which took place on the 12th inst., in the Nag's Head Hotel, Covent Garden, was a great success. Mr. George Davey, the proprietor, presided, and Mr. Oswald Brand, manager, occupied the vice-chair. In dealing with the toast, "Congratulations on the Success of the Panto," Mr. Brand made an amusing speech. Mr. Davey, who followed, referred in complimentary terms to the services rendered by Mr. A. George, master carpenter; Mr. Chapman, scenic artist; Mr. Gliddon, musical director; Mr. H. Parker, property master; Mr. A. Mitchell, electrician; Mr. Taylor, box office; and Mr. O'Connor, Press representative. Mr. Tom Craven, who replied to the toast of the "Panto Artists," said it had been a great pleasure to him to work under Mr. Davey and Mr. Brand's management. The evening's harmony was contributed to by Messrs. J. F. White, T. White, H. Millar, W. Rance, Jack Belmore, Alf. George, F. Richards, C. Glaeser, H. Penney, W. Gregory, G. Merton, W. Gleddes, and the Elgin Part Singers. The secretarial duties of the function were ably discharged by Mr. Atterton. His fellow officials were Mr. W. Martin (treasurer) and Messrs. J. George and W. Rance (stewards).

MR. LEONARD BARRY has in study an original dialogue song, entitled, "Christopher Columbus," from the clever pen of Mr. William Hargreaves.—The Calcotts have just signed a big batch of London and provincial engagements through the agency of Mr. E. de Vere. Their act comprises clever solos on the pianoforte, banjo, 'cello, and mandoline, with interpolated singing and sand and step-dancing, and is practically a drawing-room entertainment.—Miss Lil Hawthorne will take her benefit at the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, on Friday next.

MESSRS. C. W. MURPHY and DAN LIPTON are highly pleased with the growing popularity of their songs, "If I had a girl as nice as you," 'The Ugly Duckling," and "Go away, Mister Crocodile." It is not generally known that these numbers are free, and that Messrs. Francis and Day have band-parts in stock. Mr. Joe O'Gorman's "Wow-Wow" and Miss Victoria Monks's 'Ain't I no use, Mister Jackson?" also by the above-mentioned firm of song-writers, are still meeting with great favour.

MISS DULCIE LLOYD (of the Arthur Lloyd Trio) and MR. BILLY BROWN (of Williams and Brown) were married on Saturday last at the Church of the Holy Ghost, Balham. After the ceremony, they entertained their friends at the residence of the bride's sister (Mrs. Olsson), Fieldhouse-road, Balham. They were the recipients of many handsome presents, telegrams, and letters of congratulation from the following:—Mrs. Dan Leno, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Danvers, Mrs. W. Dobson, Mr. Joe O'Gorman, Mr. Hugh O'Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ryland, Mr. D. J. Clarke, Barton and Ashley, Booker and Narbis, Rivington and Gordyn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halter, Messrs. Fred and John Drew, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Murray (Edinburgh), Mr. and Mrs. Warboys, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Piggott, and others, including members of the families of both parties. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur Lloyd, and Mr. Frank Halter acted as best man.

A BENEFIT will be given to Mr. A. W. Deer, at the Duchess Palace, Balham, on Wednesday next, when a large number of well-known artistes have promised to appear. The stage will be under the management of Messrs. Felice Napoli and W. Whitmore.—Mr. Will Lambert made his first professional music hall appearance at the Palace, Walthamstow, last week, in Frank Leo's latest comedy scena, The Scales of Justice.—A new mystic dramatic scena by Mr. J. Cowper Worden will be produced at the Palace, Blackpool, on Thursday, March 16, with special scenery and stage appliances.

M. AMANN tells some interesting anecdotes of his very adventurous career. "Nearly a dozen years ago," he relates, "I was performing in Odessa, where the Russian Army autocrat had a palace. Though I am a Teuton, I never expected to attract the attention of so powerful a personage. One evening I received an anonymous note, which read 'Study General Gourko.' Although I could not imagine what good reason there was for the suggestion, I improved the hour before going to the theatre in studying and impersonating the military autocrat. As we were about to begin the evening's performance, a detachment of police presented themselves at the stage entrance to the playhouse, and arrested myself and twelve others. The order for this action was signed by General Gourko. Without a word of explanation we were led through the streets to the General's palace, and conducted to an apartment where the terrible man was seated. 'They tell me that you impersonate celebrated men,' he roared; 'impersonate me.'"

IN addition to M. Amann the directors of the Shepherd's Bush Empire are making a bold bid for popular favour by engaging one hundred boys and girls resident in the district to take part in Selkirk's naval juvenile spectacle, The Handy Man, which we have recently noticed.

MR. F. C. MILNES has engaged for Messrs. Fitzgerald Bros.' huge combined shows of Australia the Herbert Troupe of Aerial Gymnasts, five in number. They sail from Southampton on Monday next, and join the new show, which opens at Sydney at Easter.

THE following official note has reached us from the secretary of the British Roundabout Proprietors and Showmen's Union:—"At our meeting at Lynn three new members were enrolled, and important business done. It was impressed on our members that, when letting ground this year, prior right be given to members of the Guild."

WE are desired to state that the company of P. Collins, Limited, has not changed hands.

BLACKPOOL COLOSSEUM.—SEASON 1905.
Situate at the junction of the Blackpool and Lytham Tramways, on the Marine Parade, opposite the Manchester Hotel, in the heart of Blackpool.
The Building (which is 127ft. in diameter, 41ft. high to the eaves, and 83ft. to the Lantern) is Lighted by Electricity, and as a place for Animal Entertainments is unique, it being the only building in Blackpool that, in consequence of its being free from pillars and other obstructions, affords the necessary height and space for Diavolo's performance of "Looping the Loop."
The Walls are covered with the World-renowned picture "Niagara" painted by the great artist Phillipoteau.
For the last eight or ten years Blackpool has been extending around and for miles south of the Colosseum in a marvellously rapid manner. Thousands of houses have been built and are occupied, and there has not been any place of Public Entertainment provided for the Masses of the People south of the Tower.
The Colosseum provides a long-felt want in this New and Populous Neighbourhood.
The Authorities estimate that about Four Million Persons visited Blackpool last Season.
The great Popularity of the Colosseum is shown by the fact that, although only partially occupied during a part of a Blackpool Season, upwards of 100,000 paid for Admission during the remaining part of the season.
Offers for the 1905 Season on Sharing Terms should be made to the Undersigned, who will furnish any further information.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
Once again "The Era" Almanack makes a welcome reappearance early in the New Year, and recounts all that has happened in the theatrical world during the past twelve months. The register of plays produced in 1904 at the principal theatres of London, Paris, and Berlin is as valuable a feature in this most conscientiously kept record as ever, and though works of great importance are seldom given for the first time in the provinces, the information supplied concerning these productions is useful to playwrights when considering the vexed question of title. To the 1905 annual Sir Henry Irving contributes an amusing reminiscence of the days in which Shakespearean productions were certainly not overloaded with superfluous detail, and Sydney Grundy gives a graphic account of the time when he was a critic. It is further embellished by a number of photographs of popular players, together with their autographs, and a specimen of their literary attainments, which are often considerable. A melancholy interest attaches to the portraits of the dramatic artists who have passed from the scene during 1904; a goodly company, headed by that large-hearted actor-manager, Wilson Barrett. On beholding a work somewhat similar to "The Era" Almanack, the late Mr. Gladstone remarked that he was surprised to find that so many people were professionally engaged in the theatre; and if one of our leading actors were to discover how many people are professionally engaged in politics he would, no doubt, be equally astonished.—Court Journal, Jan. 21, 1905.

Success. Success.

Birmingham Daily Post says:—
It contains much that is sensational, while ample opportunity is afforded for a real good laugh. That the play is up to date will be gathered from the fact that an ascent in an airship is realistically depicted. There is, indeed, plenty of action in the play, and that it was appreciated by those present last evening was apparent. It was capitally staged, and the acting was in every respect excellent.

Birmingham Gazette and Express says:—
In a word, Hearts Adrift is a sound, honest, wholesome, nerve-thrilling drama of the conventional type, and nobody who ever wished to see virtue rout villainy could desire a better. Mr. Arthur Bertram and his carefully selected company may be congratulated on a really successful production, which won unstinted plaudits from a large and appreciative audience.

BIRMINGHAM CITY POLICE.

REQUIRED, for the Band of the above-named Force, a
FIRST E-flat CLARIONET PLAYER.

Applicants should be between 21 and 26 years of age, 5ft. 9in. in height, 36in. round chest (in case of a really good performer a slight departure will be made from these conditions), able to read and write well, and to produce satisfactory testimonials as to character.

Wages, 25s. a week, rising to 33s. a week, which may be increased by merit to 35s. a week. In addition, each bandsman is allowed 2s. per week, and, when playing at various places other than parks, a refreshment allowance of 2s.

Pensions can be obtained on the maximum scale under the Police Act, 1890, after 25 years' service equal to 31/50ths of annual pay, and after 26 years' service equal to 2/3rds of annual pay, which thus forms a provision for life. If injured before then a pension can be obtained under the schedules of the Act.

The Band plays in the Parks of the City every evening (except Sunday) in the summer, and during that time it performs ordinary police duty for four hours only. The band never performs night duty. Every Bandsman has opportunities of obtaining promotion to a higher rank.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.

"The Era" Almanack and Annual for 1905, conducted by Mr. Edward Ledger, is the vade mecum of the dramatic and music-hall profession, containing as it does all an artiste desires to know in connection with the stage. A feature of the publication are the stories of adventure told by well-known artistes like Sir Henry Irving, George Alexander, Harry Pleon, John Le Hay, Constance Moxon, Walter Passmore, Fanny Wentworth, and John Lawson. Mr. Henry Arthur Jones discourses wisely on the "Foundations of a National Drama." The Annual is one that will interest and amuse not only the "professional," but the general public.—

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
BY ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

Publishd at "The Era" Offices,
49, Wellington-street, Strand, W.C.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette, Aug. 2nd, 1901.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,

BY ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette, Aug. 2nd, 1901.

AMERICAN AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, FEB. 1.—The Duchess of Dantzig has scored a success of the first magnitude at Daly's Theatre. It is considered the best musical play produced in New York for a long period. Every newspaper has praised it, and held it up as an example to native producers of the same sort of entertainment, stress being laid on the excellence of the stage management and the efficiency of the chorus. Miss Evie Greene, in the rôle of Catherine Upsher, jumped into immediate popularity, the comments on her personality and performance having been most flattering. Mr. Holbrook Blinn, as Napoleon, gives a faithful character study, and makes a decided hit. Mr. Lawrence Rea, who plays Phillipe in the first act, and Adhemar in the next two, wins high honours, his fine baritone voice being heard to advantage in several good numbers. Mr. Courtice Pounds, as Papillon, the pedlar, contributes some excellent bits of low comedy. Mr. Lemprière Pringle's Lefebvre is a capital representation, and as Renée de Saint-Mézard, Miss Adrienne Augarde is dainty and delightful. Mr. Ivan Caryll led the orchestra on the opening night, and Mr. George Edwardes also graced the occasion in person, and was called before the curtain and applauded until he made a speech.

MR. E. S. WILLARD is always sure of a warm welcome in New York, and the greeting that he received at the Knickerbocker Theatre on the 23rd ult., when he acted the principal part in the late Wilson Barrett's play, Lucky Durham, for the first time in America, was extremely cordial. Mr. Willard had not been seen at a Broadway Theatre for several years, his engagements of late having been fulfilled mostly at the Garden Theatre in Madison-avenue. Mr. Willard gave a splendid portrayal of John Durham, and his performance has received high praise.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM'S season at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, has been one of continuous prosperity, and the acting of Sir Charles and his excellent company—in which Miss Mary Moore, Miss Vane Featherstone, and Mr. Alfred Bishop are conspicuous—has given great pleasure to a host of appreciative playgoers. Eight weeks was divided between David Garrick and Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace, and then The Case of the Rebellious Susan was produced. This clever comedy was not unknown to the local public, as it was performed about ten years ago by Mr. Daniel Frohman's stock company at the old Lyceum Theatre. On the 30th ult. the company began a short tour, which will include Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, and one or more of the Canadian cities.

MR. EDWARD TERRY and his London company appeared in the comedy of Love in Idleness at the Princess's Theatre, New York, on the 30th ult., this being the first presentation of the comedy in America. Mr. Terry gave a delightful embodiment of Mortimer Pendlebury, the amiable gentleman whose ruling propensity is procrastination, and charmed a large audience. He was ably supported by Miss Cynthia Brooke as Abigail Bright, Miss Olive Wilton as Maggie, Miss Beatrice Terry as Martha, Mr. Tom Lovell as Frank, Mr. Arthur Cornell as Rushey Platt, M.P., Mr. Hylton Allen as Jack Fenton, Mr. George Howard as Eugene Gondinot, Miss Nellie Mortyle as Mrs. Trott, and Miss Clara Earle as Louise Gondinot.

MISS KATIE BARRY, now in the third year of her engagement with Messrs. Shubert Brothers, is appearing in their latest musical production, Fantana, which has scored a success at the Lyric Theatre in this city. The book was written by Sam S. Shubert and Robert B. Smith, while Raymond Hubbell composed the music. Mr. Jefferson De Angelis is the star, and the company includes Miss Adele Ritchie and Messrs. Frank Rushworth, Robert Broderick, Fletcher Norton, and Hubert Wilke. There are three acts, the scenes being laid at Monterey, California; Nagasaki, Japan; and on board the yacht "Japonica," homeward bound. The story tells how Commodore Everett, owner of California vineyard, tries to induce his daughter, Fantana, to marry a bogus French Count. Fantana has placed her affections elsewhere, and exhibits so much determination in the matter that her father seizes upon an invitation to accompany a Japanese diplomat on his travels as an opportunity to separate the lovers. Miss Barry appears as Jessie, a Cockney maid, and thanks to her droll personality the piece is very entertaining whilst she is on the stage. One of her best bits is a song called "My Word," in which she tells of the strange things she has seen from London to Japan, one verse being taken up with a clever imitation of a phonograph. Miss Adele Ritchie, as the Commodore's daughter, sings and dances delightfully.

"THE MONEY MAKERS," a comedy in three acts, by George Rollitt, has had a short run at the Liberty Theatre. This play was chosen as the first vehicle for the début of Miss Ida Conquest as a star, at the head of her own company. Miss Conquest appeared as Dot, the ambitious young woman who starts a "tipster's bureau," her company including Messrs. Edmund Lyons, Cyril Scott, Eugene O'Rourke, and Harry Nichols.

MR. GEORGE ADE is writing a play that is to bear the title of The Second Time on Earth. The principal character is a millionaire, who has a wayward son. The latter, in order to obtain possession of his father's fortune, has the old man committed to an asylum. After a while the father obtains his freedom, and it turns out that his stay in the asylum has completely rejuvenated him. He returns to the outside world, younger in his thoughts and actions than his son.

MESSRS. JOSEPH WEBER and FLORENZ ZIEGFIELD, JR., have dissolved the partnership which they formed at the beginning of the present season to conduct the music hall formerly managed by Messrs. Weber and Fields. Miss Anna Held, the wife of Mr. Ziegfield, has been one of the principal members of the company now playing at the Weber Music Hall. Miss Held found that her part was unsuited to her, and she will retire from the company to appear in a revival of Papa's Wife. Mr. Weber will now have entire control of the music hall that bears his name.

MISS LILLIAN RUSSELL has scored an emphatic success as Lady Teazle at the Casino. In no part that she has played during her long and brilliant career has she been seen to better advantage. The musical version of Sheridan's comedy, The School for Scandal, is one of the substantial successes of the season.

MR. JOHN MATTHEWS, an actor who was on the stage of Ford's Theatre, in Washington, when President Lincoln was assassinated in 1865, being a member of the company then appearing in Our American Cousin, died in New York recently, aged sixty-nine. Mr. Matthews was the almoner of the Actors' Fund for many years, and in that capacity served many old and needy players.

"THE GREEN BOOK, or Who's Who on the Stage," a new annual which should prove of great value to all connected with the stage, is announced to appear in April next. The book, which is edited by Mr. Bampton Hunt, will be a stout volume of from 400 to 500 pages, and will contain short biographies and useful particulars concerning 2,000 to 3,000 dramatic, musical, and variety artistes. Managers, proprietors, and musical directors are also to be included. No charge is to be made for the notices published, and the biographies, in order to secure accuracy, are to be contributed by the subjects themselves. Forms to be filled up can be obtained by leading artistes on application to the publishers, Messrs. Lynn and Co., the moving spirit of which is Captain W. V. Simmonds Lynn, who is a son of the late Dr. Lynn, a famous entertainer of bygone days.

AMUSEMENTS IN PITTSBURG.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 6.—An event that had been eagerly looked forward to for some time took a tangible form with the production of Richard Wagner's sacred festival play, Parsifal, in English, at theNixon Theatre, last week. The work was presented by Henry W. Savage's powerful company, which includes, among others, Mmes. Kirkby Lunn, Hanna Mara, Florence Wickham, and Messrs. Alois Pennarini, Francis Maclennan, Johannes Bischoff, Putnam Griswold, Ottley Cranston, and Franz Egnieff. The performances were highly artistic, and deserving of praise. Both the singing and the orchestra were of a high standard of excellence, while the work was handled with marked respect for its beautiful and solemn theme. The theatre was crowded each night of the week, and the arrangement of starting the play at 6 p.m. and allowing a pause from 7.45 to 9 p.m. for dinner was found very convenient.

Miss Amelia Bingham appeared as Olympe de Cleves in Pierre Decourcelle's four-act play, Olympe, at the New Alvin Theatre. The play, which deals with the love of an actress for a boy studying for the priesthood, gives Miss Bingham opportunities to display the many-sidedness of her histrionic talent, and she succeeds in charming the audience. Messrs. Henry Woodruff, Wm. McVay, Fred Paulding, and the Misses Grace Barton, Ivy Troutman, Alice Gale, and Emma Dunn give her strong support, and help to make the performance a success.

A very interesting play founded on one of Wilkie Collins's clever novels was presented under the title of Her Second Life, by Geo. A. Blumenthal's company, at the Gaiety Theatre during last week. Every phase of the character of Mercy Merrick was admirably depicted by Miss Eugenie Blair, whose attractiveness, diction, and style won for her much merited applause. The real Grace Roseberry was satisfactorily impersonated by Miss Harriet Ross. Miss Frances Newhall was a dignified and warm-hearted Lady Roy; while Mr. Frank Sheridan made an ideal minister. The costumes and staging were excellent. Mr. Malsch, of the Gaiety orchestra, introduced a descriptive musical sketch into his programme entitled "In the Clock Store," by Chas. J. Oath, which illustrated the winding, ticking, and striking of all kinds of clocks in a watchmaker's.

The favourite Irish comedian, Mr. Andrew Mack, produced last week, at the Bijou, an Irish-American play called The Way to Kenmare, written by Edward E. Rose, for which Mr. Mack had composed several very tuneful Irish songs, which he sang during the evening. The Way to Kenmare treats of the hunt of Dan Maguire after the lands and title of the Earldom of Kenmare. It is a romantic play, full of Irish wit and humour, and pleased immensely.

"M'Liss," Bret Harte's beautiful story of the Sierras, paid a return visit to Pittsburg, selecting the Empire Theatre as its temporary home. Messrs. A. J. Spencer and Sargent Aborn's capable company, with Miss Nellie McHenry in the title-rôle, again gave spirited representation of this descriptive play, and were accorded a warm reception.

The Duquesne Theatre has been occupied by Messrs. Broadhurst and Currie's company in a musical comedy entitled A Son of Rest, by G. Weston and M. S. Witt. The chief rôle was taken by Mr. Nat M. Wills, who as Hunting Grub, a man who agreed to impersonate Capt. Warren for twenty-four hours for $500, created a great deal of fun and laughter. Some catchy songs and clever dances interspersed among the two acts made the comedy an agreeable distraction for the cold winter evenings.

Rosie's Knickerbocker Burlesquers were the attraction at Harry Williams's Academy during the week under review. They presented a funny musical comedy in two acts, called Riley's Speech, by Frank Finney, which pleased the audience throughout.

The headline of the Grand Theatre programme was occupied by Maggie Cline, the Irish comedienne, who sang, among other things, her favourite "Throw him Down, McClusky." Madame Celina Bobe gave examples of her skill on the violin and xylophone. A very clever sketch was given by Edmund Day and company in The Sheriff, an Arizona incident. Johnson, Davenport, and Lorella appeared in an acrobatic comedy speciality. Caicedo's performance on the wire was loudly cheered. Marcus and Gartelle caused much laughter with their roller-skating act. The Valveno Brothers did some extraordinary gymnastic tricks, and Margaret Scott's vocal selections were favourably received.

"The Gayest of the Gay; or the Life of a Woman," by Arthur Shirley and Eric Hudson, was produced for copyright purposes at the Opera House, Workington, on Thursday.

Mr. Denis O'Sullivan, Miss Marie Dainton, and the whole of the original cast from Wyndham's Theatre, in Peggy Machree, will appear at the Kennington Theatre next week, with a matinée on Thursday. On Ash Wednesday the Elizabethan Stage Society will give a special performance of the morality play, Everyman, commencing at 3.15.

Messrs. Oetzmann and Co., of 62 to 79, Hampstead-road, N.W., announce that they have purchased the entire stock of Messrs. Norman and Stacey, Ltd., of 252 to 256, Tottenham Court-road, and are now removing it to their own showrooms and galleries in Hampstead-road, and that all goods are marked in plain figures at the lowest possible competitive prices for cash. Deferred payments with full benefit of cash prices can be arranged, interest only being added to cover the period over which payments are extended.

Presentations.—At the Pavilion, Mile End, on the 18th. ult., on the conclusion of the pantomime of Cinderella, and in presence of a large audience, Miss Rose Hamilton, the accomplished Dandini, in a few well-chosen words, and on behalf of the principals and chorus, presented Mr. Fred Boustead, the able stage-manager, with a handsome dressing-case, and his loyal assistant, Mr. Harry Bristow, with a very fine carriage clock, together with a solid silver cigarette case and vesta box. Both these gentlemen suitably responded, after which, amidst great enthusiasm, Mr. Isaac Cohen came forward and expressed his gratitude to everyone concerned for the splendid manner in which all had helped in making the pantomime such a brilliant triumph. "Auld Lang Syne," sung by audience and company, brought these interesting proceedings to a happy close.

Mr. W. J. Galloway, M.P., who presided over the seventeenth annual dinner of the Musical Instrument Trades' Protection Association at the Hotel Great Central on Thursday, said as long as there was a section of the community which believed that its just rights were not protected by the State, so long would there be a menacing danger to the community. It was the proud boast of an Englishman that what was his own was his own. If that were true of material things, it was ten thousand times more true of the product of men's brains. The argument of their opponents was that the price of music was too high, and their rights were not to be protected unless they made the price such as Parliament thought fair. It was as reasonable as to suggest that the House of Commons should fix the price of all articles, raw or manufactured. They had been unfortunate in the ballot this Session, but he felt that the Government could not be so blind to its responsibilities as not to take up the matter.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SYDNEY, Jan. 24.—Blind Man's Buff replaced Pretty Peggy on the 21st, and Miss Nellie Stewart gave another example of her versatility as Eleanor Carley. Mr. Harcourt Beatty played the bounder Sam Coast with refreshing audacity, and Mrs. Maesmore Morris made Mrs. Steven Carley a typical social butterfly, handsome and frivolous. Mr. Carley had a competent exponent in Mr. James Lindsay. Lieutenant Coleman did not give Mr. Malcolm Dunn many chances, but what there were he took. Miss Roland Watts Phillips did well as Bella Skindle. The scenery was by Mr. W. R. Coleman, and Mr. Harry Parker stage-managed the play.

"H.M.S. Pinafore" still runs at Her Majesty's Theatre. Owing to the indisposition of Miss Bastian, the part of Josephine was taken on Tuesday by Miss Vinia De Loitte, whose work was excellent. This pretty and piquant young actress has a clear soprano voice, and her enunciation is good. Since Tuesday, the rôle has been entrusted to Miss Dolly Cartees.

"A Desperate Game" is still played at the Theatre Royal by Mr. Bland Holt's combination. The feature of these performances is the never-failing vitality and popularity of the actor-manager himself.

The Tivoli sees the last, this week, of Madame Marzella and her charmed birds. Madame Olivette still mentally solves arithmetical posers, and "Historicus," a precocious child, remembers dates and events to the surprise of her questioners. Miss Nita Leete, the favourite contralto; Miss Fanny Powers, an expert mimic; the Fernandez May Trio; Ford and Bentley; Fred Bluett and Professor Davy's Marionettes, continue to appear.

Great satisfaction prevailed when it was ascertained that it was not the popular comedian, Mr. Robert Brough, who was killed in a recent railway collision in England. Mr. Allan Hamilton is paving the way for the Brough-Titheradge-Fleming season at the Criterion.

Mr. Harry Flynn, an old-time actor, died on the 20th, and was buried next day at the Necropolis.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The concert given on the 23rd ult., at the Royal College of Music, opened with the Quintet of Brahms, for strings, Op. 111, played with much care and skill by Oonah Sumner, Frank Bridge, Janet Macfie, and Ivor James. Bach was represented by a couple of preludes for the organ, the player being Mr. Harold Drake, who was very successful. A violin solo, by Kriel, was neatly rendered by Mr. Edmund Weeks. A trio by Dvorák concluded the concert, the executants being Miss Olive Blume and Messrs. Herbert Kinze and Ivor James. Two songs by Bemberg were cleverly rendered by Miss Dorothea Kershaw, who was most successful in the second, called "A Tois." The duet, "Amours Villageois," by Goring Thomas, was sung by Miss Margaret Tout and Francis Carey. Miss Maud E. Wright sang a couple of songs from Tennyson's "Maud," composed by A. Somervell, with great effect. The accompanists were Mr. J. Wiltshire, Miss Clara Smith, and Mr. Ivor James, who were very efficient. The next concert of the Patron's Fund (orchestral) will be given on March 9, at the College. A great deal of interest has been taken in the fund owing to the encouragement given to native composers. The concert at the Æolian Hall recently made an excellent impression, and was warmly taken up by the students.

After an interval of eleven years, a return visit has been paid to the Marina Theatre, Lowestoft, of Prof. E. K. Crocker's performing horses, ponies, donkeys, mules, &c. The entertainment given is of an excellent character, and is warmly applauded. Some interesting animated pictures are also shown.

Miss Winifred Maude's company is at the Theatre Royal, Peterborough, with The Sins of a City. Mr. Ivan Gore is successful as Donald McIvor; Sandy Macdonald is exceptionally well presented by Mr. Horace E. Herbert; Mr. Leslie Beaufort as Ralph Blackwater ably brings out the villainous traite of the character. Mr. Victor Du Cane scores as Joe Woodleigh; Miss Winifred Maude is well suited to the part of Seaweed, and Miss Marie Lyons is successful as Loebia. Mrs. Henry Hackett as Madge causes roars of laughter.

A Welcome change is provided at the Royal Pontypool, this week, with variety. Mr. Will Onda's company, in his new farcical absurdity, Servants Wanted, is attracting appreciable audiences. Mr. Fred Jones is heard to advantage in some fine descriptive songs, and Mr. Wilfrid Gregory, a flexible marvel, is also a good turn. A sketch entitled A Quiet Night, is equally funny.

At the Theatre Royal, Runcorn, a first-class variety combination is appearing successfully this week, comprising the Five Rhymes, Continental musical comedians, in a quaint and clever piece of business; Sam Shipley, comic vocalist and universal favourite; Le Wist, ventriloquist and conjuror; Butt's exceedingly clever performing dogs, a sound turn; Miss Beatie Worth, a pleasing serio, with very fine songs; and the Cinematograph, with latest pictures.

The capital programme at the Stoke Hippodrome this week includes the Sisters Phillips and the Bros. Lorenzi, who are really funny in their absurdity, The Saucy Kipper. Miss Madge Grey is a distinct success; De Voy, Hurst, and Fredericks are seen in a capital sketch; Spring, Spring, and Carlo, barrel jumpers, display much ability; the Ashers are clever dancers; Mabel Kusler, a cornet and horn soloist, meets with much success; Richard Teasdale, coster comedian, is good; the Bioscope shows several capital pictures. Mr. Frank Egerton took his benefit on Friday.

At the Theatre Royal, Waterford, on Monday evening an appreciative audience assembled to witness the well-known comedy, A Prodigal Father, in which the popular actor, Mr. Charles Collette, appeared as Stanley Jones, and was warmly applauded for his clever portrayal of that character. The company included Messrs. Edmund Beresford, Major D. Seelar, Aubrey Mallalieu Ernest Wintour, Misses Rosamund Bury, Ruby Chester, Irene Ross and Mabel Luxmore. The curtain-raiser was the amusing farce, By Mutual Consent. The singing of Misses Chester and Bury was excellent, and Mr. A. Mallalieu's song, "I'm Doing Very Well Just Now," was loudly applauded.

Mr. Frank Lascelles, who has been lying seriously ill at Oxford, is now on the way to recovery; and after a short rest in the South of France will be back at work again next month. Mr. Lascelles, at the time of his illness, was under engagement to Mr. Tree to play Ferdinand, in The Tempest.

Presentation.—At the termination of Messrs. Little and Darcy's successful pantomime, The Forty Thieves, at the Theatre Royal, Jarrow, Mr. Will White, the general-manager of the company, was presented by Messrs. Little and Darcy with a beautiful half-hoop diamond ring and five-pound note; also by the three Sisters Silcott, Mrs. Silcott, and Mr. James Ferguson with a massive solid silver memo. and card-case; and by Mr. Archie Daunton Shaw, of the Daunton Shaw Troupe Trick Cyclists, with a letter case. Mr. White's little daughter Mabel was also remembered, and was presented with a handsome watch by Mr. Josh Clifton, of the Three Woodbee Wonders, comedy acrobats. Mr. Will White rejoins Messrs. Little and Darcy, with whom he has been general-manager for the last five years, again in August, to take over the management of the Executioner's Daughter and The Forty Thieves at Christmas. Mr. White was accorded a hearty send-off as he left for Oxford to fulfil his engagement as advance-manager with Mr. Ralph Pringle's North American Animated Photo Company.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—New Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews.—The attraction this week is Messrs. Fred Moule and E. D. Nicholl's company in that ever-popular play, The Life that Kills. Mr. Fred Moule's representation of Kendal Croat is received with rounds of applause. Mr. William E. Passmore's rendering of the part of Lord Kelmarsh gives evidence of much ability; Mr. Ernest G. Fare is a manly Hector Rodney; Mr. Morris Maud acts naturally as Valentine Telford; Mr. Wilton Drury, as Samuel Flatfoote, causes roars of laughter, and is ably seconded by Mr. Hall Menzies as Jack Jolliffe. Miss Marie Menzies arouses the sympathy of the audience as Laurie Linden; Little Violet is good as Mary Linden; Miss Lucy Murray is excellent in the dual rôle of Tom and Johanna Dicks; and Miss Kathleen Cavanagh, as Brenda Croat, is rewarded by the disapprobation of pit and gallery. Hearts of Stone, a new play by Mr Fred Moule, was billed for Friday.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Will Gregory.—This week the manager has a really excellent show. Mr. Fred Harcourt, a conjurer and illusionist, is very clever, and receives rounds of applause; Miss Lilian Warren sings several illustrated songs, and is a warm favourite; the Three Sisters Lee, vocalists and dancers, also have a great reception; Tom Owen, the Welsh comedian; and Whimsical Walker, are old favourites here, and add to their reputations; the Two Seebolds are very good in their musical act; Messrs. Hill, Barry, and Lang, knockabouts, are worthy of special note; Mons. Peklaw and Miss Dolly Bost, comedienne, also add to the evening's entertainment.

ABERDEEN.—Her Majesty's Theatre.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. C. Cavanah, C.A.—Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer and company opened their week's engagement with Mary Queen of Scots. Mrs. Palmer acted powerfully in the title-part; and Mr. F. Skein impersonated the Earl of Leicester with great skill. Miss K. Herbert made a dignified Elizabeth; and the parts of the Earl of Shrewsbury and Lord Burleigh were capably played by Mr. A. St. Aubyn and Mr. S. Bland. The other members of the company gave efficient support. The repertoire of the week includes Jane Shore, Sapho, Leah, and Nell Gwyn.

Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. Ernest Sheldon.—Captain Bevan's Gordon Highlanders show marvellous proficiency in the most intricate military movements; and Miss Ramin's troupe of educated monkeys provide much amusement; the Vandykes' musical sketch, Nicodemus, is highly amusing; and the Sisters Fordyce are exceptionally successful as singers and dancers. Miss Fanny Wentworth provides an admirable turn; and Mr. Harry Zetter dances and sings with great acceptance; Mr. Slingsby gives a capital ventriloquial entertainment; and the three Sisters Youngham sing a number of entertaining ditties. The Bioscope show of pictures is as usual up to date.

Hamilton's Excursions.—This popular and old-established entertainment is drawing large audiences to the music hall. The series of war pictures are particularly vivid, and Mr. Claude Howell is an admirable lecturer. Among the members of the variety company are the Sisters Urma, daring and graceful acrobats; the Navaho Trio, pleasant singers and dancers; Mr. Tom Birchmore, a very amusing comedian; Tom Le May, an entertaining musical clown; and Hector, a dextrous slack-wire artiste.

ABERTILLERY.—Theatre Metropole.—Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; General and Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventom.—This week we are having a visit from the Chas. W. Poole's mammoth amusement company and latest myriorama. The pictures, as usual, are up-to-date, and special mention should be made of the set of pictures illustrating submarine warfare. In the variety part of the programme are some clever turns, including Miss Daisy Graham, whose performances with her trained birds and her clever coon dog, Nap, are very amusing; Little Doretta, acrobatic song and dance artiste; Mr. Harry Stewart, American protean change artiste; Miss Kitty Woodford, with her highly trained canine circus and orchestra; the Six Clevelands, lady and gentlemen acrobats; Leonard and Mac, eccentrics; and the Sisters Zetina.

ACCRINGTON.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—On Monday night Mr. Charles Frohman presented Sherlock Holmes, with an excellent cast. The title-rôle is a creditable performance by Mr. Kenneth Rivington. Arthur B. Murray presents a capable performance of Professor Moriarty. James Larrabee is cleverly depicted by Ernest Gray. Fred Inwood must be complimented for his rendering of Dr. Watson. John Forman is a good performance by F. Clive Ross. Sir Edward Leighton is well depicted by Howard E. Lang. Lightfoot McTaque is admirably played by T. Williams. A praiseworthy performance is given by Miss Florence Radcliffe as Alice Faulkner. Ethel Gordon is well cast as Mrs. Faulkner. Madge Larrabee is well depicted by Carrie Lacey. Marjorie Murray and Hattie Newcombe are good in their respective parts, Theresse and Mrs. Smeedly.

The New Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker.—A very attractive bill here includes the Six Brothers Luck, who bring down the house with their amusing sketch, The Hermit The Brothers Esdale are two clever comedians and patterers; Susie Harrison is a chic and dainty comedienne; Mr. Eric Graham is well received; Mr. J. W. Harris is a smart character comedian; Tonnine is duly appreciated in his celebrated conjuring act; and Rappo is a smart acrobat, who is ably assisted by Mdlle. Ella. The whole is concluded by the Hippodrome Bioscope.

ALDERSHOT.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sonnes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. E. Williams.—Mr. Vivian Grantham may congratulate himself upon having a talented company, who give a capital interpretation of Slaves of Passion here this week. This sensational drama (which is starting on another tour), is full of interesting situations, and tells a story of Russian life, with many thrilling episodes. The powerful acting of Mr. H. F. Maltby in the difficult rôle of the despotic Prince Mazaroff is appreciated. Mr. Alf. H. Majilton's clever conception of Paul de Beaupre causes that rôle to be one of the most successful of the performance. Mr. Vincent W. Carlye, as the persecuted Sculptor Ivan, does well; Mr. Vivian Grantham's portrayal of the quasi-affected baronet, is capital; whilst Mr. T. Neldon's ability as a comedian is fully evidenced in the rôle of Harry Dunn, and he, with Miss Maude Merrick (a chic Lisette), gives a dance and duet à la Japanese. Miss Constance Medwyn's charming portrayal of Zara is excellent in every way; and Miss K. Hallam's graceful appearance and natural acting cause the rôle of Princess Sophia to be a huge success. Miss Maude Henderson, as the Baroness, is capable; and Miss Joan Pereira gives the part of Leonie an effective rendering. Mr. Edward Van Biene, who is general manager of the company, does well as the Colonel; and others in minor rôles are Messrs. Frank Colson, W. Aldred, Chas. Pick, and R. Dryden.

ALTRINCHAM.—New Pavilion.—Proprietors, Messrs. Budd, Howe, and Taylor; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Gilman.—The visit of Miss Grace Warner's company in the musical comedy, A Little Widow, has been a welcome one, the most being made of the humorous incidents by an accomplished cast of performers. In the title-rôle, Miss Grace Warner acts with vivacity, and sings in a spirited manner; whilst Mr. George Gordon acquits himself with marked ability. As his brother, Mr. St. Bernard Wyntour is deserving of much praise.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Fairbairn.—Mr. Louis Calvert's company is here for the week with Sunday. Miss Jean Sterling Mackinley is a gifted actress, and gives an intelligent interpretation of Sunday; Mrs. Naresby is gracefully acted by Miss Elizabeth Watson; Miss Helen Macgregor, as the Nun, plays with intelligence; Sunday's Four Foster-Fathers are very ably interpreted by Messrs. F. Powell, Jno. H. Manley, T. Norman Walter and Whitford Kane; Colonel Brinthorpe has a capable exponent in Mr. J. Edward Pearce; and the villain, Arthur Brinthorpe, is forcibly depicted by Mr. Chas. B. Vaughan. As Tom Oxley, Mr. Ernest A. Douglas is very satisfactory.

Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. C. Revill; Director of Entertainments, Mr. F. Wilmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. Campkin.—The New Mace, knockabout comedians, are very laughter-provoking; Marion Hood, ballad vocalist, sings some good songs in artistic style; the Maros, triple bar comedians, are experts; the Sisters Dorrell are distinctly clever comediennes and dancers; banjo playing is done to perfection by Casselli and James; Morny Cash challenges attention as a singing comedian; and the Three Bros. Huxter, tumblers and vaulters, are watched with great interest. The animated pictures are also interesting.

Empire Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident-Acting Manager, Mr. W. Leech.—The great attraction here this week is Edwin Boyde, comedian, whose songs are very effective; Moto, introduces an artistic and humorous musical melange; Mr. H. O. Wills proves very amusing; Ralston and Francis greatly entertain with a nautical musical scena; Carle and Carmanelli introduce a novelty, entitled, The Electric Moulding Wheel; The Magic Album is a pretty and pleasing act; Chas. Serra is a clever equilibrist; Billy Williams, Australian comedian, takes well; Emma Don and her black and white quartette of vocalists, in a vocal scena, are enjoyed; and good fun is got out of the animated pictures.

ATTERCLIFFE.—Theatre Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Claud Seaton.—Napoleon the Great, a drama of stirring interest, is being presented here this week by Mr. Frank M. Thorne's Company, under the direction of Messrs. Carson and Granville. Mr. Hugh Montgomery, always a sound actor, gives a forcible and dignified representation of Napoleon; Mr. Philip Harper is well placed as Colonel Jules Meuron; Mr. J. Maine is satisfactory as Paul Laczinska; Mr. Frank M. Thorne is highly amusing as Pierre Pomponnet, judiciously introducing the lighter vein. Miss Chrissie Dunbar is excellent as Marie Walewska, and shows a careful study of the part; Miss Maud Russell is good as Mdlle. Leoni Marbœuf; so also is Miss Florence Thorne as Mère Dumont; and Miss Adelaide Cromer as Lisette.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Gibbons.—The Three Abers give a clever and novel exhibition of wire and hand equilibrism; Minnie D'Aubyn is a comedienne with good songs; Jubal and Joyce, comedians and dancers, introduce some laughable cross-talk; the Brothers Zampah, described as one-legged marvels, give an excellent turn as acrobats and jumpers; Lade Henderson has a good style as a vocalist, and his songs are well received; Diana Hope and Company give a highly dramatic and interesting sketch, entitled Her Good Name. Johnny Chippendale wins hearty applause with his songs and eccentric dancing; and an excellent series of films by the Palace Bioscope, under the direction of Messrs. Blake and Clayton, completes the bill.

BACUP.—New Court Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Denman-Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Richard Nightingale.—Messrs. H. J. Callan and Wentworth Croke's No. 1 company is appearing here this week with Florodora. Mr. Arthur Leesville's witticisms as the eccentric phrenologist Anthony Tweedlepunch, evoke roars of laughter; Mr. William Elerard, as Frank Abercoed, acts as well as he sings. He is especially successful in "The Shade of the Palm." Mr. Frank Grans is a buoyant Captain Arthur Donegal, and his song, "I Want to be a Military Man," is rendered in excellent style. Mr. C. Young Fiscott extracts plenty of humour out of the part of Cyrus Gilfain; Leandro is cleverly sketched by Mr. W. Rousell; and Gilfain's clerks have admirable representatives in Messrs. Victor Huntley, E. B. Davies, Albert Zietz, Percy Robinson, Percy Harris, and William Bradfield. Miss Violet Leslie makes a sweet Dolores, and her charming vocalisation is greatly admired; Mis Cissy Sephton is an extremely graceful and captivating Lady Holyrood, and her songs, "Tact," and "I've an Inkling," go wonderfully well; Miss May Yates is bright and coquettish as Angela Gilfain. Angela's friends are charmingly portrayed by the Misses Violet Braham, Ruth Fox, Ethel Vivian, Adelina Waldon, Joan Lelland, and Miss Newland; and Miss Josephine Ellis is successful as Valleda. The augmented orchestra is under the bâton of Mr. Irvin.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—Royalty Theatre and Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Messrs. Moody-Manner's B company is paying a welcome return visit here. On Monday Carmen was finely rendered, the dressing and setting, particularly of the second act, being especially admirable. A singularly fascinating and original Carmen was presented by Miss Teify Davies, whose singing and acting were marked by much distinction; and as Michaela, Miss Grace Nicoll sang with complete artistic success. Mr. Charles Carter was a fine Don Jose, and the picturesque Escamillo was capably rendered by Mr. Walter Barrett, while the humours of Il Remendado and Il Dancairo were quaintly presented by Messrs. R. Brookes and S. Lansdale respectively On Tuesday, for the first time in this town, La Traviata was given. Miss Grace Nicoll scored a great triumph as Violetta; Mr. Edward Arthur's fine voice was heard to great advantage as Alfred Germont; and Mr. T. H. Wood made a success of George Germont. Faust, Mariana, Cavalleria Rusticana, I Pagliacci, and The Bohemian Girl are other operas billed for the week.

Tivoli Theatre of Varieties.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Stage-Manager, Mr. Tom Whiting.—Melot Hermann, the renowned French conjuror, heads the bill and creates a great sensation by his wonderful powers. Mountford and Walsh prove themselves amusing duettists; Land, the Swedish specialist, is clever in his female impersonations; Bert Woodward is a smart trick cyclist; Tom Parker, a comedian of considerable merit, meets with great success, as also does George Collins, comedian; Miss Lillian Rigby gives a pleasing musical item; and Vernon's Bioscope shows some capital pictures.

BATH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—The delightfully farcical romance, The Duke of Killicrankie, has been presented for the first time locally this week by Mr. Charles Frohman and Mr. Arthur Chudleigh's company. The four dominating characters of the piece are impersonated by such first-class artists as Mr. Scott Craven, a truly commanding Duke of Killicrankie; Mr. Arthur Grenville, who is highly diverting and clever as Mr. Pitt-Welby, M.P.; Miss Doris Templeton, as the abducted, but finally conquered Henrietta Addison; and that charming comedy actress, Miss Aida Jonoure, as the strong-minded Mrs. Mulholland. Good support is given in other important characters by Miss Margaret Damer (Countess of Pangbourne), Mr. Pat Newall (Ambrose Hicks), Mr. Guy B. Watson (Alexander MacBayne), and Miss Helen K. Robertson (Mrs. MacBayne). Mr. Jerome K. Jerome's one-act play, Barbara, precedes the chief attraction, and this charming little piece is well acted by Miss Margaret Damer, in the title-rôle; Miss Gillian Scaife, a bright Lillie; Mr. Pat Newall, a capital Cecil; and Mr. Frank McDonnell as the lawyer Finnicum.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. W. Trussell.—Of the many illusions now before the public, none is more calculated to bewilder an audience more than "Aga," in which a lady is suspended in mid-air with apparently no support whatever. Barton and Ashley, evidently from across the "Pond," create amusement in their laughable interlude, Canal Boat Sal; Moretti and Alice, equilibrists, are exceedingly daring and clever; Florence Deighton displays a powerful soprano voice in some popular ballads; Tray and Rich, black and white comedy team, are great favourites; Ruby Winstone, comedienne and dancer; Teddy Derham, comedian; and Herbert Betts, comedian, are well received. The second performance on Wednesday was under the immediate patronage of Sir Tristram Tempest and the members of the Bath Cycling Club.

BATLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Whitty; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. M. Hurst.—Mr. T. Morton Powell's company opened here on Monday with the drama Honour Thy Father. Mr. J. W. Evelyn made a capital Gabriel Garth; and Mr. Douglas B. Watson gave a powerful portrayal of Jack Halyard. The rôle of Duncan Bly was exceedingly well acted by Mr. Juan de Alberti, and Messrs. W. H. Melrose and Mr. Walter Dale were both suitably placed as Ned Pennycomquick and Mike Cobblestone. Mr. Claude Merton did well in the dual rôle of Job Merry and George Bloggs; and Mr. Frank Eden worked hard as Dr. Sleek. Gertrude Garth was in the safe keeping of Miss Kate Newton; and Miss Mabel Coleman gave a touching rendering of Lilian Garth. Miss Lizzie Moorby did good work as Poppy Cornleigh, and Miss Maud Grey and Miss Kitty Russell are both worthy of special mention as Violet Wilfred and Mercy Merry.

BEDFORD.—Royal County Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham-Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—For the first three nights of this week Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge's company presented The Cricket on the Hearth. It would be difficult to find a couple more suitable for the characters of John Peerybingle and Dot than Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge. Miss Ivy Lucy, as the cricket, performed some graceful dances; Miss Maggie Robertson's singing and gestures as Fairy Christmas were extremely praiseworthy; Miss Violet Gillies was the Fairy Queen; and Master T. Robertson the demon of mischief. Mr. Sydney Sarl made an excellent Tackleton; and Mr. David Curtis realised Dickens's creation of Caleb Plummer, admirably. Mr. Alexander Wills, as Edward Plummer, acted with skill; Miss Sybil Ruskin, as Bertha; Mrs. James Thurlow, as Mrs. Fielding; Miss Lilian Burleigh, as May Fielding; and Miss Dora Levis, as Tilly Slowboy, were well suited to their respective parts. Mr. Malcolm Barrington's company, with Joseph Entangled, were billed for the rest of the week.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. McCann.—Messrs. Addison Bright and Walter Maxwell's company is presenting Mr. J. M. Barrie's clever comedy, Little Mary. One of the finest impersonations was that submitted by Mr. George Mudie, who, as the Earl of Carlton, was very successful. The rôle of the little Irish mother, Moira Loney, was admirably sustained by a charming actress, Miss Ethel Dane; and the rôle of Lord Rolfe was capitally realised by Mr. Arthur Kightley. The rôle of the old apothecary, Terence Reilly, was well embodied by Mr. Ean Macdonald; and the rôle of Lady Milly was delightfully sustained by Miss Margaret Nybloc. Miss Elspeth Dudgeon was decidedly successful as the Countess of Plumleigh, and Mr. George A. Brandram presented a life-like impersonation of a fashionable London physician in his conception of Sir Jennings Pyke. Mr. Lewis Edgard was excellent as the Earl of Plumleigh, and the cast was completed by Miss Beatrice Kelson as Eleanor Gray and Mr. F. Watts as Mr. Deighton. The Monkey's Paw was a capital curtain-raiser. The various rôles were cleverly sustained by Miss Elspeth Dudgeon, and Messrs. Geo. S. Brandram, Arthur Kightley, Lewis Edgard, and Ean Macdonald.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. John P. Beardmore.—The star here this week is the Australian prima donna, Miss Ada Colley, whose fine voice has been heard to the utmost advantage in several songs. Mr. Frank Gerald has produced with great success a humorous sketch entitled Nothing to Nurse, in which he appears with much success as Charles Mulberry, and a charming actress, Miss Evelyn Vaudray, impersonates Madge Marigold in delightful style. Other rôles are portrayed by Messrs. E. Petley and Fred Rolls. The startling equilibristic act by the Bros. De Wynne has created quite a sensation; and an unmistakable hit has been made by Mr. Herbert La Martine, a good vocalist and exceptionally smart dancer. Mr. Daniel Gillen's ventriloquial act has been received with acclamation; and others appearing are Miss Marlow, comedienne; Mr. J. H. Crew, comedian and dancer; and the unique Palace pictures.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Limited.—General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Brock.—The star here is Miss Marguerite Broadfoote, an accomplished comedienne, whose delightful rendering of catchy songs gained her, on Monday, a good reception. The cycle act by the Proveanie troupe is of a startling nature, their feats being received with much applause. My Fancy is aptly described as the sand dancing marvel, her remarkable performance being rewarded with enthusiastic plaudits, fully deserved. The Three Donalds are sensational athletes, and their smart act has been voted first-class. The Bostons, versatile performers, appear in their exceptionally funny act, and others appearing are the charming Sisters Neilson; Mr. Walter Stanley, comedian; Mr. Victor Travers, comedian; and Mr. Arthur Melrose, a capital whistling comedian.

New Alhambra Theatre of Varieties.—General Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The clever comedian, Mr. Sam Mayo, heads the bill, and his humorous treatment of several really funny songs gained him deserved encores. Mr. John Alexander and Company appear in their side-splitting sketch, The Troubles of a Tourist; and Miss Effie White, the charming danseuse, is seen to the greatest possible advantage in some beautiful Kaleidoscope dances with their marvellous electrical effects. The views exhibited this week by Weisker Brothers' Bioscope are decidedly realistic, and an acquisition to any variety programme. The Three Dagmars are marvellous acrobats; and the gymnastic act by Onda and Leon is very smart. Others appearing are Miss Mamie Iris, a charming vocalist and smart sand dancer; Mr. Geo. Foyle, character comedian; also Miss Annie Laurie, comedienne.

BILSTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Battersby.—In The Convict's Daughter Mr. Frank Bertram's company has the special advantage of the services of Mr. J. W. Wilkinson, whose impersonation of the mysterious character Michael Graham is an excellent one. Capital work is seen in Mr. A. Lovett's Harold Trevalyen, Mr. G. M. Williams's Jasper Thorn, and Mr. J. K. Walton's Frederick Neville. The Edith of Miss Nellie Clyde, and the Marian Thorn of Miss Maud Osmond are both interesting portrayals. The comedy parts of Patrick O'Largan and Betty Hyne found suitable exponents in Mr. Alfred Terris and Miss Grace Harlington.

BIRKENHEAD.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Mr. George Testo Sante's company in The Life of a Showman, is attracting numerous audiences here. Mr. Santo is prominent with a vigorous and able rendering of Brian Leader, an impersonation which he embellishes with some extraordinary feats of strength. The villain of the piece is well embodied by Mr. Sam Arthur as Hendrick Marcias; the Rev. Cyril Arliss is well represented by Mr. Edward Warden; Mr. Charles Osborne is an efficient Sir Noel Hart mally large audiences this week, Mr. T. Edward Ward's company being engaged. Miss Ward, as Honor Symes, displays rare sympathetic qualities; Mr. Percy Brown acts as Mark Desmond with capital expression; Mr. Charles H. Lester portrays the character of the dastard, Gilbert Fernside, in a lurid manner; Miss Helen Raby acts well as the "woman of pleasure," one Bella de Lara; and Little Holly Haslewood as the "illegitimate" leaves an excellent impression. The comedy passages are in experienced hands, Mr. T. Edward Ward, Mr. Reginald South, Mr. Victor Mason, Miss Amy Maitland, and Miss Marguerite Thorne being especially successful.

CARLTON THEATRE, SALTLEY.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben Sydney.—The Red Café, which is represented here by Mr. Philip F. Knox and Miss Edith Grenfell's company, has met with the hearty reception that it merits. The acting calls for loud praise, Mr. Philip F. Knox for his heroic bearing as Count Sergius Petrosky, Miss Edith Grenfell for her graceful and sympathetic acting as Zitka Marsoff, and Mr. Martin Henry for his vivid impersonation of the villainous De Piayre being singled out for much attention. Miss Lily Gullick, Miss Lester Stephens, Mr. J. Edgar Stevenson, Mr. R. S. Entwistle, and Mr. Ernest Noble also do exceedingly well.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; Manager, Mr. Dan Barnard.—A Trip to Rum-Fum, in which Miss Cissie Moxon and company take the audience through an infinity of fun, wit, and melody, has filled the theatre nightly since Monday last. Miss Cissie Moxon in her vivacious and clever study of the music-hall girl, Florrie Hixie, has created a pleasant effect; Miss Stella West has been remarked for her charm as Angelina Toft; Miss V. Desmond as Peggy O'Hooligan invests the character with many winsome characteristics; and Mr. Shea as Larry O'Hooligan, Mr. T. Dupone as Biddy, Mr. J. Richardson as Hezekiah, Mr. J. Rogers as Cecil Toft, Mr. T. Cook as Scriviner, and Mr. A. Moss as Thady are all deserving of special praise. The Saxon Troupe shine in their international dances.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Resident Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—Hagedorn's Wonderful Grotto is the principal item this week. Ethel Arden, George Abel and company are presenting their smart sketch, Three of a Kind; Frank Hilbert, exposes the box trick and police handcuffs; a clever and artistic entertainment is that provided by the Andos Little Japs, whose walking the tight-rope is loudly applauded; May Mars, comedienne, is well received; La Testa, Frank Harwood, Edie Verno, and Bertha Palliser's excellent singing add largely to the success of the programme.

GAIETY THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—The Savonas and Elliotts remain another week, and continue to attract packed houses, while Fred Earle is loudly applauded for his comic songs. The Bellony Bros. have a sensational cycle balancing act. The acrobatic performance of the Paul Hesse Trio and Senorita Elvina is smart. Fielding and Hall, Alice Ormonde, Fred Land, and Cliffe and Kean appear with their usual success.

HIPPODROME.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Smaun Sing-poo, whose age is twenty-two, and only weighs 18lb., is the novelty turn here, and gives a smart gymnastic display. The Jees, in their musical sketch, The Blacksmith, are a clever turn, as also are the O'Learys, in their burlesque act. Walton and Miss Ella have a fine dog show. Other popular turns are Bertha Pertina, Carrie Joy, Sid Bandon, Frank Coyne, and the Toreadors.

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Resident Manager, Mr. George Foster.—The Astleys are presenting their musical entertainment, which is loudly applauded; while Clown Zertho, with his well-trained dogs, give an interesting performance; Grell and Grey, in their sketch, Bertie's First Lesson at Tennis, is well received; Harry Anderson is applauded for his songs; Seeley and West, comedy musicians, also come in for a good share of applause; the Sisters Lunelle, Ted Cowan, and Winnie Derson also contribute to the excellent programme.

BLACKBURN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Yorke; Business-Manager, Mr. Reginald Yorks.—The Milton Ray's pantomime, Beauty and the Beast, is doing good business here. Miss Nellie Merton, as Beauty, gives a pleasing performance; Miss Maidie Scott is an attractive Valet; and Miss Doris Drelincourt, as Prince Greatheart, wins much admiration. Mr. Rolando Martin, as Sammy the Page, gives a humorous performance; Mr. Edwin Garth is very funny as Wilhelmina; Mr. George Rydon and Messrs. Fyne and Hurley also contribute greatly to the amusement of the audience. Some excellent specialities are provided by the Four Trees, Wallau, and the Four Elderados.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page.—Mr. W. H. Hallatt's company, in The Two Little Drummer Boys, is paying its first visit to Blackburn. Miss May Day and Miss Ethel Frances Greene portray the two little heroes in a highly efficient manner; Miss Blanche Steele gives a powerful rendering of Lola Grey; and Miss Mabel Scudamore is good as Mildred Grey. Mr. Leonard Booker duly earns the execrations of the audience as the villainous Richard Redstone. Mr. William H. Sams is an excellent Commander Noel Tregarthen. The comedy is well looked after by Mr. Oscar Power (Jack Jolly), Mr. Tom E. Sinclair (Ben Baxter), and Miss Lizzie Chambers (Lucy Wilson). Mr. W. H. Hallatt, as Captain Yorke, and Mr. George Cecil Murray, as Admiral Grey, also render good service.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Drury.—Variety is once more the order of the day at this popular place of amusement. Rosina Casselli and her Midget Wonders are well received. Another good turn is furnished by Lady Mansell and her troupe of juveniles. Billy Elliott is an old favourite in Blackburn. Ethel May, Martine and Son, Viviana, Pat Rafferty, Professor Thornbury, and Vanola also appear.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Miss Nettie Ware's company is here this week with a sensational drama entitled When Woman Hates. The principal part, Cora Daintry, is sustained with undoubted ability by Miss Elaine Verner; Mr. John B. Shinton portrays the heroic Lieutenant Rokeby with distinction, and Miss Ada Ryder is admirably suited to the rôle of Marie Rokeby. Mr. Albert Guyon as Godfrey Lawton, and Mr. Harding Thomas as Colonel Vancusson are also successful.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—The Duke of Killicrankie as enacted by Mr. Leigh Lovel's company is doing well here this week. Mr. Herbert J. Bentley gives a capital representation of the title-rôle; Mr. Lovell scores a huge success as Henry Pitt Welby; Mr. H. Douglas Cottell amusingly portrays Alexandra MacBayne, and Mr. F. Danyers-Yates does well as Ambrose Hicks. The Lady Henrietta Addison has a charming exponent in Miss Octavia Kenmore, and Miss Namoi Neilson's Mrs. Mulholland could not be well improved. Clause Number Six is an interesting curtain raiser played by Mr. F. Danver-Yates (Charles Spotter), and Miss Helen Tytler (Dorothy Meadows).

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—A very diversified bill, in which some capital turns are included, is presented here this week. Ameen Abou Hamad's Arabian acrobats submit a splendid show, and the Beccaccio Trio of singers and instrumentalists also give a good account of themselves. Rose Harvey, the actress-vocalist, is always well received; Leah Arden shines as an operatic ballad vocalist; Mannings' entertainers contribute a laughable sketch; the San Remo Girls dance gracefully; Mazon and Marie are clever musicians; Fred Dunstone is a good comedian; and Stave wins appreciation in an Indian electric act.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. George E. Good.—The stage here has been occupied this week by the Ediscope and Barnum's electric animated pictures. Accompanying them are variety turns, including the singing Lancashire mill hand (Miss Jessie Harper), a great favourite. Le Brun, juggler, is good; Vera Snowdon is a successful vocalist and dancer; Mons. Edgar contributes a good musical act on the trapeze; Clown Ohmy is amusing with his dog, Toby; Will Ivor scores as a stilt performer; Loder Lyons gives a smart ventriloquial turn; the Roches are prominent as duettists; and Cecil Terry is an acceptable comedian.

TUDOR'S CIRCUS.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Tudor.—The same company remain here from last week, and have introduced some new scenas.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—Laughter Land, musical pantomimical absurdity, is being played here this week by the "Cragg Congress of Comedians." The Cragg (six in number) undertake a variety of characters, in which they display acrobatic feats of a marvellous character.

GRAND THEATRE, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon. The bill here contains the following artists, who make up a good variety programme:—Park's Eton Boys, who are warmly applauded for their melodious singing; Jack Pleasants, comedian; Wee Mona, who delights the audience with her coon singing and dancing; the Toros, marvellous equilibrists, &c.; the Bros. Lavelle, quaint comedy acrobats; the McKays, comedians, &c.; Mondray and Raymond; the Three Sherrys; the Howards; Blanche Haddon. The Imperial bioscope is also an an attraction.

OHMY'S CIRCUS AND VARIETY HIPPODROME.—Good houses appreciate the performances given here by Chard's American Troupe of jumping and performing dogs; the Two Padleys introduce an amusing boxing act, and also prove themselves expert dancers and tumblers. Mons. Swifelo, daring gymnast; Mr. George Ginnett with his performing horses and ponies; the Andy's Troupe of acrobats; clever riding by Miss Ada, Miss Lily, and Claude Ohmy, also contribute.

VICTORIA HALL.—J. P. Sousa and his band gave two performances here last Monday to crowded and appreciative audiences.

BOSCOMBE.—HIPPODROME.—Owner and Licensee, Mr. F. Mouillot; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Ball.—Under this title the former Grand Theatre here reopened on Monday with a bright and well-varied programme, on the two-houses-a-night system. The large audiences which gathered on Monday night, and their keen appreciation of the excellent fare provided, testified to the fact there is an opening for a high-class variety theatre in the neighbourhood. Probably the item most appreciated was the marvellous performance of Captain Woodward's seals and sea-lions, which provided one of the finest examples of animal training ever seen here. Another turn of considerable merit was the thought-reading séance of Mahatma; while Mr. H. A. Moore's imitations of well-known artistes were also much appreciated, as was a pleasing vocal fantasy, entitled "The Heirloom," sung by Miss Peggie Lennie and Mr. Walter Hast. Other capital turns were Mr. Henry Calvo's sketches at the piano; Vincent, acrobatic table expert; Miss Lilian Boanas, Australian prima donna; and Ruffell's Bioscope. Shortly before the conclusion of the performance, Mr. Mouillot came before the curtain, and in a brief but happy speech thanked the public for supporting his new enterprise by their attendances that evening.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Rowland Stewart.—That charming comedy, Merely Mary Ann, as presented by Mr. Charles Frohman's company, is being well received here this week. Chief honours among the men are borne off by Mr. Alexander Calvert as Lancelot, Mr. Reginald Dance as Peter, Mr. Fred Grove as the Rev. Samuel Smedge, and Mr. W. Wilson as Lord Tottenham. As Mary Ann Miss Grace Armytage Noble is delightful, and brings much sympathy and talent to the part, while the Mrs. Leadbatter of Miss Alice Esden is a clever character sketch. Other notable rôles are well filled by Miss M. Alison Alexander, Miss Madge Johnstone, Miss Millicent McLaughlin and Miss Amy Thomas.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Pemberton.—It was announced last week that Cinders would terminate on last Saturday evening, but in consequence of the regrettable illness of Sir Henry Irving, whose engagement is postponed, the run of Mr. Hart's charming pantomime has been extended. There are some alterations in the cast, but the performances are as attractive and as enjoyable as ever with Mr. Harry Dent in Mr. J. W. Rowley's part of The Baron, and Miss Adelaide Gracey in Miss Marie Daltra's rôle of Gingeretta Hogg. Messrs. Grell and Grey have departed, and they are missed, but the rest of the company do much to fill up the vacancy, and Mr. Dent is noticeable in a clever guitar performance. Benefits and performances for the charities are the order.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—After a successful tour, Mr. Peter Eland's pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, was reproduced here last Monday evening to a large audience. There are some alterations in the cast; Miss Swires' part of The Fairy is now in the hands of Miss Jennie Whitehead, and Mr. Hill gives place to Mr. M. Johnson as a prominent comedian; Miss Mabel Manley prettily maintains her part of the title-rôle; Miss Dolly Hook, the principal boy, is eminently successful; and the company generally maintain a high state of efficiency.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessees, Moss' Empires, Limited; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. J. Kelly.—Leon Morris's ponies provide a lot of amusement here this week, with their antics, and wrestling with John Hedge; there is a good turn by Lily Tiso, comedienne; and in "Funnabalism" Alfonso Burns and Gaston Evans introduce good dancing, comedy, and acrobatic business; there is novelty in the clever acrobatic dancing by the Four MacGovern Girls; a very welcome reappearance is made by that quaint Scotch humorist, W. F. Frame, who elicits much laughter; Collins and Rice are good in a comedy speciality; Rastus and Banks do capital comedy singing and dancing; a smart ventriloquial sketch is submitted by Tom Edwards; and the American Bioscope produces some interesting scenes.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. W. Berry.—Coco, the educated monkey, is a great and very interesting attraction here this week; Harris and Worth submit capital comedy; much interest is centred in the performance given by the blind musical genius, Martin Henderson; in their speciality "The Jap and the Russian," and on the trapeze, Rezene and Robini are funny as ever; Jack Charman submits a good vocal turn; Bishon and Vale are capital comedians in the knock-about style; Grace Merton sings sweetly as the original Street Singer; and the famous J. W. Rowley is delighting his many admirers with his capitally-rendered comic songs.

BRIDLINGTON.—PEOPLE'S PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Morgan.—Messrs. Collins and Stephenson's pantomime, Sinbad the Sailor, is the attraction here this week. Miss Gertie Rowan, as Sinbad, gives the necessary dash and finish to the part, and her songs are well rendered. Miss Florrie Goldstone is a fascinating Princess Zaza; Miss Annie G. Brevitt as Haidee, and Miss Lola Rosslyn as Prince Florizal, give their parts an excellent rendering. Mr. Tom Cattle is most amusing and clever as Tinbad the Tailor, and his dances with Miss Rowan are very smartly done. Mr. Billy Moore, as the Captain, is responsible for much of the fun of the piece. As Mrs. Sinbad, Mr. George Casey is the proverbial dame of pantomime; and Mr. Dan Harley, as the first mate of the Sunrise, adds greatly to the fun of the piece, his eccentric dances being received most rapturously. Mr. E. Percy is a good Rajah, and Miss Dolly Seymour enacts the part of the good fairy with success. The specialities include Percy Victor's very clever dog minstrels; the Zaza Girls, in some well-executed dances; Eddie Clay, the tramp musician; Johnny and Edna, a pair of exceedingly clever cake walk artistes; and Mr. Billie Moore, a lightning gun manipulator.

BRIGHOUSE.—ALBERT THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Morton-Powell; Business-Manager, Mr. M. Manley. The American-Indian actress, Go-Won-Go-Mohawk, with her company is at the above theatre this week in the picturesue and sensational drama Wep-ton No-Mah, the Indian Mail Carrier, in which the acting of Go-Won-Go-Mohawk has created a very favourable impression. A few of the members of the company can sing a good song, and all do their share of the work satisfactorily.

BRIGHTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Opening a week's engagement here on Monday, with The Only Way, Mr. Martin Harvey and company attracted a crowded and enthusiastic audience. Mr. Martin Harvey submitted a powerful and thoroughly artistic impersonation of Sydney Carton; Miss N. de Silva imparted touching pathos to her portrayal of Mimi; Mr. Charles Glenney gave a forcible enactment of Ernest Defarge; Mr. Fred Wright, sen., achieved conspicuous success as Doctor Manette; Mr. P. Alexander as Mr. Lorry and Mr. Percy Anstey as Charles Darnay displayed excellent acting; and Miss Coleridge was a graceful Lucy Manette; while Mrs. Frederick Powell, as "the Vengeance," and Miss Bessie Elder as a Citizeness, were duly vigorous. The programme for the week also included The Breed of the Treshams.

GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company is here this week with The Sledge Hammer, and is doing excellent business. Mr. Charles Herbert makes the most of his opportunities as Mat. Shew Derrick, whose sons, Everard, Jacob, and Simon, have effective exponents in Mr. W. V. Garrod, Mr. A. Northway, and Mr. Lawrence Konrad respectively, the sledge hammer fight between the two last-named being very exciting. Miss Bertha Kingston gives a sympathetic portrayal of Rose Maywell; Mr. Frank Litchfield is distinctly successful as the earnest, and, at times, humorous Tom Walker; and much amusement is also afforded by Miss Ellaline Thorne as Catherine Hennis. Admirable support is rendered by Mr. Maxwell Davidson, Mr. Thomas Ashton, Mr. F. Dallas, Mr. L. V. St. Clair, Mr. W. Vincent and Miss Fanny Thorne.

The pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, closed its successful run here last Saturday evening amid a scene of great enthusiasm. In response to loud calls, Mr. Ernest Carpenter, managing-director, and author of the pantomime, came forward, and, in a neat speech, expressed his warm appreciation of the support given him by the Brighton public, and also cordially thanked his pantomime company, Mr. W. F. Crowe (resident-manager), the staff, Signor G. D. La Camera (musical director), and the orchestra. Mr. W. F. Crowe was also called to the front and presented with a silver cigarette case and match box, and also a diamond pin. In reply, he said he would do his utmost to promote the success of the excellent programmes arranged by Mr. Ernest Carpenter for the enjoyment of the patrons of the theatre. On behalf of the patrons he presented Mr. Carpenter with a souvenior of his first pantomime at Brighton. The Tally-Ho Trio (great favourites), Mr. J. H. Booth (assistant stage-manager), Sig. La Camera, and the principal members of the company also received handsome presents; and Mr. Carpenter embraced the opportunity of stating that Robinson Crusoe would be the subject of his next Christmas pantomime. The presentations were made to the accompaniment of deafening applause, and the enjoyable evening closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

ALHAMBRA.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—Joe O'Gorman, the Irish humorist, submits a delightful turn; Jack Camp's amusing songs and patter are warmly appreciated; Tom Davies' Trio of cyclists provide great sensation in "Whirling the Wheel"; Mdlle. Violi is a clever performer on a variety of instruments; Atroy is a smart juggler and hoop manipulator; two sketches, The Man in Possession, presented by Gus Blake and Maude Granby, and Getting Even, by Fred Sinclair and Gracie Whiteford, are highly amusing; Levano, a marvellous Arab tumbler, is well received; the Sisters Caselli are dashing soubrettes and dancers; and the Alhambra pictures are very interesting.

WEST PIER.—Secretary and Entertainment Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Mr. Alfred B. Cross and company, are here this week with The Manxman. Mr. Cross gives an admirable impersonation of Pete; Miss Minnie Watersford acquits herself with complete success as Kate Cregan; Mr. Henry Heiler's Cæsar Cregan is a capital character study; Mr. William Burchill is very effective as Philip Christian; Miss Nancy Mitchell makes a capital Nancy; and other characters are well sustained by Mr. Edward McClean, Mr. C. H. Ogden, Mr. E. Cartell, Mr. H. Wadely, Mr. J. Allen, Mr. W. Horgan, Mr. H. H. Morton and Miss K. Livesey.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The Barrasford Quartet (Mdlle. Bertrin, Mdlle. Lozini, M. Cauveren and M. Auguste Delcoin), are re-engaged, and are highly successful in selections from Faust; George Lashwood, comedian, is as great a favourite as ever; the Barra Troupe submit charming musical selections on various instruments, and are deservedly applauded; Lillian is a very expert trick cyclist; R. H. Douglas, entertainer, evokes hearty applause and roars of laughter; V. J. De Henau is a marvellous painter with his feet; Bob Hamilton, comedian and concertinist, is very entertaining; Mdlle. Aladina and her performing cockatoos, provide an excellent turn; Nellie Kilburn is a charming comedienne; and the programme includes animated pictures.

COLISEUM.—Manager, Mr. C. Smith-Wilkes.—Alexandra Dagmar, the popular burlesque actress, is enthusiastically received, and scores a great success in her burlesque of The Duchess of Dantzic; Edie King proves herself a charming comedienne and graceful dancer; G. W. Hunter is very entertaining with song and story; Billie Taylor is highly successful in his latest and mirth-provoking speciality, Electric Mania; Leslie H. Murray's card tricks and conjuring merit warm praise; Kitty Gresham, "the Society Girl," is a pleasing vocalist; Rosie Sylvester sings and dances herself into favour; Benson Kleve is a clever character comedian and patterer; and the Coliseum pictures are very enjoyable.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—We are now in the last two weeks of the very successful pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty, and the house is crowded at each performance with an enthusiastic audience. The company, headed by Miss Lil Hawthorne, as principal boy, has proved to be an exceptionally capable one, all the principals having now become established favourites. The staging of the pantomime is on a magnificent scale. Miss Lil Hawthorne's benefit was announced for Friday, many extra attractions being provided.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter.—This is the last week of Robinson Crusoe. The attendance has never flagged since the opening night, and it is generally admitted that this is the best pantomime ever seen here. The company is a strong and able one, the principals being very popular with all parts of the house, while the mounting generally is both liberal and artistic.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The Harmony Four head the programme with a very pleasing turn, which obtains appreciation by all parts of the house. Brinn creates quite a sensation with his clever speciality, "Pastimes on a Battleship"; Henri Bekkar is an expert conjurer, assisted by Mdlle. Maie; Jules Keller does a clever act, walking, dancing, &c., upside down: Harry Drew, basso, sings in artistic style; Fred Curran, comedian, has some good songs; Larry Lewis is popular in the same line; and the Judges are smart at leaping, tumbling, and other acrobatics. The performance concludes with a fine display of animated pictures.

PALACE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Livermore Bros.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Secretary, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Harry Lauder, Scotch comedian, heads the programme. His songs are all amusing, some of them may be classed as character studies, and he obtains much applause for his efforts to entertain. Miss Maggie Duggan is also much appreciated; she has some good songs, which are rendered in artistic style. Miss Ivy Nelson, comedienne, does a pleasing turn of song and dance; Ovieto and Bray (George and Lottie) present a good comedy and speciality act, Miss Bray doing an exceptionally clever skipping-rope dance; Rozaire Belleros Troupe score with a comedy acrobatic act; Boyd and Gilfain do an excellent burlesque and musical turn; Hector and Paulus are smart comedy acrobats and equilibrists: Monks and Woods (Bert and Lucie) score in a musical duologue, Queen of Hearts; Leslie Race, comedian, pleases; and the performance concludes with some new animated pictures. The matinée on Thursday, with special attractions, was for the benefit of the Bristol Marine Ambulance Corps.

BROUGHTON.—VICTORIA, LTD.—Managing Director and Licensee, Mr. James W. Haworth; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. B. Astin.—Pantomime again has possession of the boards here, and on Monday a full house gave every indication of enjoying Mr. H. A. Jordison's Babes in the Wood. Reggie and Cissie (the babes) are respectively played by little Miss Dolly Cullen and little Miss Elsie Jordison, who are pretty dancers. Messrs Cullen and Carthy, as Beery Bill and Sleepy Dick, keep the house in roars of laughter. Mr. Roland Hill is a droll Dame Peggy; Robin Hood has a clever exponent in Miss Madge Daley; Miss Ada Martini dances prettily, and pleasingly sustains the part of Maid Marion. Mr. Edward Avon is an amusing Baron Toodle, and scores with his legmania. Little John and Phyllis are represented by the Misses Ethel and Bella Brookland, whose dancing goes well. Little Cluley, as Bantam, assists the laughter. Miss Gabrielle Harver as Will Scarlett, Miss Beattie Scots as Allan-a-Dale Miss R. Eaton as Ariel, and Mr. W. Francis Greene as Herne work well. Jordison's Empire Troupe of dancers are favourably received. Among the specialities, that by Mr. George Chanti, introducing many startling and pleasing scenic novelties, is much applauded. The staging is excellently carried out by the aid of the extensive electric lighting installation.

BURNLEY.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Proprietress, Mrs. T. Culcen; General Manager, Mr. James E. Culcen.—The Conscript is being presented here by an excellent company, under the direction of Mr. George Mitchell and Mr. John Belton. Mr. George Mitchell plays the part of Karl Truevitch in a natural manner, and with such force and dignity that every word and movement stamps him as an actor of ability. Mr. Howell Travis gives a clever and convincing portrayal of Ivan Manloff. Count Paul Hardiski has a capital exponent in Mr. Horatio Sinclair. Mr. John Belton makes an effective Dar Doggervitch. Maxim Fredka is ably represented by Mr. Edward Hill. Miss Mary Dawson, as the heroine, Nadia Truevitch, fills the part with credit, and receives cordial applause. Miss Elizabeth Doone contributes some sound acting as Catherine Silka. The comedy element is successfully sustained by Mr. Harry Tilbury as Tretch Tretoff, Miss May Carlton as Dame Kolinka, and Miss Bella Tilbury as Wanda. Miss Arline T. George gives a good rendering of Little Karl; Michael Andrevitch is ably portrayed by Mr. Frank Harvey; Mr. George Oliver is seen to advantage as Woolf Stilvitch; Mr. W. F. Armytage is a satisfactory General Koorshoo, and Mr. E. F. Case an efficient Commander Jolly.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. C. Hamer.—The diversified and well arranged programme this week includes Messrs. Henry Abdy's and Mdlle. Marvelle's hippodrome, consisting of cockatoos, &c., who contribute an enjoyable entertainment. Mdlle. Nadji, premier hand-balancer, gives an exceedingly smart turn. Charles's Stage Circus is a wonderful performance. Little Mike Cray, comic juggler, does several amusing tricks which create much merriment. Miss Alicia Mayne, Australian soprano, receives a hearty reception. Charles Slaman, comedian, is a popular artist, and the biograph submits a series of interesting and humorous pictures.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Walter.—A great attraction is here this week in Mr. W. W. Kelly's No. 1 Royal Divorce company. Miss Edith Cole, an emotional actress of exceptional ability, imbues the rôle of imperial dignity with an underlying note of womanly tenderness and grace which completely fascinates her audience. The loyal Stephanie is portrayed with piquancy and zest by Miss Helen Richmond. A truly regal figure is that of Ethyle Murray, who is seen to advantage as Marie Louise. The Napoleon of Mr. Frank Lester is a triumph of histrionic art; Mr. Trevor Lowe gives a sterling performance as Marquis de Beaumont; Mr. H. Gray Dolby achieves distinction as the diplomatic Talleyrand; while Mr. Alfred Grenville is an unqualified success as General Augereau. Mr. Ernest G. Batley, Mr. Dennis Bryan, Miss Gertrude Entwistle, Miss Teresa Gilmour, and Miss Maggie Cardiff render efficient aid.

BURY (LANCS).—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—The Athenæum Amateur Operatic Society are playing The Yeomen of the Guard here this week, in aid of charity.

OLYMPIA CIRCUS OF VARIETIES.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Mr. Culling again provides excellent fare here, including Selma Braatz, a wonderful lady juggler; the Revel Troupe in a funny act entitled Mischief; Boy Glen, a young comedian; The Berringtons, jugglers; Ryde and Beeman, acrobats; and the Cape Girls, dancers.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. Broadhead.—The Imperial Troupe of singers and dancers head the bill and are an exceedingly clever turn. Others in the programme are Agnes Kfembser, juggler; the Sisters Russell, duettists; Saxo, in imitations of German cornets; McCann, comedian and dancer; and Frank Staley, actor vocalist.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—Messrs. Lawrence Grant and Malcolm Barrington's excellent company opened here on Monday night with Joseph Entangled. We have several pleasing recollections of Mrs. Mouillot in various characters, and as Lady Verona Mayne she was equally successful. Mr. Lawrence Grant was easy and natural as Sir Joseph Lacy; Mr. Hugh Ardale did justice to Hardolph Mayne; Harry Tavender was well rendered by Mr. F. H. Denton, as was Mrs. Tavender by Miss Evelyn Maxwell; Mr. C. Leveson Lane was satisfactory as Jermyn Pyecroft; Mr. Everard Digby played Professor Tofield in an easy manner; and Mr. Guy Lane (Knapman), and Miss Claire Cavendish (Mrs. Knapman) also did well. The play was followed by Heart of Gold.

CARDIFF.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Enthusiastic audiences have crowded to see The Cingalee at the Royal this week. The play is presented by one of Mr. George Dance's chief companies. The greater share of the work falls on Mr. Lauri de Frece, who, as Chambhuddy Ram, is successful in keeping the house in shouts of laughter. Mr. Kenneth Wynne has a capital voice, and makes an excellent Harry Vereker; Mr. Fred. W. Pattrick does exceptionally well as Boobhamba; Mr. F. W. Ford gives an amusing delineation of Sir Peter Loftus; and as Bobby Warren, Mr. George Mudie, jun., scores a success. Miss Nancy Freyne, who has a pleasing voice, plays Lady Patricia in lively style; Miss Mabel Sealby is entitled to praise for her excellent portrayal of Peggy Sabine, and Miss Ethel Negretti, in the rôle of Nanoya, has ample opportunity for displaying her vocal ability.

KING'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Bateman; Business Manager, Mr. Robert Sawin.—Mr. Wm. Maclaren and Miss Lily Bandmann are appearing here this week in a welcome revival of Proof. As Pierre, Mr. Maclaren has a part which he fills with considerable success. The Madeleine of Miss Lily Bandmann is marked by many pleasant touches that win the sympathy of the audience. The numerous characters are exceptionally well impersonated by the clever artistes. David Garrick, followed by the screen scene from The School for Scandal, was presented on Wednesday night with great success.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—The star turn this week is that of the Dandies, whose performance as a combination of refinement, melody and humour would be difficult to beat. A sensational wire balancing act by Harry Lamore is a great attraction; Swan and Bambard provide a diverting knockabout entertainment; W. H. Fox, as "Paddywhiski," is an old Cardiff favourite; and McPhee and Hill, on the horizontal bar, are another well-known couple. Ryan and Hall, in a clever acrobatic act; George Tacius, the double-voiced vocalist; the Bros. Fortune's novel comedy turn; and some capital bioscopic pictures complete an excellent programme.

CARLISLE.—ALGIE'S HIPPODROME.—Proprietress, Mrs. P. E. Veitch; Manager, Mr. C. Algie.—The management has secured a big attraction this week in the engagement of Mons. Paul Courto in his wonderful and original dog-cart act. Entering the ring in an ordinary dog-cart drawn by two spirited horses driven tandem fashion, Mons. Courto, in ordinary evening dress, executes some marvellous and daring leaps and somersaults from the cart on to the horses and back. Another especially good turn is provided by Zaran, an acrobat and comedian of quite unusual ability, whose "comedy on a lamp-post" causes roars of laughter. Mr. Charlie Dixon, an eccentric comedian, proves himself a laughter maker of the first order. Mdlle. Cecilia De Pasto, a lady of handsome appearance, gives an exhibition of clay modelling and paper tearing which is decidedly interesting. Serony, comedian; Miss Kate Lynd, vocalist; and De Oka, a smart aerial gymnast, contribute turns which add to the popularity of a really excellent performance.

CASTLEFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business Manager, Councillor Hy. Masterman.—Mr. A. E. Smith's pantomime, Aladdin, opened on Monday to a crowded house. Miss Elsie Douglas, as Aladdin, sings and dances herself into the good graces of everybody, and wins much approval for a vivacious performance Miss Kathleen O'Neill sings well, and gives a graceful and entertaining rendering of Princess Badroulbadour. Miss Fannie Douglas is smart as Peko. Mr. J. H. Maxwell, as Abanazar, is amusing, and this clever artiste causes hearty laughter whenever he appears. Widow Twankey has a highly diverting exponent in Mr. Fred Ramsdale, who sings and dances in capital style. Miss Maudie Bettison, as the Genie of the Ring, is the possessor of a charming voice, which she uses to advantage in her various songs. The Brothers Taylor are successful knockabouts, and make two good Chinese policemen. Mr. J. Matthews does well as the Grand Vizier. Mr. J. Arnold is a capital Emperor. Madam Helen Godfrey conducts an augmented orchestra well, besides giving some clever imitations on various instruments in Scene 10. The Four Snowdrops are a quartette of smart lady dancers. Mr. Maxwell is loudly applauded for his hat-spinning business. Arnold, as an illusionist, is also well to the fore.

CHATHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. B. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard; Secretary, Mr. George G. Ridley.—Messrs. Carson and Granville's company is here in Defending His Honour.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—The great attraction here is the Poluski Brothers in their successful motor car act, which causes roars of laughter. Next in popularity come the Sisters Govell, a pair of clever serios and dancers. Signor and Madame Prosper Benn score in a musical scena, entitled From Pavement to Stage. Beatie Foster, vocalist; Stirtevant Swift, coon singer; Matt Wilkinson and company in That French Woman; Lacey's Erascope, and Wallace Whitney complete the bill.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. Frank J. Donne.—The Coloured Meisters top the bill, followed by Chris. Richards, eccentric comedian; Mdlle. Rosa's dog circus; Mdlle. Du Roche, vocalist; J. C. Manley, character vocalist; the Paul Courtney combination; Stanley and Tich Bourne, duettists and comedians; and pictures shown by the Edisonograph.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—On Monday evening Messrs. H. B. Levy and John Walters' juvenile company commenced a fortnight's engagement in the pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood. The scenery is beautiful, the singing well worth hearing, and the dancing a particularly pleasing feature. A warm welcome was awarded Miss May Gibson, as Little Miss Muffett; her voice has developed quite tunefully, and demands for encores were merciless. Miss Molly Rafferty in the title-rôle soon wins the hearts of the audience; and her sister, Kitty, as Fairy Queen is quite charming, speaking her lines with remarkable fluency. Boy Blue, Robin Hood, and Tommy Tucker are prettily impersonated by the Misses Lottie Harper, Flo Le Roy, and Kitty Trewitt respectively; Miss Isa Gibson being Marjorie Daw, and Miss Mona Townshend, Nancy Lee. The biggest "hit" of the young comedians is Paddy Mills as Sunny Jim; Fred Ell bats; they perform a number of clever feats. The Four Maisanos introduce a musical act, which is original and clever. The Moxon family do some juggling and balancing acrobatic feats. Deller and Oxford sing and dance, and their dialogue is smart. Charles Paver, comedian, won applause. Gracie Logan is an excellent serio and dancer; Le Warren is a clever ventriloquist, and the Alhambra Quartette of lady vocalists and dancers are pleasing.

COVENTRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. W. Bennett.—A Trip to Chinatown is being produced at this place of amusement this week. Welland Strong, "the dying man," is a most amusing character, in which Mr. Chas. Seguin is very successful. As the gay widow, Mrs. Guyer, Miss Kitty Marion performs capitally. Mr. Will Smith makes an excellent waiter. Other numerous characters are successfully taken by Mr. Jerrold Manville as Ben Gay; Mr. Leslie Norman as Rashleigh Gay; Oswald Grey as Saxon Blood; Mr. S. Champion as Slavin Payne; and Miss Daisy Revell as Flirt. Little Britton, as "Jones of Chinatown," is claimed to be the smallest comedian in the world.

CREWE.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor.—Mr. T. Jarman's Co. have paid their first visit to Crewe with the Anglo-Russian drama, entitled, In Dark Siberia. Mr. W. T. Riley, in the character of Captain Gordon, and, afterwards as the disguised Kobe, acted very satisfactorily; Major Waroff was portrayed in a truly villainous manner by Mr. Wilson Howard; Miss Cecilia Ransome was entrusted with the difficult part of Paul Gregorovitch, and she gave an excellent rendering; the vacillating character of Colonel Nevski was played by Mr. B. H. Ross with much success; Miss Carlotta Anson appeared to great advantage as Princess Natalie; and Mr. H. Goodier made a very adroit Bruin, his antics causing much amusement. The comedy element was adequately represented by Mr. Louis Weston as Sergeant Petrovitch, who received good support from Miss Linda Riley as Ivanova. Mr. J. Thompson gained applause as the machinist of the swinging bridge, which was very effective.

CROOK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Wallace Davidson, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Wallace Davidson.—The Best Must Win, played by Messrs. C. Draycott and H. B. Peppin's company, is the attraction here this week. Mr. Draycott submits a fine performance; Miss L. W. Lloyd's rendering of Denise is all that can be desired; and Mr. R. Watson is an able Paul. Mr. H. W. Monte displays ability in a Hebrew character; and Miss Kate Maynard appears as Lucilla la Touche; Miss Maud Hetherington is a smart Surgette. On Wednesday and Thursday nights The Stolen Birthright was given, and on Friday East Lynne.

CROYDON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Lawrence.—The ever green Geisha is being played here. Miss Violet Kenyon makes a conquettish O Julietta Diamant; Miss Aubrey Ashton gives prominence to the rôle of Lady Constance Wynne; Miss Florrie Saunders' singing and acting as Molly Seamore meets with approbation; and Miss Violet Moore endows O Mimosa San with feminine charm, and sings in finished style. Mr. Edward Carlton works the audience into a state of uncontrollable mirth in the part of Wun Hi; Mr. Lionel Brahm deserves congratulations for a capital rendering of the Marquis Imari; Mr. Arthur Cartright's fine vocal powers have full play in the rôle of Reginald Fairfax; and useful aid is also given by Mr. J. Hornby as Captain Katana and Mr. Harry Reynolds as Takemine. The remaining characters are well attended to, and the costumes and chorus are capital. The Greek Slave has also proved an attraction.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James.—An excellent representation of The Black Flag is being given here this week. Mr. Bernard Copping appears to considerable advantage as Harry Glyndon; Mr. E. Ruston is a very careful exponent of Jack Glyndon; and the father, Owen Glyndon, is capitally enacted by Mr. H. H. Barrington. Mr. Herbert Landeck is extremely amusing as Sims Lazarus; and Mr. E. Tresner gives a clever piece of acting as Jim Seaton. Miss Nellie Howett is charming and ladylike in her impersonation of Naomi Blandford; and Miss Millie Henderson is a satisfactory Topsy Carroll.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—Resident General-Manager, Mr. Eustace H. Jay.—A varied and entertaining programme is supplied here. Phillips and Terry are exhilarating in comedy act, The Revolt of Man; Adelina, facialist and impersonator of celebrities, is certainly well worth seeing; Fred Villiers, vocal comedian, is much above the average; Wright and Elton, speciality eccentrics, are very quaint; Beattie Bloom, comedienne, is entertaining; and Wisper, comedy tourist juggler, submits a novel and amusing turn. The sketch, A Matrimonial Substitute, is smartly acted by Mr. Gene Hughes and Miss Lina Crews Hughes. Interesting turns are also given by the McMays, comedy pair; Nellie Chandon, serio; the Haldyne Duo, in vocal comedy act, The Curate's Dilemma; Nellie Willson, comedienne; Lloyd and Elvin, entertainers; and Harry Phillips, vocal comedian.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manageress, Mrs. T. W. S. Jennings.—The attraction here this week is The Major, played by Miss Ada Wallis' Company. Miss Ada Wallis appears as Angelina, an eccentric maid of all work. Mr. T. C. McQuire plays the Major. Specialities are introduced by The Sisters Valli, instrumentalists; and the Sisters Verne, dancers.

DRILL HALL.—The "New Era" Animated Photo Company opened here on Monday with a fine series of pictures, many of which are quite new. The different subjects are introduced by Mr. Bob White, who also contributes some first-class songs.

DARWEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. E. L. Ormsby.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime Cinderella is proving a great attraction here this week. Miss Florence Watson is a dainty Cinderella, and sings with excellent taste. Mdlle. De Rose makes a dashing Prince Perfect, her vocal efforts being exceptionally well received. Miss Susie Bevan is an attractive Dandini, and Miss Pollie Kiddie is good as Viscount Nappe. As Pimples, the page, Mr. Charlie Harvey is foremost of the comedians; there is never a dull moment whilst he is on the stage. Mr. Will Saunders funnily impersonates Baron Shiphtalotte, and Mr. H. C. Lovell and Mr. Fred Denman are good as Ethel and Maud respectively. Miss Rose Pareezer looks and sings well as Fairy Sunbeam, and Mr. J. H. Hawtrey is a successful Demon King. Messrs. Houpla and Hecla furnish an exceptionally good acrobatic turn.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley.—The Ben Greet company is fulfilling an important engagement here with The Darling of the Gods. The play is well staged, and the company presenting it is one of all round excellence. The Zakuri of Mr. Edward A. Warburton is a striking and powerful assumption, exhibiting the varying moods of the character in a manner most realistic. As Kara, Mr. Alfred Goddard plays with rare ability, his impersonation being most creditable. An assumption that is as charming as it is clever is the Yo-San of Miss Inez Bensusan, who acts with distinction all through. Miss Edith Anton Laing, as Rosy Sky, also richly merits special mention. The Saigon of Mr. Leonard Grey is a strong and convincing depiction; Mr. Alexander Haviland submits a polished performance of Tanda Tani; Miss Stella Wynne figures very acceptably as Ni, the singing girl; and Miss Kate Hamilton appears with success in the part of Madame Asani. Mr. Launcelot St. George Lowther is highly praiseworthy as Inu, the dumb slave; and Mr. Ralph Hutton gives a powerful presentment of Kato, the fisherman.

PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Allan Edwardes.—Katie Lawrence, comedienne, is the star attraction here this week, and is meeting with a good reception; Datas upholds his title of "the living almanack," his feats of memory being really wonderful; Frank Boyce, a clever character comedian, is heartily appreciated; Ruby Aston scores well as a comedienne and dancer; Fred Lloyd and company appear in an amusing farce, The Blind Spinster; Zanfretta and Napio, described as "musical knife grinders," are praiseworthy; and the Two Rubies are pleasing dancers. The Bioscope is responsible for a number of entertaining pictures.

DONCASTER.—NEW GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—The New Mephisto is always well received here. Mr. Albert Weston is in the title-rôle, and in the six separate and distinct characters he sustains, plays very cleverly. Dick Pilgrim is well embodied by Mr. Willie H. Vernon, and the Captain Meredith of Mr. H. P. Carr is a capital performance. Mr. Herbert St. John as Lord Hummingtop wins considerable popularity. Mr. Arthur Randal is a testy Major Bantam, and Miss Nellie Burdette as Dolly gives a dainty and distinctly pleasing impersonation. Marian Armitage maintains all the former interest created by her portrayal of Becky Pilgrim, and is loudly applauded. The Misses Dorothy Cecil, Leah Howard, and Lillian Gregory are also in the cast, and the Vocal Quartette of Thalian Glee Singers do more than justify their inclusion in an excellent combination of artists.

DOUGLAS.—NEW EMPIRE THEATRE.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Alfred Sugden; General Manager, Mr. Roberts Lena.—The lessee and manager of this popular place of amusement have proved indisputably that a stock season at towns, hitherto regarded as merely summer resorts, is possible and profitable if the plays are selected with knowledge, acted with earnestness, and reasonably staged. The stock company at the Empire is weekly gaining friends. The chief attraction on Monday was a dramatic story of the Crimean days, entitled The Little Hero. Miss Lena Lewis, a clever and versatile actress, was pathetic and boyish as the Trumpeter Dick; Miss Gertrude Lovel played with forcefulness as the adventuress. Her foreign accent was effective and her dramatic treatment of the rôle excellent. Miss Marie Lisle was quite in the picture as the heroine. Mr. Richard Walsh, a young actor of intelligence, played Mrs. O'Grady with humour and without vulgarity; Mr. Ernest Percival was well placed as the Sergeant, while his stage management is praiseworthy. The villain of Mr. Will Priestly, an arduous character, evoked the stormy execrations of his audience; Messrs. Frank Fox and George Ogden supplied welcome comedy relief; Mr. Roberts Lena, as the Rev. John Gray, was the personification of Charles Kingsley's muscular Christian, and his passionate acting aroused the keenest attention. For the last two nights of the week, the drama, Crevation, is billed, supported by Miss Lena Lewis, Miss Lovel, Mr. Roberts Lena and the full strength of the company.

DOVER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—The popular farcical comedy, The Lady of Ostend, was presented here for three nights, The Cruise of the Saucy Sally being played the latter end of the week, by Mr. Laurence Brough and West-end company. In the former play, Mr. Brough, as Le Baron de Longueville, is to be credited with an exceptionally able performance, and peals of laughter were evoked by his diverting impersonation of the débonair Frenchman. Joseph Carbury had a most humorous exponent in Mr. Percy Marshall, whose by-play and facial expression were clever and amusing. Mr. Harry Hampson was no less successful, the drollery of the part of Dick Whortles being well portrayed. Mr. L. Cory Thomas, as Toby Krockitt, was funny, and succeeded in keeping the audience in constant laughter. Mr. Hewson Elliot showed ability as Thompson; and Mr. W. Dexter, as John Humbert, and Mr. Harold M. McNay, as James, are worthy of mention. Miss Kate Milbury was responsible for a womanly and dignified interpretation of the part of Dorothy Whortles, and Miss Doris Wayne acted with considerable spirit as Millie Grace. Miss Maud Buchanan, as the "Lady from Ostend," handled the part with tact and skill; Miss Eleanor Gilbart gave an excellent character study of the mother-in-law, Matilda Carbury; and Miss Daisy Cook was smart as Jane. The farce was preceded by the comedietta, Margaret's Stratagem.

DUBLIN.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Lessees, Michael Gunn, Limited; General Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. Edward Tearle and company opened here on Monday, when Othello was produced before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Edmund Tearle gave a powerful reading of the rôle of Othello, displaying much histrionic ability, which won for him hearty applause. Miss Esther Tearle portrayed the character of Desdemona in a charming manner; and Iago had an able exponent in Mr. William J. Miller. The Cassio of Mr. J. V. Fairley was an admirable performance; and Emilia was played in an effective manner by Miss Mary Campbell. Mr. Vernon O. Crabtree capably sustained the rôle of Roderigo. Under the Red Robe, Macbeth, The Three Musketeers, Julius Cæsar, and Hamlet were also in the week's programme.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot.—Mr. Frank Curzon's company commenced a six nights' engagement here on Monday with Sergeant Brue. Mr. Edward Kipling, in the title-rôle, was most successful; and Mr. George Barrett displayed clever comedy in his representation of the criminal, Crookie Scrubbs. Miss Hilda Antony made a graceful and pleasing Aurora, and sang several numbers with great taste and ability. In the rôle of Lady Bickenhall Miss Scott Lestelle acted particularly well, and her songs were effectively rendered. Mr. Campbell Bishop acted his part of the magistrate, Mr. Crank, in good style; Mr. Chas. Hanbury was all that could be desired as Michael Brue; and Miss L. Zambray was excellent as the servant, Daisy. The remaining parts were capitally acted, and the dances were cleverly executed.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Whitbread; General Manager, Mr. Kennedy Miller.—Messrs. Garside and Knowles' company occupies the boards here this week with The London Fireman. Mr. J. Forbes Knowles gives a capital portrayal of the rôle of Hal Curtis; and as Viscount Fleming Mr. Robert Grey meets with success. Mr. Edward L. Garside scores as the returned convict; and Miss Eila Vane is effective as Grace Curtis. The parts of Nixey Stinger and Polly Bramble are played in a humorous manner by Mr. Charles Preece and Miss Nellie Garside; and Miss Nellie Shirley makes an admirable Ida Curtis. The part of Abel Fortnum is well played by Mr. J. Bradley; and as Countess Fleming Miss Violet Temple is creditable.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. S. FIGGIS.—The principal attraction here this week is the Boisset Troupe in the laughable sketch, The Bricklayers, which meets with a cordial reception. The coon songs and dances of Daisy Mayer are nightly appreciated, and the musical imitations given by Albert Whelan are well received. H. F. Wilson, tenor vocalist, scores a success, as does also Fred Terry, eccentric comedian. Cyclo supplies a clever cycling act; and Lulu Gould is a chic comedienne. The Jackson Family, who remain from last week, are going as well as ever, and the Empire pictures are interesting.

TIVOLI THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—The principal feature here this week is the Pichel Troupe of acrobats, whose daring and sensational performance meets with unstinted applause. Another excellent turn is that provided by the Brewsters, vocalists and dancers; and Will Ellerslie is a smart comedian and mimic. The Ross Clyde company, in the sketch, I Must Have It, is highly amusing; and Elsa Joel is a charming operatic vocalist. Sandy and Carl, comedians and dancers, excel; and Florrie Bray is a pleasing comedienne and dancer. Belloni, the flying snake; Jack Lane, Yorkshire rustic; and Melanie, wire walker, complete the programme.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The company engaged here includes: Oresta, musical clown; Madame Hypa, clairvoyant; Abe Laxey, comedian; Marcella, the Midget Queen; Prof. Anderson, ventriloquist; and Eugene, palmist.

SAMUELS' EXHIBITION PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Samuels.—The bill here includes: Leon and Leoni, musical eccentrics; the Magic Kettle, a scientific problem; Kitty Lacelles, serio; Miss May Ashton, serio; Desboroughs, refined entertainers; George Harcourt, tenor vocalist; and Sheelah, palmist.

DUMFRIES.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—Mr. Livesey's company opened on Monday in the play entitled The Crimson Club. The principal part, Richard Fenton, is in the able hands of Mr. Gus C. Livesey. Mr. Lionel Thomson makes a good deal of his part as the villain, Sir Philip Garside. Miss May Wyniard sustains the rôle of Muriel Lockwood in a charming manner; Miss Frances Waring submits a capital portrayal of Julia Marsden. The Ticket of Leave Man and A Trip to Belle-Vue are also in the week's programme.

EASTBOURNE.—PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. Alfred B. Tapping, Miss Alice Fairleigh and company are appearing here in Jim the Penman. Mr. James C. Aubrey gives a very clever impersonation of the luckless James Ralston, and he does good sound work. Mr. A. B. Tapping contributes a very fine character sketch as Baron Hartfield; Mr. Charles Grey, as Louis Percival, has much to do, and he performs it in a very able manner; Mr. E. W. Maule Cole does admirable work as Captain Redwood; Mr. King Fordham is a bright and breezy George Ralston; and in the smaller parts Mr. Charles Francis, Mr. Maurice Drew and Mr. John Wemyss, give valuable help. As Mrs. Ralston, Miss Alice Farleigh is very powerful, and a fine stately presence enhances the effect. Miss Alma Reeves Smith is a pretty girlish Agnes; and Miss Beatrice Mervyn is a very capable Lady Dunscombe. During the latter part of the week Mr. Arthur B. Malden is giving his illustrated tours and cinematograph entertainment here.

DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. Standen Triggs.—Mrs. Langtry and company were billed to appear here on Friday afternoon in Mrs. Derring's Divorce.

THE HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—At the top of a good variety bill is Miss Rachel Lowe, whose original songs and style soon make her a favourite with the audience. The Trentanovi Sisters are graceful ladies, who provide a novel and daring trapeze act; Mr. Joe Hayman and Miss Mildred Franklin appear in a smartly worked and witty sketch; Mr. Dan Paulton is an especial local favourite, and obtains quite an ovation for his excellent comedy work. Mr. L. V. Granville displays considerable histrionic ability in his impressive character impersonations. Miss Marion Van-Flyman is an elocutionist who keeps the audience thoroughly amused while she is on the stage; Mr. Laffan B. Jolly is a hardworking laughing comedian; Clarke's Nippers are smart boxers, dancers and athletes; and the Hippodrome pictures provide a pleasing item.

EBBW VALE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Sole Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Knight.—Mr. Finch-Hatton's company in When London Sleeps, is paying a welcome return visit here. Captain Rodney is finely embodied by Mr. Walter H. Wilson, and Mr. Albert Wray scores as David Engleheart; Mr. Edward Vivian does well as Mr. Farnaby Fuller, and Mr. D'Arcy Kelway makes a capital Bob Jones. Queenie Carruthers finds a capable and clever impersonator in Miss Mabel Cluer. The juvenile part of Lelia is nicely played by Little Lily, and Miss Hilda Clyde is quite a success as Hilda Carrode.

EDINBURGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Limited; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Hollister.—Mr. George Dance's company paid a return visit to this theatre on Monday with the musical play, The Girl from Kay's. There was a good audience, and all the favourite numbers were heartily encored. Mr. H. C. Barry was again seen in the rôle of Max Hoggenheimer, and his presentment proved as droll and as finished as ever. He was ably seconded by Mr. Leslie Roy Cathie, whose rendering of Percy Fitzthistle was capital, the character of Harry Gordon being in a like manner nicely acted by Mr. Garnet Wilson. Another clever piece of humorous acting was furnished by Mr. Fred Rolph, who made an entertaining Joseph; Mr. Cameron Carr was a satisfactory Mr. Chalmers; and Uncle Theodore had an excellent representative in Mr. Samuel Lysons. As Winnie Harborough, Miss Nancy Hervyn showed herself to be a bright and accomplished actress, her winsome presence, charming singing, and graceful dancing securing the warm approval of the house. Miss Rita Leonhardt sang and acted with effect as Norah Chalmers, while Miss A. Feriman made an engagingly vivacious Ellen. Other parts were satisfactory filled, and the powerful and attractive chorus did their work well. The piece was beautifully staged, and Mr. Sydney Shaw conducted.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Limited; General-Manager, Mr. G. T. Minshull.—A visit from the celebrated Compton Comedy Company is an event which is warmly welcomed by playgoers here, where Mr. Compton is such a prime favourite himself, and where, year after year, he and his band of players have diffused the sweetness and light of the rare and radiant old English comedies. The provinces are blessed indeed in the annual visitations of so versatile and gifted a legitimate comedian, and the occasion has served to show that in Edinburgh the company is as popular as ever it was, and that Mr. Compton himself is still a king of hearts. The School for Scandal was the piece selected to open with on Monday, when a keenly appreciative audience accorded hearty greeting to players and play alike. Mr. Compton was in his blithest and best Sheridanian spirits as Charles Surface, infusing an abundance of life and good humour into the part, and playing with that graceful ease and polish for which his art has always been distinguished. The audience was kept delighted from start to finish, and at the close the popular actor-manager had quite a reception, and expressed his thanks in an appropriately happy speech. Mr. Henry Crocker played Sir Peter Teazle in business-like and effective fashion, and the hypocritical side of Joseph Surface's nature was aptly emphasised by Mr. A. B. Imeson. Mr. Charles R. Stone, an admirable actor, was the good-hearted Sir Oliver Surface to the life; and Crabtree and Sir Benjamin Backbite had able exponents in Messrs. Arnold Lucy and G. Wallace Johnston. Mr. Francis Sydney (Mr. Compton's son), made an interesting first appearance here as Trip, a small part, played with a good deal of the family ability. Miss Haidee Gunn is a young player with a future, and her brilliant rendering of the difficult rôle of Lady Teazle stamped her as an actress, not only of emotional power, but of intellectual discernment. Miss Evelyn Hall was a satisfactory Lady Sneerwell, and Miss Marie Hassell appeared to advantage as Mrs. Candour, while as Maria, Miss Mackenzie (Mr. Compton's daughter) spoke her lines with simple eloquence and feeling, and altogether made a marked impression. On Tuesday, The Rivals gave Mr. Compton another opportunity of revelling in humour and character, and the famous comedy went with a rattle. The other performances of the week were She Stoops to Conquer, on Wednesday; To-morrow, on Thursday; and David Garrick, on Friday.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Eade Montefiore.—On Monday the indefatigable manager presented in Dick Whittington his third pantomime since the opening of the theatre, and for the third time his enterprise was crowned with complete success, a prosperous run being assured. Mr. John Tiller has provided the dramatic fare on this occasion, and a more amusing and sprightly evening's entertainment could not be desired. The comic side is exceptionally strong, and it is a pleasure to welcome back to Edinburgh that droll eccentric comedian, Mr. Bob Selvidge, who, as Jack Idle, energetically keeps the ball of fun rolling, and has many comic nuts to crack. Mr. Selvidge's characteristic methods were productive of the happiest results, his impersonations and caricatures being exceedingly mirthful. Good work was done by Mr. Harry D. Lyndon, who was capital in the double rôle of Alderman Fitzwarren and headsman of the Emperor of Morocco. Mr. Dan Thomas, Mr. Will Mackney, and Mr. J. E. Aitken lent plentiful support in the comic line, Mr. Barry Gilmore's Cat being acrobatically amusing. Miss Gracie Grahame, as Dick Whittington, was full of charm and vivacity, her songs being well rendered. Miss Fanny Harris also scored as Alice, her Japanese song going splendidly, and her dancing being most effective. Miss Edna Morgan and Miss Gracie Woodleigh were also excellent in their respective parts As in all Mr. Tiller's productions, the dancing was an attractive feature, the Diamond Quartette being graceful exponents of the terpsichorean art, and the Excelsior troupe of trained children adding to Mr. Tiller's already numerous laurels.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—The programme here this week contains a laughable sketch, Bargains, played by Hugh Stanton and company, a performance by Richard List's bears, and the continuance of Staley's novelty act, a brilliantly attractive item that secures cordial applause. The musical tit-bits of the Borellis are much enjoyed, and the female impersonations of Mr. Russell Wallet prove very clever. Mr. Tom Colquhoun has a fine baritone voice, and uses it well, and Mr. Mark Leslie's coon songs and dances are very acceptable. The Labakans create amusement as grotesque acrobats, and the three Sisters Klos introduce a graceful gymnastic turn that is highly popular. Pictures on the American bioscope are also given.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Tom Ellis.—The drama staged here on Monday was The Lightning's Flash, by Mr. Leslie Vyner's company, the entertainment being witnessed by a large and well pleased audience. Mr. Leonard Robson, who is an excellent vocalist, shone to advantage as Stephen Merrick, and Miss F. Russell-Spiers won golden opinions as the hercine.

FALKIRK.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—Although late enough in the season for pantomimes, that at the Grand this week has done capital business. Aladdin has lost none of his charm, and the story as written by Fred Locke is fresh and piquant, and as presented by Mr. J. H. Savile's company it has formed a powerful attraction. Miss Florence Wilton appeared in the title-rôle, and acted the part very effectively; while as the Princess Miss Gertrude Branscombe was pretty and petite. Mr. Willie Garvey's interpretation of the Widow Twankey was highly entertaining; and as the villain, Abanazar, Mr. Will Sherlock was also very amusing. The Boston Twins, Frank and Ross, as the Chinese Policemen, provided no end of fun. The other principals were Mr. Karl Mora as the Emperor of China, Mr. Jas. Grant as McKasrac, and Mr. T. W. Kelly as So Sli. During the intervals some clever dancing turns were given by Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of lady dancers, and in the palace scene Messrs. Hess and Lisbon gave an interesting and skilful roller skating exhibition.

FARNWORTH.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. Morton Powell.—Mr. J. Rice Cassidy and his company, in Dan the Rake, are paying us a visit this week. As Dan Donelly, Mr. Rice Cassidy is the source of much amusement, his songs and dances meeting with approval. Miss Lillian Clare gives a capital performance as Madge; Mr. Frederick Biron makes the most of his opportunities as the villainous Captain Tom Cooper; as Achille Mr. Norman Hall causes much laughter by his amusing leg mania business; and Mr. Frank Copeland gives a manly representation of the part of Lieutenant Charles Kavanagh. Miss Florence Halton acts daintily and with pathos as Helen. As Mrs. Donelly Miss Ada Roscoe displays much sincerity, and her acting throughout is of a very high standard of excellence. Mr. J. Cuthbertson, as Trooper Jackson, and Mr. Stephen Crossley, as General Lake, act capably.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. Godfrey Lamplugh's company is this week presenting the musical comedy, Miss Mischief. Mr. T. E. Conover causes plenty of amusement as Private Harris, V.C.; Mr. Arthur Jenner makes an excellent Admiral Sir H. Bethune; Mr. Cecil Curtiss, as Captain Jack Bethune, plays and sings with distinction; Mr. Beresford Lovett's impersonation of Hiram Q. Pegg is clever; Mr. Frederick Mantell is irresistibly funny as Lord Percy Fitzsherry; Mr. H. Ellesmere, in the rôle of Count von Himmelblau, is very good; the Misses Kriesborg, Maynard, Royston, and Thelma are a quartet of exceedingly clever and graceful dancers; Miss Eileen Guilbert is pleasing as Lady Orrery; Miss Crissie Francess scores a success as Mary Ann; and Miss Isa Bowman, as Kitty Malone, suits the part admirably, her songs and dances being delightfully rendered.

GAINSBOROUGH.—KING'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton.—Messrs. Clift and Forster's company appeared here for three nights in Two Little Vagabonds. Miss F. Ferina and Miss Eva Lumley gave excellent representations of the two boys; Miss Elena Lonsdale as Marion and Mr. W. Forster as George Thornton were powerful representatives of their respective characters. Miss Evelyn Shaw gave a clever character sketch of Biddy Mullins; Bill Mullins, Dido Bunce, and the Cough-Drop, were cleverly played by Mr. Chas. Brandon, Mr. Dick Winslow, and Mr. J. A. Whitehouse; Barbara Scarth and Capt. Dorville were capably rendered by Miss Daisy Royal and Mr. Cyril Mackay; and the rest of the characters were well filled by Messrs. D. Barnes, W. Crowe, H. B. Major, and Miss Lottie Coleman.

GATESHEAD.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Smith.—After undergoing complete re-decoration this theatre is now one of the most comfortable in the district, and the money spent by the management in their endeavour to attract the public ought to be soon repaid, if the "houses" that have ruled during the week continue. The re-opening of the theatre was made with the dashing pantomime Cinderella—a production that has met with unbounded success in Edinburgh and Newcastle. The pantomime goes with a swing throughout; the dancing and singing being particularly bright. Miss Ada Twibell continues to score success in the rôle of principal boy, Prince Rupert; while Miss Fanny Wright makes the most of the part of Dandini. Miss May Marton is a charming and dashing Cinderella, her singing being particularly good. In the character of Buttons, Little Zola causes much amusement, and Messrs. Conan and Doyle, as Henry and Herbert, maintain their position as favourites with the audience. Messrs. A. G. Spry and Percy Curry are responsible for much merriment, and the singing of Mr. Arthurs Verness earns him much applause.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Straughan.—A powerful variety combination is here this week. The bill is headed by the Three Henriques, who present a novel comedy acrobatic act; the Naron Bros., comedy cyclists, provide an entertaining show, and Julian Mack, comedian, evokes roars of laughter. Dolly McCalla gives a good turn, as do also the Three Clarions, comedy artistes. Lord, Murray, and Lord are responsible for a smart comedy athletic act, and the Vance Bros. are a couple of clever instrumentalists. The bill also includes Bert Holmes, actor vocalist; Mephisto, contortionist, and Edie Endon, coon vocalist, all of whom provide good turns.

GLASGOW.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—Mr. E. C. Matthews and his company are presenting the popular drama The Shaughraun. Mr. E. C. Matthews is very droll as Conn, and keeps the house in continuous merriment with his quaint sayings. Moya is charmingly played by Miss Isabel Cairns, and Miss Teresa Moore pleasingly portrays the part of Arte O'Neill. Mr. George Thorne, jun., gives a good rendering of Robert Ffolliott, and the Captain Molyneux of Mr. Alexander Bradley is full of merit. Claire Ffolliott is cleverly undertaken by Miss Bernice Fielding. Mr. Ernest Munro skilfully depicts the bad character of Corry Kinchela, and Mr. Tom Nerney does good work as Harvey Duff. Miss Lizzie Cooke gives a good representation of Mrs. O'Kelly. Mr. Valentine Cooke is a capable Father Doolan, and Mr. James Williams is Sergeant Jones.

ROYALTY, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—Cousin Kate provides a pleasant and attractive evening's entertainment here, and the company organised by Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison is well selected. Miss Edith Walker is excellent as Cousin Kate, and her ability is thoroughly demonstrated. Mr. Walter Ringham acts pleasantly as the young Irishman, Heath Desmond, and carries through his share of the comedy in first-rate style. Miss Hilda Honiss is well suited as the conscientious Amy Spencer. Mr. Donald Maclean, as the clergyman, ably fills a somewhat thankless part. Miss Nina Cressy as Mrs. Spencer, Miss Betty Castle as Jane, and Master Vyvian Thomas as Bobby complete a good cast. A Case for Eviction precedes.

KING'S THEATRE, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. H. Macfarlane.—Mrs. Russ Whytal and company are appearing here in The Cardinal. The title-rôle is undertaken by Mr. Philip Cuningham, who gives a most impressive and commanding impersonation of the great dignitary. In the part of Filiberta Mrs. Whytal acts with much tenderness and pathos, and is admirably supported by Mr. Gerald Kay-Souper, who takes the part of Giuliano; while in depicting the sinister character of the outlaw Strozzi, the success of Mr. Douglas Gordon must also be recorded. Mr. George Ingleton's reading of the part of Baglioni is clear and incisive, and Mr. Oscar Adye gives a touch of character to the merchant Chigi; other well-filled parts being the Ramsam of Mr. Eric Dane, the Beppo of Mr. David Denard, the Pietro of Mr. W. A. Reed, and the Francesco of Mr. Harold Sims Standing. As the Cardinal's mother Miss Katherine Maude acts with the necessary distinction and force, and Miss Freda Bramleigh gives considerable point to the lines of Honoria; the other ladies in attendance being gracefully represented by Misses Nellie Duval, Lilian Bailey, and Agnes Scott, and the Page by Miss Kitty Wells.

ROYAL PRINCESS'S THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—The closing week of the pantomime Goosey-Gander was entered upon on Monday evening, when the house was crammed from floor to ceiling. The evening was set apart for the benefit of Miss Lily Morris, who has enacted the rôle of principal boy with grace and ability. The attractions were as excellent as they were numerous, the special turns of Mdlle. Beatrice and Mr. Chas. Diamond being cheered to the echo. Mr. Sammy Shields excelled himself in his football song and patter; the wrestling bout by Alex. Munro (Scottish champion) and Arthur Williamson (Australian champion) created interest and excitement; and the support accorded Miss Morris by her confrères was worthy of the great reception. Mr. Rich. Waldon took his usual well-deserved annual benefit on Thursday, when he had again a bumper house.

GRAND THEATRE, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Mascard.—This is the last week of Cinderella, one of the most successful pantomimes ever seen in Glasgow, which finishes to-night with the record run of eighty-one nights and thirty-one matinées. On Monday the popular favourite, Mr. Dan Rolyat, took his benefit, when Messrs. Regan and Ryan, from the Princess's, appeared, and all the principals in Cinderella contributed special items. The house was a bumper one, and the enthusiasm was great. A special matinée for charity was given on Wednesday, and a novelty was introduced in the sale of Cinderella's four ponies, kindly gifted to the cause of charity by Mr. Robert Courtneidge.

METROPOLE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Dunbar.—A very large and appreciative audience welcomed the return visit of Mr. Bulmer and company in Sentenced for Life. Mr. Ernest Vaughan, as Capt. Paul Derrick, leaves nothing to be desired; Mr. Edward B. Louis, as Lieut. Roy, gains the appreciation of the audience in his clever impersonation of the hero; Mr. Walter Purvis amusingly sustains the character of Percy McGentle, and is responsible for many smart jokes and clever patter; and a word of praise is due to Miss Madge Douglas as Adele Gray and Miss Gladys Hawthorn as Kate Rennel.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Mr. Frank Lindo's company is here this week with Home, Sweet Home, in which Mr. Lindo gives a forcible rendering of Stephen Armitage. Miss Marion Wakefield gives a delightfully charming representation of Joan; Mr. George Jarvis, as David Armitage, gives a good picture of the simple-hearted old fisherman; the villainy is ably handled by Mr. Wilson Coleman as Lucas Lyle; Capt. Gerald Gambier is a fine figure as the Duke of Ancaster; Mr. Sidney Bryant as the Duke's son and Mr. Ernest E. Owens as Lord Silvermere are amusing; and Miss Gertrude Bingham, as a star from "the halls," contributes a full share of the amusement. Great praise is merited by little Madge Bingham in the child part of Dora Armitage; and Mr George Overs as Dick, a fisher lad, and Mr. Jack Lennard as a lifeboat man, are picturesque figures. Mr. Danvers as the oldest inhabitant, Mr. Norton Shields as the Doctor, and Miss Amy Carlton as an aristocratic dame complete an efficient cast.

EMPIRE, LIMITED.—District-Manager, Mr. S Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Aldin.—Charles Coburn, after a lengthy absence, is proving his sterling qualities in a pleasant voice, which is heard to advantage in a duet with Mr. Wardroper. Miss Louie Codman is a delightful Cora Angelique, and Miss Florence Hersee plays Kissie Fitzgarter in a breezy fashion. An excellent chorus and orchestra are under the able direction of Mr. Ernest Hartmann.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—Shean, Fox and Shean head the bill here, and do a very amusing comedy turn. Fitch and Carey, speciality comedians, are amusing; Mdlle. Sarti is seen in a number of striking poses; Frank Sauterons, Barrel King, is exceedingly expert; T. W. Barrett, the Nobleman's Son, does well; the Toy Trio give an amusing act entitled The Actress and the Bricklayer; "Del" Levey, the fencing girl, gives a good turn; and the Gladenbecks are applauded for their ring speciality act.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. Tolfree.—The D'Oyly Carte Opera company opened here on Monday with the ever-popular Mikado. Mr. C. H. Workman and Mr. Fred Billington, in their old parts of Ko-Ko and Pooh-Bah, were as diverting as ever. The great contrast in their styles only adds to the humour of their work. Miss Norah Maguire sang sweetly and made a charming Yum-Yum; whilst Mr. Pacie Ripple accomplished excellent vocal work as Nanki-Poo. In the character of Katisha, Miss Theresa Rassam was highly dramatic, both in acting and singing; and the Mikado was quaintly portrayed by Mr. Albert Kavanagh. Others who may be mentioned were Mr. Lester Tunks as Pish-Tush, Miss Jessie Rose as Pitti-Sing, and Miss Alice Lisle as Peep-Bo. The Mikado was repeated on Thursday and other operas given were Iolanthe on Tuesday, Patience on Wednesday, Princess Ida (for the first time in Grimsby) on Friday, and The Pirates of Penzance at the Thursday matinée.

NEW PALACE THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. Stewart Cecil.—Cycle feats upon a miniature track have been performed here, by Staig's troupe, this week, but the most sensational part of the turn was the racing by lady and gentleman artistes, on motor bicycles. Juggling of an original character was presented by Gintaro, whilst his top spinning was also remarkable. Much interest was caused by the Abd'el Kader Trio, whose painting and torn paper designs were very beautiful. Novelty was provided by Les Bollingers, who create pictures by cutting up rags, &c. A bright musical comedy, on a small scale, was The Little Charwoman, for which Nannie Goldman, William Holles and company, were responsible. An amusing comedy act, Lost, a Husband, was contributed by Eller and Rose, whilst other good turns were given by Steel and Laing, comedy acrobats, singers and dancers; Will Musgrave, comedian; and Louis Murray, actor vocalist.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; General Manager, Mr. H. C. Arnold, jun.—Gymnastics of a novel description have been exhibited at the Hippodrome this week by the Max Trevelley-Harley Troupe. Tumbling and equilibristic work are their speciality. The intelligence shown by Jimson's dogs has been the subject of much favourable comment. A pathetic sketch, The Little Colonel, given by Ernest Montefiore and company, is an interesting item. Will Crowson, beside singing good songs, has proved himself a clever manipulator of bones. Smart jugglery, with barrels, &c., is shown by Charles Ulrick. Mark Tapley, comedian, has some amusing business; whilst other contributing include Master Henre, juvenile juggler, and Cissie Conyers, balladist. The Hippodrome bioscope, with especially funny pictures, completes the programme.

HALIFAX.—GRAND THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Acting-Manager, Mr. Norman Robinson.—The New Barmaid is here this week. Mr. Joseph B. Montague, in his old part of Bertie White, keeps the house in excellent humour; Mr. Alexander Loftus is a good William, the waiter; Mr. Leslie Austin does well as Captain Lovebury, and his effective singing is appreciated; Miss Nance O'Neal makes a charming barmaid; Miss Violet Osmund is particularly smart and effective as the lady journalist; and Miss Hilda Blanche plays effectively. The dresses and staging generally deserve praise.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr Frank Macnaghten.—A good company is here this week. The Brothers Horne do a very amusing turn, which is skilfully carried out; the Lukushima Troupe of acrobats are particularly smart in their work; Clara Victor sings her songs with striking effect; Virginia, with genuine piccaninnies, are in great demand; Millie Howell is successful in her songs; Janet H. Reynolds has a good voice and an attractive style; Linton, on the tight-rope, is clever in his line, and Johnny Holland and Co. give a sketch which causes considerable amusement.

HANLEY.—ROYAL, LIMITED. — Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard.—In the Ranks is being presented this week by Messrs. Arthur Carton and H. Armitage's company. The piece is enthusiastically received, and the scenic effects are good. As Ned Drayton, Mr. Edward Lloyd is highly successful, his representation being marked by true histrionic ability; Miss Edith Blair-Staples contributes a clever portrayal of Ruth Herrick, being both dignified and sweet; Gideon Blake finds a good exponent in Mr. Herbert Cecil; Mr. James E. Page, in the character-part of Richard Belton, is deserving of much praise for his clever portrayal; Mr. A. Palling is well placed as Colonel Wynter; Captain Holcroft is naturally represented by Mr. A. W. Chappell; Miss Lallah Davis does well as Barbara Herrick; and Miss Harriet Russell is most amusing as Mrs. Buzzard; Mr. Cecil Morand is well placed as Joe Buzzard.

GRAND.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. James Wynes.—Bella and Bijou hold the premier position this week, and are received most enthusiastically, each of their items being cheered to the echo. The Aurora Troupe of cyclists contribute a really clever turn; the Lyons Trio are seen in a smart pantomimic act, which is much appreciated; the Ethairien Bros. supply a most amusing turn, a portion of which consists of burlesque conjuring; Kopski, the pianist, is well received; Eno, in his impersonations, is exceedingly good; Jenny Reeve is a smart comedienne; and the Grand Pictures are, as usual, excellent.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cyril Fielding Smith.—Vaudeville entertainment has been provided here this week. The artistes include Franco Piper, in his clever manipulations with the banjo; the Villions, acrobatic cyclists; Sidney Lee, the prince of magicians; Cil Gorman, burlesque actress; Kitts and Windrum, who give a smart society sketch; George Daunton; Lynn, the American newsboy vocalist; and the Gregson Comedy Trio.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Proprietors, Messrs. Councillor Everton and J. W. Craggs; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns.—The bill is headed by Menotti, the Stockholm Wonder, whose wonderful performance on the high wire holds the audience spellbound; Phil Herman is here once more, and adding considerably to his already large circle of admirers; Andy Caine is refreshingly original in his business, and his songs are well received. Craig, Roze, and Craig, in a gymnastic display, are rewarded with considerable applause that is richly deserved. Some pleasing songs and neat dancing fall to the lot of Sadie Simpson. Shaun Glenville, Irish coon and dancer, James Lowrey, the singing furnaceman, and Burns' Bioscope, with the pictures of scenes from William Tell—which are accompanied by an admirable orchestral selection from that opera, rendered in a style that reflects every credit upon the conductor, Mr. Dobbing, and his musical staff—completes the programme.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Geo. H. Gaze.—Mr. Percy D. Standing and company opened a week's engagement on Monday with the merry farce, His Excellency the Governor, which has lost none of its former attractiveness, the whimsical incidents causing roars of laughter. Mr. Percy D. Standing played the title-rôle with good result; Mr. Robert J. Danson was properly prim and self-conceited as the Rt. Hon. Henry Carlton, M.P.; his sister, Mrs. Wentworth-Bolingbroke, was divertingly arrogant and chillingly austere as played by Miss Phyllis Manners; Miss Joan Ellis easily led captive the Governor, his aide-de-camp, and secretary, by her charming personality as Ethel Carlton; Miss Miriam Leigh played with great spirit as Stella de Gex, whose vivacity and attractiveness she accentuated. Mr. Wm. Allison was very quaint as Mr. Baverstock; and Mr. C. W. Standing infused a breezy style into his presentment of Capt. Carew. A new one-act play, entitled At Evensong, preceded, a full account of which appears in another column.

PIER PAVILION. — Pier-Master, Mr. R. Turner: Entertainment Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The Passion of Life is a sensational drama of the first order, and is well played by Mr. Herbert Fuller's company. Mr. Francis Everard gives a true Irish touch to the part of O'Brian; Daddy Kenny is ably represented by Mr. Charles Webb; a fine study of Jack Kenny is submitted by Mr. Harold Wallace; equally effective is the Ralph Flint of Mr. H. Evan Gibbon; Mr. Fawcett is capital as Abdullah, an Indian; a good character-sketch of the Scotchman, Fergus M'Kenna, comes from Mr. F. C. Wybert; the Princess Nitra is charmingly portrayed by Miss Edith Mitchell; Miss Violet Bray-Weaver is natural as the Irish girl; and Miss Agnes Collier as Belle O'Neal quite realises the spirited character entrusted to her.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — General-Manager, Mr. Harold Penny.—Mr. Tom Parker, an excellent comedian, holds the place of honour on the bill this week; the Lorrisons introduce a laughable entertainment; Miss Flo Penley is an attractive comedienne and dancer; a good turn is given by Orpheus in an instrumental speciality; Miss Lydia Dreams is very clever in an original ventriloquial production. Mr. Louis Seymour receives great applause as a character comedian; as a vocalist and dancer Miss Alice Lloyd is successful; a series of amusing comedy acts are given by Los Hermanos Granada.

HEREFORD.—GARRICK THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; General-Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank J. Pitt.—Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime, Aladdin, proved to be a great success here on Monday. Miss Beatrice Varley as Aladdin sings and acts excellently. Miss Emilie Cameron makes a pleasing Princess Badroulbadour, and as Widow Twankey Mr. Albert Williams is decidedly good. The Sisters Isabelle as Pekoe and Nicey are particularly fresh and bright, and their dancing and singing are excellent. Messrs. Dale and D'Argan as the Emperor and Vizier contribute largely to the fun. Mr. Charles Wood does well as Abanazar. Clever specialities are introduced by Goliath (in his marvellous feats of strength), the Sisters Isabelle, coon artists; Messrs. Dale and D'Argan, grotesque tumblers; and Mr. Charles Wood, popular entertainer.

DRILL HALL.—Manager, Mr. A. Lovesey.—Messrs. Poole, with their ever-popular myriorama, are making a return visit here this week. Besides the animated and other pictures there is a good variety entertainment, which includes Allan Hanbury, a clever comedian; and Monsieur Henri, in a smart balancing act.

HOYLAND.—METROPOLE THEATRE.—Owner, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Geo. S. King.—This week we have a very welcome return visit of Mr. Fred J. Kirke and company, in the new musical and dramatic comedy, The Naval Detective, which drew a full house on Monday night. Mr. Fred J. Kirke, in his three impersonations, viz., Lieutenant Jack Bresford, the Rev. Frequent-Nipper, and Pat McGuinness, is very good, and wins applause. Miss Maudie Vincent, in the triple part of Mam'sell Lucette, Philis Lestie, and Bill Mainway, meets with appreciation; as Susan Scrubbs, Miss Edith Claris does well; and Mr. Arthur E. Ray is admirably suited to the part of Captain Hustle. Miss Maud Vincent, the Gaiety Girls, Miss Edith Claris, the Sisters Gwynne, and Harry E. Ray supplied variety turns.

HUDDERSFIELD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy G. Arthur.—This week's bill is Beauty and the Barge, played by Mr. Cyril Maude's company. The spontaneous humour of the piece, both in its broader and more subtle vein, has been highly appreciated and vociferously welcomed by delighted houses. Captain Barley's affability is irresistible in the hands of an experienced comedian like Mr. Blake Adams, who also touches a deeper note with true effect at the close of the last act. Miss May Fairclough is delightfully natural and winsome as Ethel Smedley; Mr. Horace Lane as Lieut. Boyne has just the right breezy, unabashed method of love-making usually associated with the Navy. Miss May Deverell is prettily unaffected as Lucy Dallas; Miss Mary Griffiths as Mrs. Baldwin, and Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite as Mrs. Porter, are commendable for two well contrasted impersonations; Mr. Percival Knight is quietly effective as Manners; Mr. Charles Goold is highly diverting as the ponderous mate, Tom Codd; and Mr. Fred Knight is satisfactory as Dibbs. Mr. Charles Caffrey causes much amusement as George Porter; and Mr. W. Pemberton as Major Smedley, and Miss Ethel Stalman as Mrs. Smedley, renders efficient support. Mr. Forrester Harvey puts in good work as the lovelorn Augustus; and the minor characters are in capable hands. That Brute Simmons, well played, precedes the principal piece.

VICTORIA HALL.—The provincial company of Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke is here for a week, under the direction of Mr. David Devant, whose bewildering ingenuity seems more dexterous than ever. The various illusions have lost none of their attraction, and are perfectly worked by Mr. Devant and the capable colleagues associated with him.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Local-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller. After a lapse of years, we have a welcome revival of The Lights o' London. The company selected gives a good account of the old play, and makes one wish that Mr. Herbert Hollister may have much success with his undertaking.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, MORTON'S, LIMITED. — Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—Mr. F. Marriott-Watson's play, What a Woman Did, is drawing good houses this week. Mr. W. A. Armour fills the rôle of Conrad de l'Orme with much skill. This play has many points in it that will bear comparison with much previously seen in the city.

PALACE THEATRE.—Moss' Empires, Limited; Local-Manager, Mr. A. Graham.—Tilly Bebé, with her 12 performing lions, is a big draw; Rossou's Midgets are now well known in this city, but none the less does their entertainment meet with favour; Mr. James Fawn is a comedian always sure of a favourable reception; the Sarnthalers are Tyrolean vocalists and dancers, who provide an enjoyable turn.

CIRCUS.—Resident Manager, Mr. E. Emerson.—The Biograph Animated Photo Co. is concluding a very successful run here, which has been extended three weeks beyond the time first arranged.

HYDE. — THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED. — General Manager, Mr. Joseph W. Maloney.—Excellent business is being done here this week by Mr. Charles Macdona's company in A Country Girl. Mr. Herbert Standing, Junr., as Geoffrey Chaloner, gives a manly and convincing rendering to his lines, and sings his numbers in good style. Mr. Bernard Vaughan makes a dignified Rajah of Bhong, and scores with the song "Peace, Peace." Mr. W. O. Billington submits an excellent sketch as the fussy little squire, Sir Joseph Verity; and Messrs. F. H. Sharp, Harry Fairplay, and Mr. M. Raven are well placed as Douglas Verity, Granfer Mummery, and Lord Anchester respectively. Mr. Richard Telford misses none of the opportunities the part of Barry affords, and the unflagging energy with which he works secures him rounds of applause. Among the attractive features are his duets "Two Little Cheeks," and "Quarrelling," with Miss Sadie Neville, who looks pretty as Madame Sophie, and gives a particularly arch and engaging performance of the smart little dressmaker. Miss Neville is also a clever vocalist, and her song, "My Partners," is nightly encored. Miss Daisy Davis, as Marjorie Joy, and Miss Anna Robertson, as Nan, not only look charming, but act in a manner which meets with unqualified approval. The former sings "Coo" very artistically, and the latter scores in several numbers. Miss Lucie Lever makes an excellent Princess, and sings "Under the Deodar" with sweetness and expression. The chorus is excellent.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers; Musical-Director, Mr. C. Keith Smith.—Messrs. Griffin and Drake's pantomime, Dick Whittington and His Cat, occupies the boards this week. Miss Lily Jackson's Dick Whittington is a clever performance, and Miss Emmie Hands as Alice Fitzwarren deserves high compliments. The Misses Pauline Grosvenor and Lily Drake (Billy Taylor and Dolly Dimple) are successful exponents. Mr. Mark Lane plays brightly as Martha Muggins, Fitzwarren's cook; Mr. Ben Ford as Alderman Fitzwarren, and Mr. Will Dennis as Idle Jack also add to the amusement; and Miss Gladys Wells appears to advantage as Fairy Blue Bell. Ballet is to the front, many juveniles being introduced; the one entitled A Child's Dream of Fairyland being specially good. Several specialities appear, notably Walter Griffin, vocalist; Mona and Gladys Wells, singing mill lasses; Griffin Quartette, dancers; Jazon and White, speciality artistes; Sisters Grosvenor, operatic vocalists; The Estos; Sisters Brenton, dancers; and Mdlle. Luba de Sarema, with performing ponies, dogs, &c.

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. G. Fisk.—Mr. George Alexander's comedy, Saturday to Monday, has been played here during the week to good business, by a company under the direction of Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison. Mr. Stuart Champion made a good impression as Lord Culvert, and Mr. Dallas Walford scored a success as the irrepressible Man about Town. The chief female parts were well sustained by Miss Moyra Creegan, and the other rôles were in capable hands.

HIPPODROME.—The new turns in the programme for the current week were Dandy George and his dog Rosie, Ailsie Douglas, and the Bensons, and among other turns were Harry Morice, comedian, Abadorffs, comedy acrobats, W. F. Moss, comedian, and Jess Thorne, comedienne.

KETTERING. — AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Payne.—Mr. Howell Webb's Company is here this week with The Convent Bell. Mr. Stanley Carlton plays the hero, Philip Vautiar, in good style, and Mr. Oliver Birrell gives a powerful rendering of the fiendish Henri Cassella. Mr. Howell Webb is a typical sailor and causes hearty laughter by his clever comedy, and he is admirably supported by Mr. Teddy Miles as Jean. Miss Ruby Maude is an excellent Marguerite Courier; and Miss Amy Bartlett is deserving of praise as the Lady Mother; Miss Florrie Manderville acts and sings in a charming manner as Susette.

KIDDERMINSTER. — NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. Jas. P. Moore; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. C. Gudgeon, jun.—Mr. Henry Sivinerd's company is here in the musical comedy, Dare Devil Dorothy. Miss Marjorie Cecil is a charming Dorothy; Miss Kathleen Garnon, as Ruth, is good; and Miss Nellie Harcourt and Mr. Arthur Verne are both very funny in their respective parts. The play is well staged.

KILMARNOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hales.—The first three nights of this week the powerful drama, When the Lights are Low, was presented by Mr. Henry Eglington's company. Mr. Edward Heanley was good as Guy Goldsworthy; and Mr. Tom Ronald successful as Roland Goldsworthy. As Nan Christie, Miss Grace Baring did very pleasing work; and Violet Christie was well portrayed by Miss Cicely Desmond; while Little Mabel Ronald was a clever and natural Stella Goldsworthy.

KIRKCALDY. — KING'S THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan, Resident Manager, Mr. Rex Sugden.—Mr. H. J. Montague's company is appearing this week in the Osmond Tearle repertoire of Shakespearean and classical plays. On Monday night Hamlet was produced, and met with a good reception. Mr. Walter Bentley as Hamlet was excellent, and gave a subtle rendering of the part. Claudius was well played by Mr. J. Taley, and Mr. V. Gilbert was successful as Horatio. Mr. Lowe as Polonius was natural and realistic, and Mr. F. Sargent as Laertes does well in the part. Mr. C. Allen as First Player spoke his lines with dramatic vigour and expression. Mr. P. Gordon as First Gravedigger was effective and full of dry humour, and Mr. C. Kingsley successfully played the Ghost. Miss Fanny Chamberlain as Gertrude, Queen of Denmark, played excellently and with dignity. Miss Lillian Herries as Ophelia was charming, graceful, and thoroughly successful. On Tuesday The Merchant of Venice was presented. Mr. Walter Bentley scored a success in his vivid impersonation of Shylock, the character of the part being well sustained throughout. Miss Lillian Herries as Portia played brilliantly, and also scored a success. On Wednesday Othello was given, with Mr. Walter Bentley in the title-rôle and Miss Lillian Herries as Desdemona.

LANCASTER.—PALACE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. W. J. Fergusson and John Porter.—Miss Ada Fawn, comedienne, is paying a welcome return visit here; Mr. Fred Horsefall, mimic and vocalist, is highly appreciated; and The Marples, duettists and dancers, are very smart. The Two Neros, legmania artistes; Miss Kitty Tims, burlesque actress; Andy Fagan, comedian; Vosper, impersonator; Fred Herbert, vocalist; and Walter Payne's animated pictures combine to make up a capital programme.

LEEDS. — GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—The return visit of Mr. H. M. Paull's clever comedy, The New Clown, is proving a very welcome one. Mr. Frank Stanmore now has the leading part of Lord Garston, and is responsible for an effective and humorous effort. An old favourite, Mr. G. H. Snazelle, is warmly welcomed in his usual part of Dixon, the circus proprietor. Miss Beth Elliott wins great favour for her winning portrayal of Rosie Platt, the circus artiste. Good work is also done by Mr. Chas. Pierpoint, Miss Katherine Maitland, and Miss Nona Wynne. A clever little curtain-raiser, Under the Old Name, is excellently presented by Mr. W. T. Elworthy and Miss Elliott.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley are here with the attractive sporting drama, Bound to Win, and very satisfactory patronage is bestowed. Mr. and Mrs. Kimberley enact the leading rôles of Harry Lyndon and Marion Forbes in powerful and attractive style, and very high praise must be awarded to Miss Kathleen Eckhart for her portrayal of the adventuress, Gladys Orme. Mr. Sydney Rennef and Miss Lottie Addison are also noticeable for their masterly handling of important rôles; and in the comedy parts of Horatio Buffett and Winnie Oakley, Mr. Edgar Morgan and Miss Edie Macklin take full advantage of their opportunities.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; General-Manager, Mr. C. H. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—Lucky Durham, as played by Mr. William Greet's company, has been witnessed nightly by a large and interested audience. Mr. William F. Grant presents the rôle of John Durham powerfully and with conviction. Mr. Henry de Solla is responsible for a very fine study of the bankrupt Lord Mountfallon; and Mr. Paul Belmore is no whit behind in his realisation of the character of the Hon. Reginald Steighton. Miss Molly Pearson is to be noted for a pleasing and sympathetic effort as Helen Vallerton; and a very promising actress is Miss Jessie Winter, who displays considerable talent in the part of the Hon. Margaret Steighton. Of a good all-round company, Mr. Daniel McCarthy, Mr. A. Gambier Melford, and Miss Emily Levettez are prominent.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss Empires, Limited; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. G. Mooney.—An interesting and diversified programme here is headed by Otto Schumann in an equestrian display by some remarkably well-trained horses and dogs. The Three Nevarros are giving a really marvellous acrobatic and balancing act, and arouse much enthusiasm, as also does Jake Friedman with his "one-man opera." Mendel, the blind musician, finds great favour with his talented display; the Five Delevines are again very popular in a musical acrobatic extravaganza; Harry Martell, comedian, contributes a successful turn; vocal items by George Ridgwell are thoroughly enjoyed; a bevy of pretty ladies by the name of The Julians, sing and dance in attractive style; and the Knick-Knacks are duettists and speciality artistes of merit.

TIVOLI.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General-Managers, Messrs. Edgar O. Waller and Chas. Weldon.—That most remarkable man, Dr. Walford Bodie, stays on a second week here and is filling the house to overflowing at every performance. His wonderful hypnotic and electrical feats continue to arouse the greatest wonderment and enthusiasm. A good company supports, of whom Norman Mills, actor vocalist; The Sisters Lyle, duettists; and The Garden Troupe of dancers, are prominent favourites. The accomplished vocalism of Helen Henri is thoroughly enjoyed, and we are further entertained by The Schallers, in amusing speciality, and Les Fontains with a smart marionette show.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—Atlas and Vulcana head the programme here in a very fine athletic and posing act. Lola Patey, the Cinderella of a local pantomime, makes a most successful début as a variety artiste, and a very cordial welcome is accorded her. Amy Anderson and Co. present their coster incident in clever style; Charlie Deane, comedian, is doing a successful week; and Chas. Johnson also scores in a similar line. A Chinese conjuring exhibition by Shang Hai; acrobatic and wire act by Anthy; and contributions by Ethel Loftus, comedienne, are other favoured features of the bill.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Winstanley; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. D. Leigh.—Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's versatile company, presenting the pantomime, Goody Two Shoes, entered on the concluding week of their engagement here on Monday evening. The comedians continue to greatly amuse, and the ladies of the company have become popular. Hagedorn's wonderful fairy grotto, with its many beautiful tableaux and fountains of real water, elicits the utmost delight. Mr. Herbert W. Harwood's troupe of lady vocalists and dancers, the Five Sunbeams, distinguish themselves. In the title-rôle, Miss Minnie Cunningham continues to please all with her very dainty and popular performance, and Miss Georgina Leonard, as the principal boy, Roland, secures well-merited appreciation. Mdlle. Molly Wolstenholme makes an excellent impression as Benevolentia, and Miss Amy French, as Mephisto, is very good. Miss Rose Tilley and Miss Rita Rhylle, as Peter Piper and Dolly Dimple, are a smart couple. Miss Sheila Redgrave, as Frank Frisky, and Miss Hilda Stewart, as Pansy Blossom, do well. Messrs. Downes and Langford continue their mirthful career as Truthful Tommy and Phil the Philosopher, and Mr. Fred Lincoln, as Dame Fanny Freckles, is also the cause of much merriment. Mr. George French's eccentricities as Simon arouse hearty laughter, and Mr. Harry F. McClelland as Baron Grab and Mr. Harry Rousby, as Sendy Sapps, are responsible for some entertaining comedy business.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Lieut.-Col. J. A. Winstanley; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. C. Candler.—Mr. C. Watson Mill and his No. 1 company are here on a return visit with A Wrecker of Men, which is capitally staged and well acted. Mr. C. Watson Mill makes a conspicuous success as Jim Murley, and Miss Rosalind Tate is also seen to considerable advantage as Risca Mallison. In the double part of Karnaphus and Ezekiel Isaacs, Mr. J. W. Ryder deserves high commendation; Mr. George Harvey is very good as Railton; Mr. Charles Yorke makes an excellent impression as Pharosophus; Mr. Percy Horton is manly and convincing as Guise Strange; Mr. Frank Oliver is well placed as the Hon. Reggie Verincourt; Mr. Gilbert Brooke is a success as Erric Melville; Miss Victoria May gives a clever embodiment as Dorris Melville; and Miss Gracie Garside, as Vavasole Slopper, acquits herself to the satisfaction of all.

PALACE THEATRE, LIMITED. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leonard Vidal.—Mr. A. C. Lilly and company, in the military drama, Drummed Out, are maintaining the reputation created on former visits. Mr. A. C. Lilly excels in the part of Troop-Sergeant-Major Usher; Miss Kitty Kirwin, as Mrs. O'Flanagan, is thoroughly amusing. Mr. N. Watts Phillips makes a good impression as Trooper Roberts; and as Ethel, his wife, Miss Leslie Warner is to be praised. Other parts are impersonated by Mr. W. G. Blunt (who is also stage manager for Mr. Lilly), Miss Iva Howard, and Master Leo Gordon. Starr and Leslie, the clever speciality artists, are repeating their usual success on a return visit; Walter Bellonini, a very smart juggler, gains the admiration of all by his dexterity and deftness; John Tiller's Dancing Girls give a bright and entertaining turn; Professor Dunning proves a very amusing ventriloquist; Fred Poplar, a versatile comedian, is scoring a success; Kahn and Kahn, with their modern necromancy, bewilder the audience; Harry Bedford, comedian and dancer, goes well; and Kitty Wager, comedienne, is also successful.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—The premier position is held here this week by the Royal Zerbinis, who are giving with great success their pretty and enjoyable musical scena, In Fairyland. At the other end is Vandinoff, the remarkably clever lightning artist in oil colours, who gains an enthusiastic welcome. The Two Whites, American comedy artists, give an excellent turn; Nellie Lewis, burlesque artist, is good; and others who are entertaining are Henriot and Sauvion, burlesque conjurors; Harry Thurston, mimic; Lal Cliffe, comedienne and dancer; and Lillie Lawrence.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Dewhurst; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Dewhurst.—Mrs. T. Morton Powell and company occupy the boards here this week with the drama entitled A Woman's Devotion. Mrs. Morton Powell's portrayal of Gilbert Le Grande is fascinating and piquant; Miss Maud Hastings as Maisie Loyale, the sorely tried girl, acts with passionate force and pathos; Mr. Geo Gaisford as Richard Chesney plays with true artistic feeling. Villainy is well delineated by Mr. Frank R. Robertson as Philip Dangerfield, and he is ably assisted by Miss Ethel Tinsley as Cora Eversleigh. Mr. W. B. Sommerville acquits himself well as Paul Eversleigh; Mr. Fred Hodson is an amusing Bob Savage, his efforts being ably seconded by Miss Agnese D'Aragon.

LINCOLN.—PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Sydney Arthur; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Brandon Blake.—A lion show is an innovation here, and Miss Bryant's party of African lions presents an entertainment that is thrilling and clever as well as unique. Susie and Protti give a very interesting dancing display; Lidden and Hayward create uproarious mirth with A Quiet Rehearsal; and another most amusing sketch is A Bit of String, presented by the Harris L. Bell and Lily Pearl Co., The exceptionally good bill is completed by Tom Dunmore, an entertaining comique; Brothers Les Bois, clever burlesque jugglers; Sisters Desmond, brisk and smart duettists; and Gilbert Rodgers, a popular character comedian.

LIVERPOOL.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—The pantomime, Dick Whittington, which has had a successful run, terminates to-night. Last evening, Mr. Edward Lewis took a benefit.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Mr. Edward Morris's company has been here this week with As Midnight Chimes. Included in a good all-round cast is Mr. Melville Bickford, whose impersonation of a dealer in contraband goods was excellent. Mr. Frank E. Petley was a finished Dave Stannard, and bore himself in manly style; Mr. James Salter proved a host in himself as Tat Spavin, and created roars of laughter; a vivacious French maid was portrayed by Miss Nita Imeson; and other artistes who acquitted themselves with credit were Miss Gertrude Price and Mr. H. Belmore. The scenic effects were good.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—Gervais Le Roy, Mdlle. Tahua, and Leon Bosco top a highly entertaining and interesting programme, their show being original and mystifying; the Skandia Troupe of Acrobats are decidedly clever and artistic; the Smythsons, in their sketch, The Lie Alarm, are very laughable; the Scottish Meisters delight everyone with their singing and comedy; Pete Dwight and Son are particularly good step-dancers; and Salvino, the boy musician; Lily Pender, comedienne; Hill Stuart, actor and mimic; Cordite and Buffalo, rope spinners and lariat manipulators; and the Bioscope add to the evening's enjoyment.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. H. Fineberg; Acting-Manager, Mr. M. Simmons.—The attraction here is Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson's stirring military drama, Revenge, played by his own first-class company for the first time in this city. As Prince Orloff, the leader of the conspirators, Mr. Hill-Mitchelson played with much dramatic power; Mr. Wellesley Draper rendered the somewhat difficult part of Captain Loris Vanessa with credit; a capital King was submitted by Mr. Theo. Balfour; Miss Alice Barber gave a pleasing Cora Brook; the Queen was presented with much grace and charm by Miss Violet Carlyle; and Miss Grace Almers undertook with satisfaction the male character of Lieut. Maurize.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Granville; Manager, Mr. Fred Granville; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—After a fortnight's good business, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's charming pantomime, Aladdin, finishes here to-night.

EMPIRE, LIMITED. — District Manager, Mr. T. A. Cook; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Stratton.—A good general programme has been submitted here this week. At the head is Mr. Arthur Lennard, to whom was accorded a hearty reception for his capital songs; Miss Florrie Gallimore sustained her high reputation, and was loudly applauded for her new songs; Driscoll and Beattie caused continuous laughter with their Two Old Rogues sketch; a neat ventriloquial turn, Ally Sloper at Home, was given by Barney Fox; Miss Winona Winter and Mr. William H. Banks provided an enjoyable playlet, entitled, When I Help Ma do the Washing; Daisy Ray was seen to advantage as a coon singer and sand dancer; a neat turn as vocalists, banjoists, and dancers was given by the Three Sisters Slater; Collins and Hart go through a humorous acrobatic act; and the rest of the programme contained the names of the Little Ulpts, quaint eccentrics; Fraser and Mac, in mirth and melody; Lizzie Fletcher, comedienne; and Ellen Martin, an accomplished vocalist.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford. Rosaire and Doreto, a couple of clever eccentrics, are here this week, keeping the audience in roars of laughter; the Hartley Wonders cause some surprise with their wonderful jumping; the Musical Johnstones provide an enjoyable turn, and render some finished work with the xylophone, the overture to "William Tell" being cordially applauded; Maggie Walsh, the original Lancashire singing mill girl, renders several acceptable songs; Harry Allister is good as a character impersonator; J. P. Dane gives several of his popular pieces; and Nelson's Newsboys sing and dance admirably. Others in the bill are Lily Flexmore, dancer; Wal Croft, comedian; and Arthur Royd, vocalist.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. O'Toole.—The principal attraction here this week is provided by a dramatic sketch company, controlled by Mr. Will and Miss Ada Randle. Love for Gold is a capital trifle, and well played by a numerous company. The Sisters Hypatia are a couple of accomplished duettists; the popular old-time favourite, Billy Richardson, with his funny stump speech, is as bright as ever; Frank Tyrell does well as an eccentric comedian and dancer; Miss Lydia Dudley, a favourite comedienne, has several good songs; and Chris Masters is a clever character vocalist and dancer. The animated pictures continue to be an attractive feature.

NEW PARTHENON.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Edwin W. Smith.—James Shingleton, the original singing collier, is at the head of the bill here this week; Juan and McQue create great laughter with their sketch, The Coachman and the Footman; the Sisters Terry are versatile duettists and mimics; J. H. Bowman gives a good sample of tricky dancing, and renders several catchy songs; and others who appear are George Reeves, eccentric character comedian; and Frances Drew, burlesque actress.

PADDINGTON PALACE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. J. Kiernan.—Percy Boucher's sketch company is here this week with Shadows of Our City. Additional support to PARK PALACE.—Director, Mr. James Kiernan.—Charles Majilton's sketch company is here this week with Round the Clock, which has caused as much uproarious laughter as ever. A variety programme is also provided by Charles Sweeney, comedian; Tell and Tell, equilibrists; Sisters Browne, vocalists and dancers; Madeline Majilton, burlesque actress; Fred. Wilson, comedian; P. A. White, coon; Harriett Round, entertainer; Herbert Ashmore, actor-vocalist; Dickie Clare, character-actor; Nellie Clare, vocalist and dancer; and Carrie Joy, soubrette.

LLANELLY.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. John Tilly.—A bright and interesting entertainment is being given here this week by the Royal Gipsy Children, who include the charming and clever Misses Letta Star, Evie Lynn, Sisters Maud, vocalists and dancers; La Petite Carlina, quick change artiste; the Lizzette Quartet of clever young lady acrobats; Elsie Rubina, a charming wire walker; the Misses Patie Burton, Ada Lorne, Alice May Dunn, Gracie Bard, and May Bishop, all clever and charming.

LONG EATON.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Messrs. May and Huntley's company in Robinson Crusoe, appear here this week, and the audience is kept in a merry mood from start to finish. Miss Beattie Wilson is Robinson Crusoe; Miss Florence Kendall is the sweetheart, Polly; Miss M. Macartley, the French maid; and Miss L. Gilbert the Princess. Mr. Horace Barri, Mr. Fred Macey, Mr. James May, Mr. Bertina, and Mr. Will Bruton, also contribute. Special turns are given by Miss Doris Mydleton, Mr. E. Howard, and Mr. Frederick Golding, cartoonist.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Payne Seddon and George Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis Beaufort.—Messrs. Renad Brothers occupy the boards here this week with that mirth-provoking musical absurdity, The Swiss Express. The fun runs fast and furious throughout, as James and John, Dr. Gull's eccentric servants, Messrs. Charles and Frederick Renad keep the house in roars of laughter. Dr. Gondimar Gull is humorously impersonated by Mr. Wilford Bailey. Mr. George Power is decidedly good, his Rhino being a very clever bit of acting. Dudley Green is impersonated in characteristic style by Mr. Alec Wylie, and both Mr. H. Alexander and Miss Nellie Fern are amusing as Mr. and Mrs. Septimus Squeeze. Miss Idris Banfield is a charming Virginia, and sings and dances delightfully. Mr. Cecil Barrett causes considerable amusement as the Gendarme. The Brighton Girls give some capital exhibitions of lance and sword drill, and win for themselves much applause by their excellent singing and clever dancing.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—A Life's Revenge is the drama here this week, and is under the personal supervision of Miss Marie Dagmar and Fred C. Somerfield. Mr. Fred C. Somerfield, as Prince Boris Strogoroff, is most realistic in his portrayal of the part; Miss Amy Ellan is a capital Marcia Vittoria; Mr. Walter Roberts does well as Michael Orloff; Miss Marie Dagmar is good as Princess Vanda; Mr. Charles E. Warne and Miss Maudie Grayson are responsible for the fun, and the manner in which they keep the audience in a good humour testifies that their efforts are successful.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Bendon.—Licensing Justices must have their way, and as these gentlemen have decreed that the place is unsafe, the Hippodrome will be closed after this week. To show their practical sympathy, the Macclesfield people packed the Hippodrome on Friday night, the 24th ult., which was set apart for Mr. and Mrs. Bendon's farewell benefit. The turns this week are headed by the Seltina Troupe of acrobats, who, with some daring tricks, get well applauded; Sterling and Cashen, comedians and dancers, are a pleasing turn; the Brothers Larette, barrel jumpers, show astonishing agility; Lenard Gale, character vocalist, is welcome; Bert Brookes, comedian, is very funny; Miss Gladys Walford, refined serio, is entertaining; and The Smarts' comedy sketch is amusing.

MAIDENHEAD. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessees, Messrs. Edgar Dereve and F. L. Schmitz.—Mr. Geo. Littleton's company, in At War with the World, is here this week, Mr. Littleton doing well in the part of Tom Redfern, and Mr. Geo. Littleton, jun., taking the rôle of the Squire. Mr. A. J. Allen as Farmer Maddox, and Mr. Frank Holyoake, as Jack Arkwright, are successful; Mr. A. E. Johnstone is a splendid "villain"; and Mr. F. J. Lewis is distinctly clever in his presentment of Gregory Blotts. Mrs. Leslie is well represented by Miss Nora Kingsley; and her daughters, Edna and Mabel, find good exponents in Miss Lilian Beaumont and Miss Daisy Humphreys.

MAIDSTONE.—CORN EXCHANGE.—Manager, Mr. J. Beslee.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's company is here this week, under the direction of Mr. G. W. Bowes, in the ever-popular Gay Parisienne. The play is as attractive as ever, and the audience laughed continuously throughout the evening, although this is the third visit of this excellent company here. The Ebenezer Honeycomb of Mr. Tom May, the Major Fossdyke of Mr. Arthur Watts, and Miss Alexina Glenroy, as Mdlle. Julie Bon-bon, deserve special mention for the clever business and humour they put into their parts.

MANCHESTER. — PRINCE'S THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oscar Barrett; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—Mr. C. P. Levilly's Company gave a brilliant performance of La Poupée here on Monday. The cast includes a number of those seen in the revival of Amorelle, at Manchester, a year ago, chief of them being Mr. Eric Thorne and Miss Stella Gastelle in their old parts of Hilarius and Alesia. Mr. Thorne's rendering of the doll maker is inimitable, and caused roars of laughter all the evening; while Miss Stella Gastelle's performance is distinguished by her well-known histrionic and vocal charm. Mr. Gerald Clifford is highly successful as the simple youth, Launcelot; Miss Madge Avery gives a capital depiction of Madame Hilarious; Mr. Frederick Hobbs is so excellently equipped for his part of Father Maxime that he gained encores for both his songs on Monday; while Mr. Fred Seymour and Mr. Robert Fairbanks figure admirably as Loremois and Chanterelle, scoring the usual encore in the trio, "She's Charming," with Alesia. Others who figure creditably are Mr. Vernon Reed, as Balthazar; Miss May Bradbury, as Henri; and Miss D. H. Stephens, as Guduline. Incidentally, there is a neat dance of three "dolls," and it should be mentioned that at the end of the first scene in Act 2, after the rendering of "I know a maiden fair to see," the enthusiasm of the house demanded a call before the curtain.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Oscar Barrett; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. M. Thorburn.—Arthur Law's entertaining comedy, A Country Mouse, was given here on Monday with considerable success by a company under the direction of Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison, of whom the latter figures in the cast as Archibald Vyse. Mr. Hutchison gives a capital rendering of this important part, and he is remarkably well supported by Miss Violet Harley, as Angela. Miss Violet Ley, as Lady Sylvia has also opportunities, which she is well able to exploit; and other good parts are in the very capable hands of Mr. F. G. Thurstans, Mr. Edward Bonfield, Mr. Charles Harley, and Miss Dorothy Cacey. Of the remainder, Mr. John E. Watson and Miss Charlotte Mead figure commendably. The piece is preceded by a farce entitled His Landlady, by George Mudie, which is bright and entertaining.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. W. H. Broadhead; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Mr. E. Hill Mitchelson's drama, The Traitor, is on a return visit here this week, and is excellently played by an exceptionally capable company, under Messrs. Hill Mitchelson and Harris Fineberg. The interest is sustained through quite a number of strong parts, the principal ones being in the practised hands of Mr. John C. Carlyle, Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan, Mr. Frank Sutherland, Miss Isabel Hunt, Miss Hettie Senior, Mr. Edwin Jenner, Miss Ruth Shepherd, and Miss Lily Roselle; while Mr. Edward Swinton and Mr. Edward Lowrie contribute plenty of fun. The drama is effectively staged and interesting throughout.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A good programme is submitted here this week, J. W. Rickaby, comedian, figuring prominently in some excellent and amusing songs. Capital turns are given also by Alfred Seigel, champion middleweight wrestler in the Græco-Roman style; Wilson, bone soloist; Hicks' Clerks, vocalists and comedians; Percy Farrimond, the singing collier; the Sivados, in a clever cycling act; Elverton, the American spinning marvel; Ada Seale, the singing mill girl; Kitt Keen, Ethiopian entertainer; and the Sisters Marion, juvenile vocalists.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A company under Miss Mary Austin and Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds occupy the stage here this week in The Golden Ladder. The drama is an exceptionally attractive one, and is very well played by a long cast, headed by Mr. Harry Cullinford, as the Missionary, and Miss Conyers Radcliffe, as Lilian Grant. Beside the sensational, the piece contains plenty of humorous incident, and the staging is throughout elaborate and realistic. Large audiences are attracted.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. M. Potasch.—Pantomime again fills the stage at this popular theatre, in the shape of Dick Whittington and His Cat, presented by a company under the personal direction of Miss Daisy De Roy, who herself sustains the part of Alice in a style worthy of considerable praise. Miss De Roy's well-known abilities as a comedienne and vocalist are prominent throughout, and there is also some good singing by other members of the cast, notably, Mdlle Lucretia, who presents Dick in dashing style. These are supported by many capable artistes, notably Messrs. James Barrasford, Sydney T. Pease, J. C. Bland, Frank Royal, George Welch, Miss Beatrice Tilley, Miss Poppy Lytton, and Little Jupiter (the cat), who keep things briskly moving; while the scenery is pretty, and the dresses and chorus are all that could be desired. The pantomime is one of the best on the road.

HIPPODROME (HULME).—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Woolford's Circus, with its cleverly trained animals, is a big attraction here this week. The Geoffreys are seen to great advantage in a really excellent comedy sketch, entitled Spoofed, and cause much merriment. Bert Williams is a smart and amusing ventriloquist; and Hall, an exceedingly clever animal mimic, is deservedly applauded. The gymnastic act of the Three Donans is wonderfully expert; Lachie Thompson's Topweights, two juvenile boxers, wrestlers, and club manipulators, are extremely smart; and the Mozondos do some astonishing barrel jumping. Other enjoyable items are those of George Prince, comedian; Guy Ryder, whistling comedian and vocalist, and the animated pictures. On Monday evening, owing to indisposition, Port Mason, the American baritone, was unable to appear, his place being ably filled by the charming Sisters Manan, whose excellent singing met with considerable favour.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Leo Till, the well-known mimic, gives a humorous entertainment, in which he introduces many novel ideas and clever imitations of musical instruments, animals, and sounds in general. Walter Curtis is a first-rate entertainer, his patter and singing being greatly enjoyed. A diverting sketch, The Lady and the Lunatic, is given by the Muirs; the Ralston Boys sing well; Grey and Welford present an amusing boxing act; and Oswald shows much ability in hand-balancing. Dale and Vale sing and dance acceptably; Marie Winsome is a pleasing male impersonator; Duncan is good at club swinging; and Winnie Scott sings and dances nicely.

TIVOLI.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—The entertainment here this week opens with a selection of "Famous Convivial Songs," arranged by Mr. Frank J. Smith, the musical director, which is excellently rendered by the orchestra, the vocal portion being in the hands of Mr. George A. Fox. The bright particular star of the week is Millie Lindon, that most refined comedienne, fresh from her success at the Prince's pantomime, who sings so delightfully four songs, including "The Angel of My Dreams" and "Mimosa." Another artiste from the Prince's is W. H. Powell, a sterling comedian, who provides a most amusing turn; he scores with his song "Something is going to happen," his patter is decidedly original, and his imitations of a juggler and a lady tight-rope walker are capital. Lilian Doreen sings "The Garden of Life" with excellent effect, and is deservedly well received; Maud Dewey is a charming siffleuse, her bird imitations being very well done; Clark and Gold appear in an original act, The Astronomers, introducing songs, dances, patter, and banjo playing; Alf. Lawton sings two songs with patter added; the Sisters Morgan are pleasing duettists and dancers; Les Rubens sing nicely; and the Willette Brothers are head- and hand-balancers of merit.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will Collins.—Marlo and Dunham Trio are here this week, and go through a remarkable performance on the triple bars and revolving trapeze. Carrie Laurie's Kindergarten introduces some clever juveniles, who sing and dance in a delightful manner, and are heartily recalled. Raymond and Kurkamp present, with decided success, a most refined vocal and instrumental turn; and Jack Lorimer is a most versatile comedian, who entertains with eccentric song and dance, and clever imitations at the piano. Lizzie B. Raymond is a highly amusing comedienne; the Seddons are extremely funny in a juggling act; and Rita and Roma, duettists, contribute a good turn. Howe and Ardie are clever and grotesque gymnasts; the Bohemians are entertaining musical and comedy artistes; and the Wotpert Trio are very clever Continental acrobats.

PALACE.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. P. Watson; Assistant Secretary, Mr. J. Hewitt.—Remaining from last week are the excellent turns of Fred Karno's Comedians in the latest success Mumming Birds; and the Three Sisters Hayden, vocal character comediennes, who sing very pleasingly. Al Lawrence, the mimetic comedian, contributes a refined and very clever turn, and is well received; Gus Hindell makes a hit with his up-to-date scena, Boys will be Boys; and Frank Cumminger is a smart sand dancer. Other good turns are George Bohee, banojist; George Antill, "Evening Shadow" comedian, who sings a song with dance added; the Brothers Obo, duettists and patter comedians; G. W. Foster, comedian, and Amstell and Line, comedy artistes.

MANCHESTER HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—Happy Fanny Fields, the well-known "Jolly Dutch Girl," is here this week. She sings in good voice, tells some funny stories in a decidedly original manner, contributes a sabot dance, and meets with a warm reception. Well received, also, are the excellent turns of the Caledonian Boys' Orchestral and Concert Combination; the Tourbillon Troupe of acrobatic cyclists, who do some daring things; and O'Gust, a remarkably clever and amusing mimic of sounds. Peppo's Monkeys are well trained; Clarice Netta is a pleasing soprano vocalist; May Geraldine sings and dances nicely; Kyoto introduces his "Mysterious Japanese Box," and does some burlesque conjuring; the Alphonso Trio appear in a novel juggling act; and the Choristers sing "Genevieve."

MARGATE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. E. Macknight; Business-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Hardy.—This week an excellent all-round company has been appearing in the new play, The Designers, recently produced in London. Mr. W. Hargreaves does well as John Huggins, and Mr. E. O'Grady is capital as Mr. Cuvial, the manager at Delamere's. Mr. William Luff is amusing in the rôle of Wilfred Fry; and Mr. Arthur Dennis creates great merriment as Percy Loraine. Miss Dorothy Sidney, as Mabel; and Miss Iva Rozant, as Miss Rachel Huggins, are good in their respective parts, and the other characters in the cast are ably sustained.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Will Smithson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Albert J. Lewis.—Judy, or the Fatal Hand, presented by Mr. George Kirk and Miss Mary Neil's Company, is here this week. In the dual rôle of Alice and Polly, Miss Mary Neil submits a clever impersonation. As Grip, Mr. George Kirk makes the most of his many opportunities and scores. Mr. William Vane is well suited as Sterling, and Mr. Richard Ferris plays the despicable part of Duburg with success. Jim, the Coster, and Geddles, the Showman, have creditable representatives in Mr. Will Casey and Mr. G. Langdon. Blake is well played by Miss Violet Langley; and Miss Florrie Groves makes a bright and animated Judy.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES' THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey's company are playing here this week in The Village Blacksmith. Mr. S. Livesey gives a fine portraiture of John Strong; the Captain Leo of Mr. Jos. Carter is a highly capable effort; Mr. Fred Wells does well as Lucas Marler; Mr. G. V. Campbell is capital as Billy Twig; Miss Laura gives sympathetic treatment to the rôle of Kate Strong; the Ruth Parkins of Miss M. Edwards is a thoughtful rendering; and Miss T. C. Livesey makes an interesting Sal Parkins.

MIDDLESBOROUGH.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The Middlesborough Grand Opera House, Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Licensee, Mr. T. Hopcutt.—The Moody-Manners Opera Company is paying a welcome return visit to this elegantly appointed theatre, and is meeting with the enormous success it deserves. A most excellent week's programme of high-class music has been submitted to the very numerous lovers of such entertainment in the iron town. On Monday Lohengrin was presented to a large and most appreciative audience. Mr. Joseph O'Mara as the Knight of the Swan, was all that could be desired. His acting was fine and his vocal efforts were deserving of the highest praise. Elsa was portrayed by Madame de Vere in a manner that commanded commendation, and her beautiful soprano voice was heard to much advantage in the part. Miss Toni Seiter was responsible for the difficult rôle of Ortrud, and was thoroughly successful in the character. Mr. William Dever's excellent baritone voice was admirably used in the part of Frederick of Telramund; and the singing of Mr. Charles Magrath, as the King was very good. The opera was magnificently staged, the chorus was powerful, tuneful, and finely balanced, and the augmented orchestra, under the baton of Herr Richard Eckhold, added in no small degree to a delightful evening's enjoyment. During the week the other fare submitted has been Carmen, The Bohemian Girl, Faust, Tannhauser, Daughter of the Regiment, and Maritana.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson. Mr. John Hart's Company in the new comedy-drama, The Blanchard Diamonds, is here this week. Miss Maud Hillyard and Mr. Albert Ward, who are no strangers to the Theatre Royal audiences, undertake the principal rôles. Both artistes are quite at home in their parts, giving a most dignified and impressive impersonation, and with a warmth of feeling that is consistent with the situations. As Richard Croall, Mr. Benson North plays with much intelligence and skill; and admirable too, is the acting of Mr. Edmund F. Kennedy. Mr. Edward Rochelle is a capable Joe Tregellis, and mention should be made of the excellent rendering of Sir John Blanchard by Mr. Walter Russell. Miss May Congdon, as May Sherringham, pleases immensely, giving a most charming rendering of the heroine. Miss Hilda Holt is worthy of praise for her Mrs. Croaker, and Miss Julie Kennard, Mrs. Richard Edgar, and Miss Nellie Dallas deserve special mention.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. Brill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Rembges. An attractive programme includes Wilson and Waring in a comedy act. They provide an amusing turn which is greatly appreciated. The Hudson Powell Troupe, in an acrobatic sketch are successful; and Syd May's impersonations of well-known music-hall artistes pleases immensely. The Bros. Rohda provide an entertaining equilibristic act; and Miss Maggie Rimmer is a graceful dancer; Charles Craston is an amusing comedian; and an enjoyable turn is submitted by L. B. Athol, character comedian; Mdlle. Florence, Dutch comedienne, and some amusing films flashed on the "Bio" complete the bill of fare.

OXFORD.—Lessee, Mr. William Peacock; Manager, Mr. William Ainsworth.—The Three Richards head the bill here, and are well received for their wonderful acrobatic performance. An amusing turn is provided by Spry and Monti; and Will Cornish in a musical bell act, proves most delightful. Morton and Bowman keep the houses in good humour in a laughable sketch, The Butcher and the Slavey. Miss Mollie Doon is a charming comedienne; and Miss Bessie Travis provides a delightful ventriloquial turn. They are supported by Barrett and Anastasie, gymnasts; Frank Coyle, comedian; and Miss Violet Wilton, who is heartily applauded for her dancing. The "Bio" completes the programme.

MOTHERWELL.—NEW CENTURY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy.—This week the playgoers of Motherwell have a great inducement to patronise the theatre, as Mr. F. R. Benson's North Shakesperean company has an excellent repertoire for the week. The Merchant of Venice was staged on Monday, and before a crowded house Mr. Henry Herbert gave a fine performance in the title-rôle. As Antonio, Mr. F. Owen Chambers was at his best and received continued applause. Mr. Ivan Leslie was in good form as Launcelot Gobbo, and his acting received due appreciation. Mr. Allen Wade was clever as Gratiano, and was ably supported by Mr. Courtenay Foote as Bassanio. The Portia of Miss Gladys Vanderzee calls for special mention, and Miss Catherine Boyce was well placed as Nerissa. Mr. Arthur Fane was admirably suited as the Duke of Venice. The repertoire includes Twelfth Night, Romeo and Juliet, Merry Wives of Windsor, As You Like It (matinee), and Hamlet.

NEWPORT. — LYCEUM. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper. Mr. Charles Macdona's company, with The Three Little Maids, was accorded a warm reception here on the opening night, Monday, when the comedy was played with spirit, the whole piece going with a swing from start to finish. Ada Branscombe (Miss Vera Vallis), Hilda (Miss Nellie Groves), and Edna (Miss Mabel Lavelle), are piquant and charming; Miss May Wright's Gretchen was humorous, and her dancing admirable. Mr. Edgar K. Favelle sings well, and acts earnestly as Brian Molyneux; Madame Ilma Novina is successful as Lady St. Mallory; and Mr. W. Piercy Morgan plays the Rev. Mr. Branscombe realistically. Mr. Ernest Drake's Cupid scores in his dancing; and Mr. M. Jules Charmetts, as M. de l'Orme, plays a 'cello solo very creditably. Mr. Frank Henderson as Lord Cheyne bore much of the burden of the piece, and there was never a moment when his presence did not brighten the performance.

EMPIRE.—Moss's Empires, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. O. Stoll.—The famous Hungarian, Jan Rudenyi, heads the bill this week, his playing proving him to be a violinist of the first order, and the house was not slow to show its appreciation. Ida Heath exhibits cleverness in introducing a fine selection of national dances; Prof. Bernar, with his marionettes, presents an interesting turn; and two capital comediennes are Sable Fern and Marie Collins. Spot, the enchanting coon, introduces something new in cake walk style, and his troupe of dancers acquit themselves in an admirable manner. Lukos Herford and his dog acrobats are interesting; Rumbo Austin, the Nipper King, and his troupe of parody acrobats, are responsible for a really good turn; and the Bioscope proves an attractive item.

NORTHAMPTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—Mr. William Greet's company is the attraction here this week in The Sign of the Cross. Miss Evelyn D'Alroy gains great applause for her touching and sympathetic rendering of Mercia; Miss Ivy Millais scores a marked success as Stephanus; Mr. F. R. Woulfe is good as Marcus Superbus; and Mr. Frank Wood presents Glabrio with fully matured spirit and unction.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Robert Barton.—The variety this week is both excellent and numerous, ten turns being furnished, headed by Foreman and Fannan, quaint comedians, as "The Millionaires." The Solari Duo, with a pleasing vocal and instrumental act; Flo Varley, a chic comedienne; Nina Elmo, a dashing serio; the Sisters Bronson, character duettists and dancers; Tate and Tate, comedy trampoline acrobats; Nelson Hardy, ventriloquist; Togo, Japanese juggler; the Eltenos, a clever pair of comical acrobats on the triple bar; and Will Fieldhouse, comedian and character vocalist.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Mr. Charles A. Chandler's company is appearing here this week with The Bells of Haslemere, which has attracted good audiences. The part of Frank Beresford is in the able hands of Mr. Leonard Yorke, who is responsible for a capital impersonation; Mr. Charles A. Chandler distinguishes himself as Captain Vere; and Mr. Montague Turner is highly successful as John Silkstone. Mr. Douglas Hamilton is seen to much advantage as Matthew Brookfield, and Mr. Charles Cecil gives a careful representation of Reuben Armstrong. As Norah Desmond, Miss Florence Chandler is worthy of much praise. Miss Stafford Smith makes the most of the part of Dorothy Tremble; Miss Harrietta Polini is good as Evelyn Brookfield; Miss Mary Hadacre is satisfactory as Mary Northcote.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. William Mould.—A good bill of fare here is headed by the Three Geraldos, in their smart juggling act; and also includes Mr. Alex Gay, the clever bricklayer conjurer; Mr. Ben Harris and company with their enjoyable sketch, A Promising Pupil; Miss Mabel la Blanche, the favourite comedienne; Miss Della Doree, comedienne and dancer; Bandoni, the one man band; Mr. Dan Thomas, tenor vocalist; and the Bio-Photoscope.

NORTHWICH.—CENTRAL THEATRE.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. Golden; Manager, Mr. Percy Webb.—Mr. Gus Levaine's pantomime of Sinbad the Sailor is here this week. In the title-rôle Miss Kitty Bishop makes a fine Sinbad, and her songs, especially "Under a Panama," are loudly applauded. As Dorothy Miss Lizzie Lind scores well. Mr. Charlie Howard as Mrs. Sinbad causes roars of laughter, and is well supported by Mr. Charles Arnett and Mr. Tom Ashby. Mr. Edward Haswell's fine voice enables him to do full justice to the musical numbers allotted him. Miss Marie Harding is a charming Princess Irza. The Electric Troups of Lady Dancers, Mdlle. Alberta on the wire, and the Bros. Loyal complete a good company.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. Ben Greet's company in La Poupee has been well received here this week. Miss Cissie Ward pleasingly represented the character of Alesia, and obtained well-deserved applause; Miss Alice McFarlane was excellent as Madame Hilarious; Mr. Algernon Lee as Launcelot was extremely good; whilst Mr. Joseph A. Brull did well as Father Maxime; Mr. Harry Bishop as Loremois, and Mr. Stanley White as Baron Chanterelle, deserve praise for their work. Mr. Edward Thorlby was humorous as Hilarious. The chorus rendered valuable service throughout the piece, and the concerted numbers were well rendered.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. F. W. Fitt.—The company here includes the Dayton Family, who are marvellously clever in their Risley performance. Charles Baron's menagerie is well received. Esme Gordon is a pleasant singer, and dances well. Miss Anita Wayman, the Scottish Nightingale, deserves every commendation for her turn. Ormond Penstone prestidigitateur, is very clever. Daisy James is a warm favourite. The Watson Family's classical entertainment is admired. The Jackley Wonders are clever acrobats, and Slade Murray is successful.

NOTTINGHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Mr. Walter Reynolds' new comedy drama, Mr. Smith, was produced here on Monday, a detailed report of which will be found in another column.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Charles P. Cooke.—Miss Annie Bell and company are appearing this week in Sapho. Miss Bell gives a really excellent performance as Fanny, full of energy and passion, and revealing abundant emotional power that calls forth keen interest and sympathy. Mr. Frederick Ross plays Jean capitally, aptly imbuing this complex character with true artistic feeling. Mr. H. W. Curnock embodies Paul Dechlette acceptably, and Mr. Archie Helsby acts with intensity and vigour as Eugene Flamant; Uncle Cesaire has a humorous exponent in Mr. George Antley, and Mr. H. Langford furnishes a careful study of Caoudal. Minor parts are well taken by Misses Lucy Desmond, Gladys Oliver, and Clara Greenhalgh; and Messrs. J. A. Storey, C. Simlax, and Phil Roberts. Little Lottie Ray deserves commendation for her impersonation of Joseph.

KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. A. W. Bull.—A Modern Adventuress is paying its first visit here this week, and the company of Messrs. Carson and Granville gives a strong and realistic presentation of this stirring drama. Miss Beatrice M. Anderson plays the name part with an expressive intelligence and dramatic force that compel high commendation, and Miss Alice Defoe gives a sympathetic rendering of Vivette Delby. Mr. Geo. D. Knight embodies the banker, William Delby, with credit to himself, and Mr. Royce Carleton gives a manly and earnest delineation of Harry Delby. The villainy of Wallace Danton is incisively portrayed by Mr. Edward M. Hamilton. Mr. Evan Roland as John Crompton, a blunt Yorkshireman, and Mr. Geo. P. Lester as Walter Beal, impart strength to the piece.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting Manager, Mr. C. H. Bowmaker.—The acrobatic performance of the Kellinos is not only skilful and varied, but is rendered exceedingly pretty by the Venetian setting, and their reception is hearty in the extreme. Very dainty look the Reiff Brothers in their spotless white clothing, and no less perfect is their clever dancing. The precision of their movements is remarkable, and the singing accompaniment makes a decided novelty. In a scena Miss Cora Casselli demonstrates her ability to grasp the Spanish character and convey it into action. In a smart manner Sydney James exhibits his various accomplishments as ventriloquist and mimic, in which he is ably assisted by C. L. Pike. Les Brunin have discovered the art of imparting vivacity to a juggling turn, and skilful manipulation of billiard balls. Lily Burnand gives a welcome song. Ambrose Thorne creates a good impression, and there is some excellent piano playing by George Ross and Ella Grayson, and other items are rendered by Arthur Gill, Baker and Balfe, and Burg, Hand and Wise.

NUNEATON. — PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Mr. Norman Macowan's company presented for the first three nights this week Monsieur Beaucaire, which was enthusiastically received by a large assembly each night. Mr. Norman Macowan displays much dignity, suavity, and grace in the title-rôle, and is at once a favourite. Miss Violet Sterne excellently fills the part of Lady Mary Carlisle; as Lucy Rellerton Miss Florence Lincoln figures in a dainty and girlish manner; Mr. H. P. Owen makes a splendid Major Molyneaux; Mr. Conybeare Gough does well as Mr. Rakell; Mr. F. Stuart Willson does justice to the part of Winterest; and Miss S. Izzard as Countess of Greenbury is good, her make-up being very quaint. The gentlemen of fashion are well carried out by Mr. W. Cronin-Wilson and Mr. Edgar Kent; Mr. Hans Schlesinger makes a fine Ambassador, and Mr. P. Ramsey Forman is well suited to the part of Captain Badger. For Thursday, Friday, and Saturday a variety company was billed.

OLDHAM.—EMPIRE, LIMITED.—Manager, Mr. Ernest Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hulme.—A crowded audience assembled here on Monday to witness the production of Mr. E. Vivian Edmond's company in The Cotton Spinner. Mr. John S. Hayden in the title-rôle interpreted his part with marked ability; Miss Mary Austin was commendable as Mary Prescot; and as Arthur Northbury Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds was effective. As Major Stratton Mr. Ernest C. Edwards was very smart, and in company with Miss Bella Power as Lady Charlotte Needy provided much humour, which was duly appreciated. Miss May Gumshaw was creditably portrayed by Constance Harrington, and Mr. Frank Eaglesfield as Foster Cunningham was all that could be desired. Animated pictures by the Bioscope occupied the intervals.

THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Manager, Mr. Ernest Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Knowles.—An exceptionally high-class programme is submitted here this week, including as premier turn Dida, whose mystifying illusions were greatly appreciated. The Great Alexander was well received for his smart and daring cycle tricks; Ford and Hanson were duly appreciated for their American musical speciality; Jean Seul gave a smart conjuring performance; the O'Malleys created roars of laughter in their eccentric comedy act; Mr. C. Emlyn Jones and his Emerald Ladies' Quintette gave a grand vocal performance; Terry and Lambert created much diversion in their domestic quarrel scene; and Harry Buckley proved to be a smart eccentric comedian.

GAIETY, LIMITED.—Manager, Mr. E. J. Dexter.—An up-to-date company is submitted here this week, including the Wedburns, first-class vocalists and patter comedians; the Valmores, comedy artists, in a laughable sketch, A Restaurant Up to Date; Herman Friscari, hat manipulator and juggler; the Jansons, in a novel gymnastic act; Miss Vera Mayne, comedienne; the Pacers, vocalists; Sisters Bartholomew, duettists and dancers; and Raymond's Bioscope in new pictures.

OXFORD.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albany Ward; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. G. P. Wells.—Miss Linda Keston's company is here with the pantomime, Beauty and the Beast. Mr. Sydney Vereker makes a most successful Ko-Hop; and Mr. Albert E. Mann is well suited as Maud Hannah; Mr. Will Holland as Reginald Augustus, and Mr. Tom Banks as Sybil Irene, are both highly amusing; Mr. Fred Mansion fulfils the duties of the Beast very capably. Miss Marie Beaufort is an adequate Prince Charming; Miss Janet Lawton gives a very spirited portrayal of Dandy Veller; and Miss Marie Lawrence is good as Polly Perkins; Miss Gertrude Wright is a charming Amoroso; and Miss Margarite Romney does well as Malicio; Miss Linda Keston is fascinating as Beauty. Acrobatic dances are given by the Four French Idols, Miss Trissy Mills, Miss Rosie Knolt, and Sisters Hula. Mr. Albany Ward shows some capital up-to-date animated pictures.

TOWN HALL.—Mr. Ralph Pringle's North American Animated Photo company is fulfilling an engagement here and provides an excellent programme. Some magnificent pictures are presented, comprising the most recent events. Excellent variety turns are contributed by Eileen and Maynie, Miss Pansie Dulford, and Mr. Lester King. Eileen and Maynie have a hearty reception for their clever musical mélange.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—The great success which has attended A Chinese Honeymoon since its inception, has been repeated here this week. The company is that of Mr. George Dance, which is ably piloted by Mr. Bertie Ralland. Mr. Foster Courtenay plays the part of Mr. Pineapple with great gusto and drollery; Mr. Percy Yorke submits an admirable rendition of Tom H. Atherton; Mr. Leonard May delights all by his representation of Hi Lung; Hong Chow is charmingly portrayed by Mr. Philip Haydn; and Mr. P. Allerton Turner makes a successful Chippie Chop. Miss Nellie Wigley as Soo Soo, plays the rôle with brightness and sings well; a very capable Fi Fi is found in Miss Vera Vere, whose quaint deportment is very mirth-provoking. Miss Jose Collins invests the part of Mrs. Pineapple with any amount of chic; Miss Alice Drummond gives a decidedly clever sketch of Mrs. Brown; and Miss Annie Crisp is capable and smart as Mi Mi. Misses F. Sinclaire, L. Collins, Eva Cross, F. Plunkett, Muriel Ormonde, and Edie Ross acquit themselves in splendid fashion in their respective rôles. The chorus is a strong and efficient one.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. H. Savile; Manager, Mr. Delno Fritz.—Here this week are Louis Hardt, the boy Samson; Carrie Bernhardt, serio and all-round dancer; Cambo, musical monkey; Bros. Allison, eccentric comedians and expert dancers; Minnie Osborne, serio; and the Cardonas Trio, knockabout comedians. The Empire Cinematograph is also shown with latest films.

PORTSMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The Earl and the Girl is paying us a first visit, and is a decided success. Mr. William Greet's large and able company presents this pretty and sparkling musical comedy in the best manner. Mr. William Stephens is first-rate as the dog trainer, Jim Cheese. Dick Wargrave is admirably played by Mr. Percy Carr. Mr. Fred Hill does very well as the Hon. Crewe Boodle. Miss Aimee Grey was successful and charming as Elphin Haye. Miss Florence Imeson is vivacious and attractive as Daisy Fallowfield. Liza was cleverly impersonated by Miss Dot Carey. The remainder of the cast worked well together to make the comedy go. The scenery and dresses were remarkable for brilliancy and elegance.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Military plays always command good houses here, and Mr. Frank E. Burdett's company, in a new version of The Indian Mutiny, is this week no exception. Mr. H. Ryeland Leigh gives a capital impersonation of Lieut. Manley. Mr. H. G. Brandon, as Captain Manley, is well placed. Mr. W. S. Tindall acts carefully and well as Major Ingleby. Mr. John Hignett is very droll and amusing as Terry O'Brien. Miss Kate Bruce and Miss Agnes Kingston are good as Mrs. Ingleby and Kate Ingleby, Mr. Villiers Stanley is impressive as Nebon Singh. Messrs. J. S. Sheddon and Ernest Keand are of great utility as Abul Khan and Ra Goonga respectively; and Miss Maud Digby gives a very intelligent rendering of Ghuz-nah.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—The habitues of this house have been well catered for this week. Mike S. Whallen, American patter vocalist and comedian, made a welcome appearance, and gained plenty of applause. The Sevinos gave a very pleasing and entertaining act entitled The Rival Arts, which went immensely. The Chicago Girls, duettists and dancers, were very good; Jessie Albini, dainty comedienne, was much to the liking of the audience, and had a good reception. The Three Delaries, for their graceful acrobatic act, In the Demon's Grotto, had a well-deserved recall. Other good turns were given by Daisy Lane, chic soubrette; Harry Carmen, vocal comedian; Philip Sefton, actor vocalist; and Payne's Bio-Photoscope, with a series of new pictures.

PRESTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Messrs. Carson and Granville's company, in The Heart of a Hero, is appearing here this week. Jem Resdale is well taken by Mr. Fred W. Goddard; Mr. Chas. E. Johnson ably portrays the unscrupulous schemes of Wilfred Marl; as Jack Collinson Mr. G. Sutherland acquits himself admirably; Mr. Eric Forth makes a good Dave Pritchard; Mr. Harry Scatchard plays a powerful part as George Winston; Mr. Hugh Brady causes much amusement as Timothy Heighno; Miss Cissie St. Elmo cleverly impersonates Nell Resdale; Miss Lily Langley in the rôle of May Ryder deserves praise; and Miss Beatrice Hudson as Mrs. Ryder, Miss Ida Mackay as Susie Slack, and Mr. A. B. Mackay as Mark Marl render efficient aid.

RADCLIFFE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—Mr. Montague Beaudyn and Miss Sidney Crowe's company in The Way of the World is doing good work here. Cecil Montague is played with much credit by Mr. Montague Beaudyn, and the villainous part of Capt. Fred Slade is in the capable hands of Mr. Herbert Skardon; Mr. W. Robertson Foulis being an acquisition as Matthew Malyon. Mr. Louis Scott depicts Horatio Bluff very satisfactorily; and Mr. Frank Stanley is humorous as Ned Montague, and is ably assisted by Miss Violette Vivienne as the champion strong woman; Miss Irene Munroe is eminently successful as Kate Montague; and Miss Annie Clunn is good as Marion Fanshaw; while the delineation of Adela de la Roche by Miss Sidney Crowe is a powerfully dramatic one.

RAMSGATE.—AMPHITHEATRE.—Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Henry Bowman.—Messrs Hinton and Price's pantomime, Dick Whittington, produced by a Ramsgate townsman. Mr. Charles Price has been enthusiastically received here this week. Miss Kitty Phelps is a dashing and popular Dick, and Miss Dais Clements (of Ramsgate), a charming Alice. The comedy element is well represented by Messrs. M. Stephens (Fitzwarren); H. Rennior (Idle Jack); T. B. Seymour (Capt. Bunting); S. Cooke (Betsy Mary Ann), and the Bowery Boys (Shuffle and Shirk.) Mr. H. Cardoe is extremely clever as Tibby, the cat. Miss Maud Leonard admirably fills the rôle of Sir Royland; and Miss Violet Welsh is a pleasing Princess Charming. Many popular songs and smart dances are introduced, and the specialities are excellent. Miss Gracie Clements is a pretty Fairy Goodwill, and scenery and dressing are of first-rate order.

Preston and Doherty's company is providing the bill here this week with The Rich and Poor of London. Miss Dora Dench is very pleasing as May Baithwaite, and Miss Marie Ramez is seen to advantage in the difficult rôle of Ruby Redgrave. Miss Lilly Woods gives a careful rendition of Auntie Scrimp, and Miss Dora Pass is a sprightly Polly Philoot. Miss A. McFarlain as Seadrift, and Master Bert Dench as Dixie, both give evidence of careful training. Mr. Robert Hall is a manly Dr. Leonard Morton; and Mr. Andrew Money gives a capital portrayal of the part of Mark Stanley. Mr. Sidney C. Cranston as Gussey Lamb, is very humorous, his songs being well received; and Mr. Tom Bowman as Daniel Drake, is a typical fisherman; Mr. Jack Sydney scores as Matthew Grabbain, and Mr. Sidney Dench gives an excellent rendition of Spider Jack.

RUGBY.—THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, The Rugby Theatre and Entertainments, Co., Ltd.; Managing Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Parker Royston.—This week Charles Prinz is here with his troupe of seventeen forest bred lions, and crowded houses are the rule. The company also includes Miss Beatrice Dudley, dancer, who is specially worthy of mention, and Mr. Charles Bradford, who pleases by his artistic rendering of several songs. Miss Nellie Dunbar is excellent in her speciality dance, and the Wys Troupe of pantomimists are a great success in the absurdity Vivo. The Parez Trio are talented performers on the mandoline, piccolo, &c. Les Picturesque Poses, a series of living and artistic pictures, are charmingly represented by a bevy of handsome damsels. The Bioscope is also very good.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Mr. G. Fulton's company is here in the new modern drama, entitled The Poor Must Live. The Earl of Marshwood is carefully sustained by Mr. Pan E. Draco; Mr. C. Brereton Borer shows ability as Donald, the son. Miss Olive Fulton's portrayal of the adventuress, Olga D'Eyncourt, is very good; and Miss Mary Mallalieu is a charming Dorothy Murdock. Mr. Herbert Clifton, as Dick Sully; and Miss Pattie Elliott, as Moya Darling; with Mr. Dick Thomas, as Hooker Holdswitch, are very amusing, and the falsetto singing by Mr. Herbert Clifton of "By Killarney" and other songs is excellent. Mr. G. Fulton, as a society blackguard, Clifton Manville; Mr. Arthur Trail, as Sam Sully; and Miss Jenny Bostock, as Sal Darling, also deserve special mention.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Frederick Yates.—Signor Pepi, with his quick change exhibition, is heading this week's bill, and gaining much applause from crowded houses. Charles Coverdale, with his droll patter and mimicry, causes roars of laughter. Hanco, the Jail Breaker, gives an amusing turn, exposing the box trick and handcuff mystery. The remainder of the programme includes Charles Cooray, white coon vocalist; Ada Vernon, comedienne; Les Strads, musical eccentrics; Bernard Stuart, a funny actor and mimic; Johnny Worman, comedian; and Daisy Belfry, chic comedienne.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. J. B. Taylor.—The chief item in the programme here is the American comedy dramatic sketch, Sold to Slavery, in which Mr. Arnold Bell appears as Salem Scudder, assisted by Miss Frances Campbell, as Zoe. Jacob McClosky is well portrayed by Mr. Cuthbert Imrie; and an enjoyable performance is contributed to by Mr. F. C. Robson, as George Peyton; Mr. Dan Farrough, as Wahnotee; Mr. C. Reid, as Colonel Pointdexter; Miss Violet Campbell, as Dora Sunnyside; Miss L. Earle, as Mrs. Peyton; and the other members of Mr. Harold Bell's company. Some excellent turns are also given by George Russell, laughing comedian; The Swift Trio, in an amusing bicycle act; Max Gruber, with his elephant and horse; and the Danvils, clever illustrated song artistes.

L. & N.W. PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. A. Higham; Manager, Mr. Sam Higham.—Among the artistes making things merry at this house are Mr. Joe Hunt, comedian; Mr. Frank Dennett, descriptive vocalist; and Mr. Arthur Sheridan, comic.

BRIDGE HOTEL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Tom Bradbury.—Mr. Edward Gresty, tenor vocalist, heads this week's bill, which also includes Mr. Mick McGinnis, comedian; and Mr. Fred Carter, baritone vocalist.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. C. Harrison.—Variety is substituted for drama here this week, and the change is very agreeable. Mr. Chas. McGrath and company head the bill, and present the ever-popular Muldoon's Picnic as a sketch. In addition to Mr. McGrath, who appears as Mulcahy, Mr. J. P. Kennedy, Mr. Geo. Henry, Mr. W. Gardiner, Miss Grace Burns, and Mrs. Ryan appear. Amongst other clever turns are T. E. Gilbey, on the unsupported rocking ladder; Pat Nolan, the great Irish Fritz; Miss Eunice Titiens, ballad vocalist; Bill Bailey, eccentric comedian; Louis Murray, actor-vocalist; and the Two Gems, vocalists and dancers.

SHEERNESS.—THE COLISEUM.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Darling; Manager, Mr. Chas. Melvin.—Another capital programme is presented here for this week, and includes Learto and his remarkably clever dog, in a musical turn, for which they are heartily applauded; the Castles, duettists and dancers, are well received; Stebb and Trepp cause hearty laughter with their grotesque antics; and O'Connor and Brady are a couple of knockabout artistes that would be difficult to beat; Miss Gertie Gitana appears with marked success in her song scena, "A School Girl's Holiday." Mr. Mansell Fane, baritone vocalist, and Miss Florrie Farren, comedienne, also contribute to an entertaining programme.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. P. Reymond.—Amongst the artistes appearing here for this week are Phil Reymond, character and descriptive vocalist, his songs being up to the usual standard of excellence. Other praiseworthy items include Miss Edie Charmby, comedienne and dancer; Mr. Horace Sade, vocalist and instrumentalist; Miss Vera Dalwood, comedienne; Miss Lily Randall, comedienne; and Gon. Silo, comedy juggler

SHEFFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. F. W. Purcell; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. S. Carter.—In consequence of its continued great success, Mr. Fred Karno's pantomime, Cinderella, has been retained another week, and crowded audiences have applauded the talented company, headed by Miss Winifred Hare, the lovely ballets, and the magnificent scenery.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont. — There was a large and delighted audience here on Monday, when Mr. George Edwardes' company commenced a return visit in The Cingalee, which was mounted and played in the usual high-class style. Mr. E. Statham Staples caused roars of laughter as Chambhuddy Ram; Mr. Reginald Kenneth was a smart representative of Harry Vereker, and he sang effectively; Mr. Colin Coop was successful as Bookhamba; and Messrs. W. J. Manning as Sir Peter Loftus; Willie Warde as Myamgah; Jack Cannot as Bertie Lawrence; Edgar Warde as Willie; and Harold Thorley as Bobby Warren were all good. Miss Kathleen Severn was a fascinating Nanoya; Miss Lily Elsie was a pretty and vivacious Lady Patricia; and Miss Eva Sandford as Peggy was the incarnation of feminine grace and gaiety.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Bigamy was played here on Monday to a good audience by a strong company, under the direction of the author, Mr. Fred Moule, and Mr. Alfred Penville. Miss Grace Lester, an artist well known to Mr. Forsdike's clientèle, gave a fine and well-considered impersonation of the leading character; and the support was good all-round.

EMPIRE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—The star this week is Miss Vesta Tilley, who was enthusiastically cheered by crowded houses on Monday. Twenty-five years ago Miss Tilley "topped the bill" at the old Alhambra, over the way. Other clever artistes who appeared on Monday were the Royal Korries, musical comedy entertainers; who are great favourites here; Will Haines; Amber Austa; Billy Hobbs; the pretty and talented Sisters Meredith; Sinclair and Parr; Jimmy Shields, an old favourite; and that ever-welcome artiste, Mr. Tom Costello, who had a big reception on his first entrance, and pleased the audience greatly with his new impersonations.

GRAND PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Beagle.—Here are appearing nightly Lavers and Lake, Evelyn Taylor, Kisbey, Tom Dunmore, the laughter-provoking Oliver Conroy (a "Sheffield blade"), Pallister's Pictures, with up-to-date views, and Francis Haskall. Good business is still the rule at this cosy and well-managed music-hall.

SHREWSBURY. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Business Manager, Mr. W. C. Dornton.—On Thursday evening, the 23rd ult., Mr. W. C. Dornton, who has made himself exceedingly popular since he entered upon his duties at this theatre about twelve months ago, took his first annual benefit, and a crowded house enjoyed a long and varied programme. Many friends, in and out of the profession, lent valuable aid to ensure the complete success of the benefit, which was under the patronage of the borough member, Mr. H. D. Greene, Esq., K.C., the Mayor of Shrewsbury (Mr. H. J. Hearn), and many aldermen and councillors.

SMETHWICK. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Mr. James Kiddie's company is here this week with Dick Whittington, a large audience being present on Monday evening. Miss Bessie Willow, in the title-rôle, met with a most enthusiastic welcome, and her spirited performance thoroughly earned it. Miss Leah Laurie played Alice very prettily, and her songs were deservedly encored. Miss Florence Hilton made a dashing Sir Algernon de Mash, her singing being very much appreciated. Mr. Cyril Dundas makes a valuable addition to the fun as the Alderman. The Cat, W. V. Vido, is smartly enacted, and as the Fairy Queen, Miss Meta Anderson sings in excellent style. The pantomime is elaborately dressed, there is a large and handsome chorus, and the scenery is very fine. Special mention should be made of the clever dancing of Messrs. Curtis and Vanity.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sydney Paxton.—Mr. Mouillot's own company is here in A Message from Mars. Mr. F. Rawson Buckley is excellent as Horace Parker, and Mr. W. H. Brougham delights the audience with his rich and powerful voice in the part of the messenger. Another old favourite is Mr. Bruce Lindley, who acts with pathos as the tramp. Miss May Laker is a fascinating Minnie Templar, and Miss Flora Hastings plays well as Miss Parker. The electrical effects and illusions reflect great credit on Mr. James Mayall, the stage manager.

PRINCE OF WALES'.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. J. W. Gordon.—Mr. J. D. Hunter is this week attracting crowded houses with his pantomime, Aladdin. It is a picturesque show, and quite one of the best Mr. Hunter has put on. Miss M. Sadie, in the title-rôle, is extremely dashing, and sings "The rain came pitter patter down" with much taste. Miss Elsa Brull is a charming Princess, singing and dancing admirably. Miss Vera Dudley as Pekoe, and Miss Ivy Boulton as Nicey Picey, also deserve mention. Mr. Hunter is a host in himself as the Dame. Mr. Dick Tubb as the Vizier causes roars of laughter with his clever fooling; Mr. Fred. Boulton is a comical Emperor; and Mr. Victor Vernon displays genuine comedy as Abanazer. Mr. George Mayer and Mr. Ben Boden are a couple of very amusing policemen, and dance remarkably well. The specialities include Mdlle. Bartonelli, in her graceful contortionist act; the Four Sisters McQueen, who sing "Annie Laurie" splendidly; the Verona Jap Quartette of lady dancers, who dance gracefully; and the Eccentric Boultons, musicians and dancers, who prosper well. The patriotic tableau, Britannia Rules the Waves, which closes the first part of the show, and the finale, The Feast of Lanterns, are also features of a capital all-round performance. Mr. Surtees Corne is the conductor, and Mr. L. J. Gunnell, business manager for Mr. Hunter.

PALACE.—Manager, Mr. Chas. Marte.—The Wille Brothers, equilibrists and balancers, are wonderfully smart; a like remark also applying to the Picquayo, in their clever acrobatic act. Burke, Andrus, and Frisko's sketch, Trafalgar Square, 4 a.m., evokes hearty laughter. Other turns meeting with approbation are given by the Ritchies, eccentric cyclists; Frank Bertram and Co., in an amusing sketch, The Chaperon; Alice Digby; Alice Carney; and Charles Danvers.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Marlow, sen.; Manager, Mr. W. Marlow, jun.—This week's attraction is provided by Mr. Fred Karno, whose powerful company is presenting the most successful musical pantomimical farce, entitled His Majesty's Guests. From start to finish the play is excellently rendered, and hilarity reigns throughout. The performance of the Karno gigantic knockabout troupe is a very enjoyable feature, and merits considerable praise. The play is well mounted. Mr. Harry Roxbury, who impersonates Sergeant Lightning in a realistic manner, sings well, and his vivacity is extraordinary; Mr. Frank Morton, as Lord Easem, possesses a fine voice; Mr. Miffin is well taken by Mr. Chas. Usher; Mr. Fred Whittaker, as Bunker, is most amusing; Mr. M. Johnson does credit to the character of Fritz; Miss Edith Ager portrays Dolly Miffin very creditably and sings well; Miss Amy Rogerson is an exacting Miss Manly, and provides much merriment; Selina is in the capable hands of Mr. Harry Howe, whose agility in the part is surprising; and Miss Leonara Castelle, as Lady Maud Easem, is heard to advantage with her singing.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The Opera House and Winter Gardens Co., Ltd.; General Manager, Mr Alf. Hemming.—Little Aladdin, under the personal direction of Mr. James Kiddie, has undoubtedly "caught on" here. Mr. Joseph L. Barry is responsible for a very smart "book." Witty Watty Walton is a great favourite, and is most amusing as Widow Twankey. Miss Marie Beresford presents an excellent representation in the title-rôle. The Two Kelsos are responsible for much hilarity. The Caenville troupe of lady dancers are also much appreciated.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. J. and F. Coulson.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is fulfilling an engagement here, in At Cripple Creek, for the first three nights, and Under Two Flags for the remainder of the week. In the former play, Mr. Wilfred E. Payne furnishes a striking and vigorous embodiment of Joe Mayfield; Miss Emelie Polini acts with quiet dramatic force the unfortunate Ann Marbury. Mr. Charles D. Pitt picturesquely sustains the part of Manuel Alvarez; the Wahketah is impressively rendered by Mr. Reginald Harley-West. Ben White has a mirth-provoking exponent in Mr. Albert Rogers; and a diverting Reggie Harwood is seen at the hands of Mr. Will Hook. Miss Hope Main pleasingly contributes Belle Gordon; Miss Daisy Carlton, a fresh and vivacious Maggie Mason, is warmly received. Another noteworthy performance is little May Douglass as Little Tatto. A one-act farce, entitled Aunt Rebecca, preceded.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Annie Abbott, the little Georgia Magnet, is causing considerable interest by her magnetic display. A dramatic episode, V.C., acted under the direction of Mr. Harry Howard, is well received. The Fitzroys contribute a clever gymnastic act. Harriet Alexander, with her Home from School speciality, affords a delightful entertainment. De Vere and Kenwick, bright comedy artistes, merit applause; Florrie St. Clair is a charming comedienne; Arthur Albert, character vocalist; and the popular American Bioscope are two good items; and T. C. Callaghan completes the bill.

TIVOLI.—Proprietors and Managers, Councillor J. K. Hall and Mr. Jas. Sweeney.—The Boris Fridkin Troupe, who head the bill, score heavily by some enjoyable vocalisation and dancing; a ventriloquial act, entitled, Fun in a Studio, by Oakdene, is appreciated; Stanley and Vandyke, in a funny comedy act; charming songs by Nellie Ellaine; and Harry Maynard, character vocalist, are included in the successful items. The Tivoli Bioscope is again in evidence, and an amusing comedian is A. C. Bostock. Charles Beameano, comedian, is also distinctive.

STALYBRIDGE.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Leighton Rooke.—Mr. T. Morton Powell's Co. is here with the sensational drama, The Greed of Gold. The artistes have been well selected, and include Messrs. Carthage Caldcleugh, W. Hedbrunn, W. M. Cameron, T. G. Warry, Jas. Magrath, B. Fox, Ernest Bright, W. Launder, John Field, C. Osborne, C. K. Eglinton, A. C. Cooper, J. Wilks, the Misses A. Verity, Grace St. John, Winnie Donovan, Hettie Woods, &c. The scenic effects are excellent.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The St. Helens Theatre, Limited; General Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader. — Mr. Loader, the popular and energetic manager, took his fourth annual benefit on the 23rd ult., the house being packed from floor to ceiling. In addition to Urbanora and Mr. Charles R. Stone's My Sweetheart company, a very excellent programme was provided, including the St. Helens Amateur Operatic Society, in two scenes from The Lily of Killarney. Mr. Charles E. Stelling and his performing dogs; Mr. Tom Walker, baritone vocalist; the Orpheus Quartette; King and Delaine, sketch artistes; Mr. Joe Mac, comedian; and the Sisters Claribell, instrumentalists and dancers. Mr. Frank Macnaghten's company, with The King's Pardon occupies the boards here this week. The drama is well played throughout, the principal characters being in the able hands of Messrs. Charles Stirling, Clifford Yorke, Charles Whitlock, C. A. Leicester, Jack Hames, Harry Belford, and Val Gully; Misses Georgina France, Pollie Denville, and Violet Clarke.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. T. Barrasford, Will Sley, and F. Willmott; Resident Manager, Mr. A. V. Carnell.—Mr. Tom Grave, in his sensational cycling feat, heads the bill here this week. The New York Comedy Four are paying a welcome return visit. Other good turns include Lozelle, gymnast; the Rushforths, in illustrated songs; Musical Silvo; London Cameron, conjurer; the Wynfords, barrel jumpers; King Leo, ventriloquist; and Mr. Herbert Maden, vocalist.

ST. LEONARDS.—PIER PAVILION.—Pier-Master and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. Elvey Thomas.—Mr. Roland Bottomley and company are appearing in a modern comedy, written by himself, entitled The Impertinence of Nancy. Mr. Rupert Lister, as Ned Wynton, gives a telling impersonation. The author appears in the character of Brabazon, a part that is portrayed by Mr. Bottomley with a vividness and realism which are most effective. Miss Mary Thornhill shows true dramatic talent, and in the character of Nancy sustains her part with natural ease and grace. Equally successful is Miss Edith Bottomley as Sylvia Wynton. This important rôle of Ned's wife is admirably acted, and Miss Bottomley plays with great delicacy and refinement. Mr. Stewart Wallace faithfully represents the Curate.

STOCKPORT. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Crowded audiences have testified to the popularity of Floradora, which has been admirably presented by Mr. Tom B. Davis's company, under the direction of Mr. Wentworth Cooke. Mr. Albert Bruno is exceedingly funny as Tweedlepunch; and Mr. T. E. Buxton is amusing as Cyrus Gilfain. Mr. Derrick Knowles makes a pleasing Captain Arthur Donegal; and Mr. Cyril Dane as Frank Abercoed meets with much favour. Dolores has a charming representative in Miss May Desmond; and Miss Daisy Byford portrays the part of Angela Gilfain in captivating style; whilst Miss Réne Steadman displays merit as Lady Holyrood.

OHMY'S CIRCUS.—Proprietors, Messrs. Davenport.—Aerian and Ostaro, in a daring aerial act, head the bill here this week, and are greeted with applause. Among others engaged are Frank Newbury, a clever whistling comedian; the Two St. Johns, in an amusing musical performance; and Miss Bonnetta Bonccia, who is a graceful gymnast. In addition there is abundant equestrian talent, and plenty of fun created by the clowns, Rabbit, Ju Ju, and Ping Pong, the performance concluding with a laughable absurdity, entitled, Harem Scarem.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietress, Mrs. Weldon Watts; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder.—The attraction here is Mr. Fred Karno's company in Saturday to Monday. Mr. Fred Kitchen as John Willie Jaggs is inimitably funny, and keeps the house in a constant roar of laughter; Mr. Jack Lloyd's Alphonse de Gagge is cleverly done; Mr. Dick Harcourt's Mr. Blake is well filled, and Mr. Chas. Baldwin's Mr. Potts is good; Bartlett Jaggs and Jane Ellen Jaggs by Mr. Lepo and Master W. Bentley are very comical; other characters are all in safe hands. As Clorinda Blake Miss Aggie Morris is full of vivacity, and Miss Gladys White's Violet Blake is a refined impersonation. In the last act the band of the Estrellian Guards play some spirited music, and add much to the success of the play; and specialities are also given by the Camille Dancing Girls.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Batty; Manager, Mr. W. Batty.—A big company is here, including Alma and Abdullah, with Electra's Bower and Electra's Dream; Sandor Trio, gymnasts; Tee and Tee, musical eccentrics; the Morton Trio of Vocal Comedians; Rose Waller, balladist; Read and Wright, singers and dancers; the Bristons, comic cyclists; La Superbe, a wonderful danseuse; Tom Basset, Shakespearian comedian; and Payne's biograph.

SUNDERLAND. — AVENUE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; General-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company is here this week in The School Girl. The rôle of Lilian Leigh is charmingly portrayed by Miss Nellie Hobson; and Miss Jenny Bonney is decidedly successful as Cicely Marchmont. As the Mother Superior, and afterwards as Mrs. Marchmont, Miss Kate Foster is thoroughly efficient: Miss Alice Sands makes a winning Mimi. Mr. Herbert Darnley as Sir Ormsby St. Leger, causes considerable amusement; Mr. Charles Adeson as General Marchmont and Mr. Alfred Leslie as Tubby Bedford are equally successful. Mr. H. Ansdell is well placed as Edgar Verney, and Mr. Charles W. Anson makes the most of Peter Overend.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; General-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. Arthur Richmond's company, in The Beautiful Avenger, is here this week. Mr. Algernon Syms is a manly Cyrus Telford, and Mr. Edwin Walton gives a commendable rendering of Zadox Foxbane. Mr. Charles T. Doe as Herman Foxbane and Mr. Arthur Richmond as Jim Jahms make the most of their opportunities. As Victor Stanhope, Miss Nannie Meade is excellent, and Miss Cissy Podmore is a pleasing Edna Volta.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Livermore Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George W. Wybrow.—Another excellent programme is provided here this week. The Selbinis troupe of trick cyclists perform some clever and daring feats, and are accorded a flattering reception; Coram is a ventriloquist of more than usual ability; the Collinson combination, in their comedy act, The Cook's Guest, are highly amusing; The Leotards, comical clowns; The Autos, in their novelty act, "The Musical Doll"; Harry Clifford, comedian; Booker and Narbis, in their sketch, The Interviewer; Hart and Rudd, comedians; and Vernon's animated pictures, all contribute acceptable turns.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Sutton Theatre Syndicate; Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Good business is being done at this theatre this week, where Messrs. M. H. Grenville and F. Osmond's company are playing in The Still Alarm. Mr. Mathew H. Glenville as Jack Manley, an American fireman, gives a well-studied rendering, which the audience are quick to appreciate. Mr. Fred Osmond as Doe Wilber, plays the character to perfection; and Mr. Tom Beasley as Willie Manley, and Miss Hettie Zillwood, as Carrie Wilber, cause great merriment, the singing of the latter being greatly enjoyed. Miss Mary Lovett as Elinor Fordham, plays the part with great earnestness. As Joe Jones, Mr. Lewis Gordon scores a great success. The part singing of various members of the company is amongst the best of its kind.

SWANSEA. — GRAND THEATRE. — Proprietors, Messrs. David Allen and Sons, Ltd.; Lessees and Managers, Messrs. E. Oswald Brooks and J. W. Woodbridge; Resident Partner, Mr. E. Oswald Brooks.—If I were King has occupied the boards here during the week, and Mr. J. Huntly McCarthy's delightful romantic play has had an excellent interpretation at the hands of Mr. Frank Fenton's company. The François Villon of Mr. Frank Fenton is admirable, and capital portrayals of Katherine de Vancelles and Huguette du Hamel are given by Miss Elsie Roberts and Miss Louise Vansittar respectively. Mr. E. Bellenden Clarke is admirable as Louis XI., and capable support is rendered by the other members of the company. The pretty dramatic sketch, The Patriot, is played as curtain raiser.

NEW STAR.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. T. Morton Powell; Acting-Manager, Mr. William Coutts.—The attraction here has been the drama, Gipsy Jack, played by Mr. Henry Bedford and his company. On Friday night Mafeking was performed.

NEW EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Mitchell.—A very enjoyable programme is provided here by the following artistes: Chirgwin, who is always sure of a hearty welcome; Norman and Leonard Trio, in their musical sketch, The Itinerant; Basalari, double-voiced vocalist; Frank Leslie, descriptive vocalist; the Kieffer company, in their amusing pantomime, The Mill in the Forest; Bard, the wire wonder, and his cleverly-trained balancing dog; Conn and Conrad, on the barber's pole; Ryder Stone, in his clever song scena, "Are yer 'Sleep?" and Cruikshank, clever and quaint musical comedian.

PALACE.—Lessees, The Swansea Varieties, Ltd.—The engagements here for the current week include Thomas Harris's troupe of wrestlers; Ruby Bijou, dainty dancer; Rozel, aerial gymnast; Mabel Comely, serio; Geo. Banney, patter comedian; Sabino, instrumentalist; and the Palace pictures.

TONYPANDY.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Acting Manager, Mr. H. Counsell.—Mr. Horace Stanley and company are here in The 10.30 Down Express. Mr. Stanley has gathered a capable company, and the play is carefully staged. Jack O'Malley is well portrayed by Mr. Harry T. Wood, and James Inderwood as played by Mr. W. Campbell is a thorough villain. Bessie Leigh is presented in a sweet and pleasing manner by Miss E. Bartlett.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

On Monday, Feb. 27,
"AS YOU LIKE IT."

Last week we gave a notice of Mr. F. R. Benson and company in one of Shakespeare's grimmest tragedies; now this week we are called upon to comment on their presentment of the Bard's delightful fantastic comedy, As You Like It. By many the pastoral play As You Like It is voted one of the prettiest and wittiest of all Shakespeare's lighter efforts, and the charming sylvan surroundings and the delightful fooling of the clown Audrey and Rosalind, and the words of wisdom that fall from the lips of the melancholy Jacques, certainly warrant such an opinion. Mr. F. R. Benson shows to great advantage as Orlando, whom he depicts as a high-spirited, virile character, even though he be deep in love, and no mawkishness or namby-pamby sentiment is permitted to stray into the fervour of his love-sickness. Mrs. F. R. Benson makes of Rosalind a young lady as nimble of toe as sprightly of wit, and she is particularly good in the comedy scenes and in the scene where she faints at the sight of Orlando's blood-stained 'kerchief. Mr. Arthur Whitby excels as the pessimistic philosopher Jacques, and it is a treat to hear his fine delivery of such celebrated speeches as "All the world's a stage." On all sides one hears nothing but praise of his fine performance in the part. Miss Gertrude Scott is a charming and attractive Celia, and makes the most of her part. Mr. Cyril Keightley, as the banished Duke, is full of dignity and pathos. Miss Mabel Moore creates a good impression as Phœbe. Mr. B. A. Pittar is deserving of high praise for his lifelike embodiment of the honest and aged servitor, Adam. Mr. George R. Weir, as Touchstone, a clown, is entirely excellent, and he delivers his quaint moralisings with due point and emphasis. Miss Leah Hanman causes much laughter as the country wench, Audrey. Mr. Percy D. Owen, as William, a country lout; Mr. George Buchanan, good as Silvius; Mr. H. O. Nicholson as Corin; Miss Cissie Saumarez, who sings very sweetly as Amien; Mr. Saville Percy as the courtier, Le Beau; Mr. Sanders, and Mr. Philip Sanders all merit commendation. On Tuesday The Comedy of Errors was given; on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday She Stoops to Conquer; and Macbeth on Wednesday at a matinée.

THE CAMDEN.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Musical Play, entitled
"THE ORCHID."

Mr. Robert Arthur and his able manager, Mr. Leslie Hughes, have another strong attraction this week in the shape of Mr. George Edwardes' company, who are playing The Orchid. This is not the first visit here of this company, but several new items are introduced which serve to make it even a brighter show than it was before. Several members of the cast remain as before, notably Mr. George Gregory, who repeats his droll performance of Meakin. He works with unflagging energy, and contributes very largely to the success of the play. Guy Scrymgeour is admirably played by Mr. Charles Brown, who realises the part admirably. He has one song anent the English "At Home and Abroad," which he joins Mr. George Gregory in, and which is most amusing, the "business" being particularly humorous. Mr. Brown also introduces with every success "Bedelia's" successor, "Carrie from Paris." The "pushful" Mr. Aubrey Chesterton is again played by Mr. Ellis Ogilvie, who scores heavily with his palpable skit on a popular statesman. Lady Violet is daintily played by Miss Rita Everard, and she sings nicely. "Little Mary," of course, was redemanded several times. Josephine is embodied by Miss Gertrude Gilliam in a dainty manner; she sings and dances well. The peculiarities of Caroline Vokins are capitally portrayed by Miss Gertrude Alyward, who is decidedly amusing in the character. Zelie Rumbert has still Miss Ethel Griffies as an exponent, and none better could be wished for. A smart and fetching Thisbe is found in Miss Amy Payne, who scores heavily in the part, while Miss Katie Leechman makes a suitable Lady Anstruther. Mr. Donald Hall is well placed as Dr. Faussett, and Mr. Clifford Seyler is in fine form as the Comte Raoul, and causes much amusement by his sketch of an excitable Frenchman. Mr. E. W. Coleman deserves praise for his Zaccary, his dancing being specially neat. There are various other parts, in all cases well filled, and the chorus do much good work. Mr. Ernee Woodville conducts the orchestra with marked success, and thereby materially adds to the general excellence of the performance. The dresses are extremely pretty, and the scenic effects are on a lavish scale. Mr. Adair Nelson is the manager for Mr. Edwardes.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Play, in Four Acts, entitled "SAPHO."

Miss Olga Nethersole's company, with Sapho, is the attraction here this week. Miss Cecil Cromwell, as Fanny le Grand, otherwise known as Sapho, has a very difficult character to sustain, and succeeds admirably in her task, playing with consummate power, and giving a performance that is in detail most artistic, and which richly deserves the loud and continued applause that was on Monday freely awarded this talented actress. Mr. Arthur Royston, as the weak-willed Jean Gaussin, proves himself to be an actor of great force and skill by his conception of the part, which he renders with earnestness and effect. A true touch of comedy which helps to relieve the heavier portions of the play is given by Mr. A. T. Hendon in his broadly humorous delineation of Uncle Cesaire, and an excellent exposition of Flamant is that of Mr. Slaine Mills, who is to be especially commended for his efforts in the last act. Joseph is cleverly played by Miss Irene Wakefield, and Miss Constance Raymond is satisfactory as Alice Doree. Mr. Knox Monk is good as the jealous Hettema, and Miss Winifred Searson leaves nothing to be desired as Madame Hettema. Divonne receives full justice from Miss Isabel Derrie, and an intelligent reading of Caoudal is given by Mr. Frank Melrose. Dechelette is brought into prominence by Mr. Lytton, and Mr. John Barnum is a capable De Potter. The remaining characters are competently sustained by Mr. John Crome, Mr. G. Lawrence, Mr. E. C. Ashley, Mr. Edward Smith, Miss Wynter, Miss Rosa Sullivan, Miss Clara Halkin, Miss Minnie Summers, Mrs. Wakefield, and Miss Beatrice Fairfax. The scenery is elaborate, and the dresses and mounting are capital. Mr. H. Jalland is the courteous general manager for Miss Olga Nethersole.

THE STANDARD.

On Monday, Feb. 27, Benedict's Opera, in Three Acts, entitled
"THE LILY OF KILLARNEY."

The last week of the English Opera season at this theatre was commenced on Monday by Mr. J. W. Turner's company in a performance of The Lily of Killarney. The duration of the opera season has this year been shortened, but conspicuous success has attended all the performances. The interpretation of the opera by Mr. Turner's company is excellent. Mr. J. W. Turner, as Miles-na-Copaleen, rendered his music in a tasteful and finished manner, and Mr. Chas. Le Sueur gave a true picture of Hardress Cregan, and sang with considerable effect. Much praise is due to Mr. Tom Griffiths for his fine portrayal of Danny Mann, his acting being of a high order of excellence, and his vocal efforts marked by great skill. Mr. Sidney Clifford was all that could be desired as Father Tom, and Mr. George Ridding, as Corrigan, was a typical Irishman, and played his part with every show of ability. Miss Kitty Brownless is deserving of special mention as Annie Chute; her performance all through was impressive, and her voice has been carefully trained. As Mrs. Cregan, Miss Mabel Dennis was well placed, and Miss Constance Bellamy added to the charm of the performance with an exceptionally fine rendering of Eily. The piece was well staged, and the chorus and orchestra did excellent work under the direction of Mr. T. Lawton. Other operas for this week were Tannhauser, Faust, Carmen, The Bohemian Girl, Maritana, and Hänsel and Gretel, preceded by an act of The Daughter of the Regiment.

THE ELEPHANT AND CASTLE.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, by Walter Melville, entitled
"A GIRL'S CROSS-ROADS."

The first visit to the Elephant and Castle Theatre of Mr. Walter Melville's sensational drama, A Girl's Cross-roads, met with unqualified success on Monday, and a packed house enthusiastically showed its approval of the play. There is no shadow of a doubt that the piece appeals to the masses, and the many exciting and thrilling incidents with which the drama abounds add a piquant relish to the somewhat weird plot evolved by the author. The story of the downfall of a woman through the curse of drink is no new one, and Mr. Melville in this drama vividly depicts the danger of surreptitious drinking, as Barbara Wade is seen to sink, step by step, from a position of honour to the very lowest depths of poverty and squalor. A clever portraiture of Barbara was given by Miss Hilda Beverley, who acted with a sincerity that proved her to be an artiste of undeniable ability and resource. Her efforts met with the greatest appreciation from the audience, and she received several recalls at the end of the last act. A striking representation of Farmer John Meadows was given by Mr. Charles Franmore, and he thoroughly deserved the marks of approval that greeted his work. As Jack Livingstone, Mr. Cecil A. Melton played with a manly force that was convincing and natural. Toby Turvey was entrusted to the capable hands of Mr. Fred Ingram, who fully entered into the spirit of the part. The eccentricities of Toby were the cause of much merriment, and were cleverly depicted by Mr. Ingram. Miss Lilla Norden, as Tilly Vane, delineated the part in a vivacious fashion, and gave considerable assistance to Mr. Ingram in his comicalities. Cuthbert Lumley had an able exponent in Mr. P. Barry-Lewers, and Mr. John Brooks was well suited as Luke Ramsden. Miss Nellie Oliver gave a creditable performance of the wayward Nellie Meadows, whilst Miss Grace Richardson as Constance Cornell speedily became a warm favourite by reason of her charming and sympathetic acting of the part of the young school mistress. Mr. Charles Terry was excellent as Dr. Weston, and several minor characters were well played. The scenery and general mounting of the drama were unusually effective and elaborate.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, N.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Musical Play, in Three Acts, by Patrick Bidwell, composed by Clarence Lucas and Michele Esposito, entitled
"PEGGY MACHREE."

The attraction at this popular theatre this week is Mr. Charles E. Hamilton's company in Mr. Patrick Bidwell's new play, Peggy Machree. It is hard to imagine what the play would be without Miss Marie Dainton as the bewitching Peggy, and Mr. Denis O'Sullivan as the hearty and lovable Barry Trevor. Miss Dainton, full of life and spirits, and dainty in her singing, charmed the audience whenever she was on the stage. Perhaps she was at her best in "The Old Oak Tree"—a song reminiscent of a certain owl and a sycamore tree—for here her powers of mimicry found play, and this is Miss Dainton's special line. Mr. Denis O'Sullivan was a dashing Barry Trevor, and scored throughout, not only in his singing, which was as sympathetic as ever, but also in his acting, which was exceptionally free and finished. Amongst others in the cast, Miss Dorothy Garden and Miss Jenny Dawson, as the Hon. Emily Pryor and Madame de la Cour respectively, were dignified and refined, as became their station, and Miss Annie Brophy was quite equal to the part of Moira, Peggy's foster-mother. Miss Van Arnold's "Cow-girl" was all that could be desired, and Miss Ida Lawrence contributed two very welcome dances. Mr. J. Greene Campbell scored largely as the canny Scot, McDougall, and Mr. Dan Fitzgerald made all he could of the part of the piper, Michael, who never piped, by the way, but perhaps we may congratulate ourselves on this. The two gentlemen of the higher classes, Captain de la Cour and Sir Lawrence Borthwick, were well portrayed by Mr. Mark MacDermott and Mr. Erskine Lang. The latter was the "Popinjay" to the life, and fully justified the unanimity of the rest of the characters in alluding to him under the epithet. Mr. Alex. Johnstone was a good Sergeant Brampton. The chorus and mounting were adequate, and the whole play went with a swing for which Mr. Edward Jones, the musical conductor, is largely responsible.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Opera, entitled
"LOHENGRIN."

For the first time since the opening week in October, 1903, the Carl Rosa Opera Co. is paying a welcome and eagerly anticipated return visit. The manner in which their representations are given should draw all North London opera lovers to Mr. Purcell's handsome house this week, and, as a matter of fact, the place has been full for each performance, the Thursday matinée proving no exception. On Monday, the company opened with an excellent performance of Lohengrin, with Herr Julius Walther in the title-rôle. Madame Sobrino also gave a charming performance as Elsa, singing with great dramatic expression. On Tuesday evening the evergreen favourite Faust was presented, with Mr. Edward Davies in the title-rôle, Mr. Arthur Winckworth as Mephistopheles, Mr. James (Valentine), Mr. A. Richard (Wagner), Miss Anna Hope (Siebel), Miss Wilson (Martha), and Miss Lizzie Burgess as Marguerite. Miss Burgess has a voice of excellent range and quality, and gave an excellent interpretation of Marguerite. On Wednesday evening, Mozart's Don Giovanni was presented, and proved a veritable feast of good things. With three prima donnas, Madame Sobrino, Madame Una Bruckshaw, and Miss Lizzie Burgess, Herr Charles Victor, Edward Davies, and Arthur Winckworth as principals. Herr Charles Victor is an ideal Don, his acting and singing being alike admirable. Little wonder, then, that at the conclusion of his efforts he should be greeted with a prolonged outburst of applause, a well-deserved tribute to an extraordinarily clever artist. The greatest enthusiasm was also evoked by the impersonation by Madame Sobrino of Donna Anna. She sang beautifully, and with magnificent effect, and not only gave evidence of being a singer of a very high order, but also a clever actress. Miss Lizzie Burgess's beautiful voice is not heard to the greatest advantage in the part of Donna Elvira, but she still reveals the possession of great musical gifts in an unmistakable manner. Madame Una Buckshaw as Zerlina, a part that requires artistic handling, proved herself more than equal to the task, and acted and sang with great ability. Mr. Edward Davies was well suited to the part of Don Ottavia, and Mr. Arthur Winckworth was also excellently cast as Leporello. Mr. Frank Arthur (the Commandant) and Mr. Henry Butcher (Masetti) rendered able assistance. Acknowledgment should be made of the all-round excellence of the choruses; the specially augmented orchestra, under the direction of Messrs. Eugene Goossens and Walter van Noorden; and the rich costumes and elaborate scenery and stage appointments under the management of Mr. Geo. Beale. The Bohemian Girl, Rigoletto, Carmen, and Tannhäuser are also in the week's programme.

GRAND THEATRE, ISLINGTON.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Walter Melville, entitled,
"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."

Monday at this theatre marked two events—a change of proprietorship and the beginning of the dramatic season, Mr. George Davey, the late lessee, having terminated his connection with the theatre on Saturday, at the close of the pantomime. His unvarying courtesy and generosity have made him, during his régime here, one of the most popullar of North London men, and he carries with him into his retirement the esteem and regard of all the habitués of the house, an enviable distinction to which Mr. Oswald Brand and Mr. O'Connor can also lay claim. The new acting-manager here, Mr. Newman Maurice, is a gentleman well known for many amusing comedy creations at this theatre, and the popularity which he already has gained shows every sign of increasing in the near future. The drama chosen to inaugurate the legitimate season here is probably the best selection that could have been made. The Girl who Lost Her Character created a sensation in this neighbourhood last autumn on its production at the Standard Theatre, and the interest created then showed no diminution on Monday. The house was completely packed, standing room being at a premium, and the reception o fthe play was emphatically complimentary, and its success never for a moment in doubt. Mr. Melville touches on a general imperfection of human nature in each of his plays, and he always draws the moral with an unsparing hand, and this holds good in this latest production of his. Woman's frailty and man's inhumanity form its keynote, and that the painful progress of the story made its mark was abundantly evident. The construction of the play is excellent, and the mounting, as in all Mr. Melville's productions, beyond reproach. A most capable company has been engaged, including many ladies and gentlemen very well remembered here in the past for good work. Principal honours of course fell to Miss Ada Marius, who portrays the title-rôle. The part is exceptionally difficult, for almost the whole gamut of human passion is presented in rapid sequence to the audience, and, coupled with the mental effort, there is a physical strain in the second act of very great proportions—in the scene where she wrecks the Captain's rooms. We can, however, only congratulate her on a fine performance, the call she gained in the second act being thoroughly well earned. Miss Ethel Bracewell, in the juvenile part, acted nicely, and proved a most excellent foil to the former rôle. Miss Marie McAulay, as the female representative of villainy, played an intense part with conviction and success, her acting being sound and well balanced. Miss Daisy Maynard, as Isabella Jones, had a liberal share in the welcome comedy scenes, and soon established herself as a great favourite. As for the gentlemen, Mr. Edwin J. Collins, as the Rev. Robert Everton, playsd the part with that earnestness and success his previous visits here had led us to expect. It is a very pleasant rôle to play to a popular audience, and contains many good chances, of which he availed himself to the full. As Jack England Mr. Wingold Lawrence made another hit here, his excellent presence and voice making a pleasant impression. A gentleman who shared to no small extent in the general triumph was Mr. G. Hammond Asquin, whose performance as Dick Punch was exceedingly humorous and effective; his many scenes went with great "go," and he made an excellent first appearance here. Mr. John Dixon, as Rev. Cassage, did all that was possible with a small part. Mr. Frank Adair, as the Captain, is entitled to warm commendation; he played the part with that cynical humour that was so effective in the original performances, and is to be congratulated on his make-up. Mr. Wm. Fraser Brunton acted with sincerity the rôle of Sutton, and was very acceptable in the part; and Mr. Frederick Loyd, as Weatherby, the detective, was good in a small part. The scenery was in every respect distinctly above the average, and Mr. Edward Reeve's incidental music was a valuable accessory to the general success.

GRAND, FULHAM.

On Monday, Feb. 27, for the first time in London, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Langdon McCormick, entitled "HEARTS ADRIFT."

Captain Teddy	Mr. Arthur Estcourt
Edmund Gerue	Mr. Percy Rhodes
John Lane	Mr. Edwin Wilde
Robert Darney	Mr. Cecil C. Klein
Pidgeon	Mr. J. P. Dryden
Simon Green	Mr. John Gerant
Little Tim	Harry Pleon, Jun.
Sam Redway	Mr. Fred Baines
Jim Gregory	Mr. G. H. Winn
Sam Call	Mr. William Gomer
Carrier	Mr. Bert Savadge
Officer True	Mr. Joe Rogers
Rosie	Miss Dora Barton
Julia Lane	Miss Maude Tremayne
Peggy MacGuire	Miss Ella Dixon
Energy Mugs	Miss Beatrix Bell
Mother Hagslow	Miss Ada Perry

Hearts Adrift has any amount of bustle, excitement, and effective situations, and the action is never for a moment allowed to flag. Act I. opens in the office of Mr. Lane, a solicitor. To him enters Captain Teddy, a seafaring man, who in the past had broken his wife's heart, crippled one child in a fit of rage, and deserted them all. But having become rich, he wishes to make amends, and produces £10,000 in notes, which he desires the lawyer to invest for the use of his children. This money does not escape the notice of the villains, Edmund Gerue, a "promoter," and Pidgeon, an alleged inventor. The fingers of these worthies itch for the money, but they find an obstacle in Robert Darney, confidential clerk to Lane, who warns the lawyer against their schemes. He loves Rosie, the flower girl (who happens to be one of Captain Teddy's children), but is loved by Julia, niece of Mr. Lane—a lady whom we are told has a past, and is not above suspicion of taking her uncle's cash. Of course, Darney will have none of her, and this spretæ injuria formæ turns her love to hate. Presently, Pidgeon starts to "crack" the safe, and does it. He is caught by Mr. Lane, but the latter is shot by Gerue from the window of a house opposite. Needless to say, Darney is denounced as the murderer, but Captain Teddy makes a sacrifice by accusing himself of the murder.

In the next act, Captain Teddy, in the condemned cell, takes leave of his friends and children, but at the last minute the warder, who is discovered to be an ex-soldier, who owes his life to the Captain, changes places with him, and escapes. Comic relief is supplied in the doings of "Si" and Peggy in their East-End Restaurant. Their maid is one Energy Mugs, who suffers from the disease of tiredness, but is sufficiently awakened to take an interest in a little boxing with "Si." After this, Redway, the detective, comes in search of Captain Teddy. His presence is disclosed by an indiscretion on the part of Rosie, but at the critical moment he appears most effectively disguised as "Si" and the law is foiled again.

In Act III. we are taken to Pidgeon's workshop, where a lively scene occurs when the time comes to ascend in the much-talked-of airship. The virtuous party succeed in annexing both the notes and the airship, and Gerue is left behind at the end of the tow-rope. In the next act we find them in hiding in the Essex Marshes. A plot to poison the Captain is foiled by the crippled boy, who changes the poisoned cup, and in an affecting scene the Captain succeeds in winning the forgiveness of his children, before the detective carries him off. The final act takes place in the garden of the Lanes' country house. Gerue is married to Julia, but his felicity is disturbed by the arrival of a stranger, who poses as a long-lost brother of Mr. Lane, bent on probing the mystery of his death. By some ingenious cross-questioning, he induces Gerue to incriminate himself, and then throws off his disguise, and appears as Captain Teddy. Again the police appear on the scene. There is a lively display of firearms, and Julia shoots her husband, and then herself.

Mr. Estcourt, as Captain Teddy, plays throughout with much earnestness and sincerity; Mr. Percy Rhodes is a capable exponent of Gerue; Mr. Klein, as Darney, is an interesting hero—not so foolish as the hero is usually shown; Mr. Dryden gives a good study as Pidgeon, as also does Mr. Fred Baines as a detective; Master Harry Pleon, as the crippled child, is quite a success; Miss Dora Barton is a sympathetic heroine; and Miss Maude Tremayne, as Julia, both looks and acts like a lady of "grit." Considerable praise is due to Miss Ella Dixon, who acts brightly as Peggy MacGuire, and there is plenty of fun when she and her swain, Simon (capably acted by Mr. John Gerant) hold the stage. Minor parts were effectively taken by Miss Beatrix Bell, as Energy Muggs, and Miss Ada Perry, as Mother Hagslow.

EALING THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Comedy, in Four Acts, by I. Zangwill, entitled "MERELY MARY ANN."

Merely Mary Ann is drawing crowded houses at Mr. Arthur Carlton's superb theatre. The aristocratic, but poor, Lancelot is portrayed with obvious sincerity by Mr. Douglas Gerrard, who becomes very passionate in parts, delivering his lines with impressive power. Miss Nita Faydon, who combines youthful grace with dramatic qualities of rare excellence, thoroughly succeeds in depicting the innocent, gentle, and lovable nature of Mary Ann, and where the pathos of the rôle calls for adequate expression she excels. Mr. N. Carlow Grand, as Peter, is most effective, and does justice to all the numbers allotted him, and Mr. J. W. Macdonald is a comical study as the Rev. Samuel Smedge, creating much amusement. The bumptious Herr Brohmson is finely acted by Mr. Herbert Greville. Mr. Edward Jephson cuts a quaint figure as Lord Tottenham after his motoring ride. Mrs. Gwynneth Golton, a lodging-house keeper, is capably enacted by Mrs. Leadbetter, who is ably assisted by Miss Kathleen Coleman as Rosie. The Sisters Tuppitt are in the hands of Miss Enid Hall and Miss Violet Greville, who are at their best, and Miss Edith Hunter is pleasing and satisfactory as the professional chaperon, Lady Chelmer. The inquisitive Lady Gladys Tottenham is commendably portrayed by the winsome Miss Mabel Taylor, and Miss Violet Tagg is good, and deserves praise. The minor parts are successfully undertaken by Mr. Herbert Chown and Miss Margaret Marshall, and congratulations are due to Messrs. Addison Bright and Walter Maxwell for the excellent company they have. Mr. F. S. Jennings is the capable resident manager.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Comic Opera, entitled
"VERONIQUE."

An enthusiastic reception was extended to Veronique on its initial appearance at Stratford on Monday night. The piece is superbly mounted, and well interpreted by Mr. George Dance's company. Miss Ruth Lincoln makes a fascinating Veronique, and sings delightfully, her "swinging" song especially being in high favour. Miss Maud Boyd plays Madame Coquenard excellently, and her charming vocalisation affords keen pleasure. Miss Lena Maitland's rendering of the Countess de Champ Azur is in true comedy vein, and Miss Gracie Sinclair is a captivating Denise. Mr. Leslie Holland is well suited as Mons. Coquenard, and his untiring efforts to amuse are rewarded with unstinted applause. Florestan de Vallancourt has a buoyant and dashing representative in Mr. Scott Russell, whose fine voice is heard to great advantage in the numbers allotted to him. Mr. Ivan Berlyn is very droll and amusing as Mons. Loustôt, and a decidedly clever performance as Seraphin comes from Mr. Tom Shelford. Miss Button Barton plays appropriately as Aunt Benoit; and Mr. Ernest Cresfan, Mr. Tom Robertson, Mr. Herbert Dickeson, and Mr. Frank Rickards render minor parts capitally. The orchestra is this week augmented, and under the direction of Mr. Victor Champion.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Arthur Shirley and E. Hill Mitchelson, entitled
"I DEFY THE WORLD."

The return visit of this piece attracted a large audience to the Stratford Theatre Royal on Monday night, and its many thrilling situations appeared to keenly interest those present. Mr. Julian Malvern's company very successfully interprets the piece, which is exceedingly well mounted. Mr. Roy Fortesque plays Leon Darville with much ability and resource, possessing an excellent stage presence and fine declamatory powers. Mr. Richard Vane easily succeeds in arousing the ire of the more susceptible among the audience by his effective acting as the truculent Count de Beaulieu; and Mr. Alfred Denning makes a soldierly and dignified General Delaporte. Mr. Chas. Conway causes many a thrill by his vivid delineation of the hunch-backed blackmailer Laroche, and Mr. H. Creagh Hunt does well as André. Mr. Chas. M. Julian causes plenty of amusement as Samuel Wozzle, and Najac and Bochon are successfully interpreted by Mr. A. Raymond Shaw and Mr. Harry Emerson respectively. Miss Malvern plays with much realism and force as Blanche Darville, and Miss Trixie St. Albans is a tender and sympathetic Pauline Delaporte. Miss Lillah Shelton is a vivacious Marie Wozzle, and Miss Flo Bevan plays little Fanchette very intelligently. Minor parts are in capable hands.

WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Frederick Melville, entitled "HER FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE."

This interesting play of human life proved a most potent attraction to the loyal West London playgoers, who turned up in full force to welcome the reappearance of Mr. Frederick Melville's talented company. In the repulsive character of Charles Devereux Mr. Clarence Hague fairly revelled, and the merits of his performance were but enhanced by the pronounced hostility that his various entrances always evoked. The low comedy powers of Mr. Alfred Wellesley found ample scope for their development in the amusing character of Timothy Tuttutt. Mr. Wellesley kept things going in capital style whilst he was on the stage, his efforts being ably seconded by Miss Marie Kildare as Pattie Lovejoy. Miss Kildare is an old Marylebone favourite, her popularity but increasing with each succeeding visit. Mr. Edgar L. Hocking caused much hilarity as the old rustic, Joe Lampkin; Mr. Bernard Liell did well as Geoffrey Broughton; Mr. Charles Willowby was creditable as John Williams; Mr. Gilbert Heron was decidedly impressive as the Rev. Mr. Dean; Mr. Fred L. Allen was good as the much-worried Sir George Lancaster; Mr. W. Browning should be mentioned for his Dr. Fenwick; and Mr. Horace Hunter enacted George Madison with much earnestness and restrained force. The trying rôle of Lucy was sustained by Miss Isla Garnet Vane, in a sympathetic and delightful way; Miss Georgette Thierry, as Lady Lucretia Lancaster, was full of energy and passion, her enunciation being exceptionally clear; and Miss Barbara Gott, in the important part of the Mother Superior, played with quiet dignity and ease. The piece was staged and mounted with that lavishness always expected in a Melville production, the general-manager being the experienced Mr. John A. Atkin.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, by Edward Thane, entitled
"THE MOCKERY OF MARRIAGE."

Miss Olga Audre and company are appearing here this week in The Mockery of Marriage. The piece abounds with incident and excitement, and the cast is equal to all emergencies. Miss Olga Audre is forcible as Alva Kenyon, the wife of one of the most relentless stage villains conceivable, and becomes a firm favourite with the audience. Dick Kenyon is represented with stoical hardness by Mr. Arthur Wimpenny. One of his chief companions in wickedness is Seth Pearce, a detestable character, vividly played by Mr. Frank Dalton. Mr. Talbot Hindley, as Old Pete, reminds one of Uncle Tom, and the part is well played. Mr. Charles Boult as Jack Stanley, Mr. Will Skelton as Toby Wright, Mrs. Sydney Halling as Mary Ann, and Mr. Harry Nelson as Silas Dingle, all help materially in sustaining the interest of the story; and the cast also includes Mr. Harold Graham, Miss Florence Zillwood, Miss Sullivan, Mr. Harry Stebbing, Mr. C. Ellis, and Mr. L. Collard. The Four Aces go through a clever acrobatic performance during the fourth act.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

"THE GIRL FROM JAPAN."

The Girl from Japan met with a favourable reception on Monday from a house crowded in all parts, the humour of the comedians and the brightness of the music and dances combining to ensure a satisfactory evening's entertainment. Most of the success is certainly due to the efforts of Mr. Frank Sherlock, who, as Bingle, a man of many capacities, from bailiff to Nabob, contrives to excite hearty laughter by his resourceful methods and comical acting. Lord Allenbury is played by Mr. George Hudson very pleasantly, his songs being also admirably rendered. The Sir Mulberry Flippington of Mr. Charles Lupton is a clever piece of work, and Mr. Percy Baverstock makes an exceedingly brisk General Baugh. Mr. H. Carlyle Prichard sustains the character of the Rev. John Smith with much ability, and Horatio Binks is well placed in the hands of Mr. Colet Dare. Miss Rita Tomkins is a fascinating Polly Perkins, her appearance and deportment being all that could be desired. Lady Flippington is energetically rendered by Miss Florence Nelson, and Miss Effie Rydon undertakes the Countess de la Rue with happy results. Miss Dorothy Glenton makes a dainty and winsome Violet (the girl from Japan), and scores a conspicuous success. The artistic dancing of Miss Jean Van Dalle is a bright feature of the production. The chorus is very animated, and sings with expression.

LYRIC OPERA HOUSE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Drama, by Max Goldberg, entitled
"THE RICH AND POOR OF LONDON."

Melodrama, as presented by Mr. Samuel James's stock company, still holds sway at this house, and this week's production, The Rich and Poor of London, is an excellent sample of what is to the taste of the Lyric's patrons, for the theatre is crowded nightly. Mr. Douglas Vigors is seen to much advantage in the part of Dr. Leonard Morton, and Mr. A. P. Kaye plays exceedingly well as Gussie Lamb. A remarkably clever rendering of Spider Jack is given by Mr. Robert Forsythe, his impersonation meeting with marked approval. Conspicuous ability is shown by Mr. Fowler Thatcher in the character of Matthew Grabham, and Mr. Henry St. Leger ably sustains the rôle of Billy Binks. Mr. Edward Boddy is a capable representative of Daniel Drake, and Mr. Carter Blight acts acceptably as the Earl of Ravenswood. Mr. J. J. Bartlett revels in the villainies of Mark Standing, and receives the loudly expressed odium of the audience with his usual sangfroid. Miss Florence Dalton, looking very handsome as the notorious Ruby Redgrave, plays with rare power and ability. As May Braithwaite, Miss Daisy Scudamore acts with much sympathy and feeling, and Miss Lucy Beaumont makes a very animated and pert Polly Philpot. Miss Blanche Stanley gives an excellent character sketch of the repulsive Auntie Scrimp. The two children, Seadrift and Dixie, are deserving of high commendation, as played by Miss Ida Thompson and Miss Marie Aida Dowsing.

GRAND, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Comedy, by Brandon Thomas, entitled
"CHARLEY'S AUNT."

There could be no doubt in the mind of anyone present at the Grand, Woolwich, on Monday, that the general public finds the vagaries of Charley's Aunt as amusing as ever. Mr. Brandon Thomas's company was in fine form on Monday, and rattled through the piece at the express speed essential to its successful interpretation. Mr. Thomas himself played Colonel Chesney, and, aided by a good stage presence, and the practised actor's appreciation of the possibilities of every line of his part, gave a capital impersonation. Mr Stanley Cooke's Lord Fancourt Babberley was a most laughable performance, and to say that he kept his audience in a continual state of amusement would be a mild way of describing the shouts of merriment which were continuous while he had possession of the stage. Stephen Spettigue found a capable representative in Mr. Simon Ord, whose dryly humorous style and clever make-up were irresistibly comic. Mr. Arthur Soames was responsible for an excellent rendering of Jack Chesney, and Mr. R. B. Mason made the most of Charley Wykeham. Miss Lena MacNaughten was an imposing Donna Lucia, her calm manner and the quiet humour with which she delivered her lines adding to the value of her impersonation. Miss Violet Cooper acted charmingly as Kitty Vernon; Miss Geraldine Greville was equally successful as Amy Spettigue; and Miss Dorrie Roberts submitted a pleasing rendering of Ela Delahay.

BRIXTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the adaptation of Wilkie Collins' novel, entitled
"THE NEW MAGDALEN."

Miss Lilian Dundas' company is appearing here this week in the well-known adaptation of Wilkie Collins' novel, The New Magdalen. The piece is interpreted by a company, including Miss Lilian and Mr. Henry Dundas. Miss Dundas gives an excellent impersonation of Mercy Merrick, who passes herself off as Grace Roseberry, and in her scenes with Julian Grey, a clergyman, splendidly played by Mr. Henry Dundas, she gives a very pathetic rendering of a broken-hearted woman. Miss Ethel Carullon gives a good account of herself as the real Grace Roseberry; Mrs. Walter Bentley makes an excellent and motherly Lady Janet Roy; Mr. A. W. Tyrer is good as the War Correspondent, Horace Holmcroft; Mr. Arthur Lewis makes an ideal servant. Mr. E. Barrington Foote and Mr. A. Mansfield, as Surgeon Surville and Captain Arville of the French Army, are good; and the Ignatius Wetzel of Mr. Sidney Young is a splendid study of a German surgeon. Mr. John Hatton is good as his assistant, and Mr. Vivian does well as the Detective Chisholm. The play is well mounted, and the uniforms and dresses add to the attractiveness of the performance. On Monday evening a special souvenir was given to all the ladies in the audience in the form of a copy of the novel.

GREENWICH THEATRE.

"THE GRIP OF THE LAW."

Mr. Frederic Moule's sensational drama, entitled The Grip of the Law, is exceedingly well acted by Messrs. Moule and Nicholls' clever company. Mr. Herbert Evelyn gives an artistic rendering of the difficult part of Noel of the Night. Mr. Edwin Maydew is an agreeable and painstaking representative of Dave Arkwright. Mr. William Matthews is highly successful as Frank Paul; Mr. Courtney Robertson is excellent as Jacob Hockaday; Mr. Sam Roberts is a great favourite as Andy Blunt; Mr. Stevenson, as Ezra Brown, is good, as is Mr. W. Garrick as Inspector Martin; Mr. James Hill is an effective Sir Digby Dunstan; and Mr. Hal Lowe a competent Gabriel Pilgrim. Miss Ada Lucelle is excellent as Mrs. Raddiscombe; Miss Olive Parker, as Marian Arkwright, acts admirably; Miss Ada Frank causes much amusement by her clever impersonation of Beaulah Bliss; and Miss May Grayse adds greatly to the success of the play by her gentle and attractive rendering of the part of Rose Hockaday.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.

On Monday, Feb. 27, the Romantic Play, in Four Acts, by Robert Stephen and E. Lyall Swete, entitled

"MISS ELIZABETH'S PRISONER."

There have been good houses at the Royal County Theatre, Kingston, this week, to witness this most attractive and interesting play, which is being presented by Mr. Lewis Waller's company under the personal direction of Mr. Peter Davey. The play is staged and acted in a manner worthy of a production that achieved such success at the Imperial Theatre, and the tour, which commenced recently, has proved up till now a gratifying success. A most capable cast is engaged in the production, the leading rôle, that of Miss Elizabeth Philipse, being portrayed by Miss Essex Dane, who charms her audience with a fine conception of the part. The part of Captain Harry Payton is filled by Mr. Norman Partridge with marked ability, and a fine interpretation of the part of Mr. Valentine is given by Mr. J. Harold Carson. Mr. Elliot Ball gives satisfaction as the bluff Major Colden. A word of commendation is also deserved by Miss Marguerite Cellier, as Molly Edwards; by Mr. F. Cellier, jun., as Sergeant Carrington; by Mr. Arthur Somers, as John Edwards; and by Miss Leonora Braham, as Mistress Sarah Williams. The play is preceded by the commedietta, The Borrowed Uncle, in which the parts are played as follows:—John Griffin, Mr. Arthur Somers; Dr. Arthur Wakefield, Mr. F. Cellier, jun.; Timothy Felby, Mr. J. Harold Carson; and Lucy Winwood, Miss Marguerite Cellier.

"MR. SMITH."

A Comedy Drama, in Three Acts, by Walter Reynolds. Played for the first time at the Theatre Royal, Nottingham, on Monday, Feb. 27.

Mr. Earle Godwyn Smith	MR. HAMILTON STEWART

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The author of the above-named play is a prolific writer in the realms of melodrama, but in Mr. Smith he has ventured into pastures new, and not without success. The cognomen of Smith covers a personality who finds it necessary, in the interests of the masses, to utter strong invectives against the anomalies and social customs of the classes, and this he does with a freedom and vigour that are heartily relished by the audience. The play contains many delightful bits of humour and some dainty passages of pathetic emotion, and the interest is kept alive right up to the finish. The story runs as follows:—Mr. Smith, a young engineer, has risen from the ranks, and his attainments have brought him into close touch with the Government, thereby gaining him great notoriety. While at Harrogate, he meets and falls in love with Lady Mary Angleland, one of a noble house whose ancestors reach back to the eleventh century. His love is returned, but the lady greatly fears his introduction to her proud and haughty relatives. Taking advantage of his Christian names being Earle Godwyn, Lady Mary mentions him as such to her mother, but Smith absolutely declines to be party to any deceit. Lady Mary cannot be married without the consent of the Duchess, the Earl and Lord Angleland, and Smith is quickly made aware of their refusal to the alliance. Nevertheless, he determines to overcome all obstacles and gain the lady of his choice. The Earl of Oxted is an enthusiastic dabbler in engineering, and through the influence of Smith some of his plans are accepted by the Government, his prejudices towards Smith being thus overcome. The Duchess was favourably impressed with the young engineer from the first, and, happening to overhear a conversation between the two lovers, she realises the true worth of his nature, and her proud scruples are entirely removed. The last and bitterest opponent is Lord Angleland, whose riotous manner of living has brought him perilously in danger of the law, but the timely interference of Smith, who averts a scandal, brings this objector into line. At this juncture, Smith is offered a baronetcy, which he promptly declines, preferring to remain "Mr. Smith." Mr. Reynolds has gathered around him an excellent company, and the fall of each curtain brought several recalls. Mr. Hamilton Stewart played Smith with a quiet dignity and restrained method that made his performance worthy of all praise, and the audience showed marked appreciation of his efforts. Mr. F. Lumsden Hare, as Lord Angleland, aptly assumed the arrogance and callousness of the young rake, and Mr. Sydney Blow played with incisive force as his friend, the Hon. Dudley Dysart. Mr. Henry Latimer put so much vigour into the rôle of the Earl of Oxted, that the portrayal lacked somewhat the necessary dignity. Mr. E. Dagnall added a fine touch of humour to his interpretation of Anheuser, and Mr. Arthur Burne gave an earnest and capable rendering as Jack Berkeley. Miss Olive Temple endowed the part of Lady Mary with a tender charm that won all hearts, and Miss Phyllis Relph offered a rich character study of Ruth Anheuser with her usual ease and ability. Miss Agnes Knights submitted a refined impersonation of the Duchess of Angleland, Miss Henrietta Cowen presented an intelligent reading of Mrs. Smith, and Miss Linda Ylderson was an efficient maid. At the final fall of the curtain, in response to calls for the author, Mr. Reynolds expressed his thanks for the appreciation of his play, adding that he had a tender spot in his heart for Nottingham, as it was on that stage he first made his appearance in 1874.

PRESENTATION.—On Saturday, Feb. 25, at the Avenue Theatre, Sunderland, Master Randolph Churchill, the son of W. J. Churchill, was presented with a gold-mounted walking-stick, also a silver watch, from the members of the Sleeping Beauty company. With thanks on behalf of my son, believe me, yours, &c., W. CHURCHILL.

"DER STROM."

A Drama, in Three Acts, by Max Halbe, produced for the first time in England, at the Great Queen-street Theatre, on Monday, Feb. 27.

Frau Philippine Doorn	IDA WEISS
Peter Doorn	RUDOLF LEYRER
Heinrich Doorn	HANS STOCK
Jakob Doorn	HEINZ PABST
Renate	ROSA BERTENS
Reinhold Ulrichs	MAX BEHREND
Hanne	ADELE MEYSEL

Frau Rosa Bertens, of the Deutsches Theater, Berlin, had a very cordial reception on making her first appearance at the Great Queen-street Theatre on Monday night, in Herr Max Halbe's drama, Der Strom. This piece was in strong contrast to recent productions in the series of German plays being presented at this house, the deeply tragic element forming the predominant feature of Herr Halbe's work. The primitive passions of the men and women who take part in the story are powerfully depicted, and the technical skill shown by the author also wins warm admiration. He contrives to impress one with the fact that mere man cuts a very poor figure upon the stage of life when his destinies are at the mercy of the forces of nature; and the element of doubt and dread thus induced pervades the play from beginning to end. Peter Doorn and his family dwell in a country place, where their lives are always threatened by the river which runs close to the house. The stream is dammed up by strong breakwaters, but should they give way the house and its inhabitants are doomed. With Peter Doorn and his wife, Renate, live his grandmother and his younger brother, Jakob. Peter is a moody, melancholy man. He has committed a grievous sin, and his guilty conscience allows him no peace. When his father died Peter Doorn destroyed the will which equally divided the property amongst the old man's three sons. Jakob was sent to the village school, and eventually became a mere labourer on the farm, while Heinrich, the second son, left home to seek a living. In the relentless river the Doorns' two children were drowned, and seeing in this calamity a punishment for his crime, he has made a full confession to his wife. The secret is also shared by the grandmother and an aged labourer known as Reinhold Ulrichs. When Heinrich arrives on the scene quite unexpectedly, he does not receive the cordial welcome he naturally expected, and he is chilled by the air of gloom which prevails. He is an engineer, and his mission is to make an examination of the breakwaters and strengthen them. He and Renate were once sweethearts, and he tells her that he has been married but has lost both wife and child. Renate's old love for him re-awakens, and she is about to tell him her husband's shameful secret, but is interrupted by Jakob, who, jealous of his brother, invents the story that he is wanted at the works. A passionate scene between Peter and his wife follows, as he refuses to confess to his brothers how he has defrauded them of their heritage. At last she herself tells Heinrich, who protects her from the violence of her enraged husband. At this moment there are loud cries heard without that the stream is rising, and the men rush forth to ascertain what is happening, bringing the third act to a very dramatic conclusion. In the last act, Peter, confronted by his two younger brothers, denies the truth of his wife's admission, and threatens to turn them out. Jakob, furious at the turn affairs have taken, rushes out, and, going to the breakwater, begins to dig furiously at its foundations. Peter interrupts him, and in the struggle which follows both are carried away by the stream. "Peter has saved us all, Renate," exclaims Heinrich, "and Jakob has fallen a sacrifice—who dare call him guilty?"

Frau Rosa Bertens quite justified her selection for the part of Renate by an admirable performance, in which she represented with telling force and fidelity the feelings of a woman placed in a terribly trying position—despising her husband, and at the same time open to the temptation of yielding to an old lover. At the conclusion of the third act the curtain was raised three or four times, so hearty and general was the applause. Herr Rudolf Leyrer also played well the part of Peter Doorn; and Herr Hans Stock was natural and appropriately passionate as Heinrich. Herr Heinz Pabst, as Jakob, excellently portrayed the intensity of the youth's feelings for his elder brother's wife. Herr Max Behrend presented a capital sketch of old Reinhold Ulrichs, and Fräulein Ida Weiss was good as the aged, decrepit grandmother. Fräulein Adele Meysel, as the maid-servant, Hanne, completed the cast.

"THE LONELY MILLIONAIRES."

A New and Original Comedy, in Three Acts, by Mrs. Henry de la Pasture, Produced at the Royal Court Theatre, on Saturday, Feb. 25.

Thomas Frankland	MR. FRANK MORRIS
Christina	MISS IONE MACDONALD
Miss Moreton	MRS. HAROLD WHITAKER
Lady Medwyn	MRS. HENRY DE LA PASTURE
Luigi Peretta	HON. STEPHEN POWYS
Doctor Buller	MR. W. FARREN, JUN.
Lord Frederick Hereswid	MR. HAROLD WHITAKER
Sir Charles Ducarel, Bart.	THE EARL OF ALTAMONT
Joseph Lipscombe	MR. EDWARD ELIOTT
Maria	MISS ANNIE SCHLETTER

It is not often that we get such a charming and really clever new comedy produced by amateurs as that which Mrs. Henry de la Pasture first presented to an audience on Saturday afternoon. The title of the piece—The Lonely Millionaires—is appropriate to the subject matter. One Thomas Frankland, a retired cotton spinner and a millionaire, takes up his residence, along with his daughter, at Cleddon Hall, the former owner of which, Sir Charles Ducarel, has, at the time the story opens, redeemed his shattered fortunes abroad, and is now a millionaire. In the hope that he may find some means of regaining the old hall, he succeeds in obtaining a position as secretary to Frankland, at a salary of £100 a year. In spite of the fact, however, that Ducarel assumes the title of plain "Mr. Charles," in order to hide his identity, he is recognised by Lady Medwyn, now in the employ of the millionaire Frankland as chaperon to the latter's daughter, Christina. Fifteen years previously, before Ducarel became a prosperous Buenos Ayres merchant, he had been a great admirer of Lady Medwyn, and even now, in the soberer prime of life, he felt that the old attachment had returned to him, if not exactly with the former vigour, at least with a greater steadfastness. But for some reason or other, Lady Medwyn does not favour his suit, and we are very soon told the reason why. The retired cotton spinner is anxious that his daughter, Christina, a pampered young lady, who is already giving her father trouble as the result of being spoilt, should marry as soon as possible, so that he can get her off his hands and settle down to a life of quiet retirement. His intentions, however, are that Lady Medwyn shall share his retirement. The suitors to the hand of the millionaire's daughter are, of course, several and varied. One is a Lord Frederick Hereswid, a gilded fop, who has been appointed land agent to Frankland. But the one who has made the strongest impression upon the girl's untutored mind—untutored, that is, so far as love and the meaning of existence are concerned—is Luigi Peretta, her drawing master. Luigi is her first love, and Christina has been told that the earliest affection is the truest and most lasting one. The Italian does not hesitate to take advantage of his position, the dowry, and not the girl, being the object he aims at securing. The anniversary of Christina's birthday is to be celebrated by the fulfilment of a promise previously made by her father that he will give her whatever she most desires. But when she gravely informs her parent that what she most desires is the permission to marry Luigi Peretta, Frankland withdraws from his promise. He recognises—as does everybody else with the sole exception of the girl—that the only thing the wily Italian cares about is the money which will become Christina's upon her wedding-day. To get rid of the drawing-master in such a way that he will never again come in contact with Christina is the problem which Frankland and his secretary set themselves to solve. After some bargaining, Luigi agrees to surrender all claims to the girl and to leave the country upon receiving a consideration in the shape of a cheque for £5,000. The document he signs to this effect is shown to Christina, who believes that the Italian's acceptance and his relinquishing her for a sum of money are nothing less than a cruel plot to get rid of him. But the trouble does not end there, for the girl is suddenly found to be missing. Not unnaturally, it is thought that she has left for London to join Luigi. Ducarel follows in hot haste. Arriving at the Italian's studio, he finds a woman and a couple of cots containing babies. He learns that the woman is Luigi's wife and the children are Luigi's children. Later there enters Christina, in search of her late drawing-master. When she discovers that Luigi is not free to marry her, and how badly he has deceived her, her feeling towards this man changes to bitter hatred. A few minutes later the redoubtable Luigi appears before them, and as he is confronted both by Christina and Ducarel, astonishment and fear for the moment make him spellbound. There is an angry scene, Ducarel takes the girl away, and in the end they become united, as also do Lady Medwyn and Frankland.

The story was pleasantly told by a company of talented amateurs. By far the best-acted part is that of Thomas Frankland, as brought before us by Mr. Frank Morris. Mr. Morris gives us a really clever study of a rough and ready, honest, and hard-working man who has risen in the world. We think, however, that Mr. Morris might have given a little more attention to his dialogue. Mr. W. Farren, jun., had very little to do as Dr. Buller, but that little was done well. The Hon. Stephen Powys exhibited careful training, and not a little histrionic ability, in the rôle of the Italian drawing-master, while the character of the sententious butler, Joseph Lipscombe, was admirably portrayed by Mr. Edward Eliot. Among the ladies first praise must be given to Miss Annie Schletter, who, as the offended and deceived wife of the Italian, gave us a highly dramatic picture. Mrs. Henry de la Pasture, the authoress, was quiet, unaffected, and demure as the widow, Lady Medwyn; and the Earl of Altamont presented a creditable performance of Sir Charles Ducarel, the erstwhile secretary. Miss Ione Macdonald charmed everybody with her Christina, and Mr. Harold Whitaker provided some funny moments as the conceited Lord Frederick Hereswid. It should be mentioned that three performances of The Lonely Millionaires were given in aid of the Girls' Club (St. Martin's-street, Leicester-square), the Blue Lamp, and the Cornwall Club.

"AT EVENSONG."

Play, in One Act, by Fewlass Llewellyn, given for the first time at the Gaiety Theatre, Hastings, on Monday, Feb. 27.

Rev. John Dykes, M.A.	MR. PERCY D. STANDING
Jack Dykes	MR. ROLAND DANIEL
Harry Charlwood	MR. C. W. STANDING
Verger	MR. WM. ALLISON
Grace Templeton	MISS JOAN ELLIS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The action of this little play takes place at a vicarage, where the vicar is discovered at his devotional reading just prior to evensong in the adjoining church. His only son, Jack, lies under the accusation of stealing a bag of gold from the bank at which he was employed, and the result of his trial is being awaited with dread. The vicar expresses himself unequal to conduct the service, when Jack enters with the joyful news that he has been acquitted, mainly, he believes, through the good offices of his friend, Harry Charlwood, who was one of the jury, and had brought the others over to his view. Grace Templeton, the vicar's ward, is betrothed to Jack, and during his incarceration it has come to her knowledge that she is heiress to a large fortune, and the young folk are happy in their future prospects. Jack leaves to interview the bankers as to his reinstatement, and in the interval Harry appears, and is warmly thanked by the vicar for his services to his son. Being temporarily left alone with Grace, Harry, who is under the impression she is Jack's sister, declares his love, and asks her to marry him. Grace enlightens him as to her position towards Jack, who returns much dejected, saying his employers still believed him guilty. Harry expresses his determination of emigrating to South Africa, and Jack at once says he will join him and win back a fair name. Harry persuades him to remain and live down the bankers' suspicions. Moved by Jack's evident anguish, a great mental struggle takes place in Harry's mind, and he eventually confesses that it was himself who had taken the bag of gold: he was in dire need of money in order to provide for his ailing mother, and could not resist the temptation. At this point the church organ peals forth, the choir chanting the "Nunc Dimittis" is heard, and the curtain descends upon Harry declaring he will himself write to the bankers and exonerate his friend. Mr. Percy D. Standing was thoroughly well suited to his impersonation of the vicar, every word and gesture conveyed the impression of a chastened sorrow and a noble mind, suggestive of honourable resolves. Mr. Roland Daniel successfully assumed the exuberant joy of an honourable man released from an undeserved degradation, as well as his bitter humiliation and despair at his employers' injustice. Mr. C. W. Standing delineated the unstable family friend, and his remorse at the finish was forcefully conveyed. Mr. Allison, as the verger, had only a small opportunity, but delivered his lines most effectively. Miss Joan Ellis was charmingly sympathetic as Grace Templeton.

SIGNOR ZOCCHI, of the Paris Opéra Comique, recently accepted an engagement to sing in Lakmé, at Rouen, at a Sunday matinée; and was also billed to appear at the Paris Opéra Comique, in Cavalleria Rusticana, the same evening at eight. He arranged to catch a train from Rouen at 4.58, which would bring him into Paris at 6.40, giving him time to dress for the Opéra Comique performance. The train, however, was two hours late; so the tenor chartered a motor to intercept the six o'clock express at Mantes. The motor was delayed by a gendarme; and the train was lost. Signor Zocchi reached Paris at nine, and found himself in time for Cavalleria. For fulfilling an engagement at Rouen without leave he was fined 2,000f.; and, on examination, discovered that he had lost from his pockets the entire amount he had received for his Rouen engagement.

"JINNY THE CARRIER," a four-act comedy, by Israel Zangwill, was produced at the Park Theatre, Boston, on the 20th ult. The scenes are laid in the County of Essex, about twenty-five years ago. Miss Annie Russell appeared as Jinny Quarles, the village carrier. The story deals with the attempt of Will Flynt, the rival carrier, who has been in Canada, to introduce progressive ideas into his native village. Jinny's father, old Gaffer Quarles, with a fine fund of antiquated humour which borders on pathos, is one of the best characters in the comedy, this rôle being effectively played by Mr. Fuller Mellish. Mr. Oswald Yorke appeared as Will Flynt, and Mr. George W. Wilson impersonated the village deacon. By all accounts Mr. Zangwill has written a sweet, wholesome play, rather talky, and somewhat deficient in action, but full of strong character drawing. The piece was well received, Miss Russell and the principal members of her company responding to repeated curtain calls.

"MISS JACK."

A Comedy, in Three Acts, Played at the Brixton Theatre on Saturday Afternoon, Feb. 25.

Captain Ralph Alderson	Mr. ERIC MAYNE
Duke of St. Aubyn	Mr. H. GOMER MAY
Gerald Tenby	Mr. EDMUND WALLER
Lord Leighton	Mr. J. HENNESSEY
Mr. Smithson	Mr. FREDERICK JACQUES
Rev. Silas Yapp	Mr. E. STRICKLAND
Fisher	Mr. EDGAR J. COYNE
Countess of Desborough	Miss ROSEMARY REES
Duchess of St. Aubyn	Miss ETHEL WARWICK
Mrs. Yapp	Miss MINNIE RAYNER
Craven	Miss ETHEL RAINFORTH
Clarisse	Miss MADGE BERESFORD
Madame Chabot	Miss ALICE LANGLEY
Jacqueline Fitzmaurice	Mrs. LEWIS WALLER

Smartness is not over-prominent in the comedy above named, which, by arrangement with the "Smart Set" Publishing Company, was introduced to London playgoers on Saturday, having been first produced at the St. James's Theatre, Manchester, last December. The humour is of the mildest, and not always new, and the story makes no decided claims upon the attention, the closest observance being baffled at times in its pursuit. The author is scandalised at the doings of Society, but no new light is thrown upon their iniquities, and he is happiest when portraying the peculiarities of humbler folk. Aristocrats abound in the story, the opening of which introduces us to the home of the Countess of Desborough, a widow whose resources have completely run out through over-indulgence in gambling. To her Miss Jacqueline Fitzmaurice, a young American girl, who pretends to be wealthy, comes with a double motive—first, to gain an entrée into Society, and secondly to punish Lady Desborough for jilting Col. Ralston, a friend of her father's, who had eventually died in Colorado. She gains her first point by holding out a bundle of love-letters which my lady had sent to Ralston, and threatening to make them public if she should refuse to chaperone her, and the second she abandons when she learns from Captain Ralph Alderson, a friend of the Countess, that the latter is innocent of blame in the transaction. The Captain is an impressionable man, and has fallen in love with the heroine of a story he had heard on his travels in Colorado, of a young lady who had single-handed rescued an Englishman from a band of half-castes, just as they were preparing the stake. He has vowed to seek out the lady and marry her, but he waits until the very last before disclosing what the audience foresee at once—that "Miss Jack," as Jacqueline is called, and the heroine are identical. "Miss Jack" has a gay time with the Countess of Desborough, with whom she has become fast friends, and is the "rage" of the London season. She has many wooers and a corresponding number of enemies, more especially among the ladies, who are rejoiced when the bank where her money is deposited fails, and the small sum that constitutes her fortune is gone. Captain Alderson comes to the rescue, and after dissipating the malicious rumours that have been circulated, offers his heart and hand to "Miss Jack." There is another worthy young man who loves Jacqueline, and to whom a certain Duchess pays dishonourable court, but what becomes of him no clue is given, while of the ultimate fate of the countess chaperone, who without her protégée is penniless, we are left equally in doubt.

All Mrs. Lewis Waller's vivacity and piquancy were required to maintain the interest of the title-rôle. Young ladies who rival the sterner sex in pluck and intrepidity have figured so many times in romance that there is nothing remarkable about "Miss Jack"; but Mrs. Waller made her conspicuous by a charming manner and by the pleasing shades of variety which she introduced into her American accent, at the same time stimulating the laughter by her merry style and impulsive actions. Mr. Eric Mayne played the part of Captain Alderson in a polished manner, acting expressively in the few love-making moments which the cautious captain permitted himself. Miss Rosemary Rees was pleasant and prepossessing as the Countess of Desborough, and the spite and malice of the Duchess of St. Aubyn were cleverly contrasted with her effusive amiability by Miss Ethel Warwick, whose appearance in the part gave it stateliness and grace. The Duke of St. Aubyn, a dull-witted scion of nobility, was played with characteristic drollery by Mr. H. Gomer May; and the impecunious and unprincipled Lord Leighton—the best conceived character in the piece—received excellent interpretation at the hands of Mr. J. Henessey. A ludicrous curate was cleverly held up to ridicule by Mr. E. Strickland; the quaint comedy powers of Miss Minnie Rayner were effectively employed as his doting mother; and as Clarisse, a French maid, and as Madame Chabot, a costumier, Miss Madge Beresford and Miss Alice Langley both contributed valuable means of enjoyment.

"OVER THE HILLS TO THE POOR HOUSE."

A Play in One Act, by A. Romaine Callender, produced at the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester, at a Matinée on Friday, Feb. 24.

Rev. Mr. Webb	MR. ARTHUR LESTER
Mr. Splodgers	MR. ROTHBURY EVANS
Mr. Snodgers	MR. HARRY MELBOURNE
Mr. Crumbles	MR. WILFRED BECKWITH
Mr. Whiteley	MR. G. KINGSLEY
Mr. Hardheart	MR. HARRY BELDING
Philip Glover, M.D.	MR. SIDNEY ARNOLD
Master of the Poor House	MR. ALFRED HILLIARD
Reuben Farnicombe	MR. ROMAINE CALLENDER
Martha Farnicombe	MISS CLAIRE PAUNCEFORT

The piece is a rather strenuous illustration of the harsh way in which the poor laws are administered, and of how cruelly they may be applied to old folk in particular. The meeting of the guardians, before whom old Reuben Farnicombe appears, is a realistic feature of the setting, and the business of the meeting is enlivened by some amusing recriminatory passages between two of the members, who quarrel on the smallest pretext. Including the Rev. Mr. Webb, who is chairman, the guardians are a hard-hearted lot, and not even the heroic protests of the medical officer make the least impression on their inhumanity. The ordeal of Reuben Farnicombe and his wife Martha, who are condemned to take their separate domiciles in the poor house, ends with their death, the prospect of parting being too much for them to bear. Mr. Romaine Callender played the aged Reuben excellently, and Miss Claire Pauncefort acted with sympathy as the faithful old wife. The remainder of the cast sustained their various parts with lifelike vigour and ability, and the piece, though long drawn in the pathetic passages, went very well. The matinée performance was given, by kind permission of the United Theatres Co., Ltd., for the benefit of Mr. Romaine Callender, and was under distinguished local patronage. A variety concert which followed the new production was contributed to by Mr. George Robey, Mr. Harrison Brockbank, Mr. Harry Maxam, the Anartos, Mr. E. Harcourt Williams, Miss Hilda Jacobson, Miss Louie Collier, Miss Dorothy L. Clarke, Miss Daisy Jerome, Miss Barbara Aird, and others; and Mr. Romaine Callender made a neat speech of thanks at the close.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, MARCH 2.—In their anxiety to makes us laugh the authors of La Femme au Masque have overdone things, and got their personages into a network of imbroglios and complications from which they can only with difficulty be extricated. The title of the piece suggests the story of Gervex's famous portrait of the society lady who posed with nothing but a velvet mask to conceal her identity. In the above farce, however, a photograph is the cause of the trouble. Madame Lucienne Desselin has had herself photographed as "naked as a worm"—as we say here—her pretty face hidden by a mask. And as it is not customary for society women to pose in naturalibus, Lucienne, with commendable sense of propriety, has ordered only two copies, one of which she has presented to Jacques, her husband, and the other to her lover, Maurice. It was rather a pity she should have trusted the latter, a careless youth, who keeps a famous and costly cocotte, Mademoiselle Raymonde, in royal style, and loses the photo in that lady's drawing-room. Raymonde finds it and is horrified. Not that her modesty is hurt at the sight of so much unadorned beauty. Elle s'en fiche. Nor would she have cared at all had she known that the thing dropped from Maurice's pocket. Maurice does not exist for her. Jacques, Lucienne's husband, is the man on whom she dotes; and as she believes him to be the owner of the portrait, her jealousy is roused, and she goes to Jacques' house to demand an explanation, not knowing that the man is married. There she meets Lucienne, in whom she recognises a school friend. At first the young wife and the cocotte are overjoyed at meeting. This joy, however, is of short duration; for when Lucienne learns that Raymonde is her husband's mistress she promptly shows her school friend the door. Raymonde has restored the photo to Lucienne, who takes her husband severely to task for being unfaithful and allowing her portrait to find its way into his mistress's hands. Jacques stutters at first; but he soon proves his innocence by producing the portrait Lucienne gave him, and then turns the tables on his wife by asking her where the second photo comes from. This time it is Lucienne who stutters. And now the plot loses itself in a mad chase after photos. These photos pass through the hands of numberless people, who appear and disappear in a bewildering manner, and lead to impossible situations, until everyone is exhausted and the dénouement puts everything more or less straight. The first act is smartly written, but the second and third baffle description. The work, however, is spiritedly played by a good all-round company, among whom M. Poncet, M. Dorgat, M. Dupont, Mdlle. Favelli, Mdlle. Bertry, and Madame Franck-Mel.

"LA PETITE MILLIARDAIRE."

Farce, in Three Acts, by MM. Henri Dumay and Louis Forest. Produced at the Athénée, Feb. 24.

Kikewitch	M. LEVESQUE
Gruneman	M. MILO
Stanley Ross	M. BULLIER
Barbazon	M. A. BAUDOIN
Prince Ladislas	M. LEUBAS
Morain	M. LAUMONIER
Betsy	MDLLE. DIETERLE
Juanita	MADAME CAVELL
Cléo	MDLLE. TEMPLEY
Rozia	MDLLE. CAUMONT

It is not often that so poor a production as La Petite Milliardaire comes our way. If the Athénée wanted to change its genre to go in for farcical comedies, they could easily have secured something better. The plot is as follows: Stanley Ross, a milliardaire, is anxious that his daughter Betsy should marry a big title, whereupon Kikewitch and Gruneman, two Jewish marriage brokers, start off to find the required article, in the hope of securing a commission on the dowry. Kikewitch has laid his hands on Ladislas, a ruined Polish nobleman; whilst Gruneman's candidate is the Count de Barbazon, hailing from the South. Neither of them find favour with Betsy. She has lost her heart to Jacques Morain, her father's secretary, who is on the point of being accepted by old Ross when the two marriage brokers, seeing their prey escape, send for Cléo, a young lady from the half-world, with whom Morain at one time had a liaison. Cléo bursts upon the unsuspecting Morain, and the jealous Betsy breaks off with him, and decides to take either Ladislas or Barbazon. She finally fixes upon Ladislas. The latter has just offered his heart to Juanita, a lady with a volcanic temperament; but when he hears that Betsy's choice has fallen upon him, he at once leaves Juanita, who consoles herself with the fiery Barbazon. When, however, Ladislas's Polish relations—half-savages—appear upon the scene, Betsy loses courage, and in order to rid herself of her nobleman informs him that she will not accept a cent from her father, and that the man who marries her must accept her without dowry. Ladislas at once disappears, and it is Morain who carries off the prize. Everybody is happy, even the disappointed Ladislas, to whom Stanley Ross hands a trifling cheque for £100,000, out of which Kikewitch and Gruneman are to receive their share. The excellent Athénée company worked with a will against heavy odds. MM. Levesque and Milo, the two matrimonial agents, were admirable. M. Baudoin's impersonation of the Marseillais was intensely droll; and the same can be said of M. Leubas's Ladislas. Madame Cavell, Mdlle. Dieterle, and Madame Templey can also be congratulated on their success.

IN order not to interfere with the rehearsals at the Gaîté of M. Catulle Meudes's comedy Scarron, Mdlle. Gilda Dharty is now playing the rôle to be impersonated by Mme. Jane Hading the moment this artiste will have fully recovered from her recent indisposition.

AT the Sarah Bernhardt Theatre Madame Bernhardt intends to give an exact reconstitution of the performance of Esther as given at the College of Saint-Cyr in 1689. All the rôles will be played by ladies, and we will even see Louis XIV., with his suite, seated at the back of the stage, as was customary in those days.

QUEER incidents, of which no mention is ever made in the Paris Press, occur sometimes at our theatres. A few nights ago, at the Comédie-Française, during the performance of Notre Jeunesse, the curtain suddenly came down before the end of the second act. The prompter had dropped off to sleep, and had touched the electric button which gives the signal for the lowering of the curtain.

AT the Opéra, owing to the illness of one of the artistes, Tannhäuser was given instead of Tristan. But as nobody sent word to M. Mangin, who always conducts Tannhäuser, a member of the orchestra had to take the bâton in his trembling hands. It was, it seems, a unique performance.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Mr. Beerbohm Tree often goes to rehearsal without his breakfast. In a pause he sustains his strength with a bath-bun; an old actress who knows Mr. Tree's peculiarities in this respect, invariably takes a bun to rehearsal, and if she sees him looking very tired gives it to him. Mr. Tree seldom stops a rehearsal once commenced. He says "Everybody comes back from lunch demoralised. Besides, rest is so fatiguing." As everyone knows, Mr. Tree has been building a fine suite of rooms at the top of the theatre, decorated with life-size Shakespearean pictures. "How on earth can you afford to do this?" a friend asked him. "I can't," he replied; "I hope that I may be able to afford them some day. Extravagance is the luxury of the poor as penury is the luxury of the rich. If you did not have things when you can't afford them, you would never have anything at all."

Mr. Tree was recently going into the country accompanied by a friend. As they settled themselves in the railway carriage, he lighted a large cigar. Presently a mild-looking gentleman got in. He took out his case, produced a very mild cigarette, and lighted it. Mr. Tree blew a great cloud of smoke, and, turning to the intruder, looked steadily at him, saying, "Pardon me, sir, but are you aware that this is not a smoking carriage?" The mild man looked up nervously. "But—but—but you are smoking." "Ah, yes, but I thought perhaps you might have conscientious scruples," said Mr. Tree in his blandest manner.

Miss Viola Tree, according to the writer of an amusing article in the new magazine, The Grand, inherits her father's gift of humour. In Edinburgh, when she made her professional début as Viola in Twelfth Night, the members of the company were exceedingly anxious about her, and the most nervous was Mr. Tree himself. After the second act Miss Tree went carelessly down the passage whistling. "Well," Mr. Tree asked with the tenderest solicitude, "how are you now?" "I'm all right now," was the answer. "At first when I saw the sea of faces I thought it was the French Revolution, but now I have persuaded myself that it is only the Zoo."

Mrs. George Grossmith, we regret to state, died on Tuesday at her residence in Russell-square. Her long and painful illness had been borne with the greatest fortitude. The most sincere sympathy is to be extended to Mr. George Grossmith in his sad bereavement.

Mr. George Alexander is arranging a matinée at the St. James's Theatre, on the 23rd inst., in aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund for the relief of the London unemployed. The following ladies and gentlemen have very kindly promised to contribute to the programme:—Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. Rutland Barrington, Miss Eva Moore, Mr. George Grossmith, jun., Mr. C. Hayden Coffin, Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Miss Marie Tempest, Miss Lilian Braithwaite, Mr. Allan Aynesworth, Mr. Lewis Waller, Miss Marie Studholme, Miss Connie Ediss, Miss Hilda Trevelyan, Miss Margaret Bussé, Mr. H. Nye Chart, Miss Frances Wetherall, Miss Marion Terry, Mr. Eric Lewis, Mrs. Kemmis, Miss Lettice Fairfax, and Mr. George Alexander.

Messrs. Harrison and Maude will this evening put on at the Haymarket Theatre, in front of Beauty and the Barge, Messrs. W. W. Jacobs and Louis N. Parker's play, The Monkey's Paw, in which Mr. Maude will appear, supported by Miss Bella Pateman, Mr. Edmund Maurice, and Mr. Wilfred Forster. The Monkey's Paw, which was originally produced at the Billington matinée, at the Haymarket, in October, 1903, will also precede Everybody's Secret, to be produced on Tuesday, March 14.

The great scene in Everybody's Secret comes in the second act, where the flat in Vicarage Chambers, the home of the imprudent young couple, is visited by Mr. Cyril Maude, as Sir Michael Parkes, and Miss Carlotta Addison, as Lady Parkes. We can quite imagine Mr. Maude's grandpère. It should have something of the quality of Victor Hugo, who wrote:—

Jean was on dry bread in the dark; and I,
In flagrant breach of law and equity
(But for our love and tender friendship's sake),
Stole to the culprit's side with sweets and cake.

M. Huguenet was the original of "grandad" in the French piece, as produced at the Coronet, and nothing could have been more delightful than his scene with the youngsters—a scene that we feel sure Mr. Maude should be able to endow with a cachet entirely his own. Miss Carlotta Addison has put it on record somewhere that she would like to associate herself with a part in which her tongue could run on more venomous lines; but in Everybody's Secret she will be just the dearest old grandma possible.

Sir Henry Irving, up to latest advices, was resting at the Star and Garter Hotel, Wolverhampton. He is progressing very favourably, and was "up" on Thursday for the first time. He expects to be able to leave Wolverhampton towards the end of next week.

It was originally arranged that the presentation of the illuminated address and silver casket should be postponed until April, when Sir Henry Irving would return to Wolverhampton on his way from Stratford-on-Avon. In the events that have happened, however, and of Sir Henry being unable definitely to decide to return there, the Mayor of the Borough, the Town Clerk, and one or two members of the committee will in all probability wait upon the distinguished actor at his hotel a few days before his departure, and make the presentation privately on behalf of the town and the subscribers.

Numberless inquiries have been made in the course of the week at the Grand Hotel, Wolverhampton, where the distinguished patient is staying, whilst messages of sympathy, both by letter and telegram, continue to flow in. On Monday the Royal Arch Masons of Stafford, meeting at Wolverhampton, sent their good wishes through Lord Dartmouth, the Grand Superintendent, to Bro. Sir Henry Irving, who replied in warm acknowledgment of their "fraternal love and greetings." Sir Henry on Saturday telegraphed to the manager of the Northern Counties Theatre Company stating that, owing to illness, he would be unable to fulfil his engagements with the company. This decision affects Bury, Rochdale, and Halifax At Rochdale, although the visit was to take place a month hence, over 200 seats had been booked, and record takings were anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal have been enthusiastically welcomed by crowded audiences this week at the Kennington Theatre, where the refined art of the eminent actress has been employed in Still Waters Run Deep, her charming personality winning the hearts of all in the part of Mrs. Sternhold. Mr. Kendal, as John Mildmay, again submitted a splendid piece of acting, his exquisite sangfroid making the part irresistible. Captain Hawksley was in the very good hands of Mr. Bassett Roe, who successfully portrayed the villainous attributes of the rôle, and Mr. Ernest Hendrie created roars of laughter with his original style as Mr. Potter. Miss Elsie Clarens appeared to great advantage as Mrs. Mildmay, and the support given by Mr. W. Rutherford, Mr. Hubert Harben, Mr. Metcalfe Wood, Mr. Robert Burnett, and Mr. Sheldrick was throughout excellent. The other plays announced have been The Elder Miss Blossom and The Housekeeper.

"The Education of Mr. Pipp," a comedy in three acts, by Augustus Thomas, was recently produced by Messrs. Kirke La Shelle and Daniel V. Arthur at the Liberty Theatre, New York. This play was suggested by the well-known series of cartoons drawn by Charles Dana Gibson. Mr. Pipp's education, according to the artist's fancy, began when he was some sixty years old, and after he had accumulated a highly remunerative collection of stocks and bonds. In the stage version, the Pipps hail from Pittsburg, where they have made a fortune in steel. They begin their career of social conquest in New York, and pursue it victoriously in London and Paris. Mr. Pipp, senile and downtrodden; the effulgent Mrs. Pipp and her two daughters, accepted types of the "Gibson girl"; a Count, a Duke, and a Baron; an English Dowager, and some pompous servants—in fact, all the characters introduced in the sketches appear in the play. The henpecked millionaire becomes a hero, while Mrs. Pipp's experiences are calculated to enlighten the match-making mammas of America, and deter them from pushing their daughters into foreign society. There are three scenes, the first showing the Pipp mansion in "Millionaires' Row," New York; the second being laid on the lawn of Carony Castle, Herts, England; and the third in the courtyard of a small hotel in Paris. Mr. Digby Bell and Miss Kate Denin Wilson were decidedly successful as Mr. and Mrs. Pipp.

General Lew Wallace, the author of "Ben Hur," who died recently, wrote another work, entitled "The Prince of India," and this story is being dramatised for production at one of Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger's American theatres early next season. It is related that when General Garfield was President of the United States, he offered General Wallace the post of Minister to Turkey if he would write a story with scenes laid in the Holy Land, which General Wallace had never visited. The offer was accepted, and "Ben Hur" was written. "The Prince of India" has for its principal theme the love of the Greek Princess Irene for the young heir to the Moslem throne. The Wandering Jew will be one of the characters in the play.

Madame Rejane, the celebrated Parisian actress, was sued in the Westminster County Court, on the 24th ult., by Messrs. Haydock and Sons, for £37 16s., the price of some theatrical printing. The defence was that the plaintiffs' claim was included in a financial arrangement made between Mme. Réjane and a Mr. Webber, who acted as her manager. The magistrate, after hearing the evidence, decided to adjourn the case for the attendance of Mme. Réjane, who, it was stated, was then on her way back from New York, and directed that the defendant should pay the costs of the day.

Miss Ellen Terry is busily engaged in rehearsals for Mr. J. M. Barrie's new play, as yet without a name, which is to be produced this month at the Duke of York's Theatre. The celebrated actress will play the rôle of a mother who has to solve an intricate problem in respect to her daughter's welfare, a situation which Mr. Barrie has treated with the utmost delicacy. Miss Irene Vanbrugh will also be seen in a part of the highest importance. Peter Pan will be not lost but gone before, as the droll conceit will serve as a Christmas attraction at its present place of abode.

The Shakespeare Memorial scheme, for the promotion of which a meeting was held at the Mansion House on Tuesday, has a wide scope. It will be remembered that, a short time since, Mr. Richard Badger offered to open a subscription for a Shakespeare Memorial with £2000, an additional sum of £1000 for a specific purpose, and £500 for the general working expenses of a public appeal; and the London County Council agreed to supply a site for a monument. Other objects of the promoters are: "A Shakespeare House" for the study and appreciation of the poet's work, a Shakespeare library, and a lecture theatre.

Mr. Oscar Hammerstein, who has built nine theatres in New York, has been stirred up by the District Attorney's assertion that there are many unsafe theatres in the "Empire City," and has written that official a characteristic letter, which has been published in the newspapers. It seems that the District Attorney was accompanied on his tour of inspection by a "stout, heavy man," and Mr. Hammerstein says in his letter "never take a fat man or a fat woman to a theatre. They are always dissatisfied, as seats and aisles are designed for persons of natural dimensions only." Mr. Hammerstein denies that winding stairways are dangerous, and makes the somewhat novel assertion that fatalities are much more likely to occur on stairways that are long and straight. He winds up by saying, "My theatre is my living; my reputation is my pride. You have injured both maliciously and premeditatedly. What redress has a citizen who is infamously vilified by a man in high office? I will try and solve the problem." Then he intimates that he will be much obliged if the District Atorney will sue him for libel.

Mr. George Edwardes is sending a company to South Africa, on Saturday, to play, under the direction of B. and F. Wheeler, the following répertoire of pieces: The Cingalee, The Orchid, Veronique, Lady Madcap, Duchess of Dantzic, and Madame Sherry. The principal members of the company will be Messrs. Myles Clifton, George Grundy, Edmund Sherras, Arthur Staples, Percy Cahill, T. Norbury, Sidney Holland, and Victor Gouriet; Misses Daisy Wallace, Maud Thorne, Millie Vere, Violet Walters, Blanche Vaudon, Nellie Palmer, Sybil Thorne, Cicely O'Nolan, Lilian Bell, Mabel Gregory, Irene Wood, and Miss Anna Hickisch. The Australian rights of Leah Kleschna have been secured by Mr. J. C. Williamson, and the South African rights by Messrs. B. and F. Wheeler.

Mr. Frank Weathersby will take a company to St. Leonards for a special week on March 20, with Mr. Haddon Chambers' comedy, The Tyranny of Tears.

A memorial window or tablet is to be placed in the New York church, of which the late Mrs. Gilbert was a member, to commemorate the affection and esteem of the congregation and members of the theatrical profession for the veteran actress.

"Two Men and a Maid," a play in four acts, by Malcolm Watson, was produced for copyright purposes at a matinée at the Opera House, Northampton, on Wednesday.

Mr. Gerald Alexander, who had the distinction of being a member of Lord Anglesey's company, is again taking the well-known farce, Facing the Music, on tour, with Mr. Galwey Herbert as his partner. Mr. Herbert has long been associated with the play in Australasia, under Mr. Frank Thornton, and at present is a member of Messrs. Harrison and Maude's Co. at the Haymarket.

Mr. Alf. Maynall has been r-engaged by Messrs. Warden and Mouillot for panto. 1905-6, at the Opera House, Cork.

Mr. Hy. Wright, jun., stage-manager at the Court Theatre, Liverpool, for Mr. Robert Arthur's successful pantomime, had to go on for Mr. Horace Mills' part no less than nine times during that gentleman's indisposition, and again last week he had to play Mr. Walter Groves' part of the Dame, the latter gentleman also being taken ill.

Little hope is entertained of the recovery of Mr. Luscombe Searelle, who lies seriously ill in San Francisco. A number of years ago Luscombe Searelle was the director of the Tivoli Opera House in San Francisco, and made it justly popular with theatre-goers. After he left here he went to London, and there made a name for himself as a composer. Satanella, a well-known piece, is from his pen. Next he drifted to South Africa, and there amassed a large fortune in the theatrical business. At one time he was owner of at least a dozen theatres, and counted among his friends such celebrities as Barney Barnato and Cecil Rhodes. The Jameson Raid was the cause of his downfall. He was accused of having aided the raiders, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to death. British Lord High Commissioner Milner saved his neck, but he was compelled to leave the country, and all his property was confiscated. He went to New York, and there became acquainted with Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and collaborated with her in the Biblical play, Mizpah, or the Story of Esther. A $5,000,000 claim of Mr. Searelle against the British Government has been allowed, and will soon be paid. This claim arises out of the confiscation of the property already spoken of before the outbreak of hostilities in South Africa. He was a pronounced British sympathiser, and was deep in the schemes of the revolutionists at the time of the Jameson raid. Among other acts in favour of the uprising he purchased several thousand stands of arms, and concealed them under the stage of his Johannesburg theatre. A Boer stage hand discovered the secret of the hidden rifles, and informed President Kruger. Not only were the arms confiscated and used against the English later, but all Searelle's estate was taken by the Boer Government, and he was sentenced to be shot. He was allowed his freedom thereafter, and allowed to depart, never to return.

The Scenic Artists' Association are anxious to obtain for their first Annual Exhibition at the Grafton Galleries, Bond-street, W., April 10 and five following days, specimens of the works of Bolena, Gates, Hunt, Marinare, Mulready, Marshall, Roberts, Tomkins, and other famous deceased scene painters. The secretary, Mr. H. Lawrence Harris, will be obliged if owners willing to lend their paintings, water colour sketches, and models, will communicate with him at 5, Robert-street, Adelphi, W.C. Mr. Harris will also be glad to hear from artists willing to give their services at the daily matinée entertainments at the Exhibition.

A revival of Goldsmith's comedy, She Stoops to Conquer, is booked for the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, in April. Miss Eleanor Robson will appear as Kate Hardcastle, and Mr. Kyrle Bellew will play Young Marlow.

"King Henry the Fifth" will reach its 50th performance at the Imperial Theatre, on Monday. Principals of schools having thoroughly recognised the educational advantages of this play, Mr. Lewis Waller has obtained the patronage of many of the younger generation, and the management by way of encouragement have offered special facilities for scholastic institutions booking in large numbers.

The total number of pirated copies seized by the agents of the Musical Copyright Association during the first two months of the present year is 728,386.

Drury Lane's grand spectacular production of Mother Goose, at the Grand Opera House, San Francisco, is doing a large business, and both Press and public are agreed as to the magnificence of scenery, costumes, and general stage presentation.

The season of grand Italian opera at the Tivoli Opera House, San Francisco, has been both a financial and artistic success from its inception. It has served to introduce a prima donna named Luisa Tetrazzina, whose Lucia, in the opera of that name, revealed excellent dramatic and vocal abilities.

Mr. George Edwardes, in order to meet the wishes of many who cannot attend Saturday matinées, has arranged to give an extra morning performance on Thursday of The Cingalee, which attains the anniversary of its production to-day, and is shortly to be withdrawn. The above will be the only mid-weekly matinée ever given of this successful play.

Mr. Chas. Thorburn, general manager for Mr. George Musgrove's Belle of New York company, who is hard at work in the same capacity for Mr. Musgrove's forthcoming Prince of Pilsen production, was for a term of years the principal boy soloist at the Brompton Oratory. Once, at the conclusion of a crowded service, Miss Mary Anderson, who was a frequent worshipper there, found herself hemmed in by a crowd of too ardent admirers to an extent which made her exit from the sacred building one of great difficulty. Master Thorburn, who had espied the condition of affairs from the organ loft, promptly appeared upon the scene, and extricated the famous actress by means of a side door from her embarrassing position. On the Sunday following Miss Anderson sent for her youthful rescuer and presented him with a silver-bound prayer-book and an autographed photograph of herself, which to-day are amongst his most treasured possessions.

Mrs. F. M. Paget has, we are glad to hear, undergone a most successful operation for cataract, Sir Anderson Critchett being the skilful oculist.

Mr. Ernest E. Norris, the manager of the Elephant and Castle Theatre, states that there is not the slightest foundation for the rumour that the theatre will shortly close. Thanks to the enterprising management, the business has gone up by leaps and bounds, and this week enormous houses have nightly witnessed A Girl's Cross Roads.

Mr. Edward Compton was accorded many recalls at the conclusion of his engagement at the King's Theatre, Glasgow, on Saturday. In a pleasant speech he thanked the splendid audience for their presence in such goodly numbers, and remarked that the week had not only been a record one for him in Glasgow, but it was the best he had ever done anywhere. He did not think their plays had ever gone better than they had done on this visit; every point, every witticism, and every "situation" was seized upon with such alacrity that their nightly work had been in a double sense "a labour of love." Might he be allowed, he asked, to offer them his congratulations on the possession of their beautiful new theatre, which was as handsome, as spacious, and as comfortable a temple of Thespis as any he knew of in Great Britain?

Mr. Compton humorously remarked that as he was constantly called the "King of old comedy," they would now be able to say that "King Edward" had appeared in that theatre, and had set the seal of his august approval on it. A fortnight ago, the popular actor continued, he completed twenty-four years' work as director and chief performer in the Compton Comedy Company. He thought his success was in the main due to the closeness with which he had followed the ideal with which he started—of producing only the best comedies, and only those which made for good. In fact, he thought his audiences would bear him out that the evening's amusement had always borne the night's reflection.

Master Cyril Smith, whose serious illness—which necessitated his detention at the Borough Hospital, Plymouth, severed his connection with the tour of Sir Henry Irving—has already been mentioned in our columns, is, we hear, making progress to recovery, though slower than had at first been expected. Master Smith desires to thank heartily all those who have so kindly enquired after him.

Mr. Charles Santley completed his seventy-first year on Tuesday. He studied in Italy about the fifties, finishing in London under Manuel Garcia. Mr. Santley first appeared in opera in 1859, and began his long career at English festivals three years later. Both Mr. Santley's wife (a granddaughter of Chas. Kemble) and his daughter, Miss Edith Santley, were before marriage well known on the concert platform.

Miss Violet Fulton is another addition to the ever-increasing list of actresses who play in other languages besides their own—a distinction that she shares with Miss Margaret Halstan and Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Miss Fulton is now at the Théâtre des Capucines, Paris, with Mme. Jeanne Granier, and will shortly play in a new comedy that is being written for that theatre by M. Féraudy, of the Comedie-Française.

The Oxford University Dramatic Society revived The Clouds of Aristophanes at the New Theatre, Oxford, on Wednesday. The smoothness of the performance did credit to the stage-managers, Messrs. A. D. Godley, C. Cookson, and C. Bailey; and the scenery, by Mr. E. R. Jones, was effective. The music was specially composed for the play by the University Professor of Music, Sir Hubert Parry, and was well performed by an orchestra conducted by himself. The heaviest share of the work fell on Mr. Mercer, as Strepsiades. This rugged character sharply contrasted with the foppish and effeminate Phidippides, played with taste and artistic finish by Mr. Compton-Mackenzie son of Mr. Edward Compton.

Ibsen's Die Wildente (the wild duck) will be repeated at the Great Queen-street Theatre on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Frau Rosa Bertens appearing as Gina Ekdal. On Thursday, and for the remainder of the week, Sundermann's powerful play, Es lebe das Leben will be produced, in which Frau Rosa Bertens will no doubt repeat her marvellous rendering of the part of Beate, which she gave two years ago, during the fourth German season. On Saturday, a special matinée of Der Strom will be given.

Mr. Walter Reynolds' new comedy-drama, Mr. Smith, an account of the production of which, at Nottingham, appears in another column, will make its London début on Monday at the Camden Theatre, a matinée being given on Saturday. The comedy-drama, although it contrasts the manners and customs of high and low life, has nothing of the problem play about it, being designed to draw laughter rather than tears, and such high hopes are entertained of it that a season at a West-End theatre is in contemplation.

Miss Constance Elgin (Mrs. Douglas Cecil) has been engaged by Mr. Tom H. Taylor to play the title-rôle in The Female Swindler company. Mr. Douglas Cecil has also been engaged to play Harold Travers in the same piece.

Mr. Mouillot will produce, at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, on Monday, a new comedy-farce, entitled While the Cat's Away, written by Edward F. Parry, the well-known judge, and himself. An excellent company has been engaged to support Mrs. Mouillot and Mrs. Lawrence Grant, who appear in the principal parts.

Mr. Matthew Brodie, who at one time was an in-patient at the Royal Infirmary, Sheffield, gave a concert there last week to the nurses, doctors, and convalescent patients. He was ably assisted by all the principal members of Mr. George Edwardes's Duchess of Dantzic company, including Miss Amy Augarde, Miss Kate Trail, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, and Mr. Mackay. In a speech, Mr. Brodie said "he looked upon Sheffield as his second mother."

At Guildhall Police-court, on the 24th ult., Wm. Garvey, newsvendor, was charged, on remand, with stealing a gladstone bag and contents, value about £4, the property of Mr. Marmaduke Langdale. Detective Harris, on the evening of the 19th ult., saw the accused following the prosecutor in Bishopsgate-street. In order to obtain a light for his pipe the prosecutor put down a gladstone bag he was carrying and entered a doorway. Then the prisoner quickly picked up the bag and ran off with it. When taken into custody and hearing that the value was but a sovereign, he said: "Oh, lor'! I would not have troubled to take it had I known." A previous conviction for felony was proved against him, and Alderman Sir J. Knill sentenced him to two months' hard labour.

The Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark were present on Monday evening at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, and witnessed the performance of Lady Madcap.

Lady Maud B. Wilbraham and Lady Elphinstone Maitland have obtained the sanction of Sir Henry Irving and the committee of the Actors' Benevolent Fund to organise a "Shakespeare Ball" to be held in the Empress Rooms in May in aid of the fund, which helps needy members of a profession whose leading representatives are so frequently called upon by Society ladies to give their voluntary services to other charities.

"The Prince of Pilsen" will be produced at the King's Theatre, Hammersmith, next week, by Mr. George Musgrove's Co., on an unusually lavish scale, the dresses, scenery, and general equipment being an exact replica of the recent gorgeous production at the Shaftesbury Theatre. Mdlle. Christine Rayinski, a young Hungarian lady, who has been selected from nearly a thousand fair candidates for the part of the "Gibson Girl," will on this occasion make her London début. In addition to Mr. Edwin Adeler, in the American-Dutch part of the pseudo Prince, the cast will include Messrs. Alfred Selby and Lawrence Wensley, and Misses Beatrice Lamotte, Meg Hamylton, and Millicent Marsden, each of whom, like Messrs. Leonard Hornsey, the musical director; Hugh Fleming, press representative; and Charles Thorburn, general manager, was concerned in the success of Mr. George Musgrove's Belle of New York company.

Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee concludes to-night a seven months' engagement with Mr. Gordon Starkey as Horace Parker in A Message from Mars.

"An Abandoned Woman," a new play in five acts, by Myles Wallerton and Francis Gilbert, will be produced on Monday at the Palace Theatre, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Mrs. Fiske, in Leah Kleschna, is in the eleventh week of her engagement at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, and the great interest which the play aroused at the outset shows no signs of diminishing.

Mr. Fred Cherry, the inimitable comedian, has make a great success in The Face at the Window and The Black Mask company on tour.

The twentieth committee meeting of the Scenic Artists' Association was held at their offices, 5, Robert-street, Adelphi, W.C., on Monday. There were present Mr. Walter Hann (in the chair), Mr. Joseph Harker (vice-president), Messrs. E. G. Banks, Richard Douglass, Geo. R. Hemsley, W. T. Hemsley, R. C. McCleery, Harry Potts, W. Raphael, W. B. Spong, H. Warner, and H. Woolls, and Mr. H. Lawrence Harris, secretary. The following scenic artists were elected members of the Association, namely, Mr. Horace Bray, of London; Mr. Thos. Holmes, of Liverpool; Mr. W. McCulloch, of Sheffield; Mr. Fred Walmsley, of Portsmouth; and Mr. Geo. Miller, of Kingston-on-Thames. Mr. W. B. Spong intimated that as he would be away from England for some time, he was obliged to resign his office as a member of the committee, and Mr. R. H. Halley was elected in his place.

Messrs. E. G. Banks, Richard Douglass, H. Potts, William Harford, R. H. Halley, and Joseph Harker were elected to serve on the Exhibition Selection Sub-committee, which will meet on Tuesdays, March 7, 21, and April 4, at eight o'clock. Messrs. Walter Hann, George Tweddell, H. Woolls, and Sir Philip Burne-Jones, Bart., were elected to serve on the Exhibition Invitation Sub-committee, which will meet at three o'clock to-day and on Saturdays, March 18 and April 1. Messrs. W. Raphael, W. T. Hemsley, Geo. R. Hemsley, and R. H. Halley were elected to serve on the Exhibition Finance Sub-committee, which will meet at eight o'clock on Fridays, March 10, 24, and April 7. Messrs. E. G. Banks, William Harford, R. C. McCleery, R. H. Halley, G. R. Hemsley, Harry Potts, H. W. Owen, and H. Warner, were elected on the Exhibition Entertainment Sub-committee, which has already met once, and which will hold their next sittings on March 14 and 28. Mr. Walter Hann was invited to preside at the meetings of each sub-committee. The secretary read letters from Mrs. T. Walford Grieve, offering to lend to the exhibition drawings by the late John Grieve and the late Thomas Grieve, and from Mr. F. J. Sewell, of Chester, a painting by A. W. Callcott, and from Mr. E. W. Hart, of Chard, a painting of "Rubens receiving in his Studio Marie de Medici."

Mr. Cyril Maude's new theatre is appearing definitely on the theatrical horizon, and the plans of the proposed building are in the hands of the County Council. It is intended to be opened with a new play by Mr. W. W. Jacobs, the author of Beauty and the Barge.

The Dowager Countess of Limerick will give her patronage to a matinée, at the Court Theatre, on Monday, March 20, in aid of the Distressed Gentlefolks' Aid Association, when two new plays by Mr. H. C. M. Harding, The Dancer, a Spanish episode in one act, and The Little More, a comedy in three acts, will be produced. A strong company has been engaged, including Mr. Dawson Millward, Mr. Lennox Pawle, Mr. F. Lumsden Hare, Mr. A. E. Anson, Miss Henrietta Watson, Miss Hilda Rivers, Miss Mabilia Daniell, Miss Bussey, Miss Barbara Hannay, and Mr. W. Grahame Browne, who, besides playing an important part, will produce The Little More

"The Merchant of Venice" will be played at matinées at Terry's Theatre on Thursday and Saturday next, when Mr. Henry Ainley will, in the part of Bassanio, essay a Shakespearean lover for the first time. Mr. Norman Forbes will enact Shylock, and Mr. J. H. Barnes Antonio, and the part of Portia will be in the hands of Mrs. Constance Stuart. The production is under the direction of Mr. J. H. Barnes, Mr. Lewis Sealy being the business-manager.

Mr. Ernest E. Norris intends to produce The Colleen Bawn at the Elephant and Castle Theatre on March 13 next, for the Irish festival week. Elaborate effects will be introduced, including a choir of male voices, and special music is now being organised for the production. Mrs. Bennett, the popular Surrey-side actress, has been engaged for the revival by Mr. Norris, who will himself play a prominent part in the revival.

Mr. Tom B. Davis, the managing director of the new Theatre Royal, Birmingham, who recently adopted the system of booking seats in that establishment from 1s. 6d. upwards, will not continue the practice after the close of the present pantomime. The experiment has been a failure. All Mr. Davis's experience led him to believe that such would be the case, but he gave way under strong local pressure. When the matter came up for discussion, prior to the prospectus being published, he told the directorate what would happen, and reminded them that Sir Henry Irving started the system at the Lyceum some years ago, and for a month the public were able to book seats in the pit. The result was that the regular habitués of the pit were crowded out, while the dress circle was practically empty. This is really what has happened at the Birmingham Theatre Royal, and the proprietors have lost hundreds of pounds by the innovation.

Miss Lillah M'Carthy, the late Wilson Barrett's leading lady, who has not been seen in London for considerably more than a year, when only a brief glimpse of the talented actress was afforded, will have her first real chance since the death of the late eminent actor, at the matinée of Agatha, at His Majesty's, on Tuesday, when she will enact the part of Lady Fancourt, the mother of the young lady who gives the title to the play.

Messrs. George Edwardes and Charles Frohman's Are You a Mason companies, which have been running for over three years under the management of Mr. Arthur Whittaker, will finish touring to-day, Messrs. Edwardes and Frohman having disposed of the provincial rights of the piece.

Mr. Willie Edouin will produce Off the Rank, Mr. Laurence Sterner's farce, on Tuesday next, at a matinée at the Comedy Theatre. It is expected that in addition to the admirable company already announced, Miss Susie Vaughan will be included in the cast.

Maxim Gorky's realistic drama, Nachtasyl (The Night Refuge), was recently performed in German for the first time in America at the Irving-place Theatre, New York, last week by Herr Conried's company. The play is full of remorseless realism, being peopled with a heterogeneous crowd of criminals and unfortunates plunged in the lowest depths of human misery. Mr. Harry Walden gave an effective representation of a degenerate nobleman, and Miss Hedwig von Ostermann was an excellent Natascha.

"Dr. Janet, of Harley Street," a play in three acts, dramatised from Miss Kenealey's novel by S. Creagh Henry, will be produced at the Crystal Palace on Monday. The cast will include Misses Lillah Wilde, Helen Anderson, Davies Webster, and Constance Owen; Messrs. Herbert Terry, Wyn Weaver, James Gelderd, and Creagh Henry.

Mr. E. S. Willard gave four performances of The Professor's Love Story at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, before he closed his engagement there on the 18th ult. It is a long time since Mr. Willard first introduced his delightful embodiment of the genial and absent-minded Professor Goodwillie to New York theatregoers, and he has repeated it many times in the interim; but the announcement of his appearance in this character never fails to attract large and appreciative audiences.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, MARCH 2.—When our second Mayor is not engaged upon municipal matters, he employs his time in play-writing, and several excellent pieces have resulted. Herr Reicke possesses a fund of bright humour, which is very refreshing, and he understands how to fascinate his audience by increasing the interest of the plot from act to act. Schusselchen is not as good as some of its predecessors, but the reception was very cordial, and the author was compelled to reappear several times. The heroine, known by the nickname of Schusselchen, is Christine, wife of a Government official, Landgerichtsrath Hessen. He is an order-loving Beamter, dignified and somewhat pedantic; she of the so-called Bohemian type. Christine was a painter before her marriage, and with her husband's concurrence she has remained one. She is very "up-to-date"; her aspirations outrun her capacities, and she is wild and feather-brained, though charming. Her disorder is proverbial in the household; she loses everything, and her husband finds to his disgust his new white tie used by his "little wife" as a book-marker. He brings his mother to live with them, to look after the children and the house-keeping; he himself seeks the repose his nerves need elsewhere. The result may be imagined; Schusselchen does not hit it off with her mother-in-law, and she becomes jealous of her husband's absences, for she loves him devotedly, in spite of everything. She makes her mother-in-law retire, and gives up her painting, with the laudable intention to reform. But it is too late; the children cry for "grossmamma"; the very servants do not take Schusselchen seriously. So Herr Landgerichtsrath sets out to bring his mother back; and Christine allows her cousin Paul—who is an artist, too, and who has always loved her—to make very decided advances to her. For a time, everything looks very dark; the young wife, knowing her husband has his consolations, and feeling herself at the end of her resources, is even on the point of suicide. She is, however, brought to her senses by a few gentle words from her father, and gradually everything rights itself. Christine confesses her faults to her husband, and they both resolve to turn over a new leaf. The interpretation was an excellent one, Fräulein Marietta Olley carrying off well-deserved laurels in the name-part.

HERR GEORG ENGEL'S well-written play, Im Hafen, is still running successfully at the Schiller. It is one of those quietly convincing, pathetic pieces for which the author is known, and again the action passes in a fishing village of the Pomeranian coast. The plot is as follows:—Clas Druehs, a master fisherman, has married Hedwig, the adopted daughter of the village schoolmaster, Jarmer. Clas is a simple, God-fearing man, but of a naturally gloomy nature. Hedwig was educated and brought up with Jarmer's only son Heinrich, and between the passionate boy and the pretty girl a love-affair resulted. The schoolmaster sent his son abroad to learn engineering, and Hedwig, later on, married Clas, and became the mother of his child. Clas has naturally heard gossip about the boy-and-girl love affair, but does not pay attention to it, until Heinrich returns home. He then gradually becomes suspicious, and in consequence gloomier than ever. Before starting on a fishing expedition, Clas makes his wife—whom he deeply loves—take an oath before a statue of the Saviour that she never has been and never will be untrue to her marriage vows, after which he goes to sea with an easy mind. The young wife, to do her justice, tries to keep her promise; but her love for the friend of her girlhood flames out into unconquerable passion. Heinrich has little real love for her, but his sunny, bold temperament appeals to her, and she cannot resist him. She breaks her oath; and the next day Clas returns. His mother would tell him of his wife's fall did not Hedwig do so herself, and the effect upon the fisherman is terrible. The woman's sin he might overlook, he says, but he cannot trust the God who has failed him. His faith is shaken to its foundations, and no word the pastor can speak can offer any comfort in his desolation. So poor broken-down Clas takes his little child in his arms and seeks for both a grave in the depths of the sea. The story is so simply told, the characters are so human, that the play—if well acted—must convince and please. The cast was a good one, and the reception of the piece enthusiastic.

AT the Kleines, Otto Erich Hartleben's one-act drama, Abschied vour Regiment—already described in your columns—and Angele, comedy, in two acts, by the same author, are being given several times in the week. At the companion theatre, the Neues, Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream is holding the boards almost exclusively, and drawing crowded houses.

HERR HUMPERDINCK'S new opera, Die Heirat wider Willen will, it is announced, be given for the first time on any stage at the Royal Opera, about the middle of March.

"ALT-HEIDELBERG" attained to its 500th performance at the Berliner on Saturday—an almost unprecedented jubilee in the annals of our theatres. The occasion was naturally considered one of importance; flowers and recalls were innumerable, but our managers have not yet adopted the English custom of giving souvenirs. Director Halm appeared on behalf of the author, who was unfortunately prevented by indisposition from being present. Fräulein Faliansky—who created the rôle of Kathie—was engaged for Saturday specially, and had a hearty welcome.

BJORNSON'S comedy, Die Neuvermählten, was given on Thursday at the Kleines for the 25th time. The amusing play has lost little of its powers of attraction, and is good for at least another five-and-twenty performances. Herr Engels and Fräulein Wangel were in the first-rate "double" company.

LUCILE GRAHN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—Can any of your readers give me information—biographical and professional—about Lucile Grahn, one of the great dancers who took part in the celebrated "Pas de Quatre" at the coronation or marriage of Queen Victoria? I saw her play a dumb girl in a piece called Yelva, the Russian Orphan, in Berlin in 1848. Where was she born, and is there a biography of her to be had?

Yours faithfully, HERMANN VEZIN.

10, Lancaster-place, Strand, Jan. 12.

THE event of the week at the Tunbridge Wells Opera House has been the flying matinee on Thursday, when Mrs. Langtry appeared with her London company, including Mr. Leonard Boyne, in Mrs. Dering's Divorce. The evening bill has consisted of Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace, with Mr. Langhorne Burton as Captain Mowbray, and Miss Francis Davis as Mrs. Gorringe, and for the week end, Jim the Penman.

DRAMATIC STUDENTS' PERFORMANCE.

The first public performance by students of the newly-established Academy of Dramatic Art was given at His Majesty's Theatre on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large and distinguished audience, amongst those present being Sir Squire and Lady Bancroft, in a private box; Mr. A. W. Pinero, Mr. H. A. Jones, Mr. Comyns Carr, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Beerbohm Tree, Mr. Lawrence Irving, and Mr. Oscar Asche. The programme opened with The Schoolmistress, by A. W. Pinero, rehearsed for the occasion by Mr. Frederick Kerr, the scene being the reception-room at Miss Dyott's seminary for young ladies, known as Volumnia College. Miss Dyott's scholars had some very sprightly representatives amongst the lady students, Miss Ruth Parrott especially distinguishing herself in the part of the first articled pupil, Peggy Hesslerigge. A neat figure, a bright, expressive face, and natural acting were the principal points in her favour. The other pupils had genuinely girlish and winsome representatives in Miss Irene Clarke as Dinah, Miss Dagmar Wiehe as Gwendoline Hawkins, and Miss Hilda Moore as Ermyntrude Johnson. Miss St. Clair Swanzy played very well as Miss Dyott. Mr. J. R. Owen was fairly amusing as the Hon. Vere Queckett, but was rather inclined to overdo the inanity of the young gentleman. Mr. S. Yates-Southgate emphasised the comic ferocity of Rear-Admiral Rankling, and satisfactory work was done by Miss Kathleen Earle as Mrs. Rankling, and Miss Ida Vinall and Miss Dorothy Lart, as the servants, Tyler and Jane.

The next item was a short sketch without words, invented and rehearsed by Madame Cavallazzi, with music specially composed by Mr. Leopold Wenzel, entitled A Village Story. The scene is a room in old Pierrot's house in summer-time. Angèle Pierrot's daughter is gazing out of the open window with all the longing of a caged bird to be free. Her father, watching her, realises that the girl whom he has brought up so lovingly has ambitions beyond the little home in the village, and the thought makes him angry. He gives her the choice between her father and the world, and she begs him to let her try that outside life of which she has heard so much. The angry old man bids her leave his house for ever, and she obeys the cruel mandate. The curtain then falls for a moment to mark the passage of six months. When it rises again it shows Pierrot's home at Christmas-time. The old man is brooding sorrowfully over the fire, his food, brought by his faithful old servant, François, untouched on a table by his side. After a pathetic scene between master and man, the midnight chimes are heard calling the people to the Christmas mass. The villagers, passing the window, see the old man. A woman, full of sympathy for his loneliness, knocks timidly at the door and enters with her child and several other men and girls to give Pierrot Christmas greeting. Then into the room steals the figure of a young girl, who advances timidly, and with an anxious happiness in her face. The old man recognises his daughter, and raising his trembling hand, tells the girl to go, and that she is lost to him for ever. Angèle, terrified, is about to open the door, when Pierrot, rushing towards her, clasps her frantically in his arms, and then falls seemingly lifeless. Gradual signs of returning life are, however, noted, and to the joy of the two anxious watchers Pierrot's eyes gradually open. Slowly his gaze falls, first on his weeping daughter, then on his faithful servant. He draws the girl to his heart with a world of tenderness, while he stretches out his other hand to François, who, falling on his knees, kisses it. Mr. J. Goggin, as old Pierrot, and Mr. J. R. Owen, as the faithful François, gave unquestionable evidence of their ability as pantomimists, their expression and gestures being apt and appropriate. Miss Agnes Bartholomew was a charming and pathetic Angèle, and Mr. S. Yates-Southgate and Miss Florence Wells ably played the parts of a rich farmer and his wife, the villagers being represented by the Misses Muriel Alexander, D. M. Edwards, and Viola Holland. At the conclusion the principals were called for, and Madame Cavallazzi received the compliment of a special call.

Next came the first act of T. W. Robertson's Caste, which had been rehearsed by Mr. George P. Bancroft, with the assistance of Sir Squire and Lady Bancroft. Miss Callish gave a delightful rendering of Polly Eccles—a Polly full of high spirits and natural girlish coquetry. Mr. Frederick W. Lloyd did very well as Captain Hawtree, and the famous business with the cooked ham and the kettle went very briskly. Mr. Charles Maude, as the Hon. George D'Alroy, and Miss Savile as Esther, played the lovers creditably; Mr. Cecil Yapp portrayed the peculiarities of Eccles with considerable success; and Mr. J. R. Owen deserves a word of praise for his excellent Sam Gerridge.

After an extract from Tennyson's poem, "Enoch Arden," had been admirably recited by Miss Agnes Bartholomew, four scenes from Shakespeare's Winter's Tale, prepared by Mrs. Crowe (Miss Bateman) and rehearsed by Mr. J. Fisher White, were presented. In this Miss Muriel Alexander, as Paulina, showed passionate intensity and feeling in her denunciation of the King of Sicilia for the vile treatment of his Queen, Hermione, a part that was gracefully embodied by Miss Maud Cressall. Mr. Basil H. Watt's Leontes was not deficient in dignity, and a robust Antigonus was presented by Mr. Fredk. Roberts; Mr. Cecil Yapp was successful in his embodiment of Autolycus; but Mr. Max Montesole proved scarcely equal to the difficulties involved in the effective representation of a Shakespearean clown. The minor rôles received careful treatment. A recitation in the cockney dialect by Miss Muriel Alston was cleverly rendered.

The performance concluded with three pretty dances arranged by Mr. Louis Hervey d'Egville. These were Polish mazurkas, pavane, and the tarantella from Much Ado about Nothing. Those who took part in the dances were deservedly applauded for the grace and charm of a really delightful performance. Mr. Cecil King was stage-manager, Mr. Louis Mercanton assistant stage-manager, and Mr. Adolf Schmid musical-director.

At the conclusion, in response to prolonged applause, Mr. Tree appeared and briefly thanked the audience. He said he was very glad that the performance had proved so successful, as it was encouraging to those who had taken part in it, and also to those who had trained the students. There would, he added, be another Academy performance this season.

The gold medal offered by Sir Squire Bancroft to the best performer was awarded by him and Lady Bancroft to Mr. J. R. Owen. Mr. Cecil Yapp, the Eccles and the Autolycus, and Mr. J. Goggin, the old Pierrot, were two more students to whom high commendation was given. Amongst the ladies Miss Maud Cressall, the Hermione; Miss Agnes Bartholomew, the Angèle and reciter of "Enoch Arden"; and Miss Callish, the Polly Eccles, were singled out for special praise.

PRESENTATION.—On Saturday night last Mr. Ned Warden, in the Palace scene of the successful pantomime Puss in Boots at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, presented Mr. Martin Adeson with a magnificent dressing-case, with cut glass bottles and silver fittings. Mr. Warden said, in presenting Mr. Adeson, who had amused them for so many weeks, he could not do better than read the inscription, which ran as follows:—"Presented by the directors of the Theatre Royal (Dublin) Company, to Martin Adeson, Esq., as a slight memento of his great success in Puss in Boots, 1905." The audience sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and Mr. Adeson replied in a happy little speech.

DEATH OF MISS FLORRIE ORMONDE.

We regret to announce the death of Miss Florrie Ormonde, which took place on the 24th ult., at Prince of Wales-road, Battersea Park. The deceased lady, who was in her thirty-first year, had been suffering for some time from that terrible disease consumption, which eventually proved fatal. Miss Ormonde had a most varied theatrical career. Her first engagement was as principal dancer in Faust Up-to-Date, which company she left after a long tour, to appear and immediately win success at the music halls. Miss Ormonde at this time introduced what is now so popular and common—the "leg twist," and was noted for her marvellous high kicking. After a long connection with the variety halls, she once more returned to the legitimate stage, appearing first in the Rob Roy Opera Company. In quick succession she became engaged in Mr. Arthur Roberts's company, Bandman's Opera Company, and others, during which time she travelled nearly all over the world.

Miss Ormonde's death will be deeply regretted by a large circle of friends, with whom she was very popular. The funeral, which took place on Wednesday at Wandsworth, was attended by many friends and relations, among whom were her brother, Mr. James Sale (musical director of the New Grand Palace, Clapham Junction), Miss Kitty Ostin (who had been with her for many years), Mrs. Baker, and many others. Many fine wreaths were sent from admirers, including one from Mr. Sale, and from brother and sister artistes all over the country.

THE LATE MISS FLORRIE ORMONDE.

A PROVINCIAL THEATRE SUPPER.

The annual supper of the working staff of the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, took place on Monday, at the King David Hotel, after the performance of The Sleeping Beauty. The function was under the genial presidency of Mr. J. M. Chute, and was favoured by the presence of many of the principal actors in the pantomime. After supper, toasts, songs, and recitations proceeded merrily, the pleasure of the company being continuous. Mr. Chute was supported by, among others, Mr. W. H. Rawlins, Mr. Albert Le Fre, Mr. George Miller, Mr. T. Alders, Mr. Fred Conquest, Mr. David Miller, Mr. Lionel Victor, Mr. W. Wakeman, Messrs. Watts, Graham, Lewis, Seghelloni, and Sheffield, Mr. George Chapman (musical director), Mr. G. Jackson (scenic artist), Mr. H. Turner (stage manager), Mr. H. Owen (master carpenter), Mr. Charles Arnold, Mr. Fred Irwin, Mr. F. M. Lyne, and others. Mr. F. S. Green (acting manager) was unavoidably absent. The President, who was greeted with much enthusiasm, submitted the loyal toast in felicitous terms, and afterwards gave "The Staff," in doing which he spoke in praiseworthy terms of the invaluable assistance that he always received from them, individually and collectively. He had special praise for the beautiful scenery of the pantomime, for the excellence of the stage management, and for the splendid music provided by Mr. George Chapman, who, he was glad to say, had proved himself to be a thoroughly capable and skilful musical director. He (the speaker) had seen a number of pantomimes this year, and he could confidently say that the music in the Bristol production was equal, if not superior, to that he had listened to elsewhere. The toast was acknowledged by Mr. G. Jackson, Mr. George Chapman, and Mr. Henry Turner. The Chairman afterwards in eulogistic terms gave "The Working Staff," to which Mr. Henry Owen, Mr. Momber, and Mr. A. Vawn responded. "The Members of the Company" was a most congenial toast from Mr. H. Turner, who infused much humour into his comments on names and characteristics. Mr. W. H. Rawlins and Mr. Le Fre were also very much "at home" in their responses.

ADA REEVE'S INTERVIEW

In the Court of King's Bench, on Tuesday, before Mr. Justice Grantham and a special jury, an action was brought by Mrs. Adelaide Mary Cotton, the wife of Mr. Wilfrid Cotton, better known as Miss Ada Reeve, to recover damages for a libel published in the Weekly Dispatch of February 28, 1904, and for breach of an agreement in publishing an article without her consent, and claiming a declaration that the article was not written by her. The defendants admitted the publication, but denied that it was a libel.

Mr. Rufus Isaacs, K.C., and Mr. R. G. Drake (instructed by Messrs. Cohen and Cohen) appeared for the plaintiff, and the defendants were represented by Mr. Montague Lush, K.C., and Mr. Hugh Fraser (instructed by Messrs. Lewis and Lewis).

After the case was called on an attempt was made to settle the action, but counsel failed to agree.

Mr. Rufus Isaacs, in opening the case, said this was an action for libel and the breach of other legal rights, brought by the plaintiff, Mrs. Cotton, who was professionally known as Miss Ada Reeve, the well-known singer and actress. Articles were alleged to have been published by the defendants, which professed to give an authentic account of an interview which was alleged to have taken place with Miss Ada Reeve. The matter which had given rise to the present action was substantially that the interview was put in the form of an article, and was then shown to Miss Reeve before publication. Miss Reeve raised an objection, but the article was published, apparently in spite of her objections, and, curious to relate, purporting to bear her signature, as if she had written it. The article praised her in many respects, but what it did also do, and what Miss Reeve strongly objected to, was to hold her up to her own profession, and to the outside world who knew anything of the profession, as a vain, boastful braggart. The article stated that the plaintiff was earning the salary of £250 per week, which, counsel added, even in these days of somewhat princely salaries, very few singers or actresses obtained, and would make people envious.

His Lordship: Are you suggesting that you missed your vocation, Mr. Isaacs? (Laughter.)

Continuing, counsel said that the result of the article was that it made Miss Reeve look very foolish, and she was made to appear to have said things which were absolutely untrue. Miss Reeve never made these statements. They appeared in a highly-coloured article which read very well; and was displayed in a way which would be apt to make one spend pennies in purchasing the paper. The headlines were:—"How to sing for £250 a week." "A confession describing the road to success in musical comedy, by the Queen of comic opera, Miss Ada Reeve." Miss Reeve's signature was at the end.

His Lordship (referring to a newspaper held up by Mr. Isaacs): Ornamented by her hat.

Mr. Isaacs: There is also a portrait underneath it, although, perhaps, difficult for your lordship to see.

Miss Reeve was called, and said she was interviewed by a gentleman last February, and a few days later the article was published. The interviewer said that he represented the Weekly Dispatch, and had come to interview her. The witness told him that she was very busy, but eventually consented to answer him one or two questions, and said that the history of her career appeared in a book which she mentioned. To the best of her recollection the first question he asked her was, "What would be your advice to girls about to go upon the stage?" She replied, "When I am asked, as I occasionally am, whether my own little girls are going on the stage, I say 'Not if I can prevent them.'" To the best of her recollection there was scarcely anything else in the article that she really answered to the interviewer. The question of money was never suggested by either her husband or herself, and no question was raised as to salary. The interview did not last more than five minutes, and when the article was read over to her by the interviewer, she at once strongly protested against the salary being mentioned. She was very angry about it, and said she would not allow any question of salary to be mentioned, and explained that the question of salary concerned nobody but herself and the management. She added in the witness-box that she would rather the public thought she earned 30s. per week. Then they would not expect so much from her. She also denied signing the article. She thought it would be extraordinary bad taste to mention her salary, and she had had it mentioned to her many times since.

His Lordship: It is made worse by advertisements in other papers.

At this point Miss Reeve was requested to leave the witness-box and consult with counsel. Afterwards Mr. Lush said that the defendants desired to entirely accept Miss Reeve's explanation as to the interview, and that she did not in fact understand how the article was to be published. The interviewer thought he had explained to her how the article would be published. The defendants expressed regret that the mistake had been made, and had agreed to pay a sum of money in satisfaction of the lady's costs.

Mr. Isaacs said the action had not been brought to put money into the pocket of Miss Reeve; but she did feel that she had cause for complaint, having regard to her statement that she did not authorise the article. He appreciated Mr. Lush's remarks as to the misunderstanding as to what had taken place, and, on behalf of his client, consented to take an agreed sum that would indemnify her for the expenses she had incurred.

A juror was then withdrawn, and the action terminated.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In May of last year I copyrighted a comedy-drama, entitled A Knight of the Road, in which the hero, a highwayman, comes to an inn, makes love to the landlady, and promises to renounce his predatory life; in the closing act the inn is raided by constables, who are routed by the highwayman and others. I only mention the coincidences of title and a certain resemblance of circumstances between my play and the Palace sketch, lest I might, by and bye, be accused of plagiarism.—I am, yours faithfully,

I. L. CASSILIS.

99, Camberwell-grove, London, S.E.

MISS LILY MORRIS, who so successfully essayed the part of principal boy in Mr. Waldon's pantomime of Goosy Gander at the Royal Princess's Theatre, Glasgow, was on Monday evening accorded a deserved and successful benefit, when Miss Morris was the recipient of floral tokens and other gifts. The chief of these was a handsome dressing-case of chaste design and workmanship, which constituted a prize presented by a local newspaper for the most popular pantomime favourite among the ladies engaged in the Scottish pantomimes. Mr. W. Mowbray Harle, in a neat speech, handed over the prize, and Miss Morris, in a few courteous sentences, spoke and smiled her thanks. It is worthy of note that the prizes were won by the four principal boys in the Glasgow pantomimes, as follows:—1st, Miss Lily Morris (Royal Princess's Theatre), Goosy Gander; 2nd, Miss Frances Earle (Royalty Theatre), Jack and Jill; 3rd, Miss Annie Purcell (Theatre Royal), The Forty Thieves; and 4th, Miss Maude Mortimer (Grand Theatre), Cinderella.

MR. F. W. WYNDHAM, looking well and hearty after his arduous pantomime season, has gone for a six weeks' trip to Jamaica.

MR. PERCY ELLIS.

In a letter which we have received from Mr. A. F. Henderson, general-manager for Sir Charles Wyndham, Mr. Henderson requests us to open our columns to an appeal on behalf of Mr. Percy Ellis, the late assistant-manager of the New Theatre, St. Martin's-lane, and, after having enquired into Mr. Ellis's circumstances, and having assured ourselves that his is a genuine case of distress, we have much pleasure in acceding to Mr. Henderson's charitable wishes.

Mr. Ellis is in an advanced stage of consumption, and, having been unable to follow any employment for nearly twelve months, his finances are completely exhausted, and he is in actual want.

All subscriptions for the above deserving appeal will be duly acknowledged in these columns. They may be forwarded to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, Hon. Treasurer to the Fund, care of The Era office, or direct to Mr. A. F. Henderson, New Theatre, St. Martin's-lane.

FORBES ROBERTSON IN NEW YORK

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Mr. Forbes Robertson, whose masterly interpretation of Hamlet and fine embodiment of Dick Heldar in The Light that Failed made a strong impression in New York last season during his engagement at the Knickerbocker Theatre, appeared at the same house on the 20th ult. in the new play, by Henry V. Esmond, entitled Love and the Man, which had its first presentation in New York on this occasion, after meeting with a favourable reception in the principal cities of Canada. Mr. Robertson played the part of Gerald Wagoneur, a member of Parliament, and a powerful politician. He is the strongest man in his party, and the hopes of his political friends rest upon him. But, while he is thrilled with the desire to succeed, there comes to him, after an exciting debate in the House of Commons, the feeling that his life, after all, is incomplete. Wagoneur is a bachelor, and he longs for a home, and a wife and children. While in this state of mind he comes in contact with Lady Gaudminster, a friend of his sister. Her husband, a crippled rake, has made her life unbearable. An attachment springs up between Wagoneur and Lady Gaudminster; and, in the second act, she is driven to revolt, and turns openly to Wagoneur for sympathy. A stormy scene occurs, and Gaudminster denounces Wagoneur, who reproaches the husband, and declares his intention of taking Lady Gaudminster from him. In the third act, she is living with Wagoneur's sister at a little cottage in Hampshire, having applied for a divorce as the only way out of the "tangle." Wagoneur has withdrawn from the political struggle; but his party faces a crisis, and his friends beg him to take up the work he has laid down, assuring him that the world at large knows nothing of his love affair, and that his reputation is untarnished. His sister pleads with him not to sacrifice his prospects; and, as Lady Gaudminster decides to become reconciled to her husband rather than allow Wagoneur to wreck his career, he accepts the call. In the fourth act, Wagoneur has risen to the Premiership, and, one day, as he is about to make the speech of his life, he learns that Lady Gaudminster is dying. She asks him to come to her, but his duty forbids, and he sends a message asking her to live while he does the work that she would have him do. Wagoneur makes his speech, and then, throwing affairs of State to the winds, he hurries to her side. The reconciliation between husband and wife has not been successful, and Gaudminster, having repented his decision, devises a situation that will compromise his wife and Wagoneur. But his plan is frustrated by Gaudminster's own death in a fit of passion.

Mr. Forbes Robertson's embodiment of Gerald Wagoneur was an intensely interesting and impressive character study, and the audience testified its appreciation of his performance in a very hearty manner. Mr. Ian Robertson's able impersonation of the decrepit Lord Gaudminster deserves mention, and credit is due to Miss Kate Rorke for her capable representation of Lady Gaudminster.

COVENT GARDEN BALL.

Messrs. Frank Rendle and Neil Forsyth are bringing their remarkably successful series of fancy dress balls to a speedy end at Covent Garden. The reason they are compelled to shorten their season is the fact that the Grand Opera Syndicate has determined to begin operations somewhat earlier this year, and that the theatre will be wanted for rehearsals by Dr. Richter and the German company. On the night of the 24th ult. there were the usual number of attractive costumes. One of these, carried out in cerise and white, had the catchy title of "Bewitching witch's witching"; another of pale pink and white was called "An Angel of Peace"; a "Moonlight Carnival" was made entirely of whate material, and a "Morning" of pale blue, while a "Faith, Hope, and Charity" dress was carried out in pink. All these dresses were lit up by little electric glow lamps, and several of them secured some of the many valuable prizes given for the prettiest, most original, and most artistic dresses.

"GARRICK" AT THE ALBERT HALL.

Laundry maids benefited greatly by the performance of Wm. Muskerry's play of Garrick, which was given on Tuesday in the West Theatre of the Albert Hall in aid of the Laundry Girls' Club of St. Alban's Mission, Fulham. The large audience were thoroughly appreciative of the story of the famous actor who staked his life's happiness in order to preserve his honour as "an actor and a man." Fortunately, the leading parts had talented representatives, the rôle of Violet Gresham being in the hands of Miss Elsie Duddell, a pupil of Miss Stella Brereton, who reflected in every phase the influence of her accomplished teacher. Graces of deportment and beauties of delivery combined to make her rendering a charming one, and, though certain habits of pronunciation still remain to be corrected, her rendering was surrounded with so much delicacy, especially in the portrayal of emotion, that Miss Duddell became quite captivating. Mr. E. Gordon Taylor acquitted himself creditably of the arduous part of David Garrick. He was earnest and expressive, and declaimed his lines dramatically, while his drunken scene showed little room for improvement, but there were times when his fervour overmastered his distinctness, with the result that some of David's finest speeches were lost. Alderman Gresham, of the East India Company, had a worthy and dignified exponent in Mr. Martin J. Cahill, an amateur performer of long experience, who by his natural and forcible acting often kept the interest of the piece intact. The Hon. Tom Tallyhant was also well played by Mr. A. Damer Dawson, who presented the good-humoured tippler in excellent comedy vein, and Mr. Alec Shorey cleverly invested Sowerberry with the requisite acidity. Miss Jessie Neill caught the vulgar accent of Selina Sowerberry realistically, and Mrs. Ernest Renton, as Mrs. Rumblelow, and Mr. Alex. J. Niell, as Simpkins, added to the merriment which the performance occasioned. The comedy was exceptionally well dressed, and was preceded by Mr. Sidney Grundy's one-act play, In Honour Bound.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

A students' concert was given in the theatre on Wednesday evening, in the presence of an immense audience. As usual, pianoforte solos had a large share in the programme, Miss Loïs Barker opening with "Espenlaub," by M. Sauer, which she played with much facility. Miss Gwen Williams, in the Adagio and Finale from a Sonata of Chopin, proved herself a worthy Steinway scholar, and Miss Daisy Cadney played the Ballade of Chopin in G minor in a very artistic manner. Miss Doughty succeeded well as a 'cellist in a "Lamento" by Gabriel Marle, and in the obbligato to Goring Thomas's "Summer Night," which Miss Helen Sola sang extremely well. Miss Hilda Lett displayed much ability in violin solos by Ysaye and Wieniawski, the latter being the most successful. In mandolin solos Miss Lily Selden acquitted herself admirably. Miss Holbrook shone, as novices seldom do, in the "Jewel song" from Faust, which she executed with remarkable brilliancy and finish. Generally, we have to make allowances in these operatic show melodies, but Miss Holbrook was quite equal to her task. Mr. Edwin Lewis attempted the "Flower song" from Carmen, and certainly did himself credit. Miss Ethel Willott displayed good intentions and excellent expression in two songs of Grieg, but a little more vigour would have increased their effect. Mdlle. Chaminade's "Song of Faith" did not quite suit Miss Gertrude Gill. There are many other songs in which she would be heard to greater advantage. Mr. Harold Bills was fairly successful in a song by Landon Ronald. Miss Kate E. Ward accompanied, and revealed her thorough capacity in this useful department.

A "DENZA" CONCERT.

At Steinway Hall, last Saturday, a concert was given by the London Academy of Music, the programme consisting of the works of Signor Denza, a composer who has written no less than six hundred songs, besides other important musical works, many of these having been extremely popular, and one in particular had a circulation of half-a-million copies. In his early life Signor Denza was acquainted with some of the most celebrated Italian composers, for example, Rossini, Mercadante, and others, and during recent years his ability has made him a general favourite. Therefore we were not surprised to see a very large audience at Steinway Hall. The programme was happily chosen to bring out the beauties of his works, and its success was unquestionable. It began with three part-songs by Signor Denza—charming works, and admirably rendered by the choir. One of the composer's ballads was given by Mr. Max Chelminski, with much grace and skill; and Madame Denza sang a cycle having the picturesque title, "By Sea and Woodland." It was the first time of their performance, and one of these, with an organ obbligato by Mr. Carl Weber, was so successful that it had to be repeated. The vocal talent of Madame Denza had its full share in this result. A duet, "The Lark and the Nightingale," employed the vocal ability of Miss Daisy Irvine and Miss Johnson most agreeably, and won for these ladies cordial tokens of approval. A cantata, "The Garden of Flowers," furnished the choir with another dainty selection, and this was contrasted with a semi-chorus, "White Butterflies," which afforded the utmost pleasure to all who heard it. The contralto solo, "Lovely Rosebuds," was sung with charming grace by Miss Cecile Brandon, and the soprano solo, "The Bees," accompanied by a humming chorus, was one of the most perfect items of the evening, the soprano and the choir being equally entitled to commendation. In the semi-chorus, "Good Night," the ladies who deserved recognition were the Misses Florence Snell, Cecilia Moses, Kathleen Child, Nellie Harris, Cecile Brandon, Beatrice Bangill, Nina Johnson, and May Adams, all of whom exerted themselves most successfully. Many other compositions of Signor Denza were included in the programme, and several pianoforte solos by M. Carl Weber were played by the composer, one of the most attractive being a "Souvenir de Bal." All were performed by special request. Signor Denza wishes that the proceeds of the concert shall be devoted to the Scholarship Fund of the London Academy of Music, which is now incorporated with several other local societies. Miss Ada Petherick accompanied the choir.

"The Era" can be obtained at any of Smith and Son's bookstalls throughout the provinces.

MISS SYBIL NOBLE'S ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Sybil Noble may be congratulated on the complete success of her humorous and dramatic entertainment at the Queen's (Small) Hall on the evening of the 22nd ult., every item in the excellent programme proving most enjoyable to the large audience present. Especially appreciated were the original sketches from nature of Lieut.-Col. F. Grundy, a humorist of decided ability, whose easy and finished style suggest considerable familiarity with the footlights. Mr. Grundy's first sketch included a remarkably natural and funny impersonation of a proud father watching his son's first appearance at a first-class cricket match; his second contribution, "A Wedding Breakfast," in which he portrayed the fond parent of the bride, who is induced to say a few words on the auspicious occasion, and in which he cleverly hit off the peculiarities of some of the guests present, being also a most enjoyable item. Mr. W. G. Smith Wright, a versatile artiste and a wonderfully gifted mimic, gave a humorous mock melodrama, in which the characters were supposed to be undertaken by Signora Duse, Sir Henry Irving, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Sir Charles Wyndham, Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree, Messrs. Forbes Robertson, Herbert Waring, Lewis Waller, George Alexander, and other notable actors. Mr. Smith was particularly happy in his imitations of the voice and mannerisms of Mr. Alexander, Mr. Waring, Mr. Waller, and Mr. Beerbohm Tree—always a favourite subject with mimics—all his portraits being quickly recognised and applauded. His other contribution included a burlesque of Tyrolean and Italian singers, and a realistic imitation of a gramophone, and in response to a unanimous demand for an encore he gave a cleverly-rendered hunting song. Still more laughter was evoked by Mr. Percy French, whose first sketch was humorously given, and illustrated by some ingeniously executed crayon drawings. In the second half of the programme he was also responsible for much mirth with a ludicrous description of a gentleman of a retiring disposition, who is persuaded to attend a children's party and help amuse the youngsters. Miss Sybil Noble sang with much point and charm "Men," and was also heard with pleasure in a romp song, "I never had a mother or a father," with a neatly executed dance at the conclusion. Miss Noble, however, was enabled to display her undoubted acting abilities best in the pathetic little song, "Only a penny," a number in which she was particularly successful. The agreeable voice and cultured singing of Miss Marjorie Fitzgerald were heard with pleasure in a couple of all too brief songs, "I know a lovely garden" and "Since we parted"; and the Blue Viennese Trio also contributed to the evening's enjoyment, the concluding item of which was Nancy's Manœuvre, a one-act farcical comedy, by Miss Sybil Noble. In this the authoress was seen to considerable advantage as an actress, Nancy Tempest, who hits upon the idea of impersonating a "slavey" in order that she may make the acquaintance of her fiancée's father, Mr. Pepper, a fiery but good-hearted old gentleman who is strongly opposed to his son wedding anyone connected with the stage. In the end, of course, old Pepper capitulates to the lady's charms, and the young couple are made happy. The best acting in this entertaining trifle, however, was again contributed by Lieut.-Col. F. Grundy, whose impersonation of the elderly Mr. Pepper was most natural and amusing.

THEATRICAL FOOTBALL.

Brisol X.L.C.R. and Harry Hare's Orchestral Band Athletic Clubs v. Music Halls A.F.C.

Played on Clifton Downs, Feb. 11. The following were the teams:—

Bristol X.L.C.R. and Orchestral Band.—Harry Belding, goal; Jack Lewis and Archie Hamlin (captain), backs; Arthur E. Bailey, Syd Carter, and Harry Slade, half-backs; Jack Aubrey, Harry Edwards, Eddie Bowman, Ernie Belding, and Harry Clements, forwards.

Music Halls A.F.C.—F. B. Nicholls, goal; T. Denton and Jack Tyley, backs; T. Neagle (captain), J. Lacey, and D. O'Connor, half-backs; W. Meadows, B. Cullen, F. Hansford, W. Hinder, and P. Reardon, forwards.

Mr. Harry Hare was the referee, and the linesmen were T. Palmer and Alf. Mattock. The result was:—Bristol X.L.C.R. and Orchestral Band, 2 goals; Music Halls A.F.C., 5 goals. Messrs. S. Carter, J. Aubrey, P. Reardon (2), B. Cullen, J. Lacey, and J. Tyley scored the goals for their respective sides.

CHAT WITH MR. LENNOX BARRY.

(By our own commissioner.)

Mr. Lennox Barry, the recently appointed general-manager of the Battersea Empire, is the youngest man in London holding such a position. His advancement in the profession has been singularly rapid, and, as he is now little more than twenty-five years old, one may reasonably expect great things of him. Proprietors and directors of business concerns realise the wisdom of permitting young men to take an important part in the management of affairs. In the impressionable days of one's youth the rigour of the times are more readily discernible. While the faculties are in the educative stage, and life has not yet had time to become a settled conviction, a speedy recognition of the trend of things brings in its wake the impulse to act accordingly. And thus is brought about the materialisation of new ideas. At the same time, we should be the last to decry age and experience. They are necessary to the proper conduct of the world's transactions. That steadying ballast which comes with maturity of years is needed to keep in check the boisterous gales of youth, lest the vessel be driven out of her course.

Talking about vessels reminds us that the subject of this interview knows something about a life on the ocean wave. He was in the merchant service for three years. He served an apprenticeship as a midshipman on the Hyderabad, and gradually rose until he became the holder of a second officer's certificate. He had voyaged twice round the world before he was eighteen, and twice has he been shipwrecked. His first experience was, perhaps, the worst, for he was kept three days and three nights in an open boat in the South Pacific Ocean, the little party being finally picked up by a passing steamer. Mr. Barry recalls that the first occasion on which he sang in public, though in a non-professional capacity, was at a concert at the Seamen's Mission Hall, Sydney, and his début on the stage as a baritone vocalist took place at the Orpheum Theatre, San Francisco. After performing at several of the American halls, he returned to England, and became connected with the Hull Press for a period of eighteen months. Then for a time he was associated with Sydney James's Strolling Players, at the New Spa Gardens, Bridlington. His most successful song at this period was "Doreen." A pantomime engagement in Aladdin at the Theatre Royal, Bradford, followed, during the run of which Mr. Barry was brought before the notice of Mr. George Edwardes's manager, who took him on for the chorus of The Messenger Boy company. For a couple of tours of this piece Mr. Barry acted as assistant-stage-manager, being later appointed to the position of stage-manager for two ensuing seasons. Turning his attention to the variety stage again, our interviewee secured a contract for the Moss and Stoll palaces, singing "Doreen," "Bid me to love," and other high-class songs, with which he also appeared at several of the metropolitan halls. His next venture was the production of The Island of Pharos, a play that has since been through the provinces. Subsequently Messrs. Arthur Hart and J. Malone "requisitioned" Mr. Barry's services to stage-manage during a couple of tours of My Lady Molly. Running a concert party at some of our seaside resorts, and playing the part of Hi-Lung in Mr. George Dance's Chinese Honeymoon, combining stage-management at the same time, are among Mr. Barry's more recent achievements. From A Chinese Honeymoon Mr. Barry went straight to the Battersea Empire as business-manager. After five weeks he was appointed general-manager, attending to the front of the house as well as to the bookings of artistes, so that his promotion has, to say the least, been very rapid. But then, Mr. Barry is one of the most resourceful and energetic of men.

Like many others who have shown themselves to be possessed of sound commercial instincts, Mr. Barry hails from the shire of broad acres. His father, Mr. William Hainstock, is one of Hull's largest American produce importers, and is also financially interested in several provincial theatres. Mr. Barry is an interesting conversationalist, and he has many yarns to tell of strange sights in strange lands. On one of his trips his ship carried a number of Seventh Day Adventists, who were going to the famous Pitcairn Island with the object of converting the inhabitants. Mr. Barry tells us that it was quite a sight to see these Adventists turn up on the deck of a sailing boat on a Saturday (their Sabbath) in their best frock coats, tall silk hats, stiff collars, and highly polished boots. While Mr. Barry was stationed at Pitcairn Island one of the natives to whom the ministrations of the Adventists had been specially directed, murdered his wife. There being no one in the island to act as his judge and executioner, the assassin had to wait for the annual visit of the British gunboat—a period of suspense, in this case extending over nine months.

At the usual weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association, held on Tuesday, Mr. H. B. Irving was unanimously elected as the chairman for the year 1905-6. Mesdames Elisabeth Kirby and Kate Phillips, and Messrs. Acton Bond, Wm. Devereux, A. E. Drinkwater, H. B. Irving, Douglas Gordon, Lawrence Grant, Arthur Holmes-Gore, Alfred Kendrick, M. R. Morand, and Hubert Willis were unanimously re-elected as members of the Finance and General Purposes Committee. The secretary reported that the debt, costs, and arbitrator's fees had been paid under an award in a case referred to arbitration. It was resolved that the patronage of the A.A. should be given to the forthcoming "Shakespeare Ball," promoted by Lady Maud B. Wilbraham and others. The hon. solicitors reported that the claims of two members had been paid, together with the costs of the judgments recovered in the actions brought to enforce such claims.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

Walthamstow. — King's Theatre.—Mr. Harry Firth's company is here this week in Cinderella. Miss Madge Osmond is a pretty and engaging little Cinderella, speaking her lines with great distinctness and point. Miss Dora Denmark is a fine Prince Perfect; and the valet, Dandini, is well played by Miss Ethel Mohr. The two plain-looking sisters are amusingly interpreted by Mr. J. Binns (who also stage-manages) and Mr. H. Haines, as Butterina and Margerina. Mr. E. Wilson extracts much comic capital from the part of Baron Pebbly-Beach, and Mr. Fred Park is amusing as Pimple, the page. The other parts are efficiently filled. Some clever specialities are given in the palace scene, notably by Mr. Fred Earle, a capital sleight-of-hand artist; Miss Ethel Mohr, Lieut. Chas. Valvo, the Four Sisters Godfrey, Miss Clarisse Mignon, Miss Madge Osmond, and Messrs. Marsh and Morris. The pantomime is received at every performance with laughter and applause.

Palace.—It has been said by those of old time that "nothing succeeds like success," and the adage was never more brilliantly fulfilled than in the case of the Walthamstow Palace, under the skilful management of Mr. Arthur J. Barclay and his courteous and obliging adjutant, Mr. Geo. F. Slatter. The programme for the present week is of exceptionally good quality, so much so that at the first house on Monday night there was hardly a vacant seat in the theatre. The popular comedian, Mr. Will Evans, was at his best, and in his amusing new skit concerning the production of Robinson Crusoe, kept his audience in a state of hysterical laughter. His success was immediate and pronounced. Carlile and Walker gave an amusing few minutes' comedy act, in which their burlesque doings were decidedly clever. The Zaro Troupe of acrobats performed some exceedingly daring feats of the muscular order, and achieved a big success. Miss Wynnie Darrell, looking extremely dainty, sang with the greatest taste and danced charmingly. One of the hits of the evening was made by Mr. Will Van Allen, who, as the "musical tramp," repeated a performance that has before now won favour on these boards. An amusing dialogue of Hebraic nature was given by Jordan and Harvey. Woodhouse and Wells were well received in their clever patter and nimble dancing. Valazzi—an artist of the Cinquevalli school—gave an exceedingly neat, graceful, and original series of performances in the juggling department, while his cannon-ball exploits elicited much applause. The concluding item of the programme was the one-act play, The King's Hat, under the direction of Mr. Harry Howard. This proved to be a pretty and spirited piece of the period known as Cromwellian, the owner of the "hat" in question being, of course, no other than Charles II., of merry memory. The company engaged have been carefully selected, and all play with a loyalty to their author that might be a lesson to actors in a more important production. Miss Ethel Cunningham is a pretty and winsome Lady Delauney. Mr. S. T. Ewart is vigorous as Sir Reginald Delauney; Mr. H. H. Stewart is very fine as the wicked, card-playing Colonel Digby; Mr. Frank France is admirable as Captain Meers; Mr. Arthur Fitzgerald, a capital Ferrin; and Mr. Clifford Brooke, capitally made up, a right regal representative of the King. The scene of the Great Hall at Thursby Manor is very handsome, and the costumes singularly rich and tasteful. The play was received with loud applause.

Warrington.—Royal Court.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General Manager, Mr. J. Potter.—After an absence of several years, Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company is here this week in the remarkable play, The Face at the Window. Mr. Augustine Knight, as the Indian bravo, Le Loup, gives a skilful rendering of the character. Mr. T. W. Dunscombe is convincing and forcible as Paul Gouffet, the detective; Mr. George Phythian gives effective aid as the banker, De Brisson; and Mr. Alfred Warne scores as Lucien Cortier. Mr. C. Alan Himeson, as Peter Pottlebury, and Miss Gwynne Warren, as Babette, are genuinely amusing; Miss Marie Barrett depicts the heroine, Marie de Brisson, with marked intensity and feeling; Mr. F. C. Raphael makes a surly cut-throat of Jean Barbelm; and Miss Jeannie Dempster, as La Pinau, submits a clever character sketch.

Royal Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. F. Will mott.—Ike Scott and Son are here again this week, and their business is as entertaining as ever. The Brothers Hainson are capable comedians, a remark which also apolies to the Kimberley Boys. Essman is an expert juggler, and Eugene and Willie clever musical acrobats. Walter Adams sings several songs in fine style, and Gerald Mount is a mimic of remarkable ability. The Royal Bioscope, manipulated by Mr. Wiesker, depicts a series of charming pictures.

Wednesbury. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston.—Miss Lena Stanton's pantomime in Dick Whittington is proving a great success here this week. The rôle of Dick Whittington is charmingly acted by Miss Lena Stanton, and as Alice Fitzwarren Miss Marie Gerrard is active and sprightly. Alderman Fitzwarren is humorously portrayed by Mr. George Green. Miss Maud Linn does well as Polly, and as the Cook Mr. George James creates roars of laughter. Mr. Alfred Brooks as Idle Jack does some clever work. Miss C. Shannons is a charming Princess, and the specialities, which are excellently performed, include Little Keeno, the boy wonder, in his dancing and vocal entertainment; the Cecil Troupe of lady acrobatic dancers, who receive warm applause; Mr. Joe Pauletti, the French cycling clown, and the Great Rynfield in his marvellous chair performance.

West Bromwich.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. P. Moore.—A large audience gave an enthusiastic welcome on Monday night to Mr. Peter Thompson's comical pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, the scenery and dresses of which are excellent. Miss Maude Beaumont makes a conspicuous success by her winsomeness, smart acting, and singing, as Robin Hood; the Maid Marion of Miss Molly Hackett is all that can be desired; the good fairy Blue Bell is played by Miss Katie Lever, who is to be congratulated on her fine voice; Mr. J. Templar Ellis is seen to considerable advantage as Sir Scoundrel, the bad baron; the two orphans, Bertie and Cissie, are in the hands of the Sisters Grahame, who contribute greatly to the dancing and musical portion of the entertainment; the droll eccentricities of The Danbys, as Tired Tim and Willie Wearied, cause screams of laughter; as the nurse Evelean Mr. Fred Danvers is very amusing; Miss Fanny Humber gives great satisfaction as Will Scarlet; and the same may be said of Miss Minnie Moran, as Dorothy Dimple. The specialities are all good and well received, but special mention should be made of the smart performance of Mr. N. T. Kioto, who is described as the most wonderful equilibrist; of Miss Rosa Walmsley, for her charming dancing; and of the Yankee Quartette of lady dancers.

West Hartlepool. — Grand Theatre. — General Manager (for Mrs. Weldon Watts). Mr. Sidney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Conneaux.—The play Sherlock Holmes, which has on previous occasions achieved popularity here, is the attraction this week. The lion's share of the honours of the play falls to Mr. H. A. Saintsbury, who, in his masterly performance in the title-rôle, is a decided success. Dr. Watson has a creditable representative in Mr. Lawrence Leyton. The fine acting of Mr. J. Poole-Kirkwood as John Forman is fully appreciated. As Professor Moriarty Mr. W. F. Stirling is responsible for some powerful acting. The interpretation of James Larrabee by Mr. Leslie Carter, and of Madge Larrabee by Miss Maude Lindon, is entirely satisfactory. Mr. G. Mayor-Cooke is a distinct success as Sidney Prince. It would be almost impossible to find a better Billy than that of Walter Hicks. Miss Vera Longden achieves a triumph in her clever conception of the rôle of Alice Faulkner.

Palace.—Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten.—The list of artistes is headed by E. R. Dainez and his comedy circus of performing donkey, pony, and dogs; Ross and Lewis, in American comedy and eccentric dancing, are a strong attraction, the latter being especially so. The audience listen with pleasure to the fine singing of Belrose and Develin in operatic specialities, for which they are enthusiastically recalled. The mimicry of Rosie Archer is fully deserving of the encores which it gains; Charles Gardner, comedian, is well received; as also are the Zampos, dancers and baton manipulators, and George Edney, character comedian; Olga gives a graceful and pretty exhibition on the trapeze.

WEST STANLEY.—VICTORIA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. C. Rawes; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Williams.—Queen of the Night is the attraction here this week, and is played by an excellent company. Miss Vere Mosley in the title-rôle proves herself an able artist, and as David Penrath Mr. Barron does well; Mr. Chas. Sandford is a successful Philip Stoneleigh, and Mr. Stillwell is well placed as Dr. Frank Cavendish.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's company is fulfilling a week's engagement here with The Sin of Her Childhood. Miss Mary Fulton is good as Mary Haysel, and as Stephen Haysel Mr. Austen Milroy does excellently. Mr. J. A. Campbell is an able Captain Thornton, and as Barney Mr. Fred Elvin is very funny. Miss Jenny Hicks as Marin Haysel suits the part admirably, and a word of commendation is due to Little Dot Moss for her careful rendering of the part of Hannah Spry.

WHITEHAVEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Clark.—Mr. Chas. Harrington's No. 1 company was here for three nights, in the popular play Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mr. J. Carr makes a sympathetic figure as Uncle Tom, and Mr. C. Harrington is suitably cast as Mr. St. Clair. In the rôle of Legree, Mr. J. H. Rogers plays well, and Mr. Guy P. Ellis is a manly George Harris. Miss Ida Fane acts naturally as Aunt Ophelia, and Miss Sylvia Stella is amusing as Topsy. Miss H. Johnson as Eliza Harris, and Miss Zerlina Zerbini as Cassy, are both good in their respective characters, and Little Minnie is a clever child actress. On Thursday and Friday the local Operatic Society appear in Patience.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. James Kiddie; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Thomas Swinton.—Mr. Frank Stephens and company are here with the late Mr. F. A. Scudamore's sensational play, Because I Love You. Mr. Frank Stephens enacts the rôle of the "Vulture," and Nelly Bly is sympathetically played by Miss Madge North. Professor Predate, in the hands of Mr. Howard Tracey, and Capt. Stirling in those of Mr. Matthew Bolton, are well-acted characters; and as Lady Ursula Milfoil Miss Trissie Humphrys gives an excellent impersonation. Miss Nell Ingram and Mr. Horace Buckley create much merriment in the comedy parts.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. John Worswick.—Mr. John Leopold's company, including the original Leopolds, have presented The New Frivolity here during the week. The company is a powerful one, and the performances have been witnessed by large and appreciative audiences.

GRAND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. Worswick.—The star burlesque actress and comedienne, Marie Loftus, is the great attraction this week, and has been well received. The Five Foys, in their speciality absurdity, The Excursion Depôt, are highly amusing; and the Ernestine Trio, in a laughable sketch, A Yorkshire Lad in London, with Tom Foy as the principal comedian, provide capital entertainment. Frank Dunlop, comedian and story-teller; the Donatos, one-legged acrobats; and Bertha Winder, champion lady clog-dancer, are all excellent. Walter Emerson, comedian; Brown and Robinson, vocalists; and Lottie Liegenberg, in her quick-change vocal sketch, The Lady Slavey, make up a remarkably strong and clever company.

EMPIRE.—Manager, Mr. W. Birchall.—An acceptable programme is provided here this week. The Brothers Lloddge, silver chain acrobats, give a smart turn; and the Sisters Linn are clever character duettists and coon vocalists. W. H. Smart, champion jig dancer; Lilian Yorke, comedienne; Kitty Lavigne, dancer; Tom Lake, versatile comedian; Louis Kerno, descriptive vocalist; and Nellie Linton, in her latest selection of songs, complete a good list.

WINDSOR.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Licensee, Mr. Fred L. Connynghame; General Business-Manager, Mr. Worton David; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Nash.—A Woman of Impulse has been played here this week by Messrs. Leonard Pagden and Lewis Gilbert's company. Miss Marie de Roos acts the rôle of Lady Langford with striking dramatic power, marked by subtlety and passion; Mrs. Dudley is ably and skilfully impersonated by Miss Lina Nazeby; Bertha Dudley finds a bright and natural representative in Miss Katie Johnson; Carl Navourac has an excellent exponent in Mr. Lewis Gilbert; Mr. Pagden, in his original character of Sir Mathew West, a brusque, plain-speaking Yorkshireman, is admirable; Mr. W. Ruddle Brown assumes the rôle of Sir George Langford with courtly ease and dignity; as Col. Challace Mr. Edward Sorley makes an excellent impression; Mr. William Wallace presents a good and amusing conception of the bachelor Dr. Fartlett; and Mr. James P. E. Hussey, in conjunction with Miss Nazeby, provides effectively the lighter humour and sentiment.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival.—Miss Ada Reeve and her company are appearing here this week in Winnie Brooke, Widow. Miss Reeve was unable to appear as Winnie Brooke on Wednesday and Thursday; and the part was admirably performed by Miss Kitty Clinton. Miss Alice Lawrence gives a capital impersonation of Mrs. Elihu Garside. Mr. Charles Weir, who appears as Dudley Mayne, is seen to great advantage, his acting being excellent; Mr. Edgar Stevens is very good, and sings well, as Reginald Frampton; Mr. Frederick Tyrrell gives an admirable portrayal as the Rev. Elihu Garside; and Mr. L. Ashton-Jarry is convincing and praiseworthy as Julian Croft.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. W. H. Lennon.—This week's bill is headed by Nellie Wallace, an eccentric comedy artiste of considerable merit; Drum and Major, two clever and amusing comedians, also appear; and the programme also includes Herman Urquhart, foot equilibrist; Hilton and Hilton, acrobats; Edna Cragg; Allan Wye; the Three Musical Shipbuilders, and the Bioscope.

WORCESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe; Assistant-Manager, Mr. L. Warde.—Mr. Gordon Starkey's company is here this week, appearing in A Message from Mars, on a return visit. The leading character, that of Horace Parker, is ably impersonated by Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee; Mr. Wm. Lockhart scores as the Messenger; and Mr. Percy Taylor, as the Tramp, is very good; while Mr. Collins-Rolfe, as the American millionaire, is well placed. Miss Edith Cuthbert as the heroine, and Miss Violet Auberies as the aunt are commendably represented; and the mechanical effects leave nothing to be desired.

WORTHING.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Miss Rosalind Scott-Watson's company is here this week with the powerful drama, The Scarlet Woman. Mr. Reginald Fox excellently portrays the manly character of Richard Marchant; Mr. Philip Gordon capably delineates the vacillating Philip Gordon; Mr. H. E. Robinson enacts the villainy of Will Raymond, alias Oscar Brandon, to perfection, being greatly aided by Mr. J. E. Cowel as Joe Cartwright, and Mr. Tom Wheeler an Jack Cartwright. Mr. H. Lauderdale is good as Jacob Isaacson; and Mr. Tod Squires is highly amusing as Samuel Hopkins, as are Miss Lilly Marshall as Fanchette and Miss Ruby Hamilton as Charlotte Simpkins. The singing of the latter was highly appreciated. Miss Muriel Alleyne leaves nothing to be desired as Margery Honor; Miss Bertha Adams deserves great praise in the juvenile part of Jeanne; Miss Scott-Watson is good as Mrs. Desmond; and Miss Rosalind Scott-Watson gives a really excellent and forcible presentment of Marie Brandon, the scarlet woman. Trilby was presented on Wednesday.

YORK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. H. Barrow.—The Biggest Scamp on Earth is the attraction here this week. Mr. W. H. Burton, as Napoleon Hawk, gets through a lot of hard work satisfactorily; Mr. P. C. Waram is manly and interesting, playing in a particularly easy style; Miss Frances Delaval is entitled to unstinted praise for her efforts, which are highly appreciated; and Mr. Evan Roberts is aptly placed as Vivian Wakefield, in which rôle he is exceptionally clever; Miss Louise Brandon and Miss Doris Denham, as Irene May and Bobby, are alike excellent, and give natural portrayals.

OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brooke.—York Operatic Amateurs, under the direction of Mr. W. A. Forster Todd, have possession of the theatre this week, and have appeared in Falka, the production of which has been in the able hands of Mr. Hugh Moss. The company is strengthened by the inclusion of Miss Midge Clark, who throughout is a most delightful Edwige, singing and acting alike with much grace and charm of manner.

THE Elizabethan Stage Society will give a special performance of the fine old morality play, Everyman, at the Fulham Theatre this afternoon at 3.15.

MISS MAY HOWARD was awarded, at the Grand Theatre, Islington, the handsome diamond ring presented by "Ally Sloper" to the lady pantomime artiste receiving the greatest number of votes for the week ending Feb. 11. The lady in question gained no less than 755 votes, being the second best number up to present records.

MR. FRANK MACNAGHTEN'S company is touring in the North and Midlands with The King's Pardon, a play from the pen of Mr. Brandon Blake, and dealing with the days when George was king. Success is met with wherever it goes, proof positive that it is a drama above the ordinary standard.

MR. HENRY JOHNSTON, whose popularity as acting-manager of the Prince of Wales's Theatre, Birmingham, has for the five years he has filled that office been most conspicuous, is to be presented with a testimonial, which will take the form of a cheque, at a smoking concert, to take place on Friday next, at Ye Olde Royale. Mr. Johnston is well and favourably known to both the profession and the public for his excellent business principles and general suavity of manner, and the movement is meeting with cordial support from all parties.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF NEW PIECES PRODUCED
AT THE LONDON THEATRES.
See THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
CONDUCTED BY EDWARD LEDGER.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
Once again "The Era" Almanack makes a welcome reappearance early in the New Year, and recounts all that has happened in the theatrical world during the past twelve months. The register of plays produced in 1904 at the principal theatres of London, Paris, and Berlin is as valuable a feature in this most conscientiously kept record as ever, and though works of great importance are seldom given for the first time in the provinces, the information supplied concerning these productions is useful to playwrights when considering the vexed question of title. To the 1905 annual Sir Henry Irving contributes an amusing reminiscence of the days in which Shakespearean productions were certainly not overloaded with superfluous detail, and Sydney Grundy gives a graphic account of the time when he was a critic. It is further embellished by a number of photographs of popular players, together with their autographs, and a specimen of their literary attainments, which are often considerable. A melancholy interest attaches to the portraits of the dramatic artists who have passed from the scene during 1904; a goodly company, headed by that large-hearted actor-manager, Wilson Barrett. On beholding a work somewhat similar to "The Era" Almanack, the late Mr. Gladstone remarked that he was surprised to find that so many people were professionally engaged in the theatre; and if one of our leading actors were to discover how many people are professionally engaged in politics he would, no doubt, be equally astonished.—Court Journal, Jan. 21, 1905.

THE BERNARD SHAW BOOM.

There are few studies more interesting than that of Booms or Crazes. The accepted theory respecting them is that whole classes or communities become hypnotised; and, in that state, perform the operation described by DICKENS'S Marchioness, when she made orange-peel, soaked in water, serve as sherry, by "making believe very much." A notable example was the acceptance, in many well-regulated West End nurseries, of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking-Glass." Those delightful works are caviare to children. Appreciation of them depends on an active literary sense, a comprehension of irony, and a certain amount of scholarship. How, for instance, can we expect a real child to be amused by the mock philology of "The Jabberwock," or the very "smart" parody of "You are old, Father William"? The children of the present generation, bad as they are, are not scholars; and the original poem is only familiar to their elders of the last generation. Yet we remember—the LEWIS CARROLL Boom is over now—hearing dozens of decorous, well-dressed little humbugs, obedient to the prevailing Fashion, feigning rapture at the perusal of LEWIS CARROLL'S works, when all they really cared for was TENNIEL'S illustrations of them. In the honest freedom of the nursery, CARROLL was cast under the sofa, while the child, free from the tyranny of the Boom, solaced himself or herself, on the hearthrug, with "Robinson Crusoe."

Another interesting example was the OSCAR WILDE Epigram Boom. Samples of the article were occasionally observed embedded in Lady Windermere's Fan, at the recent revival of that piece at the St. James's; but they are rare in that particular play. Yet, at one time, the OSCAR WILDE epigram was "all the rage." Mr. HENRY ARTHUR JONES, yielding perforce to its vogue, worked up most of the "society" dialogue in The Masqueraders in this style; indeed, it was generally adopted by all dramatists. Yet the specially WILDE-ian epigrams in Lady Windermere's Fan hardly got a laugh at the revival. They had had their Boom.

At the bottom of every Boom there is Talent. It is curious to notice, however, that it is not the enduring, but the ephemeral qualities of the author which create the Boom. His affectations and eccentricities are, so to speak, the Big Drum which calls the people into the booth. Once inside, he has only to let the intrinsic merit of his work "tell." In examining a Boom, we must always separate the sterling from the trashy element.

We are now passing through a BERNARD SHAW Boom; or, perhaps, it would be more accurate to state that it is passing over us. We confess that, with certain exceptions—a reference to a notice in this issue will show we include How He Lied to Her Husband amongst the number—Mr. SHAW'S work irritates us. We are quite impenitent on this point. We feel we do well to be angry—or, at any rate, regretfully disturbed—when a man of such priceless gifts as Mr. SHAW'S, a man who occasionally displays such a real and remarkable instinct for stage-craft, and whose exquisitely humorous power is obvious to the naked eye, renders so much of his work ephemeral and unsatisfactory by what appears to be mere careless conceit or sheer love of paradox. Many of his cleverest plays, such as The Philanderer and You Never Can Tell, are mere jumbles of incidents, thrown together with a self-complacent inconsequence which insults the commonsense of the spectator. And the worst of it is that in Mr. SHAW'S case the irrationality and bad workmanship are essential to these plays. WILDE with all his "frillings," had the instinct of the Good Workman. Consequently, his work lives. Lady Windermere's Fan, so far from being egoistic, "cranky," or badly-constructed, is one of the simplest, most sincere, and 'actable" pieces of the epoch. The Importance of Being Earnest, airy and whimsical as it is, is thoroughly workmanlike in its plan and development. For WILDE was clever enough to realise that when he had to go out of his "Society" clique, and appeal to the General Public, it was a case of "no more nonsense." This is where Mr. SHAW is less perspicuous than was Mr. WILDE.

We regard, therefore, the present Craze for Mr. SHAW'S plays as in the nature of a Boom on the Stock Exchange. Financially, we estimate shares in "SHAW, Limited," as fit for speculative purchase, but not suited for investment. How much of Mr. SHAW'S peculiarity is "pose," and how much is natural and spontaneous, we cannot say. The author of Candida has already attributed to himself three personalities; possibly he possesses even more. What we desire to emphasise is that there is no instance on record of careless workmanship surviving the test of time. The Chippendale chair endures years of wear and tear; the cheap machine-made modern article soon goes to pieces.

It often happens, however, that having attained to a Boom chiefly by his oddities, an author finds that he can afford to "go in his doublet and hose." This transformation often takes place just at the point most desirable for the writer's improvement—i.e., that at which he is admitted into what used to be described as the beau monde, and is able to look about him and "take notes." Mr. SHAW, we fancy, has reached this point. He tells us in one of his prefaces that, when he was a younger man, he refused to go into Society for fear his character should be injured by evil associations. That objection has probably been removed by increased age. Mr. SHAW, as he told the readers of The Clarion last week, is now a landlord and a capitalist; and we understand that he is also a married man. We wrote the other day that he was "incorrigible"; but How He Lied to Her Husband gives us hope. We look to BERNARD SHAW, as we once looked to OSCAR WILDE, to write for us a real "modern classic" in the way of comedy. Shall we be as deeply disappointed in the one case as we were in the other? We wonder.

MR. NEWMAN MAURICE, who started the duties of acting-manager at the Grand Theatre on Monday, held for a considerable period a similar position at Terriss's Theatre, Rotherhithe, and has been for the past fifteen years associated with Messrs. Walter and Fredk. Melville. As a matter of fact, Mr. Maurice originated practically all the comedy parts in the plays written by the Melville brothers, and he has frequently on tour combined acting with management. For a period of seven years Mr. Maurice ran the Bijou Theatre, Teddington, which, it may be remembered, was burnt to the ground last December, resulting in a serious loss to its lessee. Mr. Maurice's wife is professionally known as Miss Rose Moncrieff. That lady has just finished a successful pantomime engagement in the Red Riding Hood pantomime written by her husband.

"THE SQUAWMAN" is the title of a new play written by Edwin Milton Royle, which is to be produced in New York on Easter Monday with Mr. William Faversham in the title-rôle. It tells the story of an Englishman who is travelling in the West, and who falls in love with an Indian girl, and marries her. There are two scenes laid in America, and one in England. For this production Mr. Faversham has been "loaned" by Mr. Charles Frohman to Messrs. Liebler and Co.

MR. J. T. GREIN, in a lecture on State-aided theatres at the Passmore Edwards Institute, on Monday, said that he had found by experience that very few people in England knew what was meant by subsidised theatres. At the present time France, the most artistic country in the world, led the way in the matter of State-aided theatres, for in Paris there were no fewer than four. To the Comédie-Française the State gave £9,000 a year, and exercised some right of selection in the plays produced. The actor's point in regard to the Comédie-Française was that it was the acme of his ambition; it inspired him to do great things, and after five years' service at it he was assured of comfort for the rest of his life. In Germany the little city of Weimar contributed £75,000 that it might have the best plays of its best dramatists played in the best manner. In the matter of theatres we had plenty—too many. In ten to twenty years there would be such a slump in theatres as would possibly put an awful check on this form of speculation. One proof that our public was amenable to good plays was the success of one when it came. In his opinion the public did not care a rap whether a play was under dressed or over dressed, but it did care for good plays—plays with grip in them and properly acted.

MR. TREE ON ACTING.

There is nothing so interesting as the views of a man on a subject which he thoroughly understands, and the information which a representative of the London Magazine has extracted from Mr. Beerbohm Tree on "How to Act" is both valuable and readable.

"The first attribute required among the natural endowments for the actor's calling is, in my opinion," says Mr. Tree, "that peculiar temperament which informs all he does and all he is taught. You may call it the artistic temperament if you choose. It is this which enables him to be versatile in his nature, and to have the mimicry of the mind which enables him to present that copy of Nature which is called art. So far as the general education of the individual goes, I believe one must know, or, let me say, one must understand, a little of everything rather than everything of one thing, which the ordinary educationalist insists upon. Certainly, everything the actor does know or understand he will find very useful. Thus a knowledge of music, for instance—it need not be too profound a knowledge—is a great advantage to the actor. And the same holds good with regard to all the arts. In that little knowledge, which is supposed to be dangerous in most walks of life, is the desideratum of the stage artist.

"For him, too much reading, however good it might be for certain other callings, I hold to be destructive rather than otherwise of the imaginative faculty; and it is the imaginative faculty which the actor should cultivate in every way and by every means in his power. On the other hand, the actor should have a bowing acquaintance with all the European languages, so that he may be able to pronounce correctly any foreign words which may happen to fall into his part, and audiences may be spared half-a-dozen or more pronunciations of simple French, German, or Italian words and names, as is so often the case on the stage at present. From what I have said, you will have gathered that I do not regard a university education as advantageous to the actor, since it is not particularly calculated to open up the artistic mind. The actor (may I go so far as to say?) must have an original observation, and therefore be detached, as it were, from other people. If he sees everything in that conventional onlook which a too rigid regard for what is called good form is apt to generate, it is impossible for him to give an original point of view to his impersonation; and acting must be individual in its conception and representation. In this respect my counsel would be: 'Always do what you think you ought to do, and never listen to advice.'

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.

"Since you insist on my drawing on my personal experiences for an exemplification of this cultivation of the original point of view, I will confess that after I played the Rev. Robert Spalding in The Private Secretary I was strongly urged and tempted by pecuniary considerations to go away and continue playing the part. I refused to do this, as I did not want to become a fly in amber; and I went and played Macari in Called Back, and Macari is the very antithesis to The Private Secretary. Again, I used to be told that I must never try to play into the domain of Shakespeare. That, however, has now all passed away; and after all it is only right that a man should fight for everything that he wants to achieve. To return, however, to the general question of education, I think that, notably among women, too refined and genteel an education is by no means the best for the stage, where emotions and their expressions have of necessity to be uppermost, for the natural tendency of education is, as you are aware, towards the suppression of the representation, if not of the perception, of emotion. Essentially necessary is what I may call a general social education of a very wide nature, a general knowledge of 'how to behave' under any given circumstance, so that the audience does not have to criticise as incorrect certain actions which its own knowledge or intelligence knows to be different from the way in which they are represented on the stage. Happily, I think all English actors have this general education to a much greater extent than the French, who are always held up for our admiration, for you rarely see on the French stage a modern actor gifted with distinction of manner.

"I am a strong believer in a study of Shakespeare, but I am also alive to the fact that, say in a modern farce, one great essential in the art of acting can be learnt by the apt pupil—the value of pace apart from naturalness. In this regard, as is well known, Monsieur le Bargy, the distinguished teacher at the Paris Conservatoire, is a staunch advocate. To my mind, however, the greatest of all the technical requirements of the actor is instinct. It is greater than learning. It is inherited knowledge. By every means in his power the actor should develop this quality. A knowledge of dancing, fencing, pantomime, gesture, the art of speaking out, is useful; but, having acquired them, you must throw them away, or at least you must appear not to use them, remembering always the maxim which was formulated in the words, 'Summa ars est celare artem'—the highest art is that which conceals artifice.

NOTHING EQUALS INSTINCT.

"I have said the greatest of all the actor's equipments is instinct. In this connection, since again you insist on my personal experience, I will give you an illustration. I remember, when I had been about a year on the stage, I was introduced to the late Dion Boucicault. He was good enough to compliment me on a performance of mine which he had just seen. 'What I most liked about you,' he said, 'was that you have all the tricks of the trade.' And he inquired how long I had been on the stage. I told him, and asked what he meant by 'the tricks of the trade.' 'For one thing,' he replied, 'you allowed its appropriate gesture to slightly precede the speech it was illustrating.' 'Did I?' I answered. 'I did not know it. Perhaps if I had known it I should have done it wrongly.' In the same way, I remember, when I was a comparative novice, studying Darwin's 'Expressions of the Emotions.' I studied them very thoroughly and deeply. But I found in practice that I could not help doing the very things which he had shown us by means of descriptions and illustrations. I came to doing by instinct what he demonstrated by science should be done.

FREEDOM OF GESTURE.

"On the stage, gesture should be free and broad. You see the freedom and breadth of gesture when anyone is in a passion, for it is then that he goes to the end of gesture, and is broad and forcible. On the other hand, the man or woman who would be an actor has to remember that more forceful than gesture is, at times, the force of no gesture at all; and it is necessary to learn where this should not be used. The whole question how far technique should be taught is, in my opinion, a very subtle one; for in just the same way as one can be taught to think by machinery, as it were, so in the same way one can get to act mechanically, and to rely on technical training and become a machine to represent emotion.

REALISM IN ACTING.

"When you ask me how far the actor should cast off the conditions of real life on the stage when representing the emotions of the character he is impersonating you open up a subject which is very wide. To my mind, the more you can imagine a thing, the more nearly you can live it, the better you can act or represent it. In this connection the artistic representation of an event in life will frequently touch one even more than will the actuality itself. Thus, one may be moved to tears by an imaginary sorrow which, if one met it in private life, one would pass stoically by. This expression, you see, opens up another question: whether the would-be actor should shed real tears on the stage or not.

"Personally, I do not think there is any harm in the real tears, but on this point, again, it is impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule. I have heard many able persons maintain that the actor should not feel emotion while he is on the stage. According to these authorities, his emotion should be felt in studying the part, and he should reproduce the result of that study in exactly the same way as he reproduces the study of his lines. On the other hand, no less able persons have maintained just the opposite; and you will find many actors and actresses who do cry on the stage.

"For myself, I will admit that I prefer to have the feeling I am representing, and to act when the illusion is complete for me; but there are others who do not think with me."

A VEDRENNE-BARKER MATINEE.

On Monday afternoon, March 1, for the first time in England, the Play, in One Act, by Bernard Shaw, entitled

"HOW HE LIED TO HER HUSBAND."

He	MR. GRANVILLE BARKER
She	MISS GERTRUDE KINGSTON
Her Husband	MR. A. G. POULTON

How He Lied to Her Husband has been described as a travesty on Candida. It is nothing of the kind. A travesty is created when a serious piece is made absurd by exaggerating its sentiments. The leading sentiment of Candida is the Mother-Spirit of the Woman choosing the most dependent of two men, simply because he needs her help the more. Any "travesty" of Candida, therefore, must run on the lines of exaggerating this sentiment till it becomes ridiculous. How He Lied to Her Husband has "nothing to do with the case." Mrs. Bumpus is no more like Candida than Bumpus is like the clergyman husband; and the Poet in the alleged travesty does not in the least "burlesque" the youth in the East-End play. What Mr. Shaw has done is simply to take the old trio of the wife, lover, and husband, and treat it with such an unexpected, ingenious, and amusing dénouement that one is plunged into surprise, admiration, and merriment.

A sentimental poet—name not given—has been "hanging around" Mrs. Bumpus, a rather attractive and socially ambitious South Kensington hostess. He has written some "red-hot" love poems to her, addressing her by her Christian name, Aurora. These poems have been stolen by a spiteful sister-in-law, who is likely to show them to Mr. Bumpus; and Aurora persuades the Poet to deny that the verses were addressed to her. Confronted with the husband, he does so; but the result is curious. Instead of being pacified, Bumpus is deeply offended by the suggestion that his wife has not been deemed worthy of the Poet's amorous worship; and the irritation arising from what Bumpus looks upon as an insult to his wife—whom a Royal Duke had to desert, because he felt her attraction for him becoming too powerful—leads to an actual fistic conflict, which, by the bye, is a little too farcical for the rest of the piece, and might well be omitted. In the end, the Poet retires in disgust, and the audience goes away delighted.

The piece was most cleverly acted. Miss Gertrude Kingston, who had been most fortunately secured to play She, hit off exactly the social type indicated, and treated the part with just the right amount of sly artistic malice, and, at the same time, with admirable unconsciousness and seriousness. Mr. Granville Barker embodied the Poet almost flawlessly, his appearance, diction, and style being all irreproachable. Mr. A. G. Poulton realised to the full the common-place but uxorious Bumpus, and threw great energy into that individual's angry remonstrances. Altogether, the performance was a most enjoyable one. How He Lied to Her Husband evoked hearty laughter throughout, and was received with vigorous expressions of approval. Mr. Shaw's piece was immediately preceded by a translation by Christopher Horne from the German of Arthur Schnitzler, entitled

"IN THE HOSPITAL."

Karl Rademacher	MR. J. D. BEVERIDGE
Florian Schubart	MR. GEORGE TROLLOPE
Alexander Weihgart	MR. RUDGE HARDING
Dr. Lantner	MR. HOWARD STURGE
Dr. Tann	MR. EDMUND GWENN
Juliana Paschanda	MISS ISABEL GREY

In the Hospital is a gruesome but strong little piece. It gives great opportunities to the representative of the leading rôle, Karl Rademacher, a disappointed journalist, who is dying in poverty and in a hospital, bitter in his hatred of his old acquaintance, an important poet and dramatist named Alexander Weihgart. Rademacher takes into his confidence an actor named Florian Schubart, and tells him that Weihgart's wife was his (Rademacher's) mistress. The exhaustion of this revelation, however, subdues the dying man, and when Weihgart, a pompous, heartless worldling, comes to see his old "friend," Rademacher refrains from any revelations, and dies peacefully, in scornful contempt of Weihgart's pettiness. Mr. J. D. Beveridge was very impressive and thrilling as the moribund journalist, and acted with an intensity and earnestness which riveted the attention. One only realises what a fine actor Mr. Beveridge is when one sees him in a rôle worthy of his talents. Mr. George Trollope's Florian Schubart had a touch of the weird which was very effective, and he acted with tense energy and acute emphasis; and Mr. Rudge Harding's Weihgart was the essence of sleek prosperity and callous platitude. A great merit of this production was the care with which the details were worked out, the little parts of the Doctors and the Nurse having highly efficient and very conscientious exponents in Mr. Howard Sturge, Mr. Edmund Gwenn, and Miss Isabel Grey. The opening attraction of the afternoon was Mr. W. B. Yeats's Irish play, A Pot of Broth, which was noticed by us on its first production in London by the Irish National Theatre. Mr. Robert Pateman, as the plausible tramp, with his story about his magic stone, was full of persuasive appeal, and acted with an unction and earnestness that had their full value; Miss Amy Lamborn was a type of Irish peasant beauty as the credulous wife; and Mr. George Tully was quietly humorous as the easy-going husband. The Vedrenne-Barker matinées are certainly unique in the variety of their interest, and offer to epicures in dramatic fare a most tempting and appetising ménu. It is a real luxury to see such uncommon and original works performed with so much talent, care, and appreciation; and we are glad to know that the matinées are so successful.

MR. SAMUEL JAMES, the managing-director of the company now in possession of the Grand Theatre, Islington, informs us that it has been decided to run a few musical plays at the Grand, in order to break the monotony of the dramatic programmes. It is the intention of Mr. James—who, by the way, controls theatres at Hammersmith, Croydon, Windsor, Houghton, and Hetton—to select a stock company from his different playhouses, and to add to this one or two star artistes. Mr. George Davey has still an interest in the Grand, he having purchased £500 worth out of the £7,000 debenture shares offered to the public.

THE Bournemouth licensing magistrates on Thursday granted Mr. Mouillot a music and dancing licence for the Boscombe Hippodrome, recently known as the Grand Theatre, with the restriction that there was to be no promenade and no intoxicants. The application was strongly opposed.

THE SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL.

The LORD MAYOR presided at a meeting which was held at the Mansion House on Tuesday afternoon, to forward the movement towards a Shakespeare memorial in London. There was a large attendance.

PROFESSOR GOLLANCZ, the hon. secretary, said that among hundreds of communications received was a telegram from Sir Henry Irving, who had looked forward to the meeting with great interest, and had hoped against hope to be present. He had sent Mr. Bram Stoker as his representative. Meetings had been held during the year at His Majesty's Theatre, and the provisional committee, which included Sir Henry Irving, Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree, Sir Alma Tadema, R.A., the Hon. J. H. Choate, Lord Reay, Lord Avebury, Sir E. J. Poynter, P.R.A., Mr. George Meredith, Dr. F. J. Furnivall, Sir R. C. Jebb, M.P., Sir A. W. Rücker, and Mr. Frederic Harrison, would that day be merged into a general committee, at the head of which would be Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll. Amongst its 238 members were the Duke of Norfolk, the Duchess of Marlborough, Earl Roberts, the Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, M.P., the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Alverstone, M. Paul Cambon, the French Ambassador; Count Paul Wolff-Metternich, the German Ambassador; Count Albert Mensdorff-Pouilly-Dietrichstein, the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador; M. Alberto Pansa, the Italian Ambassador; also the Belgian, Bolivian, Brazilian, Chinese, Danish, Greek, the Netherlands, Portuguese Ministers, and Viscount Hayashi, the Japanese Minister; the Countess of Warwick, Lord Brassey, Lord Rothschild; the Lord Mayors of Birmingham, Liverpool, Manchester, Sheffield, and the Lord Provost of Glasgow; and the Agents-General of all the Colonies.

DR. FURNIVALL moved that the meeting approved of the proposal for a Shakespeare memorial in London, and sanctioned a list of names as members of the general committee, the list to be further added to.

MR. H. BEERBOHM TREE, in seconding, said various suggestions had been made for the memorial. There was, for instance, the scheme of a Shakespeare House, library, and statue. Then there was the idea of a national theatre. Personally, he thought such an enterprise would be fraught with danger. It would necessitate a capital of a quarter to half a million sterling, and such an attempt would, he thought, be contrary to the genius of the English people, for in this country it is not systems, but individuals, that counted in any cause. Certainly, whatever status the British drama might have attained, and whatever honour the drama of Shakespeare had received in the theatre, had been due to the enthusiasm, the initiation, the personal responsibility and ambition of individuals. Every night this week the works of Shakespeare were played at no less than four London theatres—a record that had not hitherto been reached. Shortly, too, Sir Henry Irving, who was rapidly recovering from an attack of overwork, would happily once more be appearing in Shakespeare on the London boards. Apart from the question of a national theatre, there was the suggestion that a theatre should be established by the municipality under the ægis of the County Council; but he wondered whether the business-like instinct which that body had already shown in relation to water-works and trams could be exhibited with anything like the same success in the conduct of a theatre. If they looked through the different capitals of Europe, did it not seem a singular and remarkable thing that everywhere in the squares and the boulevards the men who had done big deeds received such honour as could be paid them by a monument of stone or of bronze? We, too, should rear in marble or in bronze some definite image of the man who was the world's greatest poet. Surely to-day there existed some artists of the first rank who were capable of giving us such a statue, and even if, through sheer necessity, we had to go abroad—well, this was an international tribute to Shakespeare. Art belonged to no country. The nations of the world were in alliance with us in honouring the world's poet. Should there be any means left, let them devote that surplus to such a purpose that he who for centuries had ministered to the minds of the English people might through this memorial assuage their bodily sufferings. We could not make Shakespeare greater by marble or stone or bronze; his powerful rhyme would outlive any statue that could be raised to him, but we could honour this age by paying our tribute of gratitude and of pride to England's greatest mind.

MR. BRAM STOKER declared that the meeting could not possibly determine the form of a memorial, but it would be well if they should announce with no uncertain sound that such a monument should be erected. Something should be done for this man who had done so much for England and English literature.

The motion was agreed to.

LORD REAY, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor, hoped that the competition for the monument would be open to the whole world. MR. SIDNEY LEE seconded the resolution, and with the thanks of the Lord Mayor the proceedings terminated.

MESSRS. J. M. BARRIE, W. S. Gilbert, Arthur W. Pinero, and others have signed a protest in which they express their fullest sympathy with everything that honours the name of Shakespeare. They continue:—The greater the enthusiasm with which that illustrious name is received by every class of cultivated Englishmen, the more careful should we be to guard against well-intentioned but erroneous and dangerous modes of celebration. We hope that the scheme of the committee of the proposed Shakespeare Memorial may not be started without a great deal of careful consideration. Such a "Shakespeare House" as is proposed, consisting of museum, library, and lecture-hall, would be superfluous, and even embarrassing. All the authentic and interesting relics of Shakespeare, together with many others which are neither interesting nor authentic, are already assembled at Stratford-on-Avon. Any museum which could be formed in London would be a rubbish-heap of trivialities. Any Shakespeare library would be hopelessly inferior, whatever sum of money were squandered upon it, to the collection in the library of the British Museum. It is difficult to conceive of anything more superfluous than a Shakespeare lecture-hall, as accommodation exists on every hand for all the lecturing that can reasonably be desired, and for much that is of doubtful utility.

MUSIC, like "play-acting," runs in families, and one need therefore express no surprise at the success of the eldest son of Mr. Norman Salmond at the Royal College of Music, where he has gained a scholarship for the violin. The distinguished father helped to bear aloft the banner of English opera at the new house particularly devoted to that delightful form of the art built by the late D'Oyly Carte, and he opened in 1891 in Ivanhoe. The Royal English Opera House became, as we all know, the Palace, a house that—as has been shown during the past week—is again identifying itself with the lighter forms of lyrical work.

"A TANGLED SKEIN," a play in one act, by H. Tuite, was produced for copyright purposes at the Royalty Theatre, Glasgow, on the 24th ult.

MR. P. J. COOKE and the students of the elocution classes of the Northern Polytechnic, Holloway, will give an "open night" Shakespearean and humorous recital on Thursday evening next. A feature of the recital will be the perorations by Mr. Cooke of some of Sir Edward Clarke's forensic speeches.

MUSIC HALL GOSSIP.

Captain Jessel's Bill "to amend the law relating to public entertainment" will no doubt excite considerable controversy as to whether it will have the effect of bringing about a lasting settlement of what has so long been a vexed question. One of its main objects is to at once put a stop to the prosecutions of music hall managers for producing "stage-plays," by legalising the production under certain conditions of ballets and sketches in all theatres or varieties.

The measure is thus worded:

1. It shall be lawful in any music hall or theatre of varieties, licensed and kept for public dancing, music, or other entertainment of the like kind, publicly to present any ballet, ballet-divertissement, or ballet d'action, and those performances commonly called sketches, with or without dialogue, if no more than six principal performers take part therein, and if there shall be an interval of at least thirty minutes between any two such ballets or sketches, and no two ballets or sketches performed on the same day at such place of public entertainment shall have a connected plot. Provided that—

(a) No ballet, ballet-divertissement, or ballet d'action shall exceed seventy-five minutes in duration.

(b) No sketch shall exceed forty minutes in duration.

2. Any person may for hire act or present or cause or permit to be acted or presented any part in any such ballet or sketch aforesaid.

3. This Act may be cited as the Public Entertainment Act, 1905, and shall apply only to Great Britain.

The Bill is backed by five Unionist members (Captain Jessel, Mr. W. F. D. Smith, Sir Robert Mowbray, Sir Ernest Flower, and Major Jameson), one Liberal (Mr. Macnamara), and two Labour representatives (Mr. Crooks and Mr. Shackleton). The second reading has been provisionally fixed for Monday.

Though Miss Marie Lloyd is making an excellent recovery from her recent indisposition, it is impossible to say at present when she will be able to resume her professional engagements. She is staying at Brighton, and was able to pay a visit to the local Alhambra one day this week.

Unthan, "the armless wonder," caused considerable sensation on Wednesday when he accomplished the remarkable feat of so driving a phaeton from the Shepherd's Bush Empire to the Bank of England. Mr. Walter Digby, the well-known trainer of trotting horses, had promised him £25 if he succeeded, and provided the carriage and pair. Unthan, prior to the start, was photographed seated in a motor-car, a vehicle which he also drives as an expert, despite his physical deficiencies. When the armless wonder took his seat on the box and held out his feet for the reins he was wearing a 'bus driver's square hat and a pair of best silk "driving" stockings. At Shepherd's Bush Green a great crowd collected for hours before the start, and as Unthan waved his feet gleefully on taking his seat, a great cheer went up. Shortly before one o'clock Herr Unthan arrived safely in the City, having successfully accomplished 18 miles of the most difficult travelling in London.

On Monday next there will be considerable changes in the programme at the Empire. Mr. Bransby Williams, the well-known impersonator, will introduce, for the first time, a new monologue scena entitled The Last of His Race, by Miss Beatrice de Burg, the music by Cuthbert Clark. Other new turns are Rose and Harry Lubline, as mischievous servants; the Novikoffs, a Russian troupe of singers and dancers; Charles Montrell, in a juggling act; and the Three Eitners, wire walkers. In addition there will be Miss Anna Hickisch, who will sing popular ballads; Mdlle. Marquis and her highly trained ponies; the biograph with some new pictures; and the new fairy divertissement, The Dancing Doll, with Mdlle. Genée in the principal part.

Mr. C. W. Walker, the blind negro music hall comedian, with his charming coloured wife, Miss Ida May, has arrived in London on a tour of the variety theatres. Mr. Walker feared that if his blindness was known to music hall managers and the public his sole means of livelihood would be cut off, and so for over a year he has danced and sang with his secret unguessed even. But this week, for the first time, those outside his circle of personal friends have been told the truth, and Mr. Walker has been overwhelmed with sympathetic messages and congratulations on the skill with which in the past he has kept his audiences "in the dark" as to his misfortune.

Madame Roma's Aerial Wrestling Girls, whose gymnastic exercises in the air constitute a novelty in the English music halls, provide an exceedingly graceful turn, and excitement as well as admiration is caused by the movements of the dozen young girls who strive for mastery over one another while clinging to poles which hang perpendicularly from a cross-bar. So successful has been the show that Mr. Adney Payne re-engaged it after the first performance at the Oxford.

Miss Winifred Hare, always a charming vocalist and actress, will find quite her right environment at the Coliseum, where she will appear on Monday, March 13. She will present two songs, "Little Brown Dove," by Hannen Swaffer and Hermann Darewski, jun., and "Banish Sorrow," by the late Frederick Clay, who wrote Lalla Rookh, and whose muse was silent—poor fellow!—some time before his premature death. We hear nothing of Lalla Rookh now, though most of our leading tenors have familiarised us with one of its gems of melody, "I'll sing thee songs of Araby."

Judging from the warm reception Mr. Lennox Barry, the newly-appointed manager of the Battersea Empire, obtains when he appears on the stage to announce any special event, it would appear that Mr. Barry has in a very short time, by his courtesy and excellent management, made himself extremely popular with all his patrons, and the directors are to be congratulated on their choice of such an able gentleman to represent their interests. A special matinée is now being given at this hall every Wednesday at reduced prices, and if the attendance last Wednesday is any criterion, Mr. Barry has inaugurated a class of entertainment which should prove very popular with Batterseaites.

At the Battersea Empire on Monday was produced The Right Road, a very smart and well-written duologue, by Walter Hast and F. Warden Reed, the latter gentleman giving a most effective performance of Captain Jack, a society swindler. He was well supported by Miss Helen Grenville, who, as Nellie, scored well by her sympathetic rendering of the part. The duologue was handsomely staged, and was received with much favour.

Miss Dolly Harmer will produce a new low comedy song, by Carl Howard, at the Oxford, on Monday evening, entitled "All Scotch."

Owing to the success of the revival of Over the Sticks at the Oxford, the run will be continued till the termination of Mr. Joe Elvin's present engagement on the 18th inst. On Monday, the 13th inst., the popular comedian will produce a new comedy-farce, written by Wal Pink, music by George Le Brunn, with a special elaborate scene by Syd Cook, entitled Out all Night. This will be produced by Mr. Jesse Sparrow at the Camberwell Palace.

Mr. Alf. Leonard, of the Norman Leonard Trio, and Mr. Ryder Slone were the principal actors in what might have been a very serious accident on Tuesday at Swansea. While Mr. Leonard was at the piano rehearsing Cruikshank in a new song, Mr. Slone took deliberate aim at the player with a Derringer rifle (which, of course, he did not know was loaded), and put a bullet through the player's hat, grazing the crown of his head, and stunning him for a moment. Mr. Leonard is very gratified to learn that his friend Slone has decided to abandon rifle practice for the future.

Miss Vesta Tilley's motor-car, and incidentally her chauffeur, fell foul of the Birmingham police during her recent visit to that city, and, as the result of an obstruction, the latter, whose name is James Bousall, appeared at the Birmingham Police-court on Tuesday morning last. On the evening of the 16th ult. Bousall was waiting with the car outside the Grand Hotel, where the popular music hall artiste was staying, and in a few minutes a crowd collected round the car. As the crowd increased, a police sergeant and a constable requested the chauffeur to "move on," but the latter absolutely refused to budge. Mr. H. J. Manton, a magistrate, gave evidence. He said that he saw the crowd, and made inquiries as to the cause of the obstruction. The police officers were helpless. Mr. Milward appeared for the defence. The Bench concluded that the case was the penalty of popularity. The man should, however, have moved off when directed, but they thought the case would be met by payment of the costs.

The Two Bees, of Hiawatha fame, had a great reception at the start of their second week's engagement at the Palace, Aberdeen. The comic business supplied was entirely different from the previous week, and, if anything, even better. The principal change, however, was, instead of Hiawatha's Wooing, Hiawatha Wed, produced for the first time in Aberdeen. The sketch was a most unqualified success, and though the same sort of "catchy" chorus was not introduced, the scenic effects were magnificent, and applause interrupted the show several times, while at the end the two skilled artistes had repeatedly to bow their acknowledgments.

The numerous friends of Mr. Harry Burns, the energetic manager of the Empress Varieties, Hartlepool, will be pleased to learn that after an absence extending over nearly three months, through illness, that gentleman is once again able to resume his duties. He is to be heartily congratulated on his recovery from an illness which at one time assumed a most serious aspect.

Dr. Walford Bodie has been breaking all records at the Tivoli, Leeds. Last week hundreds were turned away at every performance, and so great has the nightly crush been, that Mr. Waller, the manager, had to apply to the Chief Constable for extra police. The scene at the doors nightly baffles description. The crowd commences to gather about four o'clock, waiting two hours till the opening of the early doors. Dr. Bodie is the talk of Leeds and district for miles around. No show that has ever visited Leeds has caused such a sensation. The gross takings last week at cheap prices (2d., 4d., and 6d.) were £667 0s. 3d., and this week the Doctor is beating his last week's record, playing to much over £100 nightly. He visits London again soon.

Dr. Walford Bodie has just purchased, through his solicitor (Mr. J. J. George), the Town Clerk of Macduff, another large block of buildings, and also the Corporation Baths, which he intends to transform into an up-to-date hydro. The Doctor has lately made extensive purchases of land and property in Macduff and district, and he is now one of the largest property owners in the famous little town. Plans have been passed, and building operations have commenced, for the erection of a large mansion for the Doctor's family at a cost of over £3,000. Messrs. Marshall McKenzie and Co., the well-known architects of London and Aberdeen, are the architects. The design, which is old English, is by Dr. Bodie himself. When completed, the Laird of Macduff, as the Doctor is styled, may be seen more at his beautiful Highland home.

Mr. Arthur Lennard, who, as we announced last week, was seriously injured by being thrown out of an Irish jaunting car, was determined that he would not disappoint his numerous Liverpool admirers, and appeared at the Empire in that city on Monday night. Mr. Lennard, although suffering considerable pain, and carrying his arm in a sling, made a great hit with his clever songs, and was the recipient of quite an ovation upon making his welcome appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bayne have made a genuine and deserved success with a refined and dramatic duologue, An Emperor's Divorce, at the Palace, Manchester, this week, in which Mr. Bayne repeats his well-known impersonation of Napoleon I., and Miss Evelyn Hope secures the sympathy of her audience in her pathetic rendering of Josephine.

"His One Great Sin," a new and original dramatic sketch written by Albert Guyon, was produced at the Metropole, Manchester, on Monday, and scored an immediate success, being at once booked by Mr. W. B. Broadhead for five of his variety theatres. The cast included Albert Guyon and Little Vera.

The Bijou Empire (late Empire), Grimston-street, Hull, has been redecorated, painted, and re-seated. Other improvements include an installation of the electric light, and entire new scenery has also been provided. The hall will reopen on the 13th inst., and will be run on lines equal to that of any provincial variety place of amusement. Mr. Fred Thorne, variety agent, is the sole responsible and booking manager.

Mr. Charles Coborn, that extremely versatile comedian, is favouring our Scottish cousins at the Empire, Glasgow, with a song in the Gaelic tongue. Next week, at Aberdare, he will warble to the Welsh in their native Cymraeg.

Mr. T. Allan Edwardes, the proprietor of the Palace (Derby), Hippodrome (Stoke-on-Trent), Palace (Attercliffe, Sheffield), Hippodrome (Grimsby), and Grand Theatre (Derby), has taken a well-earned holiday. At present he is visiting Paris, Nice, Monte Carlo, and other watering places in the south of France.

Dr. J. C. Oliver and Mdlle. Jeanetta are still in "Bonnie Scotland," where they have had continuous and successful engagements during the past twelve months.

Messrs. John P. Harrington and George Le Brunn have "placed" their latest "free" song, published by Messrs. Francis, Day and Hunter, and entitled "Queen of the Coral Isles," with several leading music hall artistes, and the demand for "singing permissions" is daily increasing. The author and composer are the proud recipients of a letter, commencing: "Mr. Seymour Hicks begs to thank you for the song, which he thinks delightful."

Dainton and Croger will shortly exploit on the stage of one of our leading West-End music halls a musical comedy interlude of a novel character, entitled The Paying Guest. The libretto and lyrics have been specially written for this accomplished "duo" by Mr. John P. Harrington, while Mr. George Le Brunn is responsible for the music.

Mr. Albert Chevalier has concluded his very successful engagement at the Circle Theatre, and is now appearing at the Orpheum Theatre in Brooklyn, one of the most popular houses in New York's big residential borough. The Circle and the Orpheum are both under the management of Mr. Percy Williams. Mr. Chevalier has had to sing at least three of his old favourites at every performance, which goes to show that, while the Americans are great sticklers for novelty and change, they can be just as loyal and conservative as their English cousins in the matter of old songs. Mr. Chevalier has confided to an interviewer that the theme of that masterpiece of homely pathos, "My Old Dutch," came to him in the midst of a London fog. The first time he sang it, the song was "booed." So he stopped it at that hall. It went very well elsewhere, however, and when he tried it again at the place where it was sung at first, they liked it there, too.

Mr. Chevalier has also recalled an amusing incident of his previous American tour. Being too ill to sing on a certain evening, he sent word to the manager, who made no announcement to the audience until the time came for Chevalier to appear. There was a big house, and everyone was in a high state of expectancy, when the manager went before the curtain, and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am sorry to announce that we have just heard that Mr. Chevalier is too ill to appear before you to-night. We have arranged, however, a turn which we believe will fill his place very admirably. I take pleasure in introducing Herr Pfungst and his trained baboon."

Mr. Charles Fisher, the clever and popular operatic artiste, writes from Johannesburg under date Feb. 6:—We had a lovely voyage on board the good ship Walmer Castle, and my party assisted in giving concerts, to the great delight of our fellow-passengers, a special vote of thanks being accorded to my wife and self. We landed at Cape Town Jan. 10 in the morning, and took train at night for Johannesburg. It was a horrible journey—three nights and two days in a railway carriage not big enough to swing a cat round—baking hot, and no food or drinks to be had except at certain stopping places. Having contracted a very bad cold, I arrived at Johannesburg more dead than alive. However, the little condensed "operas" at once hit the taste of the habitues of the well-conducted Empire, and we have created a record for Johannesburg by changing our bill every week.

Mr. Fisher refers in flattering terms to the Empire management, remarking that "it is a pleasure to work for such a firm, and no artiste need have any fear to come out here under their banner. After we opened I received the congratulations of the entire management and directors. This week we are putting on Il Troratore, and by the time you receive this letter we shall be playing at the Tivoli, Cape Town."

Referring to Africa's present and future from a theatrical point of view, Mr. Fisher says: As to the present, matters are in a very bad way, because the country is still so unsettled, and money scarce; but when things are settled, and the country once more in a flourishing state, there will be a great field open. Everything, however, must be of the very best. To make money here, the productions must be equal to any London one; there is no room for anything mediocre. Since my visit eight years ago the place has entirely changed. The town is now full of magnificent buildings. There is a splendid market, where you can obtain all kinds of fruit and vegetables, fresh fish, all moderately cheap; and one can live here almost as cheap as at home, but the cooking is "abominable."

Miss Nellie Wilson has proved herself an indefatigable worker in the cause of charity. Mr. Fruin, the secretary of the Music Hall Home, provided Miss Wilson with no fewer than six collecting cards for Mr. Barrasford's appeal for the institution, with the result that the captivating collector has obtained three hundred shillings for the Home, a splendid achievement.

The Criminal Investigation Department Sergeant's annual banquet took place at the Trocadero Restaurant on the 23rd ult. A large number attended, including Mr. H. Curtis-Bennett, Mr. G. G. Kennedy (the well-known Metropolitan magistrates), the Hon. Claude Hay, and many other gentlemen interested in this department. After an excellent dinner, such popular members of the musical profession as Mr. Eugene Stratton, Miss Vesta Victoria, Mr. Leo Stormant, and Miss Eveleen Speed contributed to a long and varied programme. Mr. Stratton introduced his budget of good stories, which were greatly appreciated. Miss Eveleen Speed, a promising young mezzo-soprano, was loudly applauded for her rendering of Tosti's "Good-bye," giving as an encore Lane Wilson's "Carmena" in fine style. Miss Vesta Victoria and Mr. Leo Stormont were naturally received with great approbation, and the various other artistes contributed to make what was undoubtedly a most successful entertainment.

At the Westminster County Court, on Tuesday, a claim was brought for the price of two dresses by Messrs. Harrison, theatrical costumiers, against Miss Kate Hardren and her agent. The dresses were said to have been ordered by the agent, and the lady was to appear at the Palace Theatre to impersonate the "Gibson Girl." Miss Hardren's defence was that she had lost a fortnight's engagement owing to "that awful abortion of a dress" that Messrs. Harrison had sent. In cross-examination, Miss Dhoyl, a dressmaker's assistant, stated that one of the complaints was that the dress was too wide. His Honour: Then the danger was that it might fall off. Mr. Butt, of the Palace Theatre, explained that it was not because of the dress that he did not engage Miss Hardren. Ultimately Miss Hardren was discharged from the case.

Carl and Carr, comedians, have been re-engaged for the pantomime season of 1905-6 by Mr. Arthur Carlton, at a big increase.

A trotting match for a substantial stake will take place between Mrs. Fred Ginnett's mare Cigarette and Miss Gladys Mavius' mare, at Wimberley Park, on Wednesday or Thursday next. The distance is one mile and a half, and the mares will be ridden by their fair owners.

The 395th meeting of the Executive Committee of the M.H.A.R.A. was held on Tuesday afternoon, when there were present Messrs. Harry Freeman, Albert Voyce, Michael Nolan, Harry Wright, Bob Hutt, James Finney, Tom McNaughton, Cliff Ryland, George Gray, Walter Munroe, Joe Elvin, and C. Douglas Stuart (secretary). Mr. Harry Freeman was voted to the chair. The committee passed a vote of condolence with the widow of Mr. John Thornborrow, their late agent in Newcastle, and afterwards Middlesbrough, and appointed Mr. W. T. Smith, stage-manager of the Empire Palace, Middlesbrough, as agent in that town. A letter was read from Mr. Douglas White resigning his position as hon. treasurer of the Association, and it was decided to write to the effect that the committee had received the letter with much regret, and also asking him to state his reasons for his action. Mr. Charles Pastor was unanimously elected a member of the committee. Dr. John Owen, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Liverpool, was appointed as hon. medical officer. The Secretary reported that 32 new members had joined during the past week, making a total number enrolled since the commencement of 11,374.

"Billy," dubbed the "human-brained" horse, made his first appearance before a metropolitan audience on Monday at the Lyceum. This equestrian wonder was born and bred in Dorsetshire, and is nine years old, having spent five of these in continuous training. His intelligence is remarkable, for he plays cards, is an expert arithmetician, and can tell the time by a watch. Numerous other tricks are performed by this cleverly trained animal.

The monthly committee meeting of the Music Hall Sick Fund was held at the York Hotel on Wednesday last. Mr. Pat Carey (president), occupied the chair, and there were also present Messrs. Fred Heath (hon. treasurer), W. Wainratta, and Tom Carney. The secretary (Mr. R. T. Baines) reported an addition of ten new members. After some formal business had been transacted, the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. W. Thornborrow, the much-respected manager of the Empire Palace, Middlesbrough, also for several years manager of the Empire, Newcastle-on-Tyne, took place on Wednesday afternoon, at Hammersmith Cemetery. The funeral cortège left the house of his father, 125, Dalling-road, Hammersmith, at two o'clock. Besides the relations of the deceased, a coach conveying a deputation from the Music Hall Artistes' Railway Association, consisting of Messrs. A. Voyce, Jas. Finney, and C. Douglas Stuart (secretary), and also Mr. Kahl, secretary of the Empire, Middlesbrough, Limited, followed. Several handsome wreaths were laid on the coffin, amongst them being those from the directors of the Empire, Middlesbrough, the staff of same, friends from Middlesbrough, and the M.H.A.R.A., of which the deceased was for several years agent in Newcastle and Middlesbrough.

Although the piece was only lately produced in the halls, the Ross Clyde Comedy Company are meeting with gratifying success with their farcical sketch called I Must Have It. This week, at the Tivoli, Dublin, the Hibernians have roared with laughter at the merry trifle, which is played in the true spirit of farce, and goes with a rattle from start to finish.

Mr. George Sanford, of the well-known duo, Sanford and Lyons, has just undergone a serious operation on the throat. During their highly successful pantomime season at the Grand Theatre, Brighton, Mr. Sanford worked very often under great difficulties in consequence of his throat trouble. His many friends will be pleased to hear that the operation was successfully performed by Mr. Sanford's physician, Dr. Reid. Messrs. Sanford and Lyons commence an engagement at the Grand, Hanley, on Monday; then return to town to open at the Tivoli, the Oxford, and all West-End halls.

Mr. Stratton Mills and Alice Lethbridge are working a sketch in which the gentleman poses as "The Call Boy." The act is fully registered and protected.

Edna Cragge, after appearing in the pantomimes Sinbad and Dick Whittington, has returned to London, but opens on Monday at the Empire, Wolverhampton, with new dresses and up-to-date songs.

Mr. Alec Hurley is actively rehearsing, at the Oxford, with a view to early production, his new musical comedietta, in three scenes, entitled The Coster's Beanfeast, written by John P. Harrington, with music by George Le Brunn. A preliminary announcement of this sketch, from which the title was then withheld, appeared in these columns some months ago.

Frederick Maxwell and his clever company, including Miss Lois Du Cane, in Lord Harkaway, will be the chief attraction at the Surrey Theatre next week.

Anglers, of which there are many in the profession, will be interested to learn that the magnificent silver cup, the gift of Mr. Fred Redfern, of the New York Nippers, to the Stockwell Angling Society, was fished for in three matches, the last taking place at Pangbourne, and has been won by Mr. W. Eyke, of Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter's staff. The cup will be presented to this well-known and keen fisherman this month, on which occasion its holding capacity will be tested to the utmost.

The Duchess Palace, Balham, is scoring heavily this week with a very strong programme, one of the chief attractions being Miss Louie Freear, who made a great hit with "She jest walks on."

Miss Kate Hardren opens at Collins's, on Monday, with her "Gibson Girl" act, and a new song, "It's difficult," written by Mr. J. E. MacManus, and composed by Mr. E. Vousden.

Messrs. C. W. Murphy and Dan Lipton feel very gratified at the great success of Mr. Harry Weldon at the Oxford this week. They have been responsible in the past for most of his songs, and he has some promising numbers in study, also by the same firm.

Pat Carey, after a successful London season, leaves town to-night for the Stoll tour.

Miss Florrie Forde, after a well-earned fortnight's holiday on the Continent, opens on Monday at the Euston, London, and Collins's.

Aryama, the Japanese equilibrist, who has just returned from the Continent, finishes at the Empire, Leicester-square, to-night, after a very successful engagement.

Rezene and Robini, after a most successful tour of three months, return to London on Monday next for one week only at the Cambridge and the Granville, Walham Green.

Mr. Fritz Young has returned to America on business, but will be back again in about three weeks' time. His wonderful new illusion, A Trip to the Rocky Mountains, which was the success of the season on the other side last year, will probably be seen at Blackpool this summer.

At the Southwark County-court, on Thursday, Samuel Mundler, a dealer in lighting appliances at Newington-causeway, sued the Surrey Vaudeville Theatre, Ltd., to recover £50 damages for wrongful and violent ejectment from the Surrey Vaudeville. On the night of Jan. 21, said Mr. Harold Brandon, who appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. Mundler and six others went to the Surrey. There were three children, one eight, one six, and the other "an infant in arms, aged two years." Five tickets were first taken, but they were told that six were necessary. Another ticket was paid for at the box-office, where it was stated that the baby would be free. When the party got inside the hall, however, the attendant demanded seven tickets, and when plaintiff explained matters, and was about to take his seat, the attendant seized him by the coat, and flung him through an exit. He fell down, and his spine was injured. Thompson, the check-taker, declared that when he demanded another ticket the plaintiff pushed past him, and the man was simply escorted outside to see the manager. A police-sergeant declared that the party was very excited, and he and an attendant "got behind them, and gradually worked them out of the door." His Honour found for the plaintiff, damages £15, and costs.

A novel turn at the Metropole, Camberwell, on Monday evening, excited considerable interest. Mr. Bardell, a young Scotsman, entered a cage containing wolves and hyenas, and whilst the animals paced around him, freed himself within sixty seconds from three pairs of handcuffs and a pair of leg-irons with which he had been fettered. Next his head and hands were secured in a pillory, from which he as expeditiously extricated himself. His last trick was to effect his escape from a box in which he had been locked, and placed in the cage, his place, after the lapse of a few seconds, being taken by a monkey, whilst he made his re-appearance from the wings.

During a wrestling competition for the district championship at Toulon, on Sunday, one of the competitors, named Saint Feray, when seized by Basso, his adversary, round the waist, fell on his back and could not rise. He had his kidneys crushed, and was at once conveyed to a hospital.

Owing to the great success of Mr. Theodore Jones as Jack Sheppard, in the vocal scena of that title, by A. Voyce, he has secured the theatre and music hall rights, and new scenery and costumes by Morris, Angel and Co. have been specially provided for the coming tour.

Caicedo, the wire king, is meeting with great success in the United States. Writing from Detroit, he says that business is splendid. He adds that he is patiently waiting for English managers' offers for next winter. He wishes to get back as soon as possible to England, where his children are being educated.

Fanny Robina and Florry Cooper have just finished a highly successful tour of six months, and return to London on the 13th with new songs, including "Don't fly away, Robin" and "Right at the Top."

Mr. Andie Caine, after a successful pantomime engagement with Mr. Robert Arthur at the Kennington Theatre, opens on the Livermore tour on Monday, and returns to town in a few weeks with something entirely new.

The Empire, Kilburn, reopens to-night under the management of Mr. Brien McCullough, whose long experience in the halls should enable him to make his venture a certain success. A strong programme will include The Shaughraun, cinematograph pictures, and other attractions.

Miss Maude Mortimer finishes to-day a most successful pantomime engagement of thirteen and a half weeks at the Grand Theatre, Glasgow. Miss Mortimer has been in excellent form all through, and played at every one of the 111 performances given. On Monday the popular comedienne opens at the Metropolitan and Islington Empire.

Miss Rose Adams, the talented daughter of Harry Adams (of On Guard fame), deputised at the Camberwell Palace last week for Miss Leonard Vernon, and on Saturday night was the recipient of a basket of roses.

By the kind invitation of Mr. Oswald Stoll, the girls of the "Guards' Home" school for daughters of men in the service witnessed the noon performance at the Coliseum on Thursday. Buns and picture postcards of the Coliseum were given to each child at the finish.

The Hanley Theatres and Circus Company has decided to reopen the cosy house in New-street as a variety hall, on the two-houses-a-night system. It is to be called the Empire, and Mr. Alfred Edwardes, who formerly was manager, has been re-engaged for this important position. Variety business is thriving in the Potteries, and the Empire should prove a distinct success.

Mr. Pat Doherty, the Irish Dude, finished a nine weeks' successful engagement at the Islington Grand on Saturday night, having appeared at every performance in the palace scene, and made a big hit with Irish songs and step dances.

Mr. J. J. Dallas, whose great success at the Coronet Theatre at Christmas was "the talk of the town," has made another genuine hit at the London Pavilion, with Miss Bessie Allayne, in The Bazaar Girl. Mr. Frank Glenister offered his warm congratulations at the conclusion of their performance.

Walter Leaver, the acting-manager and chairman of the Royal Albert, Canning Town, takes his twentieth annual benefit on Thursday, the 16th inst.

Miss May Henderson, after highly successful Continental tour, at Vienna and Berlin, opens on Monday next at Hippodrome, Eastbourne.

Lauri Wylie, who recently made such a hit at the Oxford with his mimicking mannikin, is this week appearing at Collins's, where his reception each evening is very gratifying.

Miss Florrie Gallimore terminates a most successful Moss and Stoll tour to-night, and will appear for the first time at the Palace, Lancaster, having been specially engaged by Mr. Porter, the manager. The widely popular comedienne is sure to have the very heartiest of welcomes.

Miss Lizzie Beckwith, youngest daughter of the late Prof. Fred Beckwith, and winner of the Ladies' Championship of the World Cup offered at Earl's Court by the Star in 1893, died on the 4th ult. at Victor, Colorado.

The secretary of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund has received the sum of £2 5s. 5d. from Mr. Fred Miller, the result of his effort with the Pence Box at the Canterbury Theatre of Varieties during the past month. The president and committee desire to thank Mr. Miller for his energy on behalf of the fund.

M. Ludwig Amann, the man of many faces, who will appear at the Shepherd's Bush Empire next week, does not, like some so-called impersonators, rely upon false noses, padded cheeks, or half-masks to obtain his effects. He depends only and solely upon ordinary "make-up," and the mobility and extraordinary flexibility of his features, and the almost unnatural control he has over the muscles of his face. It would be difficult to believe, in watching his performance, that it is the same man all the way through, were he not continually in full view of the audience, so completely does he assume the features of the particular individual he is impersonating. M. Amann is a Bavarian, having been born in Munich in 1855. When 23 years of age he commenced his theatrical career by joining the celebrated Duke of Meiningen's Shakespearean company, and it was whilst filling this engagement that he discovered his wonderful gift.

"The police had seized all my properties, and brought them along; so, giving a hurried look at Gourko, I turned to a mirror to 'make up.' It was a very anxious moment, I assure you, for if the General should take exception to my representation of him he had unlimited power to punish me. I adjusted wig and moustache, and summoning all my nerve, turned to the General a duplicate of his own face and overbearing manner. After the lapse of a second or two, but which seemed to me a much longer time, Gourko burst into a roar of laughter. My ordeal was over. The General ordered me to give him some additional impersonations, musicians played for him, and altogether we spent a very jovial evening."

THE LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

THE PALACE.

On Monday evening, Feb. 27, was produced here, for the first time on any stage, an original operetta by Henry A. Lytton, music by A. C. MacKenzie, entitled

Rose Merton	MISS B. GASTON-MURRAY
Will O'Dene	MR. HENRY CLAFF
Rupert Wilde	MR. WALTER HYDE
Jack Shadbolt	MR. LESLIE STILES
Tim Fearless	MR. CAIRNS JAMES
Sergeant Slowe	MR. ALEC DAVIDSON

Mr. Alfred Butt, the energetic young manager of the Palace, has made a move in the right direction. The production of such a high-class musical piece as The Knights of the Road is a distinctly creditable achievement; and it is to be hoped that the management will receive sufficient encouragement to persevere in a line that is deserving of the hearty support of all who appreciate an entertainment which aims to be artistic as well as pleasing. The Knights of the Road may be quoted as a type of musical piece which ought to become popular at the better-class variety theatres. It succeeds by perfectly legitimate means. The fact that the music has been composed by Sir Alexander MacKenzie is alone a sufficient guarantee of its quality; and a fully qualified company of artistes has been engaged for the performance of the novelty. The author of the libretto, Mr. Henry A. Lytton, an old Savoyard, has dealt effectively with the romantic and picturesque side of the highwayman's life. The real Dick Turpin was no doubt a very ordinary individual, but, fostered by the late Harrison Ainsworth's novel of "Rookwood," the halo of romance still clings to his adventurous career; and he remains a hero in the eyes of many a youth who has heard or read of his doughty doings as a cavalier of the road. In the new operetta the leader of the band of highwaymen is known as Will O'Dene, and right gallantly he bears himself as he makes love to Rose Merton, the pretty daughter of the landlord of the old-fashioned country inn, which is the only scene. Will, it seems, has had enough of the hazardous and not altogether reputable life of a highwayman, and he intends to become a soldier, and serve King and country. And it is perhaps just as well that he should quit his risky calling, for even his smart lieutenant, Rupert Wilde, has a fit of "the blues," the result of an accusing conscience, but as his moralising leads to melody, there is every excuse for it. While the jovial lads are melodiously celebrating the betrothal of Will and Rose, their merriment is suddenly checked by the appearance of Sergeant Slowe, of the King's Regiment, with a warrant of arrest; but surely he was a bold, not to say an imprudent man, to trust himself alone amongst the half-dozen offenders against the law. Just what one might expect happens. The sergeant is quickly overpowered, bound to a chair, and gagged, his would-be prisoners making good their escape. The plot, it will be seen, is extremely slight; and the story is mainly told by means of the half-dozen lyrics introduced. Mr. Henry Claff was a robust representative of Will O'Dene, and his fine rendering of the stirring song, "Who'll serve the King?" was greeted with much applause. Mr. Walter Hyde was a handsome and manly Rupert Wilde, and he sang in admirable style, "This portrait set in sapphires." Miss B. Gaston-Murray was a vivacious and winsome Rose Merton, and contributed a song with charming effect. Mr. Cairns James was amusing as Tim Fearless, an exceedingly timorous knight of the road, and he scored with a ditty, "I am so nervous," with a capital chorus. Mr. Leslie Stiles did well as Jack Shadbolt, and Mr. Alec Davidson, as Sergeant Slowe, completed the cast. The madrigal, "Ring the joy bells," was admirably rendered, and a pretty dance was greatly admired. The work done by the orchestra deserves warm commendation; and on the first night Sir Alexander Mackenzie bowed his acknowledgments of the general and hearty applause at the fall of the curtain. This week's bill also includes Miss Ethel Ross-Selwicke and Mr. Charles Esdale in an original duologue, by F. Kinsey Peile; "Little Bobby," Mr. Tom Hearn, Miss Vesta Victoria, Grant and Grant, Mr. Horace Goldin, and Miss Nina Gordon, who gives some clever imitations of well-known favourites.

THE TIVOLI.

Fresh importations into the Tivoli bill include the Bohemian Twins and The Sporting Duchess. The latter is a comedy interlude, which employs the abilities of Lady Haldon, who assumes the part of a duchess whose love for dogs transcends that for her late husband, inasmuch as she is in treaty with a matrimonial agency with regard to taking another spouse. The agency choose for her the Duke of Bayswater, the "horsey" cut of whose coat leads her ladyship to mistake him for a kennelman who has been recommended by a lady friend. The Duchess's instructions to him with regard to the canines are taken to refer to the matrimonial arrangements, and the nature of the conversation is obvious, nothing being neglected that would lead to a laugh. Lady Haldon makes an impressive appearance in her sumptuous silks and satins, and displays a pretty pettishness consistent with the circumstance, and Mr. Edward Gurney, as the Duke of Bayswater, is convincing in the expressions of horror to which his embarrassing situation gives rise. Mr. Greene Taylor and Mr. Walter Westwood lend assistance to the performance of the sketch, which is played in a luxuriously furnished apartment, of which a couple of handsome dogs form the ornaments. Curiosity is aroused by the appearance of the twin-formed Bohemian Sisters, who listen impassively while their praises are sounded by the gentleman who introduces them. Their accomplishments, in addition to being joined together after the manner of the Siamese Twins, consist of playing the violin and xylophone, an instrument upon which they are quite expert. Miss Amy Clevere is among the greatest favourites of the evening, and this week has introduced a new song-scena, entitled My Paleface Queen. It is a lyric illustrating the power of love, and Miss Clevere sings it in a way to make her hearers thrill with admiration. Her fair face, which but recently took the prize in a beauty competition, looks fairer still beneath the broad-brimmed hat, and her sweet voice rising in musical cadence, gives effect to the charming tune and the thrilling story which has been supplied by Messrs. Harrington and Le Brun. A dance of exquisite neatness and finish is added, the cleverness and novelty of which the audience are quick to perceive, the recalls the dainty artiste receives being enthusiastic. Mr. Arthur Roberts is a recent addition to the programme, and his olla podrida, entitled Where's the Count? maintains the reputation which the famous comedian has borne well beyond a quarter of a century. Mr. Roberts is among the noblest of our army of comedians, and his portrayal of Joe Muggins, the cabby, while recalling a famous success of comparatively recent times, is well equipped with the drollest conceits. The exigencies of his part include his appearance as a Russian count, in which he supplies a quaint mixture of foreign tongues, and he is also irresistible when, in the character of a police inspector, he delivers a speech for the defence. Mr. Roberts receives material assistance from Miss Ruby Celeste, who, as the dainty maid, joins him in a comic duet. Mr. Julius Wright plays well in the part of a young lover, Miss Lucy Webling as his sweetheart acts gracefully, and Mr. Stanley Damerell and Mr. Edwin Palmer also assist. The mirth-making extravagances of Mumming Birds continue to succeed in their design, the comic surprises supplied by Mr. Fred Karno's troupe of comedians multiplying continuously. The eccentricities of Mr. Harry Ford strengthen the forces of humour, in which the Harry Alaskas have no small share, the odd tumbling and twisting of the male performer being cleverly done. Mr. George D'Albert, who sings cheerily, "You can't blame me for that," has also a powerfully worded song as a commercial traveller, in which the British standard and Japanese ensign are held up to admiration, and the Russian flag is trampled figuratively in the dust, and wins as much applause as he could desire. Miss Ray Wallace, with her mimicries; Mr. Wilson Hallett, the clever silfleur; Miss Dorothy Kenton, the girl with the banjo; Ovide and Ludine, in a charming illusion; Mr. Ben Albert, comedian; the Two Kings, with a comedy musical act; Miss May Moore Duprez, and Mr. George Drawee and his dog constitute the remainder of the fine programme.

THE CANTERBURY.

The novelty of the fine programme presented at the Canterbury this week is an original vocal, aerial, and terpsichorean fantasy, entitled Dreamland, an attractive and prettily staged little entertainment, invented and arranged by Mr. Paul Valentine, and produced under the direction of the energetic manager, Mr. Fred Miller. The opening scene represents the interior of a well-stocked toy shop on New Year's Eve, wherein a little maiden has been in hiding in the belief that the toys will all come to life as soon as the clock has struck twelve. Tired out, she falls asleep, but a good fairy appearing, determines that her anticipations shall be fully realised, and the first vision she has is that of eight comely young damsels, who contribute a pretty song and dance. The toy soldiers and sailors next come to life, and execute some neat evolutions, ingeniously forming flags of various nations. A monkey and a nigger also indulge in a lively measure; and a charming little Boy Blue and Red Riding Hood sing a much appreciated love duet, the other occupants of the shop all becoming animated ere the scene closes. So delighted is the child with her dream, that the fairy promises her a peep into fairyland, and here it is that the flying ballet is introduced, the graceful movements of the dancers being loudly cheered. Ere the curtain falls garlands of flowers and multi-coloured ribbons are tastefully arranged in front of the fair coryphees, and when the whole scene is brilliantly illuminated with numberless electric lights, and the "toys" form up near the footlights, the scene is one of dazzling brightness. Mr. Valentine and Mr. Miller, who were called on the stage to bow their acknowledgments at the conclusion of this prettily-arranged scene, are to be warmly congratulated on the smoothness of the first production, and there is little doubt from the cordial reception accorded Dreamland on Monday night that it will remain an attractive item in the Canterbury programme for many weeks to come. The Doreen Girls and the numerous other artistes who took part in the fantasy were loudly acclaimed for their various vocal and terpsichorean numbers; and the costumes, scenery, properties, floral decorations, and electrical effects, all supplied by first-class firms, largely aided in the success.

In the variety portion of the programme a prominent position is taken by Miss Louie Freear, the inimitable comedienne sandwiching between her two drolly-rendered comic songs, "Twiddley Bits" and "She Just Walks On," a somewhat pathetic little ditty, "He didn't seem to know just what to say," a contribution that appealed greatly to the audience. Mr. Tom Burrows, "The King of Clubs," who recently created the world's record for continuous club-swinging for 45 hours 8 minutes, in the lounge of the Canterbury, gives an interesting and skilful exhibition, manipulating with much expertness a couple of razor-edged swords, and swinging two heavy axes with considerable dexterity. Miss May Moore-Duprez, the original jolly little Dutch girl, who has just returned from a tour round the world, sings of "My Lady Hottentot," and dances with exceptional grace and endurance; Mr. Michael Nolan gives a couple of really droll Irish songs, "Says Mary, 'No,'" and "The £5 Note"; Mr. Harry Leybourne submits an amusing interlude, in which he impersonates various artistes (?) to be encountered at a concert, his female imitation being especially mirth-provoking; and others appearing with success are Miss Dot Hardy, the New York Quartette, George Davis's sketch company in a well-acted and laughable farce, Jack's Uncle; Mr. Ben Albert, Miss Ray Wallace, Mr. Harry Pleon, and the Bohemian twin-formed sisters (Rosa and Josepha Blazek), the entertainment concluding with some interesting and comic pictures shown by Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope.

SURREY.

With popular prices, a liberal programme, and a brilliantly-decorated house, Mr. Frank Macnaghten is "twice nightly" drawing crowded houses to the Surrey; and his energetic lieutenant, Mr. Frederic Baugh, can rightly boast that they are giving one of the best entertainments on the Surrey side. The most important dish on the "ménu" is a new, original, and romantic one-act sketch, by Dora Deane and Fred G. Brooke, entitled The King and the Beggar, which is well staged and admirably played by Mr. Fred G. Brookes's carefully selected company. The time is the present, and although the story is laid in Ostaria a mythical State on the borders of the Russian Empire—it is a stirring and romantic tale, into which are cleverly woven certain exciting incidents recently occurring in Russia. In the dual part of the Beggar and Gustavus, Duke of Cronberg, Mr. Fred G. Brooke plays with such force and intensity that he creates a strong and lasting impression. As Mascari, the King of Ostaria, Mr. Alec Forbes imbues the part with regal dignity. Mr. Graham Wood, as the scheming traitor, General Hugo La Costa, invests the character with the necessary malignant wiliness. As the British Attaché, Lieut. Harry Redwood, Mr. Frank Beresford is manly and earnest, and pleases the audience immensely. As Marcella, the disreputable Queen Consort, Miss Dora Deane does not spare herself, and portrays the vileness of the personage with marked emphasis. Miss Katherine Clarke, as the winsome Princess Venetia, is conspicuously good in a company of all-round excellence, displaying touching tenderness and true womanly devotion. In direct contrast is the screamingly funny scena enacted by Fred Southern and his company of comedians, entitled The Private Hotel. Its funny situations keep the house in a roar. The Musical Palmers' musical sketch includes all the popular melodies of the day, skilfully played on various brass instruments, and the life-like impersonation of Sousa by Miss Daisy Palmer wins rapturous applause. Those old Surrey pantomime favourites, Bernard and Weston, patter comedians, renew their former triumph under the Surrey's new régime; and their wit and fun evoke genuine merriment. Florence Gwynne is decidedly funny in her musical scena, as "Stage Struck Slavey," her spasmodic pianoforte solos and humorous song, "Keep off the Stage," making her a warm favourite. Will Driscoll does well with his smart song and dance, "If you want me, Lucy," assisted by a series of pretty and effective pictures. The Langdons sing a sweetly pathetic ballad, "My Old Virginia Home." The house takes up with startling effect the chorus of "Good-bye, little girl, good-bye," admirably sung by the Langdons. W. J. Churchill is highly successful in evoking laughter by his ditties, "If it wasn't for the men, girls wouldn't be wanted at all," and "My Wedding Day." Ella Shields, the Southern nightingale, who appears in a very pretty and striking costume, is the fortunate possessor of a rich, cultured, contralto voice, and knows how to use it. Her rendering of the pretty ballad, "There's somebody waiting for me," is excellent, and her coon song, "Alexandra," with its charming dance, brings down the house. Dan Conroy is a raconteur of no mean merit, and his funny stories excite hearty merriment. His vocal contribution, "Kiss, kiss, that's the way it goes," is also good. Raymond's Bioscope makes a decided hit with a film depicting "A Race for a Husband," which delights the spectators immensely. The Surrey Orchestra, under the skilful bâton of Mr. Henkinson, deserves a special word of praise for its brilliant work; and Mr. Chris Wordsworth, the acting-manager, has every reason to be proud of his patrons, his entertainment, and his attentive staff.

GATTI'S (ROAD).

Balancing extraordinary is the shortest and at the same time most appropriate description we can apply to the performances of the Trio Goldini, who style themselves American novelty artistes. The gentleman of the party manages to so manipulate his stick as to twirl a large round carpet on the point of it, the carpet taking a flat shape as it is balanced in the air. Another act consists of causing a number of pans to revolve in seemingly ceaseless motion on a pivot formed by a small piece of wood. The little girl, who may be the daughter of the other two, is marvellously agile, and turns somersaults like an experienced acrobat. The actions of the three performers are prettily illuminated by clusters of vari-coloured electric lights. The different meanings which can be applied to the notice, "Visitors are requested not to touch," are attractively explained by Miss Myra Stansfield in her song of that name. Equally popular is her other number, "Hello!" in which she records the adventures of Johnny Green, and she scores in "Millie on a Motor-car." Robinson Crusoe, from the point of view of burlesque, is introduced to us by Mr. Ernest Rees, whose droll eccentricities are rewarded by roars of laughter. Francis accomplishes some daring feats with the aid of a cannon-ball, a long balancing pole, and an assistant, who in an amusing way assumes nervousness. The Darrell Trio present an interesting musical act, the pianoforte work of the young ladies being exceptionally well executed. Lieutenant F. Travis, the well-known ventriloquist, needs no recommendation at this hour, and his amusing dialogues seem to retain their refreshing humour as when first submitted to the public. The troubles of a motorist on the road, and the humour of the situations into which a breakdown forces him, are comically demonstrated by Mr. Harry Tate's No. 1 company in the sketch, Motoring. Tiny Arnold, the midget comedienne and dancer, attracts a good deal of attention and admiration by reason of her delightful singing and graceful dancing. She gives us "A Girl from the B.T.T.," "Nina Jones," and "Christmas Goose," all of which are sung with appropriate expression and gesture. A change of dress in each song greatly enhances the stage effect. While singing "Nina Jones," she appears in a particularly handsome and picturesque orange coloured costume, and during her last item she wears a dainty dress of tinted chiffon and white silk. Her step dance and her Irish dance are very neatly and smartly performed. Miss Addie Dorina distinguishes herself in a series of quick changes, the whole of which fall into the title, How it was done. It is really a little sketch, the story of which centres round a bet made between a man and his wife. The former ridiculed the idea that a woman could so change her appearance, voice, and manner as to deceive her own husband. In the present case, the lady leaves the house, presumably to call upon a dentist, but, instead, reappears as different characters, whom her husband is most anxious to see. Finally, she discloses her identity. Miss Dorina is certainly to be congratulated on her impersonations and disguises. Others who assist in making the evening agreeable are Harry Royde, comedian and dancer; May Hart, burlesque artiste; Gus Harris, vocal comedian; and the Ashtons, Anglo-American variety entertainers.

NEW CROSS EMPIRE.

The usual large and delighted audience filled this favourite place of amusement on the night of our visit, and whether trade be good or bad seems to have no effect on the business here. The excellent orchestra performed admirably under the direction of Mr. J. H. Shackleton a collection of Welsh airs in celebration of St. David's Day, after which Mr. Charles Pastor appeared and sang his "Laughing Song" so naturally and with such apparent enjoyment that the audience joined heartily in the laughter, and applauded the artist loudly. Next came the Six Brothers Luck, whose clever entertainment, although well known here, is always welcome and never wearisome. Their really funny pantomimic sketch, entitled The Demon of the Cellar, evoked roars of laughter and prolonged applause, which the performance well deserved. This act was followed by charming Miss Mabel Thorne, who sang with marked success "Stop the War," and with assistants attired as Japs and Russians formed an effective tableau. A most successful item in the evening's programme was the smart turn of Clarke and Hamilton. The gentleman, made up as a tramp, exhibited his great skill as a pianoforte player, and he was ably assisted by the lady. Both afterwards donned Japanese costume, and sang "My Little Yokohama Queen," bringing their highly successful contribution to a close with a cleverly-executed dance. Next came the Katos, with their novel midget entertainment, which met with its full share of approval from the audience, and was exceedingly clever and enjoyable. They were followed by Paul Spadoni, who is a great favourite here, and whose welcome reappearance was the signal for an enthusiastic reception. M. Spadoni's marvellously clever tricks of juggling, balancing, and weight-bearing are too well known to need description, and it is sufficient to say that the tricks were executed with all his usual accuracy and finish. Some novel feats were warmly greeted by the audience. The Three Sisters Macarte were very clever in their unique wire act, including a graceful dance. These charming young ladies came in for a full meed of appreciation. Mr. James Finney and his clever sister, Marie, created a favourable impression by their clever swimming feats. This turn is a novel one here, and highly interesting. A thoroughly enjoyable programme is brought to a conclusion by the always-welcome Bioscope, by means of which much is brought within our notice that we should remain in ignorance of but for the life-like pictures now seen through this marvellous invention. Among the pictures shown were "Scenes in a Soldier's Career—Boys of the Duke of York's School, Highlanders, Pensioners," and many others equally interesting. Mr. Harry Burdette attends ably to matters in front.

CHELSEA PALACE.

It is a sight for sore eyes—the long queues, seven and eight deep, the people struggling to keep their places on the pavement outside the theatre of variety in "artistic Chelsea." That the fame and popularity of the Chelsea Palace have grown rapidly under Mr. Edward Swanborough's enterprising régime everybody in the borough will admit, and in no less degree will it be acknowledged that the house has taken a prominent place among the institutions of the neighbourhood. Mr. Leo Dryden is here this week with his scenas, The Only Way, and For Freedom and Japan, both of which find great favour with the audience. With true dramatic skill he portrays the pathetic character of the ne'er-do-well, Sydney Carton, and what with his fine acting and singing we get a most interesting study. His stirring song, "For Freedom and Japan," is extremely well received, the topical allusion it contains being quite in agreement with the sentiments of the "boys." "Sir" Samuel Redfern, who claims the honourable degree of "black boss of the benighted Bohemians," is a lively and entertaining jester. His grotesque manner of bringing out his funny points is absolutely irresistible, and creates endless mirth. Miss May Moore Duprez is a clever little comedienne, full of life and laughter, and with ideas of her own as to the making of merriment. She thoroughly understands how to tickle the risible faculties of an audience, and is an exquisite dancer withal. Mr. Arthur St. George sings and recites dramatically upon the burning injustice done to "Beck, the English Dreyfus," and his efforts to please are rewarded by the appreciation of his hearers. Mr. J. G. Grahame and Miss Z. Harrington appear in an interesting episode, entitled A Daughter of Pleasure. It tells the tale of a young man who is on his way to Bourges with a large sum of money to meet a sudden run on the bank. On his way he stops for a night at Paris, and there meets at his hotel a woman—a daughter of pleasure—he had known in former years. She drugs him, takes possession of his banknotes, and is about to make her exit when her eye suddenly alights upon a letter. It is addressed to the bankers to whom the young fellow will come as a deliverer from ruin. But on reading the name a recollection dawns upon her that it is not altogether unfamiliar to her. Her memory tells her that the name is that of her mother's bankers, and her former joyfulness now gives way to agony of mind at the thought of the trouble she is bringing upon her parents in their old age. With feverish haste she restores the young man to a sense of consciousness, places the money in his hands, and succeeds in getting him away in time to catch the train to Bourges. It is a well-written little play, and is effectively presented by Mr. Grahame and Miss Harrington. Sketch-writers might take a lesson from A Woman of Pleasure. Miss Bessie Lind is a dainty comedienne and singer, and her song, "Lucy," goes with a fine swing, and earns for the charming lady unlimited applause. The comedy and acrobatic turn of Stern and Stern is extremely diverting, especially when the two gentlemen assume a sleepy aspect, a sleepy walk, and a sleepy talk, their make-up providing an entertainment in itself. Mr. Leo. Stormont sings a naval song in stirring fashion, and his recitation, "Who's going to rule the sea?" which deals with the Russian warships' attack on the harmless Hull fishing fleet, awakens, as it is intended to do, the feelings of the audience against the authors of the Dogger Bank outrage, and secures for the brilliant elocutionist unstinted praise. Fred Karno's company, in their amusing pantomime, Jail Birds, are also here, and their wild antics arouse storms of laughter in the packed house. Little Miss Decima Brooke, a chic and engaging comedienne, completes the bill.

BATTERSEA EMPIRE.

There is no doubt that this house of amusement since the advent of Mr. Lennox Barry as manager has grown vastly popular with the public of Battersea. A light and wholesome entertainment is what Mr. Barry believes in, and, what is more to the point, is what appeals to his audience. A touch of melodrama, however, is also a welcome item, and the new and original domestic episode presented under the title of The Right Road, by Mr. Reed and Miss Granville, is fully appreciated. The story tells of one, a Mr. Cranbourne (otherwise known as Captain Jack), who, having been disgraced at his club by card-sharping, turns a society burglar, breaking into the house of a well-known duke, to search for, and possess himself of, the family jewels. While engaged in this search, the captain is disturbed by the entry of a little ragged slum girl, who, seeing the door conveniently open, embraces the opportunity of doing a little pilfering on her own account. Captain Jack sees in this newcomer an excellent ally, and promptly threatens to hand her over to the police unless she can find a case of jewels secreted about the room. The child discovers the gems, and also a revolver, with which she threatens the captain when he demands her find. The revolver, however, is empty, and the captain suggests they should talk matters over. Whilst this is being done, the child shows him a ring which her mother gave into her keeping before she died, and by the aid of which the captain discovers the child to be his own daughter, whom he had deserted some years ago. The pleading of the child soon convinces Captain Jack that it is never too late to turn to the right road, and the promise to start afresh with her help brings to a close a most interesting incident. Mr. F. W. Reed, as Captain Jack, gives an excellent representation, his manner being fresh and powerful, with just the proper touch of heaviness for the character. The child, Nellie, is admirably played by Miss Granville, whose Cockneyisms are evidently relished by the audience. Altogether the sketch (which has been written by Mr. Reed and Mr. W. Hast) should have a long and successful run. The comic element of the programme this week is in the capable hands of Silvo, a juggler of no mean ability; Mr. A. Passmore, with his "Old Story" song; Mr. J. H. Kavanagh, and Stephens and Stephens. The Zenary Brothers give a fine exhibition of hand balancing, and Cecil Merrie and Co. cause much merriment with The Bewildered Barrister. Miss Evie Hamilton is a pleasing singer and dancer, and Payne's Bioscope shows some good pictures, including Morgan's crucible works. Mr. G. Wareham is in charge of the orchestra, which does good work during the evening.

SADLER'S WELLS.

Without doubt one of the most popular things upon the variety stage at the present moment is Mr. Harry Tate's screaming absurdity, Motoring. The fun in the trifle is as much appreciated by audiences in the suburbs as it was when presented in the West-End some months ago. Mr. Tate struck a happy idea when it occurred to him to introduce into the little sketch the character of a village boy, whose imperturbability of face, maintained throughout a series of laughable incidents, is simply irresistible. Mr. Hal Ford sings in sympathetic strain of his "Japanese Girl." His topical allusions, founded on the A B C. of his "little book," are very neat and smart in their way, his puns being especially clever. "I exhibit at the Royal Academy," sings one of the Three Sisters Sprightly, while a second tells us that she exhibits on the pavement, and a third in the "fiscal" way—meaning fistal, of course, the victim being the lady's husband. The scena is certainly an interesting and original one, and the repartee which passes between the three "artists" is well interlarded with humour. The coon song and dance which follow excite general admiration, in spite of the fact that we are told by the ladies that all that is necessary to make a successful coon is an old song and a bit of rag-time music. Miss Bessie Spear, a juvenile comedienne, distinguishes herself with her song, "Violets, only one penny a bunch," and an extremely engaging picture she gives us in a coon song and dance. Brooks, Dale, and Blitz contrive to make things lively, with the assistance of their bucking mule; and the Gilroys exhibit skilfulness in the direction of sand dancing, praise being also due to them for their comedy business. The biggest item on the bill is a dramatic episode, entitled The Nihilists; or, Sworn to Kill, presented by Mr. Geo. M. Marriott and company. The sketch, which deals with the present situation in Russia, and is the work of Mr. Marriott, was produced at the Bow Palace of Varieties last week. The story, briefly, is this:—One Nicholas Petrovitch, a Nihilist, succeeds in winning over to his way of thinking Michael Tolstoi, described as "one of the people," and a man who had always advocated methods of moderation. Tolstoi, however, loses all sympathy with officialdom when he hears from the lips of the Nihilist that his wife, Vera Tolstoi, has been cast into prison, and has suffered indignities. Under a little persuasion, he joins a small band of Nihilists, and he and his new confrères have decided upon the destruction by dynamite of the palace of Count Orloff, at a time when a ball is being given. In the meantime, Vera Tolstoi has been arrested and taken to the Count's palace. He had long held her in admiration, but, then, unfortunately, he had favoured other women in his affection, and had afterwards discarded them. He tells Vera that her husband, Michael, is under arrest, but he is willing to sign an order for his release upon conditions that may be easily imagined. She pretends for the time being to agree to his proposals, and gains possession of the order. Part of the conversation is overheard by her husband and Petrovitch, the Nihilist, who have succeeded in getting into the palace by some means or another. While his wife is in danger, Michael Tolstoi will not consent to the destruction of the palace, and the Nihilist, in order to accomplish his murderous designs, endeavours to assure Tolstoi that Vera has been faithless to him, and for that reason her life can be of small account to him now. While they are conversing, Count Orloff and Vera return to the apartment, followed by some discontented officers and soldiers. The Count is killed, an explosion is heard, and the building falls to the ground before our eyes, and Michael and Tolstoi are re-united. Miss Edith Finlay exhibited considerable dramatic force and skill in her part of Vera Tolstoi, and Mr. Geo. M. Marriott made an admirable study of the plotting, wily, deceitful Nihilist, Petrovitch. Mr. Otto Minster put some good acting into his rôle of Michael Tolstoi, and the humorous element was well maintained by Mr. Walter Rousby as Peter Khorvitch, and Miss Nellie May as Katerina. The character of the principal villain of the piece, Count Orloff, was admirably portrayed by Mr. W. H. Porter.

HANDCUFFED AMONG HYENAS.

It is not every performer who creates a sensation at his first appearance on the stage, and the young Scotsman who made his début on Monday at the Metropole Theatre, Camberwell, handcuffed in a den of wolves and hyenas, may be said to have achieved a distinction. Bardell—for such is his name—does not merely understand how to deal with wild animals; he is also an expert in the gentle art of picking locks without the aid of keys or other tools. He begins his risky "turn" by entering the cage containing a couple of hyenas, who apparently do not seem to be on the best of terms with each other, and Bardell shows the difficulty of getting these animals to work properly. He is next seen in the cage, handcuffed and leg-ironed, directing the movements of two Russian wolves, in addition to the hyenas. The wolves jump over his head and shoulders, and one of them, a large male, has been taught how to count. So far his arithmetic is not in a very advanced stage, for he cannot reckon up more than ten. However, that is sufficient to show that he is a pupil of great promise. What strikes one as Bardell's most daring act is his appearance in the den with his head and hands firmly fixed in stocks. All the same, he contrives to make the animals jump over him in a graceful manner that compels the admiration of the audience. Bardell releases himself from the padlocked stocks while in the cage, and without any outside or mechanical assistance. Bardell is then handcuffed and placed in a box, the measurements of which are 1ft. 10in. high, 2ft. 10in. long, and 1ft. 6in. wide. The box is strongly padlocked, and is in sight of the audience, drawn along on trolley lines into the animals' den. In less than thirty seconds Bardell calls attention to himself from the dress circle, and the onlookers can only gaze in wonderment at the small cabinet which has been open to their observation all the time, and marvel at the escape. And when, a few seconds later, the box is opened, there jumps out a fine specimen of a sooty-faced mangaby. This trick is all the more remarkable because it is done in full view of the audience, and the box is not hidden for one second. How in such an incredibly short space of time Bardell can release himself from the handcuffs, get out of the box unseen—which in itself seems impossible—and at the same time exchange his occupancy in favour of a monkey, is a mystery which we will not attempt to unfathom. The whole act, from beginning to end, is a most interesting and remarkable one, and found great favour with a delighted house. A word of praise is due to Mr. Fred Wilby for his excellent supervision of the stage arrangements.

THE WELSH REVIVAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In your theatrical gossip recently reference was made to the statement that theatrical companies have been hard hit by the Revival in Wales. The collier is now returning to his normal senses; and although a revivalist stated the other day that 54 theatres had been closed in Wales—I did not know there were so many—I do not know of a single one which has shut its doors. My receipts last week at four Welsh theatres in small towns were £100 1s. 9d., £108 6s. 6d., £125 11s., and £171 6s. 11d. I took nothing under £100 last week. I know of many others who, although not "doing their usual," are playing to paying business; and I would remind you, Sir, that Wales has felt the slump in trade, as well as other parts of the United Kingdom.

Yours faithfully,
C. W. POOLE.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR.

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—SIR HENRY IRVING, March 3, 1898.

Will be of great service.—CHARLES WYNDHAM, March 1, 1898.

Very useful.—Sporting Life, March 4.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News, March 19.

MESSRS. A. R. DEAN AND SONS, of Birmingham, still maintain their reputation as the cheapest house in the trade for every kind of upholstery required in the fitting up of theatres and halls. As convincing evidence of the fact that they are the largest theatre furnishers and decorators in Great Britain, it may be stated that last year they either completely or partly furnished or decorated upwards of 50 theatres, music halls, and public buildings. They have during the last ten years completely or partly furnished or decorated upwards of 600 theatres, music halls, and public buildings, including over thirty in London alone. The firm has designed several new chairs for the current year, one of these having been christened "The Dean," its special features being neatness, handsome appearance, compactness, strength, and durability. It is worthy of note that the firm still retains the services of Mr. A. F. Windibank as manager of the theatre department (this gentleman has superintended the furnishing of upwards of 1,000 theatres, music halls, and public buildings); of Mr. Charles Bardell, as manager of their decoration department; and of Mr. L. R. Beck, as manager of their cabinet factory.

THE EMPIRE COMPANY MEETING.

Mr. George Edwardes presided at the ordinary general meeting of the Empire Palace, Limited, held in Leicester-square, on Monday. In moving the adoption of the report, he said that during the past year the receipts had fallen off by £12,000, owing to the sketch agitation, which delayed the production of the new ballet, The Dancing Doll, which had since been produced, and was a great success. The agitation continued from April until November. If the new ballet had been produced earlier they would not have made that loss at all, for since The Dancing Doll had been produced it had played to £500 a week more than the old ballet, The Milliner Duchess. The result of the settlement between the various theatrical and music hall managers was that a Bill had been promoted to amend the law. The past year was the first in eighteen years that they had not done well and paid a big dividend. Over the whole period the average dividend had been 60 per cent. per annum, and this year's reduction was no reason for a change of management, as some people advocated. There had been some talk of a new policy for the theatre, and he believed that there were certain shareholders who would express their views on that matter at that meeting. He had wanted in the past to retire from the board, and was again on the point of retiring when the late chairman, Mr. H. N. Tennent, died, but in the circumstances he had stuck to the ship. If he was to be badgered and worried he would be only too glad to retire. He hoped and believed that in the future they would pay as good dividends as in the past. The London County Council had indicated certain requirements which might necessitate the closing of the theatre for structural alterations during some portion of July and August.

Mr. Tyrrell Lewis said it was for the shareholders to say if they were satisfied with the result shown. He moved an amendment to reject the report, and that the items in the profit and loss account sinking fund £430, alterations and repairs £4,669, and depreciation £6,300 be struck out, and the same dividend paid as last year. He expressed doubt as to whether the company was really solvent.

Sir Alfred Newton said the board really deserved the sympathy of the shareholders. The show now on the boards was attractive and money-making. He suggested that the company ought to make all its shares of one value, and not have some 10s. paid and others 15s. paid. He personally advocated making the whole of the shares £1 paid. They would be a more popular security, and the needful cash for the company's business would be obtained. He urged the meeting to reject unanimously the amendment, for Mr. Lewis was most illogical. First he doubted their solvency, and then wanted more dividend paid.

Mr. Peat, of Messrs. W. B. Peat and Co., the company's auditors, said that Mr. Lewis had addressed a letter to him on the affairs of the company. He asserted that Mr. Lewis had been on a wild goose chase in trying to find faults in the books of the company, which were properly and honestly kept. The company was perfectly solvent, and the statement of Mr. Lewis was most damaging to the company's affairs. If they altered the form of the balance-sheet they might benefit their competitors. Mr. Lewis's suggestion to pay a bigger dividend was a most remarkable proposal. He wanted money transferred to dividend account that had already been expended on repairs and the like. It was absurd, and no auditor would consent to such a proposal.

Other shareholders also spoke in favour of the board. The amendment was supported only by the mover and seconder, and the report was then unanimously adopted.

In reply to a question as to what stores had been supplied to the company by a gentleman who was a director, the Chairman said that it was only a small amount of a certain kind of brandy. The Chairman, in reply to a vote of thanks, promised that if the directors could make a big effort for the shareholders this year they would do it.

METROPOLITAN MEETING.

The fifth annual meeting of the Metropolitan Theatre of Varieties, Ltd., was held on Wednesday on the premises, with Mr. G. Adney Payne in the chair. After the Secretary (Mr. F. W. Wade) had read the formal notice,

Mr. G. Adney Payne said the company had paid £664 out of the revenue of the year, principally for reseating, and had laid out nearly £4,000 in six years in improvements. The scenery had been made fireproof before the County Council's order was issued. He had seen it stated that at the recent meeting of the Empire, Mr. George Edwardes said that an arrangement had been come to between the theatrical managers and the music hall proprietors as to the playing of sketches. No arrangement had been arrived at, because Mr. Stanley, acting for the Theatrical Managers' Association, wanted the music hall proprietors not to play more than one sketch in an evening. Mr. Payne then moved: "That the report and accounts, as circulated among the shareholders, be, and are hereby, adopted, and that a dividend of 5 per cent. for the six months ended December 31, 1904, making 10 per cent. for the year, be, and is hereby, declared."

Mr. Henri Gros, in seconding the motion, said: Last October we were fined £180 at the Marylebone Police-court, which fine has since been reduced to £90 by appeal, for playing The Fighting Parson. The prosecution, not being satisfied with this, also prosecuted me as your managing-director; and counsel, no doubt thinking they were acting for the best, agreed that I should enter into my own recognisances for £10, to come up for judgment, if called upon. I am in hopes that the magistrate will consent to have the case reheard, and inflict a fine, in order to dispose of the matter, and deliver judgment on the merits of the case. The same sketch is being played all over London without prosecution. The music hall managers are practically in agreement, and a Bill has been promoted to amend the law; but between promoting a Bill and getting it passed there is a great difference. It is not easy in these days to pass a private Bill through Parliament, and you, as shareholders who are essentially interested, I hope will use your best endeavours to interest your members in the House in this Bill, which is simply based on the recommendation of the Select Committee of the House of Commons, and the report they issued in the year 1892, with some extra indulgence of time to meet the wishes of the Empire directors as regards their ballets. The Metropolitan Theatre Company has been in existence six working years, during which period it has consistently paid 10 per cent. The shares stand to-day at about 35 per cent. premium, and they have been as high as 50 per cent. on par value. This means considerably more to the original shareholders, whose 10 per cent. per annum really amounts to 15 per cent. on their original investment. Independent of the reserve, we have paid off £5,000 on mortgage. We have a general reserve account of £12,000, which, taking the total of the reserve and the amount carried forward and the reduction of mortgage, makes a total of over £20,000.

The report was adopted, and the dividend agreed to, the meeting closing with the usual compliments to the chairman, board, and staff.

The Local Government Board has finally declined to assent to a loan for alterations to the Brighton Aquarium preparatory to letting it on lease, and expresses the view that it would be wiser for the Town Council to take steps to sell the undertaking.

"MY LADY NICOTINE."

One of the prettiest ballet divertissements that has been presented at the Alhambra for some time is My Lady Nicotine, which was seen there for the first time on Monday last. It is, as its title implies, an idealisation of Tobacco. Of the five scenes, the first is laid in a plantation in Virginia, about 1770. There is a little Legree business introduced; but this is only to bring in an "old-world" minuet, and some native dances, all very effective. In the second scene, the interior of a Turkish harem, there is a suggestion of an approaching tragedy. A dancing girl enters, and straightway proceeds to evict the reigning favourite from the affections of the proprietor. The favourite is obviously annoyed; and it is evident that the danseuse's life is in danger. Passing to Holland, we are in the land of long pipes and long smokes; and a sabot dance is done with admirable spirit. The two last scenes are allegorical. In a star-lit grove of colossal tobacco-leaves some very pretty combinations are made, and, in the end, a lovely female figure, emblematic of the "soothing herb," is seen reclining in the background. The grand effects of the ballet, however, are reserved for the last scene, The Abode of "My Lady Nicotine." Here there are some wonderfully effective contrasts and harmonies of colour, oranges and yellow russets predominating; and a bevy of prettily-plumed danseuses is especially conspicuous. Detachments carrying colossal cigarettes perform various evolutions; and upon an immense meerschaum in the backround a lovely lady reclines. Leaving her place of vantage, she does a delightful dance, and the ballet concludes with a very well arranged ensemble and tableau. As the cast of My Lady Nicotine is simply summarised on the bill, we can only say that Misses Edith Slack, Rosie Deane, Julie Reeves, Nellie Hill, Belle Davis, Susie Raymond, B. Fletcher, Queenie Wood, L. Lauri, D. Lyons, Reba Kaufman, Inez Kaufman, L. Bryant, Norah Saunders, May Earle, Sig. G. Rosi, Madame Cormani, and La Sylphe acquitted themselves à merveille. The scenery, by Messrs. E. H. Ryan and Philip Howden, is admirable, the former gentleman's seashore in Virginia being quite charming. Mr. Philip Howden has supplied a handsome Turkish interior for the harem scene; and Mr. Ryan, for his back-cloth in Holland, has adopted the firmly-outlined style which has been made so popular on postcards, &c. Mr. Howden's sets for Scenes IV. and V. are elaborate and picturesque, and do great credit to that able artist. The costumes, by Alias, from designs by Comelli, are worthy of the high reputations of both. The firm of Alias is famous for its never-failing taste, and its practised skill in carrying out cleverly and appreciatively an artist's ideas. M. Alias is essentially an artist, and inspires his employees with his own instinct. The properties by Laureys, including the immense pipe already referred to, are in every way excellent; and Gustave's wigs do him great credit. The floral decorations supplied by A. Gatti and Co., Limited, are extremely beautiful. My Lady Nicotine is invented and produced by Mr. Charles Wilson, who has developed an excellent idea very neatly and adroitly. Mr. Geo. W. Byng's music is just what ballet music should be—bright, lively, and appropriate to the action. Madame Cormani's arrangement of the dances is most praiseworthy, and the remarkably smooth way in which the ballet went on Monday was greatly owing to her painstaking exertions. My Lady Nicotine was received with uproarious applause; and, at the close, the leading artists and all concerned in the production were called before the curtain and cheered. In the variety company at the Alhambra are the Tschin-Maa Troupe of Jugglers, which includes a clever little "bender" and an expert knife-thrower; Les Kiners-Moulin, who terminate their turn with the balancing aloft, by the gentleman, of the lady, seated in a chair, and holding a table; Miss Kitty Traney, who, in a prettily-decorated dog-cart, puts a well-trained pony through his paces, making him dance and rear, and afterwards does Risley business with a little dog; the French Operatic Trio, whose rendering of an extract from Faust brings down the house; those clever balancers, the Pandurs; and the Charles Urban Trading Company's ever-popular "Ice Sports" views. Entente Cordiale opens the entertainment, and is as popular as ever; and the selections by the orchestra are, as usual, well chosen and capitally performed.

A TROUPE OF TRUMPETERS.

In the Court of King's Bench, on Wednesday, before Mr. Justice Grantham and a Special Jury, the case of Bisera v. Klaw and others was an action for breach of contract in connection with a troupe of trumpeters, and the defendants alleged that they were entitled to determine the contract at two weeks' notice, and, alternatively, that the plaintiff provided an incompetent troupe. Mr. Marshall Hall, K.C., and Mr. Cannot (instructed by Messrs. Judge and Priestley) were for the plaintiff, and Mr. Rose Innes (instructed by Messrs. Rose Innes, Son, and Crick) for the defendants.

Counsel for the plaintiff said that the defendants were well known in the American theatrical world, and the plaintiff was connected with a troupe of ladies who performed in the Drury Lane pantomime. Evidently they were a great feature in the 1902-3 pantomime, and Mr. Arthur Collins, acting on behalf of the defendants, entered into the contract the subject matter of the dispute. The Drury Lane pantomime was transferred to America, and subsidiary contracts were necessary with various artistes. The contract was in effect that the plaintiff's trumpeters should be engaged to appear at one of the defendants' theatres in New York in the pantomime Mother Goose whilst the piece was running in New York. A minimum engagement of eight weeks was mentioned, and the salary £60 a week on the defendants' usual terms of custom. In the middle of the eighth week, Mrs. Bisera was told that they were not to appear again, and were to leave the theatre.

The plaintiff was called, and was asked by Mr. Rose Innes whether the following description of the performance was accurate:—"It sounded like a lot of children blowing tin trumpets, emitting a noise and no harmony."

The witness did not answer the question, but said that nobody had suggested that the girls alleged to be foisted upon the defendants were entirely incompetent and could not play.

Mr. Rose Innes said out of kindness to strangers the troupe was kept on and paid a considerable salary.

Witnesses were called as to the experience of the troupe extending from two to sixteen years; and Mr. Marshall Hall suggested that a performance to prove competency should be given for the benefit of the Court.

Mr. Rose Innes: If the description given me is accurate, I should hope not, for the jury's sake.

Mr. Marshall Hall: Well, I have made the offer.

A member of the troupe said that after the performance she only heard the applause of the audience.

The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for £142, and judgment was entered accordingly.

Presentations.—Mr. George Davey, the retiring lessee of the Grand Theatre, Islington, on the occasion of the final performance of Babes in the Wood on Saturday, was presented with an illuminated address and a handsome silver cup, while Mrs. Davey was handed a diamond necklace. Mr. Oswald Brand, the manager, who made the presentations, mentioned that they had been subscribed for by the artistes, the staff, and the general public in recognition of Mr. Davey's courtesy and enterprise.

MISS JULIA KENT'S HORSESHOE.

The stage of the Grand Theatre, Islington, was the scene of a very pleasing little ceremony on the evening of the 18th ult., when Miss Julia Kent was the recipient of a floral tribute from the audience, as a mark of their appreciation of her success in the recent pantomime. The bouquet, consisting of scarlet geraniums and lilies, took the form of a monster horseshoe, probably the largest ever made. It stood over six feet in height, was about three feet broad, and took four people to carry it on to the stage.

At the close of the Palace Scene, Mr. George Davey (the proprietor of the theatre) stepped forward, and in a few well-chosen words, presented Miss Kent to the audience, and spoke of the great success she had made, and how popular she was, both behind and before the curtain. As a proof of her popularity, he had great pleasure in presenting her with the floral horseshoe on behalf of Islingtonians. In acknowledgment, Miss Kent stepped forward, and was immediately greeted with cheers and applause, and cries of "Speech!" In reply, Miss Kent said:—"My dear friends,—I am asked to say a few words. I have played many parts in my life, but never made a speech. Anyhow, on this occasion, I intend to try and say something. First, let me tell you how delighted, proud, and honoured I am to receive this floral tribute from the people of Islington. I had no idea that I had made myself such a favourite amongst you. We shall be leaving you shortly, as you know, but, though absent, I trust I shall live in your memory, as you will in mine, for some time to come. I can say no more, only a thousand thousand thanks. God bless you; long life and prosperity." Attached to the bouquet was a card, inscribed:—"Presented at the Grand Theatre, Islington, to Miss Julia Kent, from a few tradesmen and costers of Islington, Covent Garden, and Club Life." We reproduce a photograph of Miss Kent standing in the huge horseshoe.

The little lady, who is a clever and accomplished artist, is to be congratulated on having achieved such a triumph, She appeared as Robin Hood in the Grand's successful pantomime, which ran for nine consecutive weeks, and finished its merry career last Saturday.

A SERIO-COMIC'S SEND-OFF.

Raptures of enthusiasm were expended at the Canterbury on the evening of the 24th ult., when Miss Victoria Monks, a comedienne whose popularity is particularly prominent at the favourite south-side hall, said "au revoir" to her admirers on the eve of her departure for America. The choruses of her best-known songs formed the burden of the evening, for it was not until close upon eleven o'clock that the supreme moment arrived, and Miss Monks appeared to receive the warm applause of a house crowded in every nook and corner. Radiant in a dazzling dress, Miss Monks began with "There's a girl in sight," following on with "If you want to have a row, wait till the sun shines"—the plaint of a recalcitrant nigger who faces the fury of his beloved with the above words being again productive of the utmost delight. A high state of excitement was reached when a floral procession began, a half-score baskets of the choicest blooms being handed up to the stage, until the fair recipient was obliged to answer the call for a speech. It was difficult, she said, to find words to thank them for their kind and generous reception. She realised that she was leaving friends—the best of friends—to go to a land of strangers. It had been said that she was an American, but that was wrong, for she could assure them that she had never seen America—that she was, in fact, an Englishwoman. Her best thanks were due to Mr. Adney Payne and to their worthy and esteemed manager, Mr. Miller, for the great kindness she had received at their hands. She looked forward to her return to dear old England and to her generous friends in front, and, again thanking them from the bottom of her heart, remained, with humble but sincere gratitude, their obedient servant, Victoria Monks. The speech, which was constantly applauded, was gracefully delivered, and finally Miss Monks was constrained to reappear and to give "Won't you come home, Bill Bailey?" ample excuse for his introduction being found in the clever singing of the coon classic and in the dance which accompanied it. After the performance the floral offerings, of which a two-masted ship and baskets labelled "Bill Bailey says 'Au revoir' and 'Bon voyage,'" were conspicuous, were artistically ranged round Miss Monks on the stage, and several flash-light photographs of them were taken.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—Referring to Messrs. Morris and Rickards' letter, published in your issue of the 25th inst., we are surprised that they should now purport to give an extract from the Judge's summing up in the action brought by our client, Mr. Chris. Davis, against Mr. Gray. The Judge made no notes at the time, and Mr. Gray's appeal from his decision was dismissed in the absence of any evidence of what the Judge had said. It is therefore very remarkable that Mr. Gray's solicitors should now purport to be able to quote his very words.

The fact is that the sketch was described in both programmes and synopsis at the Royal Music Hall as "by George Gray and Chris. Davis," and it was not until Mr. Chris. Davis applied to Mr. Gray for payment of the royalties due to him that any alteration was made.

If Mr. Gray really considers himself justified in describing himself as the sole author of the sketch, is it not somewhat remarkable that, while he was recently playing the sketch at the Oxford for some weeks, it was always described and advertised as "by George Gray and Chris. Davis"? It is obviously idle for Mr. Gray to endeavour now to dispute that Mr. Chris. Davis collaborated with him in writing The Fighting Parson. We have obtained, on Mr. Chris. Davis's behalf, two judgments against Mr. Gray for fees in respect of such collaboration, in addition to which Mr. Gray recently paid Mr. Chris. Davis a substantial sum in settlement of our client's claims in respect of the English rights of performing the sketch. You will therefore see that there has not been, as alleged, a settlement by our client "of all claims for his alleged collaboration," as our client's right to receive royalties in respect of performances outside England remains entirely unaffected.

Yours faithfully

WILKINSON, HOWLETT, and WILKINSON.

The President has collected among his private friends about £300 in addition to the above.

The President wishes it to be known that the funds have almost given out, and that immediate help is required.

The Secretary will be obliged if the ladies and gentlemen having collecting sheets will now forward them to the office.

Secretary, HORACE MARRIOTT.
Offices, 18, Adam-street, Strand.

The latest additions to Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter's extensive catalogue of "Sixpenny Pops" include Mr. Harry Lauder's "Tobermory," "Cordalia Malone," Mr. Lionel Mackinder's fine song in The Orchid, and The Catch of the Season selections, arranged by Charles Godfrey, jun. The latter is a double number.

Will the Collectors for Mr Thomas Barrasford's appeal for the Music Hall Home Fund kindly send in their lists to The Era Office to the hon. treasurer, Mr F. H. Pedgrift. They will be duly announced in our next issue. Those artistes who desire a collecting card please apply to Mr J. T. Fruin, secretary, 31, Wilson-road, Camberwell, S.E.

THAT popular farcical comedy, Are you a Mason? was witnessed for the first time at the Queen's Theatre, Swindon, on Monday last by a large and interested audience, to the accompaniment of roars of hearty laughter. It was presented by Messrs. Geo. Edwardes and Chas. Frohman's company, in charge of Mr. Arthur Whittaker, and capitally stage-managed by Mr. Frank Ridley. Mr. Anthony Fawcett as George Fisher, Mr. Harry Ashford as Amos Bloodgood, Mr. Arthur Claremont as Frank Perry, and Mr. Tom Mowbray as John Halton, by their remarkably fine performances, call for special mention, while of the ladies, Miss Harriet Trench must be commended for her delightful impersonation of Mrs. Bloodgood, and Miss Violet Graham for her earnestness as Mrs. Perry. The curtain-raiser, Hushed Up, was unusually well played.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

THE funeral of Mrs. E. Burgess, wife of Mr. C. Burgess, shooting gallery proprietor, took place on the 24th ult. at Keighley, where the family have wintered for a number of years. The deceased was well known on the road, and was held in high esteem, as was endorsed by the large number of travellers and townspeople who attended to show a last token of respect. The mourners included Mr. C. Burgess, Miss J. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burgess, Mr. A. Burgess, Mr. W. Burgess, Mr. E. Hanneford (nephew, Stockport), Miss E. Fuller (niece, Manchester), Mrs. A. Woodruff (Manchester), Mr. and Mrs. A. Akroyd (Sheffield), Mr. W. Sedgwick (Oldham), Mr. Herbert Mellor (Oldham), Mrs. W. H. Marshall (Bradford), Mr. R. Williams (Keighley), Mrs. W. R. Williams (Keighley), Mrs. A. Barker (Bradford), Mrs. G. Haigh (Keighley), Mrs. M. J. Riley (Leeds), Mrs. S. Sutherland (Leeds), Mrs. M. A. Hughes (Leeds), Mrs. G. Redfern (Bradford), Mrs. B. Redfern (Heckmondwike), Mr. and Mrs. Scott (Keighley), Mrs. J. Smith (Keighley), Miss T. Hale (Bradford), and the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson (Leeds), Mrs. Simons (Leeds), Mr. R. Sugden, Mr. and Mrs. Blakey and Mr. Blakey, jun., Mr. G. Dalgoutee, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. W. Feather, Mrs. Capper, Mrs. Stephen Feather, Mrs. J. Rooke, Mrs. W. Brooke, Mrs. U. Wilcock, Mrs. Ireley, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. W. Rooke, Mr. W. Fowler, Mr. J. Stirk, Miss M. Wilcock, Mrs. Richards, and Miss Edith. Wreaths were sent by the following: Mr. C. and Miss Burgess, A. and W. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. J. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Ackroyd, Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shaw, Mr. R. Williams and family (Keighley), Mr. and Mrs. G. Haigh, Mr. and Mrs. Blakey, Mr. R. Sugden, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Simons, Mr. E. Hanneford, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marshall, Messrs. Feather and Brooke, Mr. and Mrs. Capper, Miss C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. A. Barker, Mrs. J. Rooke, Mr. W. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Snowden, Mr. J. Falconer, Mr. D. Smith, and Mr. R. Pickles. The funeral cortège consisted of a hearse and thirteen carriages, and one open carriage required to convey the numerous wreaths. Prior to leaving for the interment at Keighley Cemetery a short prayer was offered by the Rev. Seely, the pastor of Holy Trinity Church, Keighley. The service in the church cemetery and at the graveside was most impressive.

THE tale of the "bouncing lion" was concluded in the Court of King's Bench on Monday, when the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, Mr. George Leslie, for £22 on the claim, and on the counterclaim for Mr. G. Beach, the defendant

STORIES OF SHOWMAN LIFE.

(COPYRIGHT.)

By the Rev. T. Horne.

"PEEP-SHOW TOM."

There is no body of men on the face of the earth more willing to recognise the nobility of talent than the travelling showman. If a man is really clever he will find a hearty welcome and a ready market for his genius or ability in Showland.

This fact accounts for a great deal of the undoubted success of show folk in adapting their business methods to modern requirements, and also in meeting the unfair attack of narrow-minded and partial enemies, and the ignorant zeal for unpractical reform on the part of would-be friends.

Every year this new strength of virility, fresh blood flows into the body; new men with new ideas find that only on the fair ground of the Empire can these fresh ideas be fully expressed and appreciated. Hence the ground booth. Merely a few sticks and canvas assist to introduce to a novelty-loving public men and women of genius and talent. Not show people in the narrow sense of being born on the road, but show people because, as kings and queens, they come to their own and find thrones of renown and fame in that wonderland of discovery, the Fair.

Your Wombwell, with his living marvel—the serpent in a box, that he carried under his arm—finds a gaping crowd on a fair ground, and the talent of the man, from that small beginning, creates England's first Royal Travelling Menagerie.

Your George Sanger, with a small exhibition of performing birds, goes through by sheer force of genius and talent the whole gamut of possible experience, the ups and downs of struggling, yet ever buoyant ability and talent. Is not his success written in "The book of the chronicles of the kings" of the road?

Your William Manders (from the desk of a lawyer's clerk) is called to inherit by right of birth Mother Hilton's Menagerie, eight waggon-loads. He brings into the world of shows such new ideas and ambitions that even the Wombwells tremble before him, and one of England's best and greatest menageries springs into being.

The young conjuror Randall Williams, full of keen ideas, starts out, on his marriage with a show girl, with only two waggon-loads to begin with, but by sheer talent rises rapidly to the top of the tree, and dies with wealth and honour the King of Showmen; a glorious empire, won and held only by force of ability and popular consent and acclaim.

Yes; it is an ever open door; all men may enter Showland. With their gifts of genius they may win or lose a king's place, honoured and loved by loyal people, the common folk of Merrie England who revel in that delectable land, where sordid toil and carking care are for the nonce forgotten, and men, women, and children enjoy the show.

Such a genius was "Peep-Show Tom." He flourished in the early sixties, and the story which follows is the secret of coming to claim a place in the grand free republic of Showland, the merchant adventurer of talent, the brotherhood of the road.

From whence he came and why he came no one ever knew, also whither he went at last, no one ever found out.

"Peep-Show Tom" was a silent, solitary man; when I first knew him he travelled the Lancashire round with a peep-show of the early Victorian era, one waggon-load. The waggon was drawn up lengthways on the ground, and by a cunning arrangement, much like the tilted frame of a modern shooting gallery, a front entrance was built out from the van side, exposing the inside contrivance of great magnifying lenses—staring eyes, of magic import to the wondering child raised from the ground to see the peep-show for the first time.

"Peep-Show Tom" was a genius in many things, but his greatest talent was mechanics. Give him an idea of the thing you wanted, and in a few hours he would return to you as pleased as a child with a new toy, and show you the invention of his fertile brain, the thing exactly you wanted, and that only "Peep-Show Tom's" genius could supply.

Now, one effect of a real genius in mechanics to Showland was the immediate coming into being of moving waxworks; the only sort of travelling waxworks up to that time were the then well-known shows of Ewin and Turnbull, Allsop, Springthorpe, and Jackson, only travelled from town to town and took private business in halls and shops.

Until "Peep-Show Tom" developed the mechanical idea, moving waxworks were unknown; his genius lay in the suggestion of suitable subjects, and the wonderful contrivances to give life-like action to the figures.

Then came into being the excellent waxwork show of Andrew Purchase, James Manders, and one or two others. I saw at a West of England fair recently two waggon-loads of waxworks, four or five waggons of wild beasts. The waxworks were the only surviving remainder of the once famous Purchase's moving waxworks.

It was Knott Mill Fair (Manchester's great fair), lasting over a week, and always timed for the Easter holidays. "Peep-Show Tom" had been busy all the winter repairing and improving the group of mechanical figures in Manders's waxworks; the show was resplendent in all the glory of a new front by Davison, the painting by Waire.

I am speaking of the year 1862. At the fair were on the big ground Wombwell's Menagerie, Pablo Fanque's Circus, Manders's Waxworks, Lomas with living marionettes, Williams's mechanical show, Mumming, and a small wild beast show—I think it was Billy Strand's.

On the Haymarket were Culver's marionettes, Chapman's birds, Macintosh's shows, and the great William Manders running the Wombwell's show, very thirsty for supremacy.

Amongst the small concerns on the big ground was "Peep-Show Tom's" one-waggon show. It was only in the winter that Tom could be induced to work at the making or repairing of waxworks, and the summer he always travelled his peep-show.

Now, on the third day of the fair—"Quality Day," it was called, from the number of Manchester cotton princes who drove up to the fair in their carriages, and always went the round of the shows, to the huge delight of the young folk—one of the finest of these notable equipages contained a lady, evidently a widow, and with her three handsome children, the youngest a bonny bright-eyed lassie seven years old, the other two boys evidently home from some public school for the short Easter vacation, all of them bubbling over with fun and merriment.

Wombwell's, of course, had been visited, and most of the big shows, when one of the children caught sight of the humble concern of "Peep-Show Tom."

"Come, mother, let's see a little show, now."

"Yes, quite so; I want you to do just as you please, dears."

Getting out of their carriage, the party went to the peep-show. As they neared it Tom, who was behind the frame, heard his outside helper say, "Bona slang, Mr. Master—quality folk."

"Oh, yes; quality day, quality," said Tom, sotto voce, "Ah me! the times gone by! How the past seems to haunt me to-day. What is it? Why have I this sense of the past so vividly before me to-day?" Saying which, he lifted the curtain and gazed at the audience. Spellbound for quite a moment, he stood transfixed, and gazed upon the widow and her children. Suddenly the lady caught sight of the startled showman, and then she in her turn was amazed. Involuntarily she stretched out her arms and said, "Come to me, my poor lost one," and then, speedily recovering her self-possession, she said to her children, "Never mind, my darlings, I was only speaking my thoughts aloud. Oscar," she whispered to her eldest boy, "take me back to the carriage at once before I faint. I must have air. I feel that I am sinking, sinking."

Well, the lady and her sons and daughter were driven home, and the children sent to the care of the housekeeper; then the lady said to the astounded coachman, "Drive me back again to the fair and to the peep-show we saw last on the ground." He did, in most respectful but puzzled obedience.

What happened between the lady and "Peep-Show Tom" is not told us, but from that moment "Peep-Show Tom" was seen no more on the fair-grounds of England.

This is the clue to the mystery:—

George Penrice, Esq., consulting civil engineer, was in his workshop in the Adelphi; clever, rich, and a rising consultant, he had the world at his feet. Now, at the tragic moment of this story, Henry Penrice was up in London on a long-promised visit to his brother, the civil engineer. Amongst other inventions were certain burglar alarm bells and mantraps of a most ingenious kind that the mechanical genius had made and perfected. There was one deadly engine of safety that he had secretly invented, the only possible use of which would be found on the limitless veldt of South Africa, or the great lowlands of Australia, or in the lawless zone of the far West of America.

It was an exquisitely finished, but diabolically terrible, full-sized figure of a man, placed in a long-cased clock—the old "Guard," George Penrice called it. By a connection of electric wires the panel door was so constructed that any tampering with the lock of the iron safe by its side would cause the door to fly open, the figure to slowly move on a pivot table, take aim, and shoot in a direct line with the door of the safe.

How it happened, and how his brother came to tamper with the safe, Heaven only knows. The fact material to our story is that the horrible and the unexpected things do happen. Henry was found stark dead and cold with a bullet embedded between his shoulder blades, and a look of terror on his face that may have paralysed from sheer fright before the deadly bullet was sped by the automaton.

It was George who found the body. We can well imagine the overwhelming calamity of it. For an hour that seemed an eternity of suffering he lay with the dead man's head upon his knees, fascinated with the weird terror of those staring eyeballs.

At last he roused himself. What to do he could not think. Then a helpful thought came to him.

"I will bring Morris," he whispered to himself. Even that whisper in the chamber of horrors sounded like a shout of gibbering, accusing, fallen spirits. "You did it—you, you, you; your fatal invention has turned upon you."

Stopping his ears to stay the horrid sounds of the creatures of his overwrought brain, he rushed out of his chamber into the adjoining suite of offices, found his old college chum, Bob Morris, barrister-at-law, and dragged him in a whirl of unintelligible exclamations to the chamber of death, and then more from what he saw than from the incoherent self-accusatory rambling of Penrice, did the clever barrister piece together the terrible fragments of the mysterious tragedy.

Then, with clear logical precision, the lawyer measured up the whole misery of the situation. He was obliged to tell his distraught friend that the case looked as black as black could be against him on the capital charge. There was the damning coincidence that, according to the will of the late Oswald Penrice, father of the brothers, the entail was broken and the young son of the dead man would not inherit. Under the same will it was provided that the younger brother should inherit on the death of the elder, and then at his death the property would be equally distributed amongst the heirs of both men.

Here was the fatality of the untoward and unfortunate accident. The world would persist in the belief that greed of wealth had perverted the genius of the engineer to having contrived a death-trap for his brother.

The lawyer counselled a deed of gift, giving up to the children and wife of the dead the whole of the property; then the unfortunate George must disappear for ten or twelve years.

All this was done. That night the Dover train carried an innocent man fleeing from blind justice. He utterly disappeared from the ken of men. More than eight years he travelled under various aliases, and then home and hunger overcame him; he returned, and found in the Bohemia of the fair-ground a safe asylum, and also a channel for his great mechanical genius to be useful to his fellow-showmen.

Now, it was his sister-in-law, the mother of the eldest boy of the happy children she brought to the fair, who found in "Peep-Show Tom" the long-lost brother of her dead husband.

She it was who finally persuaded him to return to the bosom of his family—his people never for a moment doubted his perfect innocence of the crime ugly rumour tried to fix upon him.

So, as quietly as he entered Showland, so did he leave it; but to this day you may find the mark of his genius in the few remaining waggons of "Pipes and the Dryad," a new opera in two acts by Florence Perugini Campbell and H. A. Y. Campbell, was produced for copyright purposes at St Alban's Hall, Acton Green, on Monday, Feb. 27.

Mr. F. R. Benson opens the third week of his most successful season at the Coronet with the Orestean Trilogy, which will be again repeated on Tuesday evening. During the remainder of the week he will play in the order named The Comedy of Errors, The School for Scandal, King Lear, and As You Like It. There will be matinées on Wednesday of As You Like It, and on Saturday of The Merchant of Venice.

At the Alambra, Stourbridge, the well-known drama, Uncle Tom's Cabin, makes a welcome reappearance this week. The company appearing is under the direction of Mr. John Tully, and includes the well-known actress, Miss Edith Blanche, who appears with distinct credit in the dual-rôle of Eliza and Cassy. Uncle Tom is a careful study by Mr. William Taylor; and Mr. E. Kellen Taylor is very good as George Harris. Others who contribute include Messrs. John Tully, Fred G. Kay, St. Vincent Beechey, and Miss Kitty Wood.

The process of "Nettoyage-à-sec," or "Dry Cleaning," has been brought by the Chemical Cleaning and Dyeing Company, whose works are fitted with all the latest improvements in machinery and distilling plant obtainable in this country and on the Continent, to a high state of perfection. The process is becoming more and more appreciated by the public, as its advantages become known by experience. The expense of taking curtains, draperies, &c., of various kinds to pieces and remaking is saved, and many articles of furniture and decoration, which could not be cleaned by any other means, are now renovated and again brought into use, instead of being destroyed or thrown away. Nothing ought to be wetted with water in cleaning that can be treated by this process. The fact that the most beautiful furnishing materials can, when dirty, be perfectly restored has done more to facilitate their introduction and sale than anything else. The immense value of the process to the theatrical and music hall professions can hardly be over-estimated. Not only can ordinary costumes be renovated by this marvellous method; the draperies, curtains, and hangings of a theatre can equally well be subjected to its influence. Vast drop-curtains, covered with many square yards of quilting or ornament, can be treated by the "Dry" process, and made to look almost "equal to new"; and many a manager has blessed the invention of Nettoyage-à-sec for the saving he has effected by its aid, and by that of the Chemical Cleaning Company.

BLACKPOOL COLOSSEUM.—SEASON 1905.
Situate at the junction of the Blackpool and Lytham Tramways, on the Marine Parade, opposite the Manchester Hotel, in the heart of Blackpool.
The Building (which is 127ft. in diameter, 41ft. high to the eaves, and 83ft. to the Lantern) is Lighted by Electricity, and as a place for Animal Entertainments is unique, it being the only building in Blackpool that, in consequence of its being free from pillars and other obstructions, affords the necessary height and space for Diavolo's performance of "Looping the Loop."
The Walls are covered with the World-renowned picture "Niagara" painted by the great artist Phillipoteau.
For the last eight or ten years Blackpool has been extending around and for miles south of the Colosseum in a marvellously rapid manner. Thousands of houses have been built and are occupied, and there has not been any place of Public Entertainment provided for the Masses of the People south of the Tower.
The Colosseum provides a long-felt want in this New and Populous Neighbourhood.
The Authorities estimate that about Four Million Persons visited Blackpool last Season.
The great Popularity of the Colosseum is shown by the fact that, although only partially occupied during a part of a Blackpool Season, upwards of 100,000 paid for Admission during the remaining part of the season.
Offers for the 1905 Season on Sharing Terms should be made to the Undersigned, who will furnish any further information.

THE CHRONO, KING OF BIOSCOPES.

Has none of those Antique Properties which are inseparable from Granny's Mangle—1854 model—neither does it resemble an Old-Type Gas Engine. The Chrono is a Scientific Instrument of the very finest grade.

READ THIS, TWICE NIGHTLY.

No Chains or Belts to get out of order. No Cast-iron Spindles to fall out. No Whacking the Film with a Sledge-Hammer Blow. No Scratching, no Tearing, no Binding. Just the Poetry of Motion, with a Series of Soft, Affectionate Pushes of the Film. That's the PRINCE OF PROJECTORS, THE CHRONO.

ELGE FILMS

Are included in every Exhibition. They embrace the Embodiment of Refined British Humour and Intelligence. No Incomprehensible Foreign Fakes, but the real thing.

TAKE YOUR FOCUS!

The Blacksmith's Daughter.

THE TALK OF EVERY TOWN IN BRITAIN.

The Blacksmith's Forge. Nancy. The Secret Meeting. The Interior of the Blacksmith's Cottage on the Fatal Night. The Elopement. The Discovery. The Great Canine Comforter. Two Years After: Deserted. Dying Child. The Penniless Mother. Baby Dead! Home Again. Will He Forgive? The Acting Dog Again. Reconciliation.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1905.
"The Era" Almanack and Annual for 1905, conducted by Mr. Edward Ledger, is the vade mecum of the dramatic and music-hall profession, containing as it does all an artiste desires to know in connection with the stage. A feature of the publication are the stories of adventure told by well-known artistes like Sir Henry Irving, George Alexander, Harry Pleon, John Le Hay, Constance Moxon, Walter Passmore, Fanny Wentworth, and John Lawson. Mr. Henry Arthur Jones discourses wisely on the "Foundations of a National Drama." The Annual is one that will interest and amuse not only the "professional," but the general public.—
